Second semester registration for students now enrolled in the university officially opened yesterday. The dates for seeing respective advisors in the early order of registration are Jan. 4 to 9 inclusive, closing at noon Saturday.

Students of the agricultural college will register during this period. Altho heretofore they have registered earlier than students of the down town campus, they will not do so this year.

Advisers must be consulted after receiving credit books. The credit books will be issued upon the presentation of identification cards at the registrar's office.

Must Consult Advisers.

Students, after consulting advisers and filling out blanks, must leave application blanks and statements of outside activities with their respective deans of their colleges. The dean will then approve the courses.

Fees will be accepted during the latter part of January in the south end of social science building, according to the official bulletin released yesterday. Students in the colleges of art, science and business administration must pay their fees Jan. 25 and 26 between the hours of 9 and 4.

OUTLINE COMPLETE PLANS FOR FINALS

Exam Schedule Arranged to Coincide With New Procedure.

WILL LAST NINE DAYS

Final examinations for the first semester of 1931-32 will start Thursday, Jan. 21, and continue for nine days, closing Saturday, Jan. 30, according to the new schedule released yesterday.

Only two quizzes each day may be held since each may be three hours or less. The length of the "exams" is left to the option of the individual professors.

This new nine day three hour system of examinations is the result of the work of a special committee who formulated the plan. It was approved by the university faculty senate this fall.

It is the belief of the committee that by providing a longer period for each examination and only two each day rather than a possible four which resulted from the old system, much real difficulty suffered by students will be eliminated. This plan also makes it possible for professors who so desire to cover the work for the semester more comprehensively than was possible under the former system.

If the new schedule does not meet with the approval of the faculty and students, it will be abolished, for it is only on trial this semester, according to T. J. Thompson, dean of student affairs.

The members of the committee who are responsible for the new system as now stands are: Prof. T. M. Rayson, chairman; R. C. Abbott, Prof. H. J. Kesner, Prof. J. E. Kirshman, Prof. O. C. Weidemann, Dean T. J. Thompson, and Miss Florence I. McGahey, registrar.

Even Though It's False This Is a Pretty Good Yarn

By Dick Moran.

The discovery of a set of lowers (teeth, not berths) by the custodian of the first floor of Bessey hall has caused campus sleuths to consider the possibility of some atrocious crime perpetrated within the last few hours. The lack of a body has proved a stumbling block to progress so far, but pessimists are hoping for the worst.

The only clue presented was that the set contained a piece of a tooth pick, a bird's nest, part of a cork, and some snow. Secret service agents sent to investigate the case are too secret, and they will issue no statement, probably because they have nothing to say. An attempt to connect the teeth with the recent attempt of anarchists to assassinate the postmaster of Skidville, Ind., by mailing him a bomb was unsuccessful, so the authorities will question Tom Mooney to find out if he ever lived in Nebraska.

Appointed. Earl T. Platt. Who resigned as principle of Havelock schools to take charge of the University Extension Division new high school correspondence courses to be conducted under a $5,000 Carnegie grant. He is a graduate of the university.

NATIONAL HONOR CONFERRED UPON HUSKER MENTOR

Coach Dana X. Bible One of Two Named to Rules Committee.

REPLACES KANSAS MAN

No Radical Changes of Grid Regulations Expected During Year.

Coach Dana X. Bible, head football coach of the University of Nebraska, was one of two new members of the national football rules committee appointed at a meeting of the National Collegiate Athletic association Thursday. Dana Bible was appointed to replace M. F. Ahearn, Kansas State college athletic director in the fifth district. William J. Bingham, director of Harvard athletics, was appointed to replace T. A. D. Jones, former Yale coach, in the fifth district.

Radical changes of rules will not be made this year, if this meeting of the association is any indication. Despite the death roll of forty-nine during the 1931 season, football heads have declined to be stamped into any drastic changes in the game.

The annual gathering of the football supervisors was adjourned with the question of changes left hanging in the air awaiting the report of two investigating bodies. A committee appointed by the American Football Coaches' association will look into the question of abnormal rise in the number of deaths resulting from injuries in football. This committee is expected to report at the next meeting of the Coaches' association in December.

The other investigating committee is being undertaken under the joint auspices of the School of Education of New York university and the National Bureau of Casuality and Surety Underwriters and is expected to make its results known to the rules committee before it meets in February or March.

Sports writers in the Big Six were quick to declare that it was an honor for the University of Nebraska to have its mentor selected to this national rules and regulations committee.

AWGWAN TO APPEAR WITHIN TWO WEEKS

January Issue Will Carry Much 'Greek Dirt,' Says Editor.

January's issue of the Awgwan which is to be a "fraternity and sorority publication," is scheduled to be off the press and ready for sale about Jan. 16, according to Marvin Robinson, editor.

Material for this issue has been coming in very satisfactory. Robinson declared. Most of the contributions were made during the Christmas holidays. Students who submitted material kept in close contact with the staff of the university humor magazine during the vacation.

The editor declared that there are but very few days left in which material for the "fraternity and sorority" issue may be submitted, for the copy must be sent to press in order to meet the deadline. "In the few remaining days in which copy may be turned in," Robinson said, "a great deal of good humor is expected." "It should prove very easy to write material for this month's magazine, since it will be made up largely of 'Greek dirt.' House gossip is the choice material and we desire lots of it."

WILL USE LOCAL ORCHESTRAS FOR INTER-GREEK HOP

Faculty Ruling Unearthed Which Prevents Use of Outsiders.

TWO BANDS WILL PLAY

Beck's and Jungbluth's on Schedule for Ball February 6.

Two local bands will play for the annual Interfraternity ball in the main hall room of the Hotel Cornhusker Feb. 6, Chalmers Graham in charge of music for the event, announced last night.

The bands booked are Leo Beck's and Eddie Jungbluth's. Both will be augmented to fifteen pieces for the affair, he said. Beck's will have two pianos and Lyle DeMoss and the Kvan sisters, entertainers, will be with Jungbluth's band. Additional entertainers will also be engaged for the intermission period, according to Graham.

Plan Changed.

Previously announced plans said that a nationally known out-of-town band would be secured for the ball, but these were changed when a conflicting faculty ruling was discovered.

The ruling, Graham said, prohibited out-of-town bands being used for school events. It had, he added, been on the books for several years, but had not been enforced in the past. The ruling was passed by the university senate.

The two bands will play alternately from opposite ends of the ballroom from 8:30 until 11:30, Graham said, with special entertainers with the music and during the intermission.

Plans for the ball are progressing rapidly, according to Norman Galleher, chairman of the committee placed in charge by Marvin Von Seggern, president of the Interfraternity council. Announcement of the ticket sale will be made shortly, reports Charles Skade, in charge of that department of the ball arrangements.

Others on the ball committee are: Jack Thompson, James Crabbill, John Zellinger and Howard Allaway.

A year ago an out-of-town orchestra was engaged for the Interfraternity ball but the existence of the faculty statute was not known. Bennie Moten's band from Kansas City played for the affair.

Honored. Dana X. Bible. Husker grid coach who was recently one of two men selected to a position on the national rules committee which makes the regulations governing intercollegiate football.

Editor George Round said over 2,000 copies were printed and several hundred will be given out to farmers attending the fun feed in the student activities building Wednesday.

The lead story in the January issue is written by George Round about Organized Agriculture. It includes a picture of Secretary Arthur Hyde who speaks during the week at the college. Individual meetings of different agriculture organizations are also explained in the article.

Pauline Bilon has written one of the feature stories in the January issue about her summer collegiate tour of Europe. A picture of Miss Bilon accompanies the article. Miss Bilon was graduated from the University of Nebraska in 1929. During the remainder of the year 1929 and 1930 she was on the editorial staff of the Nebraska Farmer. Ray Ramsay, Nort Osborn Also Given Parts in Latest Show.

"Begger on Horseback," a satiric comedy by George S. Kaufman and Marc Connelly, will be presented by University Players during the week of Jan. 11. The play is one of the most outstanding successes of the past decade. Based on a German drama by John Apel, the two American masters of stage comedy have produced a play which is unique and full of hearty laughs.

The plot concerns itself with a talented young composer struggling against the pressure of financial need and the public desire for popular music. The ensuing scenes are pointed satire aimed at the smug moneyed bourgeoisie.

CARLETON FIVE WINS 40 TO 30

Sixteen Point Margin Tallied During First Half Is Too Much for Huskers; Nebraska's Rally During Final Canto Falls Short.

MARKS FIFTH CONSECUTIVE DEFEAT OF SEASON

Numerous Injuries, Lack of Scoring Combination on Part of Red and White Is Handicap; Outfit From Minnesota Shines in Accuracy.

BY MURLIN SPENCER.

A sixteen point margin compiled in the first half proved too much for the second period rally of the Cornhuskers, and Nebraska lost their fifth consecutive preseason game to Carleton college 40 to 30 in the coliseum Monday night.

Handicapped by numerous injuries and unable to find a consistent scoring combination, the Huskers were no match for the swift moving, accurate team play of the visitors from Minnesota.

Mason, Husker guard and Raasch, lanky Carleton center, were tied for high scoring honors for the evening with eleven points each. Raasch made five field goals and one free throw while Mason garnered four field goals and three free throws.

Carry First Half.

The first half was purely Carleton's. The accurate passing and perfected team play of the visitors stood the Husker guards on their heads and numerous baskets were made under the basket and from near the foul line. The Husker offense was unable to get going and substitutions were frequent in an attempt to find a scoring combination which would work against the man for man defense of the visitors. Nebraska jumped into an early lead when Mason got a short in shot immediately after the tip off, but two baskets shortly after by Tressel put Carleton into a lead from which they were never headed. Arney got a follow in shot for Carleton but Nebraska again came up close to their opponents on basket by Lunney who was standing all by himself under the basket. Nordy came through for another basket for the visitors (Continued on Page 4.)

MANY PRESENT AS FARMERS' CONFAB OPENS ON CAMPUS

Week's Program for Annual Organized Agriculture Meeting Begins.

FILLEY IS SPEAKER

Says Several Problems Must Be Solved if Good Times to Return.

The bad weather prevailed, the thirtieth annual Organized Agriculture meetings at the agring start Monday. Attendance at the Nebraska farm bureau federation convention was better than expected. It was the only meeting held during the day and the week's program gets underway in reality today with many individual meetings and a mass meeting in the afternoon in the student activities building.

Prof. H. C. Filley, head of the rural economics department at the agricultural college, appeared as the feature speaker on the farm bureau federation program. He said the present maladjustment existing between the price of farm products on one hand and the price of transportation and many kinds of manufactured goods on the other hand must be remedied before permanent prosperity can return to the middlewest.

Measures which will aid in bringing prosperity include a decrease in tariff rates and a lowering of freight rates, the farmers were told. Prof. Filley explained that this would necessitate a lowering of wages in terms of money, altho it would not mean a lowering of real wages to prevail levels.

In addition the members of the farm bureau federation were told that the present near-panic among bank depositors which is the result of bank failures should be stopped by issuing United States notes. Prof. Filley said that the world price level can be raised to some extent by an international agreement to use silver as well as gold as a standard of value.

"Agricultural conditions have grown worse during the past year," Professor Filley declares. "The price of many manufactured goods has dropped but the price of (Continued on Page 4.)"

ANNUAL SECTIONS TO BE FILLED THIS WEEK

Studios to Take Pictures After Stopping for Holiday Rush.

ORDER YEARBOOK COVER

Junior-senior and fraternity-sorority picture sections in the 1931-32 Cornhusker are now open and students may have their pictures taken any time this week at either Townsend's or Hauck's studio, according to the editor, Otis Detrick.

Contrary to general student opinion, the Cornhusker staff has never officially closed these sections, and as far as the annual officials have been concerned, these sections have been open all the time, Detrick declared.

"The studios acted upon their own initiative in closing the sections. They did so in order to take care of their own Christmas business. However, they are now ready to take care of all student trade for the Cornhusker," said the editor.

"Since these sections are not completely filled, they will be open for approximately one week unless they are filled in less time than this," the editor declared.

This will be the last possible chance for students to get their pictures in either of the sections, according to the staff. The Cornhusker will close these sections shortly to meet their press engagements.
