

CHANCELLOR SAYS SPORTS REST IN GOOD HANDS HERE

Says University Has Had One of Best Years in the Main.

NO COMPLAINTS MADE

Burnett Says Objectors to Football Are in Minority.

Athletics at the University of Nebraska are in good hands, according to a statement issued by Chancellor E. A. Burnett to Cliff F. Sandahl, Bee-News correspondent Saturday. Aside from the controversy over football waged by Marvin Von Seggern, student editor of The Daily Nebraskan, the University of Nebraska has had one of the "quietest and best" years in its history, the chancellor said. Continuing his comment regarding the athletic situation, the chancellor said, "I have heard of no complaints coming from the players, themselves, or from the student body at large. It seems to me that it is only a few students, already engaged in nearly every activity on the campus, who think they could handle athletics, too."

Expresses Confidence. Chancellor Burnett expressed his confidence in the manner in which the athletic association is conducting its business at the present time.

The chancellor said it "may be true that we place a good deal of emphasis on athletics, perhaps too much." Belief was expressed that it does the school good to lose a few games now and then, even up to 50 percent of the contests.

A clean slate in regard to subsidization or solicitation of football players was given Nebraska by Chancellor Burnett. Agitation being started to complete the south section of the stadium was frowned upon by the Nebraska board, declaring there is more need for added class room space than for football seats.

Arrangements were in the hands of the local chapter president, George Schmid, Rev. W. C. Fawell, and other members of the Nebraska group. The visitors were taken on a tour of the city under the direction of George Dunn, and were conducted thru the capitol on a special visit. Parts of "Bartleby" the principal play being given by the Nebraska players were given the first night, and a banquet was a high spot of the second day. Business sessions were held all three days of the convale, under the direction of Miss Ethel Cromwell, Aurora, Ill., retiring national president.

Officers Elected. The officers chosen included Harold L. Gaunt, Purdue, president; Marjorie Snyder, Illinois, first vice president; Adelaide Harris, Minnesota, second vice president; Mrs. Harriet Dell Barr, advisor of Alpha chapter at the University of Illinois, was re-elected advisor of drama for the national group. Rev. Bollinger of Purdue, was chosen organization advisor. The secretary treasurer, editor and business manager of the Footlight, are to be chosen sometime this month by the above elected officers.

Purdue, Minnesota, Arkansas, and Illinois bid for the convale to be held in 1933, but final decision was held in abeyance. This place, along with the exact date of the meeting will be announced sometime within the next year or eighteen months.

Besides Miss Cromwell, the president, and Mrs. Barr, advisor, other officers present included Irene Fee, Lincoln, retiring vice president, and Lena McCulley, Ames, Secretary treasurer. Prof. H. T. Ross, De Pauw university, Greencastle, Ind., was represented by George Dunn, associate editor of the national magazine, The Footlight.

Two delegates came from Purdue, three from Illinois, five from Minnesota, one each from California, Iowa university and Arkansas, and two from Iowa State college. Ames, Nebraska had about twelve representatives on the average in attendance. Many alumni were in the city for the meetings.

MANY PRESENT AS FARMER'S CONFAB OPENS ON CAMPUS

(Continued from Page 1.) farm products has fallen off more rapidly. In January, 1931, the purchasing power of farm products was some nine while in October it was but fifty-four."

He said the average purchasing power of farm products for the years 1921-1930 was only 85 percent of the purchasing power during the pre-war years. This explains, he said, quite fully why in recent years there has been an almost continuous talk of agricultural depression and the need for agricultural relief. Professor Filley maintained that the purchasing power of farm products can be increased by an increase in the price of the products or by a decrease in the price of goods that farmers buy.

TREND OF THE TIMES

Following an ultimatum by British authorities that Mahatma Gandhi would be held responsible for any revival of the non-violent conflict and following a failure to bring national leaders to a compromise, the Mahatma and President Vallabhai Patel of the Indian Nationalist congress were arrested yesterday.

Said Viceroy Willingdon, "We are prepared to deal with the movement with all the resources at our command." Congress, too, has had a vacation. Now it begins to consider President Hoover's 500 million dollar reconstruction finance corporation, the tariff, the tax increase. The senate has yet to select a speaker pro tempore. The western independents still won't have Moses of New Hampshire. Then there is the Capper-Wheeler bill which will authorize the farm board to turn over 40 million bushels of wheat to feed the hungry. The senate may consider this while committees are finishing up other bills.

Speaking of the depression, Sir Arthur J. Salter, ten years director of the economic financial section of the League of Nations, says "The prospect is dark, but not darker than in 1919. The problem, difficult as it is, is essentially capable of human solution."

William Randolph Hearst would have the newly elected speaker of the house, John N. Garner of Texas, as next president of the United States.

Chicago and Philadelphia, next largest cities in the United States also bankrupt, would no doubt appreciate the good fortune Detroit has recently had. The Ford Motor company lent that city one million dollars to help pay the final five million dollars owed for the city owned street railway lines.

The great wall is no longer a barrier. The Japanese army may press beyond this Chinese emblem of security to the cities of Tientsin and Peiping. These are the ideas of Floyd Gibbons over there for International News Service.

Only the Argentine republic in all South America is still able or willing to pay full service on all funded debts contracted in United States currency by its national government, provinces and cities," says the Latin-American Bondholders' association, Inc.

This sounds bad—the Atlantic Monthly states that more than 40 percent of the country's wealth and 50 percent of its buying power is now controlled by the women of this nation.

Program Suggested.

In conclusion Professor Filley said combelt farmers will be prosperous and their prosperity will insure to the advantage of other industries if the federal government will be future legislation upon economic laws and the desire to give an equal opportunity to all instead of pushing forward a program based on the granting of special privilege.

Harry F. Huntington of Longmont, Colo., appeared on the afternoon program of the farm bureau federation as a feature speaker. In his talk he emphasized the need of co-operative marketing and spoke of the Colorado co-operative organization of which he is the head. He said Colorado milk producers are now marketing their milk thru distributors in Denver and receiving better prices, lowering hauling charges and benefiting the quality producer.

The Nebraska farm bureau federation wound up their days program with a banquet at the Lincoln hotel. Their program continues Tuesday. P. P. Cedar of Genoa is president of the organization and C. B. Steward of Lincoln is secretary.

Poultry Show Held.

The Nebraska poultry show was also under way Monday. It was estimated that over 1,000 birds were on exhibition in the horse barn by evening. In addition many pullets were on exhibition as a part of the 4-H club show. Judging in the poultry show was expected to be finished by Tuesday evening. Charles Jonas of Howells is the Nebraska corn king as a result of winning the grand championship in the market corn show at the college Monday. R. O. DeMay of Danbury showed the reserve champion sample. Winners in the eastern, central, western and irrigated sections were announced. Winners in the small grain utility show were also ready for publication. Arthur Hyde, secretary of agriculture is the main attraction at the mass meeting of all organizations to be held in the student activities building Tuesday afternoon. The meeting starts at 3:15 p. m. T. C. Diers will lead the people in community singing before Hyde delivers the principle address. He again appears on a program at the sixth annual presentation of master farmers at the Lincoln hotel Tuesday evening.

Varsity and Frosh Swimmers Will Meet

All men interested in fresh-man swimming are asked to meet in the "N" club room Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Varsity swimming practice starts every day at 4:45 o'clock. All candidates for the team are asked to report.

CARLETON FIVE WINS 40 TO 30

Koster Comes into Game. Shortly after the beginning of the second half, "Dutch" Koster was inserted into the lineup for Nebraska and the game took on a different aspect from the Huskers' side. Although Koster failed to make any points, his close guarding stopped the wide open shots of the Carleton forwards under the basket. Carleton was held to one lone basket in the second period although they garnered seven points on free throws.

Mason started the Nebraska scoring in this second period with a free throw. Wischmeier made a difficult one handed shot from under the basket followed by a free throw by Strom for Carleton, their first point in the first five minutes of play. Henrion sank a charity flip for the Huskers followed right after by a long shot by Lunney. Carleton then ran up four points on free throws, two by Arney and two by Strom.

Nebraska Scores. Henrion made a gratis flip good for Nebraska followed shortly by a short open shot by Lunney. Arney made a free throw good on a technical foul on Nebraska for too many times out.

With only four minutes to go Mason sank a long shot from the side and followed immediately with a free throw to make the score 29 to 30, the nearest the Huskers were able to come in overtaking the Carleton lead. Raasch tipped in the lone second half goal for the visitors and Mason made a charity flip good as the game ended.

Mason showed up well at his guard position, and Henrion, playing both guard and center position worked the ball up well, the only man able to accomplish much against the close guarding of the Carleton quintet. Nebraska missed a number of setups which proved costly and failure to follow up their shots also kept down their scoring.

Called Star.

George Koster was the star for Nebraska. Returning from the west where he played in the East-West football game, this stellar Husker guard entered the game in the second half without practice and proved the difference between a close, interesting second half and a utter rout on the part of the Huskers. His removal toward the last of the game on five personal fouls halted the Husker attempts at scoring.

The Nebraska second team will play Wesleyan university on the latter's floor Tuesday night in their first game.
