PRICE FIVE CENTS

STEPS TAKEN TO START INTEREST FOR ACTIVITIES

Meeting Called by Innocents For Thursday Evening in Social Science.

PRESIDENTS TO ATTEND

Purpose to Find Means of Closer Cooperation in Student Affairs.

The first step in a program designed to restore activities to their old place of importance and general interest will be taken Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock when the activities conference gets underway in response to a call from the Innocents society.

Letters have been sent to the presidents of all student organizations requesting each campus group to have a representative present at the convocation.

"The meeting is being conducted by the Innocents society in order to find a suitable means of insuring closer co-operation in all student enterprises," Dick Devereaux, president of the senior men's honorarium said explaining the purpose of the conference.

Various plans and proposals to accomplish this purpose will be discussed, he intimated. Sponsors of the meeting hope the whole realm of extra-curricular student activities may be benefited by results of the conference.

"Student organizations have never worked together to any great extent, but have been independent of each other and have worked for their own gains," Devereaux declared. "Formulation of means to bring the various organizations into closer contact and into more harmonious relationship will achieve betterment for student activities as a whole."

Student organization heads have been urged to be present in person, if possible, and to come to the meeting with some idea in mind that will provide discussion.

"It is hoped that general interest will be stimulated in activities," Innocents declared, "so that the possibility of stagnation in the activities field will be banished."

Members of the society pointed out that there had been a decided decline of student interest, and it is to remedy this situation that the meeting is being held, they declared.

Unique in the annals of recent school history, it is expected that the meeting tomorrow night will attract considerable attention.

FARM HOUSE VICTOR IN AG CAMPUS ELECTION

Annual Contest Finds Acacia And Barbs Each Place Man in Ag Club.

POLLS OPEN AFTERNOON

By The Onlooker.

In one of the wildest and hardest fought elections of recent years, Farm House fraternity carried away high honors in the annual midwinter election held on the college of agriculture campus Tuesday. Acacia and the barbs each placed one man in an Ag club office. Two Farm House men were elected to office in the club and on the publication board.

The Tuesday election was carried on amid high rivalry among Farm House and Alpha Gamma Rho fraternities. Though the polls were scheduled to open at nine o'clock it was not until early in the afternoon that they were finally thrown open to student voters.

Election rules state that petitions for all candidates for any office must be in the hands of the Dean three days before election. Though the name of Glenn Heady, Alpha Gamma Rho, did not appear on the printed ballot, the fraternity maintained early in the morning that it was placed in the dean's office Saturday.

Farm House immediately objected to putting Heady's name on the ballot in accordance with the election rules and Dean Burr appointed a committee of Professors Davis, Minter and Filley to investigate the matter before the polls opened. They questioned various members of the two fraternities and finally decided that a technicality had been overlooked by Alpha Gamma Rho. Later Farm House withdrew their objection and Heady's name was placed on the ballot along with Vic Rediger, Farm House.

Glenn LeDoyt, Farm House, defeated Tom Snipes for president of Ag club in the major contest. The newly elected president is a member of Block and Bridle club, Alpha Zeta, junior judging team, Ag club and was manager of the 1931 Farmer's Formal. He is also a member of the interfraternity council.

In the contest for vice president of the club, Murray Brawner of Acacia defeated Arthur Peterson, Farm House. Alpha Gamma Rho was supporting Brawner in the election. The latter is assistant circulation manager on the Cornhusker Countryman staff at the present time.

The only office which had but one candidate up for election was secretary of Ag club. Jesse Liv- (Continued on Page 4.)

'Doc' McLean Declares Nebraska Training Room as Well Equipped as Any Other University in Country

BY JOHN QUINN.

"Doc" McLean, university athletic trainer, in an interview Tuesday declared that "the University of Nebraska's new training room is as well equipped as that of any university in the country."

A part of the track locker stadium east stand has been set aside to serve as a first-class training room. The room was remodeled, repainted a hospital white, and the major part of the new equipment installed last week.

McLean explained that a more exact and technical name for the acquisition would be the hydrotherapeutics room, for most of the equipment and treatment is made available by hydrotherapeutic developments.

The new equipment includes an electric light cabinet, a vapor cabinet, a steam cabinet, a bather, a hot water cabinet, a soak-tub and added electrical wiring. The three cabinets have the same external appearance, together resembling a large ice cream cabinet.

The electric light cabinet uses some twenty-odd electric lights of three different kinds. The front of the cabinet is heated by ordinary 100-watt, frosted globes, the sides by special carbon-filament lamps, and the back by special ultra-violet lamps. The principle of this cabinet, as well as that of the other two, is to give the patient added elimination through perspiration. The ultra-violet lamps are situated so as to give added heat to the spine thus producing a soothing effect on the nervous system. This cabinet is known as a dry-heat type.

The vapor and steam cabinets are known as moist heat types. In the one a warm vapor, specially prepared, is introduced through the bottom of the cabinet, and in the other the heat is produced by small steam radiators on the sides of the cabinet. These cabinets are particularly effective for patients with dry skin.

The process of treatment for colds, flu, and generally poor physical condition by means of these cabinets is as follows: The patient is subjected, first in the dry-heat cabinet, to intense heat for a period of time depending on the nature of the ailment. He is then given a hot shower, and while still warm from this treatment is rubbed with a preparation known as salt-glow. To finish up, the patient is again given a hot shower and the temperature of the water gradually reduced to near normal to produce something of a nerve shock and bring the body temperature back to normal. If further treatments are needed the process is repeated on successive days.

FEBRUARY ISSUE OF AWGWAN GOES ON SALE TODAY

Hansen Features Father Time and Dan Cupid on Magazine Cover.

INCLUDES NEW FEATURE

'Campus Tempo' Replacing Editorials, Appears as Innovation.

Featuring a playful series of gripes beneath a Valentine theme cover, the February issue of the Awgwan goes on sale at campus news stands today.

"From the audacious 'Calendrie' frontpiece to the snappy ads on the back covers, the first Awgwan of the second semester is better than ever before," declared Editor Marvin Robinson Tuesday.

The comic's February cover, drawn by Norm Hansen and reproduced in colors, pictures a worldly-wise Father Time examining a delicate Cupid's bow while little Dan looks on from the background with interest—and a tail.

Replacing the editorials usually opening the magazine is a department known as "Campus Tempo." Composed of articles written in intimate style reminiscent of the New Yorker, variety of campus subjects are treated in this division of the comic. Protests and satirical comments on such diverse subjects as the final grades of Professor Macchioro and "Time on the Phone" make up its contents.

Theta Sigma Phi, professional women's journalistic society, takes a poke at the "Daily Gribaskan" in its special page this month, one of the magazine's features.

PARTY TO BE INFORMAL

A Valentine motif of red and white done in a very elaborate fashion will predominate in the decorative scheme at the Mortar Board Leap Year party according to Bereniece Hoffman, head of the committee, in a statement yesterday. The method of presenting the most popular man has been decided upon, she said, and it is scheduled for 11 o'clock.

The dome of the coliseum will be draped to give the effect of a low ceiling. Further details concerning the decorations are surrounded by mystery and will continue to be a secret until the evening of the party.

On account of numerous queries concerning the character of the party members of Mortar Board again issues the statement that the party is scheduled as informal, but no man is being placed on formal attire in case students should desire to appear in formal wear.

Money for tickets already sold was checked in last night to Bereniece Hoffman by members of Tassels at their regular meeting. Report of the success of sales will be definitely known tomorrow. The ticket sales, however, will continue until Friday. Any member of Mortar Board or Tassels can supply them at a cost of $1.

Presentation of the Winner Will Be Climax of Follies Friday.

Nebraska's best dressed girl will be selected Wednesday noon by members of the A. W. S. Board at their regular meeting. The selection is made from the representatives chosen by all sororities, dormitories and organized houses.

The A. W. S. Board met the candidates about two weeks ago and has been observing them since that time. The choice is not to be made because of the personality of the girl, but solely upon the type of clothes, quality of material and manner in which they are worn.

The girl selected will be presented as the climax of the Coed Follies which takes place Friday night at the Temple theater.

The Follies is to consist of a fashion revue which is to be centered in a cabaret scene. Two skits and two curtain acts will intersperse the fashion revue.

FIVE GIRLS MADE PROM CANDIDATES IN WARM BATTLE

Tie for Fourth Results in Selection of Extra Nominee.

BLUE SHIRTS VICTORS

Majority Faction Takes All Class Presidencies, Ivy Orator.

Because of a tie vote for fourth place, five girls were nominated for prom girl instead of four at the second semester student election Tuesday. Those elected were LaVerle Herman, Harriet Neladek, Virginia Pollard, Louise Cogswell and Lorraine Lallman. Approximately 1,000 votes were cast.

Walter Huber, blue shirt, defeated John P. Jensen, yellow jacket, for Ivy day orator by a 605 to 325 count. Blue shirt candidates were elected to all four class presidencies without opposition. Referendum for student representation on the athletic board carried 864 to 65.

Altho individual rankings were not given out on the prom girl vote, Ed Faulkner, president of the student council, which supervised the election, said the race was particularly close with only a difference of 40 votes between the highest and lowest of the five named. Lowest of the defeated candidates polled only 30 votes under the lowest vote for those elected. One candidate lacked but a single vote of putting fourth position into a three-way tie.

FACULTY BROADCASTS IN HONOR OF FOUNDING

Greetings Sent to Graduates Over Entire World by Means of Radio.

TWELVE MEMBERS TALK

In commemoration of the sixty-third anniversary of the founding of the University of Nebraska, twelve members of the faculty last night sent short messages of greeting to former students gathered together in different parts of the country in a radio program broadcast by KFAE, The R. O. T. C. band under the direction of William Quick interspersed the speeches with musical entertainment.

Theodore Diers, in charge of the program, introduced the speakers and announced the selections played by the band. Following is a list of the speakers with a brief resume of their remarks.

Prof. E. E. Lackey, associate professor of geography who came to the university in 1924: "The latch string is always out to former students of the department and friends. Write us a note and tell us how you are getting along."

Dr. Hattie Plum Williams of the sociology department: "During the past sixteen years that I have been with the university, 5,000 names have been put into my files of former students. Tho I have never reached the plight of the old woman who had so many children she didn't know what to do, all of you have conferred upon me much honor. Greetings!"

Dean Henzlik Lauds Open-Minded Sincerity of the Modern Youth in a Statement Which Refutes Critics

BY HARRY ROSENSTEIN.

"If the critics who continually condemn the college youth of today would put forth half as much effort to obtain facts, they would find only a small percent of the students ever give any trouble," declared Dr. Dr. F. E. Henzlik, dean of the teachers college, in upholding the beliefs and actions of the younger generation.

"Less than 1 percent give us even the slightest concern of a nature that newspapers like to paint in sensational and highly colored phrases," he said.

In Dr. Henzlik's opinion, 98 or 99 percent of present day students are more sincere, more serious, more courageous, and more self sufficient than ever before. They may at times be confused, he claims, due to the complexity of social and economic forces, but they are never insincere.

"They may question the judgments and opinions of adults," he said, "but if they do, it is because they have seen enough of the sham and pretense in civilization that they hesitate to take things for granted. What is there in the recent adult decisions in business, politics, social affairs, or international relations that should be taken without question or evaluation?"

Altho the modern youth may make mistakes, Dr. Henzlik pointed out that he is honest and sincere in trying to secure a sense of direction and is more tolerant and openminded than the college student of old. To illustrate this fact,

UNIVERSITY ANXIOUS TO NAB BOOTLEGGERS

Dean Says Administration Wants to Cooperate With Wilson.

U. S. DEPUTY IN LINCOLN

University administrative officials are anxious to co-operate with authorities in the admonition of bootleggers, especially those supplying liquor to students, Dr. T. J. Thompson, dean of student affairs, said Tuesday afternoon.

Harold D. Wilson, deputy prohibition administrator for Nebraska, as quoted in the Omaha Bee-News Tuesday, made the following statement to the Omaha press: "The investigation of conditions at Nebraska university and the raid Saturday night were the result of co-operation between enforcement officers and the university administration."

His statement followed the arrest of Alva Williams, former student and confiscation of a small quantity of liquor in a raid by federal prohibition officers and Lincoln police on the coliseum after the all university party there Saturday night.

Burnett Returns Today. A statement concerning the university administration's relation to the Saturday night incident must come from Chancellor Burnett, Dean Thompson said. Chancellor Burnett had not returned to Lincoln Tuesday from western Nebraska where he made two Charter day addresses Monday. He will return today.

Wilson, who was in Lincoln Tuesday afternoon conferring with United States District Attorney Robert Van Fleet, pointed out that conditions on the campus are "good rather than bad" and that the smallness of the amount of liquor seized "makes apparent the fact that little drinking was being done." He characterized Saturday night's raid as a minor affair "conducted for the mental effect it would have on the college students."

Wilson Says Conditions Good. Wilson, while in Lincoln yesterday, told newspapermen that he is planning an intensive drive for a cleanup of liquor conditions throughout the state. This drive, he said, will include Lincoln. He added that he will be back in Lincoln within a few weeks to commence operations here, he said, with a cleanup of liquor conditions along with clubs and hotels, more because he wishes (Continued on Page 4.)

STUDENTS FAVOR ATHLETIC BOARD REPRESENTATION

864 Vote for Plan While 65 Are Opposed to Student Board Member.

REGENTS NOW TO DECIDE

Committee Survey Will Be Presented to Board at Next Meeting.

A definite step toward getting student representation on the athletic board was taken Tuesday when an overwhelming majority of the voters returned a verdict favoring a student athletic board member.

Eight hundred sixty-four voted for student representation, and 65 voiced themselves as opposed to the plan.

The student council committee in charge of action toward getting student members for the board will ask Chancellor E. A. Burnett for a meeting of the board of regents to decide the question as soon as the Chancellor returns, Art Wolf, chairman of the council committee, said Tuesday night.

Results of the referendum will be presented at the regents' meeting, as will results of the committee's investigation survey. As a part of the compilation of information, the committee sent questionnaires to fifty-three leading colleges and universities of the nation in an attempt to learn how the situation was being handled in other schools.

"How soon a decision will be reached is uncertain," Wolf stated, "but there will be a decision, one way or the other."

Heretofore, he explained, attempts to get student members for the athletic board have been met with failure, because it has been charged there was no way of knowing whether students wanted representation, and because the student council did not present sufficient information showing why there should be representation.

"Now, however, we have that information," Wolf declared, "and the results of Tuesday's election indicate that the students do want their delegates to have a place on the body that decides questions which effect the whole student body."

Members of the student council committee of which Wolf is chairman are: Gretchen Fee, Bob Kinkead, Lucile Hendricks, Howard Allaway and Walter Huber.
