PLAN UNDERWAY TO REESTABLISH CLASS OFFICERS

Yellow Jackets, Blue Shirts Announce Conciliation Meeting.

WILL TAKE PLACE SOON

To Draw Recommendations; Minor Offices May Even Be Returned.

BY THE OBSERVER.

That definite plans are to be made for re-establishing class offices on a basis which will make them entirely worthy of perpetuation has been announced by leaders of the two fraternity factions. William Devereaux, Omaha, Alpha Tau Omega, Blue Shirt president, and Otis Detrick, York, Sigma Nu, Yellow Jacket president, have declared their intentions of a "conciliation meeting" the date of which will be selected tomorrow.

According to present plans the officers of the two factions will meet and draw up a recommendation for the "Re-establishment of Class Offices on a Scale Which Will Make Them Worthy as a University Tradition." The recommendation will be presented to the Student Council.

"We agree entirely with the Yellow Jackets that the office of class president, as it now exists, is not worthy of existence," declared Blue Shirt President Devereaux. "Our presentation of a slate was not made because we believed the duties of class officers justified their perpetuation, but because we believed the offices themselves a university tradition which should not be allowed to die out. We are anxious to co-operate with either one or both of the opposition factions in devising duties for class officers."

Yellow Jacket Comments.

Commenting on the proposed conciliation meeting, Otis Detrick, Yellow Jacket president, said: "The Yellow Jackets are ready to take any step which points toward the erection of a code of duties for class officers. We believe that class officers are a traditional part of the university and should be maintained, providing they fill a place in the universities in the university. When the class officers mean nothing, they should, as we declared last fall, be abolished. The Yellow Jacket faction even suggests that minor class officers be returned if it can be done in such a way as to insure freedom from the old system of elections at class meetings which was followed in the past. If class presidents are to be given duties to perform it seems obvious that the minor class officers must be also returned in order to give the presidents an organization with which to work."

If the two factions are able to devise a workable plan of duties, a plan which will mean added benefits to the school as a whole, it is wholly likely that the Student Council will give serious thought to the recommendations which are presented. The "conciliation meeting" marks one of the most definite steps to restore class officers to a position of campus respect which has occurred during the past three years.

ESSAY CONTEST WILL CLOSE SATURDAY NOON

Announcement of Winners of Seven Prizes Will Be Made April 1.

Articles for Chancellor E. A. Burnett's annual essay contest must be submitted to the chancellor's office in Administration hall before 12 o'clock Saturday noon. The contest will be judged by three impartial judges and the results will be announced April 1.

Cash prizes of $100 will be awarded by the chancellor for the best article on "What Should Be Considered in the Choosing of a Vocation." A prize of $40, a second of $25, a third of $15 and four of $5 each, will be awarded.

In stating the purpose of the contest the Chancellor says that the reason for offering the prizes is that the choosing of a vocation is one of the most important steps in the lives of young men and young women.

The contest is open to all undergraduate students in the University of Nebraska and is an annual affair financed entirely by the chancellor.

Teachers May Still File, Says Moritz

All candidates for teaching positions who have not completed registration may do so any Monday or Thursday, said Dr. R. D. Mottiz, yesterday. This applies to those who have been previously registered.

Interfrat Council Is Called for Meeting

An important meeting of the Interfraternity council has been called for tonight by Norman Galleher, president of the council. The meeting will be held in the council room in Morrill hall from 7 until 7:15. He urges all council members to be present.

Kosmet Klub President Sees Revival Activities as Many Report for Show

More Than Fifty Try Out For Spring Comedy Wednesday.

"A reawakened interest in at least one campus activity was clearly evidenced by the number of students that appeared on the Kosmet Klub tryout program Wednesday evening. The Klub was more than satisfied with the quality of the talent that was shown," Dick Devereaux, president of the Kosmet Klub stated yesterday.

Also pleased with the calibre shown in the tryouts for character parts the Kosmet Klub stated that it was not entirely satisfied with the material for the pony and male chorus.

"Private tryouts for parts in the pony and male choruses will be held the early part of next week and the final announcement as to the selection of the members will not take place until later," Klub officials said.

Select Cast Next Week.

Between 50 and 60 students tried out for parts in the show. A charge of fifteen cents was assessed to each of the spectators present. The selection of the cast will be made during the early part of next week.

"The cast for 'Jingle Belles' will be chosen as soon as the committee can meet and discuss the tryouts and as soon as the eligibility of the students selected for the various roles has been checked up on at the dean's office, said Devereaux.

Edwin J. Faulkner, business manager of the Kosmet Klub and in charge of the booking for the show, is corresponding with a number of towns in central and eastern Nebraska that have signified interest in the production. Conditions seemed favorable Wednesday night and all indications point to an extended road trip for "Jingle Belles."

Good Material.

"The spectators who paid admission to witness the tryouts seemed to get their money's worth as a number of interesting and embarrassing occurrences arose. I believe that the idea of charging admission is a good one as it affords the aspirants an opportunity of rehearsing before an audience and it helps the judges in determining the calibre of the performers. There was a lot of good material to choose from," declared Dick Devereaux.

The committee that will choose the cast from the students that tried out consists of Herbert Yenne, author and director of "Jingle Belles," Ralph Ireland, assistant director, Sig Coombs and Dick Devereaux.

Applications for positions on the staff producing the show may be made at the Kosmet Klub offices at any time this week.

Other officers of this region are Anne Marie Rehtus, formerly of the University of Nebraska, vice president; Elmer Anderson, Dana college, secretary, and Elmer Hartman, Kansas Agricultural college, treasurer.

The conference will last three days, concluding Sunday. About 200 people which includes outside delegates are expected to be on hand for the opening event, a banquet at the First Lutheran church Friday night at 6 o'clock. The toastmaster is Herbert Fisher of Omaha, president of the National Lutheran League of the United Lutheran church.

The program for the evening will include an exchange of greetings of the various schools represented, musical numbers by a quartet from the University school of music, and community singing. Following the banquet there will be a devotional service in the church auditorium at which time Rev. L. L. Steinhoff of Midland college will speak on the theme of "Right Choices."

Commerce Fraternity Hears Address by R. L. Renner; 23 Are Present.

Twenty-three members and guests attended the monthly Delta Sigma Pi dinner at the Lindell hotel Wednesday evening, Feb. 17.

D. L. Renner, assistant contract engineer with the Iowa-Nebraska Light and Power company, was the principal speaker. He spoke on the "Relation of Business and Government," and pointed out that the government is at present competing with private business in over 160 different lines. Mr. Renner stated that this undesirable situation could be remedied if the people would elect the right kind of men to represent them in congress.

This dinner was one of a series to be given each month during the semester by this professional commerce fraternity, for the purpose of carrying out the aims of the fraternity and to acquaint prospective members with these aims and with the members of the fraternity.

WORK IS STARTED ON AWGWA FOR MARCH

Contributors Should Stop In at Office to Talk With Editor.

Work on the March issue of the Awgwan, according to Marvin Robinson, has been started by the Awgwan staff. This number, to keep in season with the time of the year will follow the spring motif.

"Those who are planning to contribute material for the issue are urged to start immediately, and anyone who wishes to write articles or draw cartoons for the magazine should stop in at the Awgwan office before starting their work," he said. "The deadline for copy for the spring number will be within the next two weeks."

Robinson expressed the hope that his staff would be able to increase the size of the magazine next month, as they already have several new features planned, with a lot of other good material being lined up. He also stated that quite a number of jokes and cartoons have been reprinted by other college comic magazines, especially in the exchange numbers that have been featured within the last few months.

"In view of the successful sale of the February issue, a larger number of the March Awgwans will be printed so that everyone who wishes will be able to purchase a copy next month," he added.

BURNETT STATES OFFICIALS FROWN ON USE OF LIQUOR

Says Nebraska Authorities Cooperating in Law Enforcement.

"The University of Nebraska authorities have continually frowned upon the use of liquor by students or members of the faculty under all circumstances," declared E. A. Burnett of the state university Thursday morning. Chancellor Burnett returned Wednesday from Scottsbluff and North Platte where he filled speaking engagements earlier in the week.

The chancellor said that the recent discovery of liquor in the university coliseum is being thoroughly investigated by university authorities.

"The University of Nebraska authorities have continually frowned upon the use of liquor by students or members of the faculty under all circumstances," repeated the chancellor. "We have cooperated with and will continue to cooperate with the prohibition officers in an effort to keep stu- dent parties, fraternity and sorority houses and all university activities free from any drinking or use of liquor by students or others in attendance. Our position relative to the use of liquor is the same whether it refers to students, faculty or employees of the university."

Nebraska Dry.

"We have been informed by law enforcement officers that the state university community is unusually free from liquor or other violations of the law. There has been mutual cooperation between university authorities and law enforcement officers in an effort to keep all university activities free from such evils."

"We have never withheld information which might be of use in apprehending and prosecuting violators of the law within the university community and in the present instance are cooperating with the proper authorities in matters of law enforcement."

CREIGHTON WILL MEET NEBRASKA IN CAGE SERIES

Gish Expects Early Approval Of Big Six Authorities; Play For Charity.

SCHEDULE TWO GAMES

First Tilt to Be Played in Omaha March 4; Second Battle in Lincoln.

Nebraska will meet Creighton in a pair of post-season basketball games for charity provided permission can be obtained from Big Six conference authorities, the athletic board of control announced following a meeting Thursday noon.

Herbert D. Gish, director of athletics expects early sanction of the games from the conference committee. Tentative plans call for the first tilt to be played at Omaha, March 4, with the Bluejays slated to perform at the coliseum later, probably the week following.

It was at the invitation of Creighton university officials and the Omaha chamber of commerce that the matter was first brought to the attention of the Nebraska athletic department. Proceeds from the games will be turned over for livestock drought relief.

Also the Big Six conference has in the past gone on record as opposing post season games, it is believed that permission will be readily granted because of the presence of the charity factor.

Definite announcement as to dates, admission prices, and concessions to students will be made later.

SPOERRY LECTURES ON SINO-JAPANESE AFFAIR

University Captain Believes Japan Wants to Work a Compromise.

TALK SECOND OF SERIES

"Japan is staging a conflict in Shanghai simply to take all eyes away from Manchuria. That would give her a chance to work a compromise—to withdraw from Shanghai providing that she gets Manchuria," was the opinion expressed by Capt. G. W. Sperry of the University of Nebraska military department, in a lecture on the Sino-Japanese situation at the First Plymouth Congregational church Wednesday night.

Captain Sperry spoke before the Institute of Manchuria for the second of a series of speeches on Manchuria that are being conducted by the church.

The fact that the League of Nations did not make the Japanese abide by the league's decision at the start and force withdrawal from Manchuria, was regretted by the captain.

"The withdrawal of Japanese forces from Manchuria might have been accomplished at first, but now if Japan were to evacuate she would 'lose face,' which means everything to an oriental," was explained by Captain Sperry.

BAPTISTS WILL HEAR TALK

"The Portrait of a Carpenter" Will Be Subject of Grace Spacht.

"The Portrait of a Carpenter," a discussion of the life of Christ, will be presented by Miss Grace Spacht at the noon university class of the First Baptist church Sunday. This will be the first of a series of such talks which will continue until Easter. Winifred Kirkland's book, "The Portrait of a Carpenter," will be used as a basis for the discussion.

At the evening young people's service the Old Testament character, Amos, will be studied. This also is the first of a series of studies based on different characters of the Old Testament. The service will be conducted by Miss Virginia Larson. Musical numbers will be played by the Baptist student orchestra.

Faculty Members Approve Plan to Donate Prom Proceeds for Charity

Thompson, Schram, Lantz Comment Favorably Thursday.

Expressing their approval of the action of the Junior-Senior prom committee in deciding to donate the proceeds from the prom to charity for the relief of the drought-stricken areas, several faculty members yesterday commented favorably on the idea.

All were agreed that the move showed that the students were in sympathy with the various relief plans and desired to help as much as they could. They also declared that the plan would meet with general student and faculty support.

T. J. Thompson, dean of student affairs, expressed the opinion that the action of the committees was an evidence of the general spirit and attitude of the student body toward the situation. He made the following statement:

Commendable Spirit.

"The action of the Junior-Senior prom committee in deciding to donate the proceeds from the prom to relief of the drought-stricken area of Nebraska is an evidence of a very commendable spirit and attitude among the students. It shows very clearly that they sympathize with those who have suffered and that they want to help."

"Whatever the amount of the donation will be, whether it is large or small, the idea is worthy of recognition and success. It is my sincere hope and belief that the student body will support this move in a way which will reflect nothing but credit upon themselves and upon the university."

"The Junior-Senior prom, always a tradition among Nebraska social affairs, has always been one of the outstanding events of the year. With a definite objective in view this year, one which the students are advocating, the prom should go down in history as one of the most successful parties in the life of the university," Dean Thompson continued.

Prof. E. W. Lantz, faculty adviser to the student council, stated that he was entirely in sympathy with the committee's action. At the time the committee reported to the council, he urged the council to let the committee proceed along the plans which they had outlined.

"I believe that the action of the Junior-Senior prom committee in planning to donate the money received from the prom to charity is one of the finest things that a student group at the university has done in a long time," Professor Lantz declared.

"It will show the people of the state that the students in the university are thoroughly conversant with the conditions as they exist in the stricken area and that they are willing and anxious to do whatever they can to help," he concluded.

DECORATIONS FOR LEAP YEAR PARTY VALENTINE MOTIF

More Than 500 Couples Are Expected to Attend Novel Party.

The most popular man on the campus will be presented at the Moritz Board Leap Year Party at 11 o'clock Saturday evening at the coliseum. His presentation which will climax the evening, will follow the entertainment during the intermission.

The decorations, which will be in red and white, will follow the valentine motif. Three-fourths of the coliseum will be partitioned off and dancing will not take place at the north end of the building.

The dome of the coliseum will be cut off with alternating wide red and white strips which will be stretched across from east to west. Hearts will be placed on each one of them. Leo Beck's orchestra which has been engaged to play for the party will be placed in a platform which will also carry out the valentine motif in its decorations. The arches on each side will also be decorated.

"The ticket sale according to Berenice Hoffman, promises that more than 500 couples will attend." She requests that the Tassels, who have been conducting the sales for the party turn in their tickets to her at the Daily Nebraskan office at 2 o'clock Saturday. At that time the girls who have sold more than twenty tickets will be given their free ticket by Miss Hoffman. Tickets for the affair are priced at $1.

Check High Sales.

At the check up on ticket sales Tuesday evening the high sales women were Margaret Sievers, Alpha Delta Theta; Alice Pedley, Kappa Alpha Theta; Gertrude Clarke, Alpha Xi Delta; and Alma Freeling.

MRS. HINMAN TALKS TO LEAGUE OF VOTERS

Chinese-Japanese Question Is Topic of Address Given Thursday.

"The Chinese-Japanese question and its probable effect on the rest of the world" was the subject of the address delivered by Mrs. E. L. Hinman before the University League of Women Voters at the meeting Thursday, Feb. 18, in Ellen Smith hall.

"There are two fundamental reasons for the present feeling between the nations," said Mrs. Hinman. "The first of these is the racial enmity that has always existed between the two countries. The Chinese are temperamentally and mentally different from the Japanese. Japan has, until recent times, always been much less powerful than China. Now she is more powerful in every way except numbers."

The second reason, according to Mrs. Hinman, is the economic situation in Japan and China. Japan has the ownership of a strip of land through Manchuria. Manchuria is China's most important province and is vital to the life of the Chinese people in that it furnishes two great essential food stuffs: wheat and the soy bean. Without either of these two food materials millions of her people would starve.

"The war, as it is convenient to name it, started in much the same manner as the Japanese war," she continued. "A Japanese captain was assassinated. The Japanese military party claims that this (Continued on Page 3.)

The purpose of the meeting, an announcement of which was sent to the president of every organization on the campus, was to discuss plans whereby the projects of the various campus organizations may receive the support and backing of the other organizations, according to Dick Devereaux, president of the Innocents society, who presided at the meeting.

Two plans had been outlined by the society before the meeting was called. They were: A pledge-supported co-operation from every organization on the campus, and a student tax, giving the students participation in every activity.

Representative students, sketching the present situation and citing specific examples of interest or lack of interest, outlined several causes and remedies for the situation. A similar meeting is planned for the future to continue discussion on the subject.

Edwin Faulkner, president of the student council, gave a short historical review of the situation to explain the present condition. He stated that when the school had a small enrollment, most students were acquainted with each other and with the various activities and were more willing to participate.

"Now the control of student activities rests in the hands of a comparatively small number of students enrolled in the university." (Continued on Page 3.)

FOLLIES IS THE BIG EVENT OF THE NIGHT

Fashion Show, Group Skits And Best Dressed Girl Are Features.

TICKET SALES ARE GOOD

Tonight Nebraska's best dressed girl will be presented to the Nebraska women at the annual Coed Follies, which is an entertainment annually sponsored by the A. W. S. board. It will be staged at the Temple theater from 7 until 9 o'clock.

The coed who best exemplifies style and appropriateness in dress was chosen by the A. W. S. board at their meeting Monday. All sororities, dormitories and organized houses were asked to submit the name of the girl in their house whom they considered best fitted for the position.

These candidates met with the A. W. S. board two weeks ago and told their favorite campus haunts so that members of the board would recognize them when they saw them. After constant observation of the girls and their attire on the campus, the board reached its decision, and the result will be made known at the Follies.

Groups also presented skits and certain acts to the board, of which four were chosen, as main features of the evening's entertainment. The opening act will be a surprise as to name and content, but the participants in it are well known in dramatic circles. They are Dorothy Weaver and Anne Kavich.

Members of Delta Gamma will give a skit which will be comprised of Eleanor Burwell, Louise Correa and Zua Warner, vocal trio; Lou- (Continued on Page 2.)

GROUP DISCUSSES LACK OF STUDENT CAMPUS ACTIVITY

Innocents Sponsor Meeting; Cite Seven Reasons for Slack in Interest.

TWO PLANS SUGGESTED

Nebraska Student Leaders Speak; Favor Further Investigation.

In an effort to get at the underlying factors causing the lack of student interest in campus activities, seven points outlined as probable causes were emphasized at the meeting of all organization representatives last night. The meeting was called by the Innocents society.

The seven points are:

1. A student body entirely too large to be controlled and guided by any one organization.

2. Those students who are in activities are not absolutely representative of the student body as a whole.

3. Lack of student help and interest in student publications.

4. The political alignment on the campus.

5. Fraternity men and sorority members do not cooperate with bars.

6. Women are not represented in the activities which men dominate.

7. The student body as a whole does not have a definite knowledge of the qualifications and scope of student activities.

The purpose of the meeting, an announcement of which was sent to the president of every organization on the campus, was to discuss plans whereby the projects of the various campus organizations may receive the support and backing of the other organizations, according to Dick Devereaux, president of the Innocents society, who presided at the meeting.

ENGINEERS ELECTION NAMES WILLARD DANN

Chairman and Assistants Are Planning Annual Open House Week.

Willard Dann of Beatrice, senior student in the college of mechanical engineering, was chosen at the Engineers' election today as the chairman of the annual Engineers' Open House week which is to be held in May. Dann is a member of Alpha Tau Omega.

Jack Hutchings, junior electrical engineering student from Falls City, was elected as secretary-treasurer for the week's activities. Hutchings is also a member of Alpha Tau Omega.

The men for these offices were elected by a vote of all engineering students, and were chosen on the basis of their standing in scholarship, leadership and managing ability.

Following the evening performance, members of the cast were entertained by the directors of the Playhouse at the home of Mrs. Arthur Quiou. It is planned to effect an exchange of one production between the two dramatic organizations as an annual practice, according to Charles Hoff, business manager of the Players. Tentative plans are now under consideration to bring one of the Playhouse productions to Lincoln.

By way of variety, the reporter decided to observe the performance, a mainline and an evening presentation, from the wings backstage and to write the story from such an angle. Particularly interesting to an onlooker were the maneuvers executed out of sight of the audience all so essential to the smooth running of the production.

Those who saw "Othello" will remember the intermittent vocal outbursts from members of the mob, sometimes "A sail, a sail," at other times only unintelligible off-stage noises. Interesting was the manner in which accurate timing on these mob cries was insured. A blue electric light bulb was turned on as a signal for the mob to become enthusiastic, and so long as it continued to burn, the mob continued to exercise its vocal chords.

At times, it appeared that the actors were addressing their remarks and actions to off-stage observers, and then again the peculiar pose affected, it would develop, had a purpose, and the click of a (Continued on Page 2.)
