Col. T. S. Moorman, R. O. T. C. officer for the Seventh corps area, will be the inspecting officer.

FORMER COWBOY ON CONVOCATION PROGRAM TODAY

(Continued from Page 1.) Dale when they were on the faculty at the University of Oklahoma. Both of the law professors recommend Dr. Dale as an entertaining and exceedingly interesting speaker who has a knowledge of what he talks from personal experience.

Was Cowboy. Professor Dale received his A. B. degree from Oklahoma university and his Ph. D. from Harvard. He was a cowboy and rancher from 1896 to 1901. The Oklahoma professor collaborated with the historical research department of the United States department of agriculture and is a member of the Indian survey commission. He is a member of the American History association and of the Oklahoma State Folk Lore association.

As well as being a historian of note Professor Dale has written several books of verse and of cowboy stories. "Territorial Acquisitions of the United States," "Tales of the Tepee," "Prairie Schooner and Other Poems," "Rise and Fall of the Cattle Industry," are among his publications. He was editor of "Letters of Lafayette" and "Frontier Trails."

WILL HONOR SENIOR GIRL ON AG CAMPUS

(Continued from Page 1.) May 6, when they hold their annual pre-fair dance in the student activities building. The Goldenrod Serenaders will play for the party and it is closed to all but Ag students.

Elizabeth Burdick, general chairman of the tea room, announced this morning that it will resemble an old settler's table in carrying out the theme of the pageant. The tea room will be found in the home economics building and will be open from 4:30 until 6:45 p. m. Corn bread, home baked beans, sorghum and other pioneer foods will be featured on the menu.

Elizabeth Hall is chairman of the food committee for the tea room and has Helen Hengstler and Ellen Weeks as assistants. Helen Wilson is chairman of the decoration committee. Teresa Libershal and Grace Wilson are also on the committee. A committee of Naomi McGuire, Helen Newberg and Alice Ritchie is looking after the service part. Alma Freshling, Lea Lenger and Dorothy Luschniger are looking after the publicity.

BANQUET TO END SESSIONS OF BIG SIX CONFERENCE

(Continued from Page 1.) in this section of the country is meeting some form of the problem of how to keep the control of activities well scattered, that is to prevent the domination in politics and campus activities by one political faction to the exclusion of representation by other groups in the school.

The student activity blanket tax is also a question which has aroused considerable interest according to the committee. Missouri and Iowa State have the plan under consideration at the present time.

The other two topics on the program of discussion deal with class organization and sincere offices, and the centralized control of activities by student councils. Delegates to the conference will stay at fraternity houses on the campus. Willard Hedge is in charge of arranging for the entertainment of delegates. Eleanor Dixon, the other member of the committee is in charge of reservations for the banquet Saturday.

AWGWAN WILL HAVE IVY DAY AS THEME

He added that the results of the Horse Race Classic will be announced in a few days. "People seem to have the idea that this horse race business the Awgwan is promoting is all a big joke, but it is not. Those who have not yet voted have the opportunity to do so by coming to the Awgwan office and dropping their ballots in the box provided for that purpose, during the next two or three days. "Actual awards will be made to the winners of the contest and we would like to have as many votes cast as possible," he urged.

200 HISTORIANS MEET FOR THREE DAY CONFERENCE

will talk on George Washington and the west.

Thursday afternoon, starting at 2:15, a discussion of the great plains, led by Louis Pelzer of the University of Iowa, will take place. Topics to be considered are: "Outlaws and the Vigilantes of the Southern Plains," by Carl C. Rister of the University of Oklahoma, "Horace Greely and the West," by Earle D. Ross of Iowa State college, and "The Nature of the Historical Problems of the Plains," by Walter P. Webb of the University of Texas, whose book on this subject has recently been printed.

At 4:30, a reception for the delegates will be given by Chancellor and Mrs. E. A. Burnett. The reception will be held in the Memorial room of Morrill hall, which will be used for the first time. Mr. and Mrs. Arthur C. Morrill of Stormburg will be present. Mr. Morrill is the son of Charles E. Morrill for whom the building was named.

A dinner given in honor of the delegates by the university will be held Thursday night at the University club. Chairman for the evening will be Dean John D. Hicks. The welcome address will be given by Chancellor Burnett, and Stanley Vestal (W. S. Campbell) will talk on "Through Indian Eyes—the White Man in War and Peace As Seen by the Plains Indian, 1850-1876."

Later in the evening the president's address will be given at a meeting in the Lincoln hotel. Dr. Beverley W. Bond, Jr., of the University of Cincinnati and president of the association, will talk on "American Civilization Comes to the Old Northwest."

Outstanding Speakers. Friday's program includes a discussion of social history, a topic to be tried in meetings of the association for the first time. A luncheon conference and business meeting, a discussion of western problems in the afternoon, a tour of Lincoln by automobile, a reception given by Governor and Mrs.

Bryan, and the twenty-fifth anniversary dinner that night.

Some of the outstanding speakers on Friday's program are: Robert E. Riegel of Dartmouth college, who will talk on medical novelties of a century ago; William W. Sweet of the University of Chicago, who will talk on the churches as moral courts of the frontier, and George F. Howe of the University of Cincinnati, who will talk on the Star Route Frauds.

Only one of fifty names of prominent men were recognized by all the members of a current politics class at the University of Oklahoma. He was Alphonse Capone.

An emergency budget for the fiscal year has been approved by Kansas university's board of regents providing for a 25 percent reduction of expenditures and a 10 percent cut in employees' salaries.

SEE POSSIBILITY OF TURNOVER IN CAMPUS POLITICS

not in bringing even a small part of these men to the polls the elusive fraternity interest in campus politics will have every reason to be awakened. The bars will be in a position to obtain a good representation, if only under the proportional system, on the Student Council and they may be able to place some men on the publications board or in class offices.

It is doubtful whether the bars will have time to effect formidable organization before the coming spring elections. Time is too short. But if they take advantage of their opportunities they will certainly be in a position to stir things up next year. In fact the Greeks may find that they have created a "Frankenstein" which will rise to crush them politically. But all this, of course, will only serve to make things more interesting and that is what the campus has been waiting for these last three years. Even at the cost of some election posts the fraternity students would undoubtedly like to see some of the traditional "hellfire and brimstone" at the polls.
