HORSESHOE PITCHERS BUSY

Thimgan Leads Competitors Into Fourth Round for University Title.

All-university horseshoe pitchers have been busy this week playing off scheduled matches in a successful attempt to make up for last week's inactivity. Six have earned their way into the third round, while one player is lodged in the fourth round. Two of the entrants are holding up progress in the tourney by not playing first round tilts.

In the second round, Shelby defeated Sellentin, Roter beat Rhea, Skinner won from Barnes, Carsten took Stark, Thimgan was too good for Kunkle and Sullivan beat Long. Thimgan won from Carsten and is now lodged in the fourth round.

Sorensen, lanky freshman basketball player is waiting for a Torf-Hayek winner, with whom he will match throws in the second round. Costin, winning from J. Hansen by default, encounters the victor in the Peterson-McPherson first round match. Shelby plays Roter in the only third round match ready for play.

BEAR DOPE around the Husker track camp has it that Nebraska is due for a licking when the Sooner take on the Oklahoma Sooners in Friday's cinder dual. Coach Henry Schulte is the chief peddler of this gloomy forecast, but according to the way things are stacking up now, the wily track mentor may be right.

Schulte has it all figured out that the Sooners have 45 points in the field events tucked safely away in the vest pocket right now. Added to this tally, he gives the Oklahoma Sooners 26 points in the running events, a total of 71 markers for Coach John Jacob's men. Since 121 points constitutes the grand total, Nebraska will be just an also ran with 60 points. At least, that is the way "Pa" Schulte dopes it. And Schulte is one of the best when it comes to figuring track meets.

Under ordinary circumstances, the Huskers would win from Oklahoma hands down. But with the absence of Petz and Smulny from the dashes and hurdles, the view doesn't look so good for Nebraska. To this pessimistic outlook can be added the fact that a pair of Schulte's most valuable point getters have yet to clear the scholastic hurdle.

The dope sheet compiled by the Scarlet tutor credits the Norman athletes with nine points in the broad jump, Morris, Mell and Walker being a trio of fine jumpers. The Sooners are given four points in the shot put, six in the discus and nine in the javelin. Kieas starting in the last named event. With Newblock and Simms in the high jump, Schulte puts them down for eight points. He rates the invaders eight in the pole vault, which to this writer appears a bit strong.

In the track events, Schulte scores four points in both the 100 and 220-yard dashes for the Oklahoma squad. Panzse and Adkison are the leading sprinters. Hewitt, who has done a 49.6 quarter, is figured for a second in the 440. Ostergard believed to hold the edge here. Three points in the 880, one in the mile, five in the high hurdles and three in the low barriers complete the slaughter, according to Henry F. Schulte.

With all respect to Coach Schulte, I look for the Huskers to win. At all odds, it should be an exciting track meet.
