F

4

THE DAILY NEBRASKAN

Station A, Lincoln, Nebraska
OFFICIAL STUDENT PUBLICATION UNIVERSITY OF NEBRASKA Published Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Sunday mornings during the academic year.

THIRTY-FIRST YEAR Entered as second-class matter at the postoffice in coin, Nebraska, under act of congress. March 3, 1879, at special rate of postage provided for in section 3, act of October 3, 1917, authorized January 20, 1922. Under direction of the Student Publication Board SUBSCRIPTION RATE

Single Copy 6 cents $1.25 a semester d $1.76 a semester mailed S a year mailed
Editorial Office—University Hall 4.
Business Office—University Hall 4.
Felephones—Day: B-6891; Night: B-6882, B-3333 (Journal)
Ask for Nebraskan editor.

EDITORIAL STAFF

......Editor-in-chief Arthur Wolf MANAGING EDITORSJack Erickson Howard Allaway ... NEWS EDITORS Phillip Brownell. Oliver De Wois
Laurence Hall Virginia Pollard
Joe Miller. Sports Editor
Evelyn Simpson Associate Editor
Ruth Schill Women's Editor
Katharine Howard Society Editor

CONTRIBUTING EDITORS. George Round BUSINESS STAFF

MERCON MANAGERS MANAGERS Norman Gallcher.....Frank Musgrave
Bernard Jennings

The New Dormitory.

As the new girl's dormitory nears completion the administration is rapidly making final arrangements for the conduct of the living hall, announcements from the chancellor's offices stated recently. At the same time sororities are wondering just what influence this dormitory will have upon their finances.

An announcement Saturday set the cost at $60 per semester per girl for room and $26 a month for board for 20 meals a week. This cost is an estimate and is not yet definitely fixed. The office is now open for reservations and girls now enrolled in the university can reserve places in the dormitory. Girls who come to Nebraska for the first time next year will not be able to reserve rooms until after the end of this term.

This price is lower than any sorority can compete with. The cost will run at about $40 a month and almost all of the sororities are higher than this as a result of chapter dues and social assessments. Most sorority leaders Just have already signified that they did not believe the dormitory would have a great deal of influence upon their rolls next year as girls who decided to pledge would undoubtedly do so regardless of the dormitory.

It was not to compete with sororities in the first place that the dormitory was built. It was built to provide good living places for out-of-town university girls. This has always been somewhat of a problem to the dean of women's office and it is a matter of common knowledge that some of the houses which were previously named for unaffiliated girls to reside in were not good places to live. The dormitory was built to provide a decent place for many of the unaffiliated girls to live. In competition with sororities it will probably not be a large factor.

Socially, the dormitory will have many in-fluences. It will enable these non-Greeks who previously have had very few social contacts to broaden the scope of their friendships. It will enable them to give parties and contribute their share to the social life of the car pus which previously they have been unable to do.

It is one of the functions of a college education to give students a social as well as an intellectual education. The girls who previously lived in small rooms with very few contacts had small opportunity for an education of this type. It was practically impossible for them to share the social privileges of the campus because of the lack of these contacts. The new dormitory will provide the necessary liaison and will give these girls opportunity for social education which is their right.

There is one great question in the social aspect of this dormitory. Perhaps to many it is trivial, but to the girls who will live in the Money and hall, the question will have great significance. Will the fraternity men upon the campus date the girls in the dormitory? The easiest way of answering this question is by evading it and declaring that it makes no difference any way. But same observation will show that it does. Fraternity men have always had an exaggerated sense of their own importance and with characteristic snobbery may refuse to date the gir' in the dormitory because the dormitory has no rating. One thing is certain, the girls in the dormitory will be the same kind as those in the sororities, and fraternity men would do well to forget their high hats and be fair.

Politically, too, the dormitory will have significance. The hall will house 170 girls and if they are properly organized, if the leader of the Barb clubs is alert he will not pass up the change to put 170 votes in the ballot boxes for the Barb cause. One hundred seventy votes going solidly for one candidate or a slate of candidates can swing almost any election upon the University of Nebraska campus

The dormitory will undoubtedly be organized and if it is then it will relieve the administration of a portion of another problemthat of contacts with these unaffiliated girls. It has always been difficult for the administration to reach those students when necessary and it has had no check upon them previously. That is one of the reasons why the Nebraska leaders are so in favor of fraternities and sororities, because these groups provide ways and means of contacting large numbers of stu- helpers for this fine representation of Nebraska dents. The dormitory will provide another in the making. such group.

Raymond hall in memory of a woman who so characteristic of early settlers, is a rich spent many years of her life in the service of heritage which has come to us from those far the university. She was director of the uni- off days. That we do not neglect it was reversity chorus and later a director of music for cently exemplified in our response to the need the university. She was associated here from of people in northern counties. 1894 until her death in 1927. Her long years of service and her profound influence over the thousands of students with which she came in contact led the Board of Regents to keep her name alive in the hall.

The dormitory is Nebraska's answer to the depression. In the face of all of the hard times, the dormitory is rising and if it is an omen of the future it means that some day the chancellor's dream of a greater and more beautiful university campus may come true.

And there is always the danger when cribbing that the other guy is wrong, too.

Being Cheated?

The approaching final examinations bring to mind the examination technique. Earlier in the semester The Nebraskan advocated the acquisition of a technique for taking examinations. It involved a study of professors and their methods rather than of the courses. It did not, however, involve the use of crib sheets. For a number of years the situation has been a problem on the University of Nebraska. Cheaers are constantly with us and the admin istration is worried about their presence.

This morning, the two senior honoraries, the Innocents and the Mortar Boards, came out with a statement indicting the cheaters and urging students to stay on the level with themselves. The message follows:

The senior honoraries take a decided stand against the practice of cheating in examintaions. We are thoroughly ac-quainted with the fact that "cribbing" is in vogue among a certain class of stu-Unfortunately this group labors under the illusion that such action is clever. As a matter of fact it may be justly branded as a despicable form of self advancement at the expense of the individual as well as his associates.

There is much to be said against cheating. There will even be those who will defend it in the face of the grading system, and they will not be far wrong. But the method of correcting the system is not by misusing it. It is well known that the bardest enemy to fight is the one within oneself. Cribbing in exams is not an easy way of weakening that still small

Students should take pride in themselves and not allow themselves to be carried away by the urge of getting a good grade. Honesty and peace within oneself is worth thousands of good grades and many a so called scholar has found that out too late. Students should recognize that cheats, liars, thieves, and cribbers are all in the same class, and refrain from chiseling.

Just one more time.

It's just tough.

This is the opinion that ten business men in Lincoln expressed in an interview Saturday when asked what seniors were going to do after graduation. Most of them declared the seniors to be unfortunate. Unfortunate is a nice word and the better expression would seem to be "out-of-luck."

Unemployment is one of the greatest problems which face the world today. There are so many factors that enter into this. Every philosopher has a different theory, every politician knows why it is, every economist can explain it to the penny, but the most terrific indictment was the prophecy of E. A. Ross, Wisconsin sociologist in his "Standing Room

Regardless of why it is, it is. That is all that graduating seniors care to know. Many of them have been searching high and low for jobs and most of them have been unsuccessful. All of them are equipped for a certain line of the 'hard knocks' will do them work only to find that their particular field is overcrowded. Too many people, not enough jobs, not enough food.

The outlook is not altogether bright. One thing is certain. Students should not remain If they are unable to find work they should scrape together enough money to come back to school. The present situation cannot be blamed to education. If anything can be blamed to education. If anything can shange it that thing is education. Graduates are at approximately the same should make an effort to keep busy. Understand the structure of the structure The situation is tough but it cannot remain that way forever.

Donation of $100 for a scholarship was announced this morning by Mortar Board. This this world. is not in the nature of a loan, according to the announcement, but is an outright gift to some worthy Nebraska woman. This donation is the second of this nature this year by the senior

Earlier in the year, the Innocents society gave $300 from its Homecoming party to the administration to be given to three worthy and needy senior men. These two gifts are characteristic of the nature of the groups. money gifts are tangible expressions of their intangible function-service.

MORNING MAIL

Appreciation.

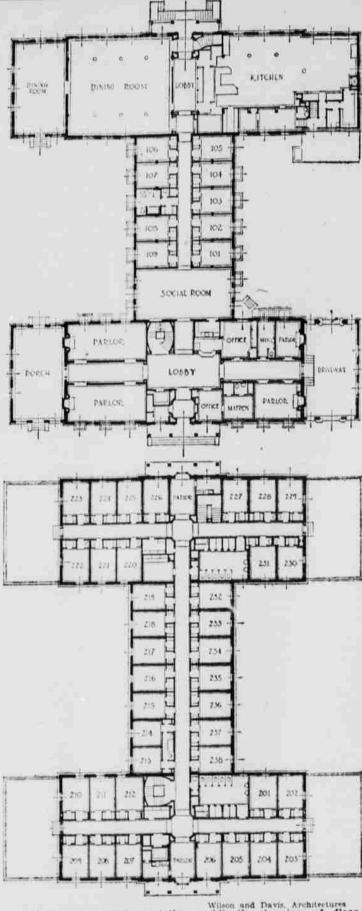

TO PROF. & D. SCOTT: You will be interested, I think, in getting there is always room for a person sections from persons who witnessed the that has something valuable to ofreactions from persons who witnessed the Pageant Saturday. Beautiful and impressive fer. torically correct, admirably planned and perfeetly rendered, the performance amply repaid us for the long trip to Lincoln.

To exalt our dear Nebraska land and to enshrine it in the hearts of our young people is a work to which we can well dedicate our best efforts. As a representative Nebraskan, I wish to thank you and all of your splendid Whose thought was it—"the planting of the Widow Wilson's corn?" Only a little thing, but so luminous! The spirit of neighborliness.

Appreciatively yours, FRED A. MARSH.

RESIDENCE HALL FLOOR PLANS

Here are reproductions of the architect's drawing of floor plans for first and second floors of Carrie Belle Raymond hall. The plan of the first floor, shown at the top, facing Sixteenth street, shows the lobby, lounges, dining and kitchen space, offices, and rooms space for eighteen women. The second floor plan shows the arrangement and numbering of individual student rooms, the reception parlor, as well as closet space and individual lavatory accommodations in each room. The third floor plan is a duplicate of the second with the exception of the numbering. duplicate of the second with the exception of the numbering.

FOR GOOD MEN AND WOMEN: SENIORS ARE UNFORTUNATE.

(Continued from Fage 1.) good and add greatly to their ap-preciation of their job and life it-self," she said in conclusion.

A new light was cast on the

S. A. Sanderson, vice president of Rudge and Guenzel company. "We are better off today the forty years ago," declared Mr. Sanderson, "Today we are getting higher wages than we were forty ways make a good living there. He is of the opinion that the student, if he can do so without too great a hardship should continue his college work, and using a little philosophy that is always good he said, "Be thrifty; live within your in-come and try to do a little good in Consider Status, Looking at the situation from a personnel director's angle is the way that A. A. Rosborough, of way that A. A. Roshorough, of Gold and company must consider the status of the college graduate.

"I am honestly sorry for the students that are graduating this year," said Mr. Rosborough, "the present outlook for them is certainly discouraging. tainly discouraging. I believe that wherever possible they should re-turn to school and specialize fur-ther in their field, it would help them, and help the unemployment situation to some extent." According to Mr. Rosborough there is, of course, always room in any organ-ization for a man or woman that has something valuable to offer— something that puts them head and shoulders above the field. "Even at the present time, people are finding jobs," he asserted, "and that is an indication that "That is a difficult question," said E. A. Frerichs, district man-ager of the Security Mutual Life Insurance company and president of the Cosmopolitan club, in reply to a question by the reporter along this general line. "My advice to the students is to continue their educa-

LINCOLN BUSINESS PEO. tion if they can possibly arrange to do so." Mr. Frerichs believes PLE SAY THERE IS AL-that a higher education is more ways a POSITION OPEN valuable to a student at the present time than ever before. "It is the person who has a little more to offer than his fellows that is going to get the job," he con-

According to W. A. Whitten, secretary of the Lincoln chamber of commerce the present period is the survival of the fittest. "I think that a student should try and follow his line of work and be prepared to start in at the bottom, said Mr. Whitten, and it will take hard work and perseverence but this is the time when good men are going to succeed." Mr. Whitten made the interesting observation that college men are too easily dis-couraged and he advocated that they "hitch their wagon to a star."

Should Come Back. "I feel sorry for the graduating senior," said Joe Seacrest, secretary treasurer of the State Journal company. "I feel that they should come back to school if they can afford it as it offers a compulsory discipline as well as knowledge." From Mr. Seacrest's point of view jobs are going to be hard to get and that it is especially true in the "I think that the student who is locking for a job should, at all costs, get started with the right people regardless of wages or po-

"The opportunities now are just as good as they were twenty years ago," suid Albert Held, assistant vice president of the Commerce National bank. It is important according to Mr. Held, that a person get into the field that he likes and he must be prepared to work hard and at all hours. "It is not the hours that count, it is the ef-fort that you put into those hours," he declared. Mr. Held is highly in favor of a higher educa-

> Hotel D'Hamburger Shotgun Service

WANTED--

Who are going to summer school and who would be interested in a co-operative club formed for the purpose of securing sat-isfactory board and room at a money-saving figure. We can secure a house next to the campus and shall operate on a budget that will provide board and room for less than $30 a month.

Must Complete Arrangements Immediately WRITE TO POST OFFICE BOX 1448, LINCOLN tion and believes that a student STUDENTS FEATURE would do well to return to school if he is unable to find work.

A. E. Wolf, secretary of young men's work at the Y. M. C. A. and head of the employment bureau advises the student to return to school. 'If possible they should go ahead and specialize in their particular field. It will help them and will do much to alleviate the unemployment situation," he said. At the present time Mr. Wolf has found that companies are employ-ing more married men, and laying off the unmarried ones, and he indicated that there were not even enough jobs for the married ones. If the college student believes that business men and women are not interested in his welfare, he is sadly mistaken. The present economic condition offers to the student an opportunity to go out into the world when business is the worst in years. It is a challenge to him, and some will meet it by returning to school for further preparation and others will start out at once to get the practical experience that all must eventexperience that all must event-ually have. Which ever students as individuals choose to do the world is following their progress with interest.

RECEIVES PRAISE SCOTT

Author of 'Progress of the Prairie' Receives Letter

Commending Play. Prof. R. D. Scott, author and di-rector of the production of the pageant, "Progress of the Prairie," which was presented by a large cast of students at the Farmers fair several weeks ago, received a letter last week from Fred Marsh, member of the Board of Regents from Archer, praising highly production.

Mr. Marsh who attended the fair says in part: "Historically correct, admirably planned, and perfectly rendered, the perform ance amply repaid us for the long trip to Lincoln." The pageant required an exceedingly large cast and rehearsals for it were con-ducted for many weeks preceding the production.

BULLOCK GIVES ADDRESS. Prof. T. T. Bullock, professor of economics and business law in the Business Administration college delivered the commencement address Wednesday evening at the graduating exercises of the high school at Stockham, Neb.

TYPEWRITERS

See us for the Royal portable type-writer, the ideal machine for the student. All makes of machines for rent. All makes of used ma-chines on easy payments. Nebraska Typewriter Co.

IN CAR ACCIDENT

Injuries Reported Not Serious; Four Taken To Hospital.

A car driven by Wayne Linscott, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, of Lincoln, collided with a car in which were Ben Franklin, Alpha Sigma Pni, and Jane Sheldon, Kappa Kappa Gamma, at 14th and D Friday

The other occupants of Mr. Lin-scott's car were Marjorie Heeian, Gertrude Taylor, Alpha Xi Delta, and E. J. Robertson. Miss Taylor, Miss Heelan, Linscott and Robertson were taken to the hospital but son were taken to the hospital but none of the four, according to hos-pital attaches, was seriously in-jured. The two in the other car escaped without injury altho the front of their machine was wedged under the running board of the Linscott car and held at an angle against the pole.

PHI LAMBDA UPSILON HOLD ANNUAL PICNIC

Phi Lambda Upsilon, nonorary chemistry osciety, held its annual picnic Saturday noon at the Auto Club park. Charles Biswell was in charge of arrangements. All chemistry majors and chemistry engineering students were invited.

Graduate Will Teach At Nebraska Wesleyan

Miss Helen Burrill, who took her master's degree in geography at the university in 1927 and since then has been teaching geography in the Joliet, Ill., junior college, has been called to Nebraska Wesleyan university to give work which has been offered by Professor Bishop, who is taking a leave of absence because of ill health.

Will the Moths Ruin Your Winter Garments This Summer?

Not if you have them Modern Cleaned and put in sealed bags-No extra charge for Dust proof Bags. Send Them Now-

MODERN CLEANERS

Soukup & Westover CALL F 2377

Ben Simon & Sons SWIM SUITS

A new Jantzen will win your approval on the beach or in the water. They are so new-they are different! They are smart! Don't fail to see them.

Jantzen Suits for Women

Jantzen "Formal" Jantzen "Tricolor" Jantzen "Shouldaire" Jantzen "Sun-Basque"

$4.50 to $7.50

Jantzen Suits for Men

Jantzen "Topper" Jantzen "Olympiad" Jantzen "Speed Suit" Jantzen "Speedaire"

$5.00 to $6.50

Jantzen Suits for Children

Boys' and Girls' Models Same as Men's and Women's

$2.50-$3-$3.50

Buy a Jantzen Swim Suit This Season