GREEK CLUBS ANNOUNCE PLEDGES

SPENCER TO PICK YEARBOOK STAFF FROM APPLICANTS

Editor to Receive Bids for Positions From Monday To Thursday.

SEEK MANY ASSISTANTS

Many Positions on Business And Editorial Sides Open to Students.

Who the new staff members of the 1933 Cornhusker will be, is soon to be determined. Ralph Spencer, editor, announced yesterday. Starting Monday, September 19 and continuing until Thursday night at five o'clock applications will be received in the Cornhusker offices in the basement of University Hall.

Present plans of the editor call for an exceptionally large number of staff members for the 1933 annual which means that there are many positions open to students interested in activities. We are especially interested in getting a large number of freshmen applications, since the work they do this year will put them in line for good progressive positions in the future.

Freshmen ineligible, however, that freshmen cannot qualify for titled positions, because of certain scholastic requirements they have not yet met, other than those of office assistants. We will be able to use several of these assistants and are expecting many applications," Spencer explained.

In the editorial department the following positions are open to applicants: five assistant managing editors, fraternity, sorority, junior and senior editors and five assistants for each, sports editor, who will take care of all varsity sports, women's and men's intramural sports editors, art editor, who will handle all division pages and other art material, administration editor to have charge of engravings, a snapshot editor and two assistants, agriculture and military editors, and office stenographer. A number of associate editors, not yet determined, will also be chosen.

Business Positions Open.

Positions on the business staff which will be filled at the same time as the editorial staff open for applications are: five circulation managers, advertising manager and business assistants. A number not yet determined. All applicants should be sure that they are eligible for activities, under the eligibility rules of the University. Requirements are that each student be at the present time satisfactorily carrying at least twelve hours, he must be properly enrolled in the University of Nebraska and have at least sophomore standing. These requirements are for staff positions and do not pertain to freshmen who wish to work in the Cornhusker office.

Invite Women.

Fraternities and sororities are urged to get their prospective active men and women over to the Cornhusker office for their applications as early as possible. Women who live in the new dormitory should feel free to apply for staff positions.

Spencer stressed the fact that all applicants must come to the office of Nebraska's year book and apply in person.

Two Former Students Visit Eight European Countries in Two-Month Tour on Motorcycle This Summer

From the seats of a two-passenger motorcycle the panorama of Germany, Sweden, Norway, Denmark, Belgium, Holland, France and England presented itself to Wilbur Currier and Franklin Anderson, former Nebraska students, in a two months' tour this summer.

They returned only recently to resume their duties as faculty members of the Wahoo high school and were enthusiastic in their praise of the beauties and wonders of "the continent."

"But," they say in concert, "no matter how wonderful we may think Europe is, don't forget that we think America is infinitely better as a place to live."

"We started in New York on the S. S. President Roosevelt," Currier explained, "after landing in Hamburg spent about the entire two months on our motorcycle." The trip from Nebraska to New York was also made in the saddle and side car of their Harley-Davidson.

Returning to America on the Levithan, Anderson and Currier brought with them almost two hundred photographs and a wealth of memories.

"Altogether the whole was had very few difficulties, some of our experiences with traffic regulations were very amusing," they said. Trying to remember to keep the "wrong" side of the road kept

ANNOUNCE CHANGE IN STAFF

2 Leave Physical Education Department; One New Teacher Added.

Changes in the staff of the department of physical education for women consist of the departure of Miss Kerstin Thorin and Miss Charlotte Bergstrom and the addition to the staff of Miss Josephine Orr.

Miss Thorin, who taught fundamental gymnastics and folk dancing, had been an instructor in this department for five years. She is now teaching at Cornell University in Ithaca, New York. Her home is in Gothenburg, Sweden. Miss Charlotte Bergstrom, who was head of the dancing department here last year, came from Seattle, Wash. She left the University to become head of the physical education department of St. Katherine's at St. Paul.

Miss Josephine Orr of Lincoln, who was graduated from the university in June, will be assistant instructor of classes in dancing and swimming.

NEBRASKA TO OFFER OTHER COLLEGE NEWS

Student Daily Subscribes to National College News Service.

Beginning soon the Daily Nebraskan will offer its readers a new feature as a part of its program of complete news coverage. Despatches from other campuses will soon be a regular part of the Nebraskan's news columns as a result of the paper's recent subscription to the College News Service, a nation-wide co-operative organization for the collection of outstanding news items of general interest.

Students will find that the new service will enable them to keep in contact with all happenings of interest and importance on college campuses throughout the United States. Watch your student daily for this new, valuable addition to its columns.

RELIGIOUS SOCIETIES TO SPONSOR MEETINGS

Groups Provide Opportunity For Freshmen to Learn About Campus.

PLAN MANY RECEPTIONS

Among the numerous organizations offering opportunities for freshmen students to make themselves feel at home on the Nebraska campus and in the city, the Lincoln churches and their campus representatives are presenting programs of varied nature. Together with the university Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A., they will sponsor a number of group gatherings with the purpose of making new acquaintances and selecting churches for the year.

All religious denominations which carry on special activities for college students are planning special receptions for members and friends on Friday evening, September 23, at their respective churches, many of which are located near the campus. The Y. M. C. A. will hold gatherings at Agriculture College, the Engineering College, and the Temple Theatre on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of the same week and the Y. W. C. A. will give freshmen girls a chance to assemble in Ellen Smith hall during the first of the week.

Presbyterian churches will begin their series of gatherings with what Dr. D. J. Langford, university pastor, terms an "airplane flight." The

UNION MUSICIANS NOTIFY STUDENT DEAN OF POLICY

Letter from Organization States Closed Shop Attitude Taken.

ANNOUNCE LOWER PRICE

Ruling Permits Group to Hire Either Union or Non-Union Men.

In a letter addressed to Dean T. J. Thompson, dean of student affairs, the Lincoln Musician's association, a member of the American Federation of Musicians, outlined the organization's closed shop policy, adopted recently.

The letter requests that only union musicians be employed for university functions and by university organizations. It also outlines their attitude toward the policy adopted by the association. If an organization uses non-union musicians, then union musicians will not be allowed to work for them for the balance of the year, according to the letter.

Following is the letter sent to Dean Thompson by Dr. H. C. Zellers, president of the Lincoln Musician's association:

Dear Mr. Thompson: I am writing you in regard to the closed shop policy adopted by the Lincoln Musician's association.

We are asking that all employers of musicians in our jurisdiction use only those who are members of the American Federation of Musicians. It is our hope that all university organizations will see fit to do so.

We will be responsible for the appearance, conduct, and quality of service rendered when our musicians are on an engagement.

We have lowered our scale of

LE ROSSIGNOL SPEAKS ON DEPRESSION RELIEF

Dean of College of Business Administration Talks to Lion's Club.

Relief from the depression by means of a readjustment of commodity prices, a lowering of the costs of production, cancellation of war debts and reparations, and moderate downward revision of the tariff, and a slight inflation of the currency were suggested by Dean J. E. Le Rossignol, head of the college of business administration, in a talk before the Lion's club early in the summer.

He discussed the much-used statement that prosperity was just around the corner, saying that recovery will come as it always has come in the past after depressions almost as serious as the present situation. He stated that a few signs point toward improvement at the present time.

Dean Le Rossignol declared that prices on manufactured goods must be lowered or the prices on farm products increased. Manufacturing prices have come down some, he stated, but they are not yet at the place they should be. He also stated that lower costs of production will also mean a continued lowering of prices.

Speaking on war debts and reparations, Dean Le Rossignol averred that public opinion is coming more and more to realize that the only certain move is cancellation, and that statesmen who oppose cancellation are often doing so only for political effect.

In urging downward tariff revisions, he stated that they should not be too drastic. He also warned against too extensive inflation of the currency. Both, he said would encourage trade, remove barriers, and aid in recovery.

PROFESSOR WITTE NEW DIRECTOR OF MEN'S GLEE CLUB

With a tour of the state already tentatively outlined, plans for the formation of the men's glee club will begin at once, according to Prof. Parvin Witte, who will be in charge of the club this year.

First tryouts will be held Thursday evening at 7 o'clock in room 219, Morrill hall. Professor Witte announces, and organization of the group will begin immediately.

An Open Letter to the Students:

Students at the University can assist their fellow students in a financial way in securing an education by reducing organization expenses to a minimum and by promoting the collection of information concerning part-time employment for students.

At no time in this century has the great mass of students been made aware of the close relationship that exists between their financial resources and their privileges of education. It is true that students at the University of Nebraska at the present time vary considerably in regard to their financial resources. However, I should say that there are actually but few students in the University of Nebraska who can afford to indulge in extravagances. Some students, unfortunately, are just hard pressed to stay in the University and keep soul and body together.

There are students who are compelled to view organization expenditures in the light of their ability to pay. Surely, those with abundant resources should always bear in mind that expenditures that seem modest to them may cause other members of the same organization serious financial embarrassment. I should say it is urgent that the expenditures of each organization, in so far as it is possible, be considered by the organization in the light of the individual budgets of its membership. Certainly, nothing of an extravagant nature should be sponsored when there is so great a possibility that it will inflict a hardship upon other students. If we can promote a policy of careful expenditure on the part of all organizations associated with the university during this year, I feel sure that we will make a sound contribution to the permanency and security of these organizations.

The University of Nebraska employs upon its staff faculty men and administrative officers who are capable of giving organizations and individuals advice on matters pertaining to their budgets and to their expenditures. Students are urged to consult them.

There is another way in which students may help their fellows in obtaining an education, for there are many students around about us who need part-time work in order to stay in school. Most of these young men and women will do any kind of work they can secure. Students are urged to be alert and transmit information concerning such part-time work to the university offices.

In conclusion, the time has come not only throughout the country in general but in the University of Nebraska when each of us must assume a sincere and sound interest in the financial and economic welfare of our fellows. To do otherwise is to promote a situation favorable for the development of all types of radicalism and irrational thinking. Therefore I am respectfully requesting that each student give careful attention to these matters, for I believe it is possible for each of us to make a constructive contribution to the present situation.

Yours sincerely,
T. J. THOMPSON.

SALARIES NEBRASKA TEACHERS RANK LOW

Dispatch From Washington, D. C., Shows Status Of Schools.

The salary of Nebraska teachers, according to a recent dispatch from the national capital, takes thirtieth rank among the states of this nation. The dispatch reports that although our school system ranks high the salaries take a low position.

This is indicated by a recent survey made by the National Education association of the standing of states on five factors related to school efficiency.

In the score of literacy, Nebraska ranked eleventh among the states during 1930 and schools of this state were thirteenth in their power to keep students from fourteen to seventeen in attendance.

Nebraska also held a position above the average in the value of its school property, amounting to $252 per child enrolled in comparison to $242 for the country at large. In comparison with other states Nebraska ranked ninth in the per capita value of its school property.

As regards school attendance, the state was above average. Nebraska reported an attendance of 81.25 percent, estimated on a comparison of the total number of school days aggregated by children in Nebraska schools during 1930 as compared to the number of days of school attendance, if every child from five to seventeen years in the state had gone to school 200 days. Compared to other states in school attendance rating Nebraska stood twenty-fourth on the list.

MARTIN APPOINTED COLONEL FOR DRIVE
Prof. O. R. Martin, instructor in the college of business administration, has been appointed a colonel in the community chest campaign for funds. The drive for funds will be conducted from October 3 to 12. Martin's appointment was made by Frank D. Thorpe, division D general of the organization.

CUT SYMPHONY TICKET COST

Kirkpatrick Announces Price Reduced to $2.50 for Coming Season.

The price for student tickets to the Lincoln Symphony Artist course has been announced as being $2.50. This price is one half of the regular cost of season tickets to the concerts, according to Howard Kirkpatrick, director of the school of music.

The course includes five concerts by nationally known artists, including Nathan Milstein, violinist, Harold Bauer, pianist, Jeanette Vrieland, soprano, and Corradus Van Vliet, cellist. The first of these concerts is scheduled for the last of October.

Mu Phi Epsilon is sponsoring the ticket sale on the campus and announces that details of the sale will be announced later in the week.

RECEIVE APPLICATIONS UNTIL NEXT SATURDAY

Women Students May Receive Financial Aid from W. A. A. Group.

Applications for a W. A. A. student loan fund of $150 for the current school year must be made at the main office of the department of physical education for women in Grant Memorial hall before Saturday, September 24, according to La Verie Herman, president of W. A. A. Any sophomore or junior woman may apply.

The choice of applicants who will receive the loan will be made by a student committee selected from the W. A. A. executive council, assisted by the faculty advisers to the organization, who are Miss Charles McDonald and Miss Miriam Wagner. Scholarship, need, and character will determine the choice, with preference shown to those who are interested in the W. A. A. activities.

The loan, which is given in installments of $75 per semester, is payable one year after graduation. After that period an interest of four per cent is charged. Two such loans were made by the W. A. A. last semester. The names of students aided in this manner are never revealed.

COPIES OF RIFLEMAN TO BE DISTRIBUTED

Annual Magazine of Drill Organization Ready For Units.

Copies of the 1932 issue of the Pershing Riflemen, official publication of Pershing Rifles, national honorary basic military fraternity, will be distributed this week to the seventeen chapters in the organization. E. Byron Hirst, national commander, announced yesterday.

The magazine is published annually by the national headquarters of the organization, which is located at Nebraska. The group was founded by General Pershing at Nebraska in 1894.

The publication contains the complete history of the organization, articles on the various activities of the organization, and a record of the annual division assembly, which was held in Lincoln on June 14 and 15, 1932.

Claud S. Gillespie, national major-general of Pershing Rifles for last year, was the editor of the publication. Robert Glover, national historian last year, and Dick Moran, newly elected national adjutant, were associate editors.

150 WILL SELL AT GAMES

Applications for Concessions to Be Received by W. A. A. Chairman Aiden.

There will be places for about one hundred fifty girls who wish to handle concessions at the football games this season and so earn their admission charges, according to Jean Aiden, concession chairman of the W. A. A. Applications must be in by September 26, and may be made by calling Miss Aiden or by signing the bulletin posted on the W. A. A. board in the east lobby of the gymnasium.

Candy, apples, pop corn, and ice cream will be sold in the stands. The girls will be divided into about six groups, each of which will be a leader. Girls who sold concessions last year will be given the preference, but there will be places for many new applicants.

DEAN OF WOMEN INTRODUCE STAFF AT TEA THURSDAY

To introduce the members of her staff, who are Miss Elsie Ford Piper, assistant dean of women, Dr. Elizabeth Williamson, social director of Raymond hall and assistant dean of women, and Miss May Gund, head of employment, and also Miss Bernice Miller, secretary of the University Y. W. C. A., and Mrs. J. F. Thompson, chairman of Panhellenic, Miss Amanda Heppner, dean of women, will entertain at a tea Thursday afternoon from three to five in Morrill hall. All university women are invited to attend.

Sigma Phi Epsilon Leads Fraternities With Greatest Number of Men Pledged; Delta Gamma Takes First Among Sororities.

GROUPS FINISH RUSHING WEDNESDAY NIGHT

Panhellenic and Interfraternity Council Committees Release Official Lists for Publication on Friday and Saturday.

Climaxing several days of rushing, the greek-letter fraternities and sororities on the campus announce their lists of newly pledged men and women. Most of the fraternity rushing was completed by Monday at midnight, but sorority rushing continued until Wednesday evening.

A total of 463 men students pledged the various fraternities on the campus. Sigma Phi Epsilon led the list with the greatest number of men pledged. Delta Gamma took the lead among sororities for the greatest number of girls pledged.

Following is a complete and authentic list of the students pledged to the fraternities and sororities on the campus:

FEW IMPORTANT STAFF CHANGES MADE THIS YEAR

Complete List of Faculty Changes Released by University.

A complete list of all changes in the instructional staff and among the scholars and graduate assistants at the University to date for the coming year was announced by University officials Saturday.

But few important changes in the University staff were shown by the list. Most of the changes were in the lists of graduate scholars and assistants that change annually. Dr. A. R. McIntyre, associate professor of physiology and pharmacology at the college of medicine in place of Dr. O. M. Cope was one of the few major changes in the university staff.

The one new full professor on the staff is Dr. James L. Sellers, who was promoted from associate professor of history to professor. Assistant Professor C. A. Forbes is to serve as acting chairman of the department of classics for one year.

Following is the complete list of new appointments and changes in title:

SIX VETERANS REPORT FOR BEBATING SQUADS

Coach White Expects Team To Be in Shape for Season's Start.

Prospects loom bright for another successful debate season at Nebraska, according to Prof. H. A. White, debate coach. Professor White reports that there are several veterans back this year and that, with the addition of the new material he expects this month, the team should be in excellent condition before the opening of the debate season in December.

"Last year the debate teams had a very satisfactory season," White declared, "taking part in twenty-three official debates, including one with Robert College of Istanbul, Turkey. But because of economical measures made necessary this year, there will be no international debates during the coming season."

Altho the debate schedule has not yet been completed, two debates have already been arranged with Iowa and Kansas State, both to be held in December or the early part of January. The Kansas debate, to be held there on Dec. 13, will be on the subject of government regulation of public utilities, while the rest of the verbal battles will be on the taxation question.

Among the veterans who have already reported to Professor White are L. B. Cherry, Charles Gray, Howard Holtzendorff, Earl C. Fishbaugh, James H. Anderson, and Floyd Fospishil.
