'HELLO WEEK' IS SIGN FOR CAMPUS WIDE FRIENDSHIP

Upperclassmen, Freshmen, Faculty to Exchange Greeting Word.

A.W.S. REVIVES CUSTOM

Mystic Fish, Green Goblin Originated Plan With Student Help.

Next Monday will mark the first anniversary of the rebirth of an old university tradition. "Hello Week" reinstated upon the Nebraska campus last autumn after years of absence, is being sponsored now in the new form of "Hello Week."

Plans are being made by the A. W. S. board whereby students and faculty will be expected to speak to all freshmen met on the campus. Concluding the Freshmen convocation which is to be held Thursday morning first year men and women are to wear "links" or green buttons. The following Monday, Sept. 26, will be the first day of official friendliness between upperclassmen and new students. "Hello" will be the word of the day from that time until the end of the week, and no sophomore, junior, or senior may pass without it.

A very definite action is being taken by the backers of the movement to make "Hello Week" a worthwhile tradition at the University of Nebraska. In other large schools throughout the country it is an event of long standing, looked forward to with a great deal of satisfaction.

"Hello Week" on the Nebraska campus is the outgrowth of a tradition which flourished for a short time years ago. At that time the event lasted but one day, and was backed by the "Mystic Fish" and "Green Goblin," freshmen organizations of the time.

WORKERS START ON STUDENT DIRECTORY

Publication Will Probably Be Completed About November First.

With cards from the various religious organizations coming in, work on the student directory has started. C. D. Hayes, director of the Y. M. C. A., announced yesterday. Work on the publication will probably be completed about the first of November.

James D. Crabb, Red Cloud, freshman in the college of law, was appointed business manager of the publication this year. Crabb served as editor of the directory last year. Dick Moran, Omaha, junior in the college of arts and science, will act as editor of the directory. He was an associate editor last year.

Several bids for the printing of the directory are being considered at the present time, according to Crabb. The contract has not been definitely let. It will probably be awarded within the next few days, the business manager stated.

The lists for the directory are compiled from the registration cards stating religious affiliations or preferences. The cards will be alphabetized, typed, and then sent to the printer and later to the telephone company for corrections.

The book will be approximately the same size as it has been. In the last few years, the business manager definitely let. It will probably be awarded within the next few days, the business manager stated.

Canvass of Campus Opinion Shows New Set Rushing Rules Approved

A hasty canvass of campus opinion in regard to the new set of rush rules proposed by the Interfraternity council for use by fraternities indicated entire unanimous approval for the proposed plan or at least for similar rules. The Daily Nebraskan interviewed not only those who are familiar with the details of the old system, but also representative campus women who are accustomed to similar set of rules in use by sororities on the campus at the present time.

Faculty members who have been intimately connected with student activities and have constant touch with the fraternity rushing system also heartily approved of the proposed system.

The rules, according to Jack Thompson, president of the Interfraternity council and one of the sponsors of the new set of rules, are aimed to eliminate what is clearly recognized to be a chaotic situation at present. The new rules he believes, will eliminate the most important objections to the old system.

Rushing under the new system will start a day earlier than under the system now in use and will continue a day longer. The committee proposing the rules believe that at present the time for rushing is too short to allow either sorority or fraternity to become acquainted with each other enough to make an intelligent selection, the rushes of his fraternity, and

BARBOUR RECEIVES FOSSIL SHIPMENT OF OLD MAMMALS

A large shipment of fossils, weighing 1,500 pounds, was received at Morrill hall Tuesday, and as much more is in transit and expected soon, according to an announcement by Prof. E. H. Barbour, head of the department of geology. The shipment includes such vertebrate mammals as bison, horse, camel, rhinoceros and giant dogs and cats.

Other recent additions to the museum include a very old modern bison, which was found on a ranch fifty miles west of Bonneville, Wyo. It was found by John Thomas of Wynore, Neb. The specimen is complete with horns in place on horn cores. Very few such specimens have been found recently as they are becoming very rare.

SPENCER EXTENDS APPLICATION DATE FOR HUSKER STAFF

Yearbook Editor Postpones Deadline in Spite of Many Prospects.

The deadline for applications for positions on the 1933 Cornhusker staff has been postponed for a few days. The Daily Nebraskan learned yesterday, Ralph Spencer had this to say in regards to his change of plans: "Although there have been enough applications to fill all vacancies on our staff, we feel that in all fairness to everyone more time should be allowed for applicants to file their applications."

"The deadline has been positively set for Tuesday afternoon, Sept. 27, at 4 o'clock. In taking this action, we believe that fraternity and sorority activity directors will have had a fair amount of time in which to organize their future activity men and women."

At 4 o'clock Tuesday, when the bar goes down, no more applications will be received this semester. Only under unusual circumstances, such as vacancies caused by illness or inefficiency of those on the staff, will any position be available to applicants. At the beginning of the second semester there may be a few openings, the editor pointed out.

In the editorial department of the Cornhusker more applications for agriculture editor and snapshot editor, as well as a number of assistants, are desirable. According to Charles Skade, business manager of the 1933 book, that department is desirous of more applications for the positions of circulation and advertising managers.

MANAGER COMMENTS ON NEBRASKAN DRIVE

Student Subscriptions Fall Off, But Faculty Heeds Contest of Daily.

"There is very little evidence of depression in the number of subscriptions to the Daily Nebraskan this year. Although the number of student subscriptions has fallen off, this loss has been more than made up by faculty and downtown subscribers," H. N. Galleher, business manager of the Nebraskan commented. "A large number of alumni subscriptions have also been received."

A concerted drive on fraternity and sorority houses on the campus has yielded a large block of subscriptions. Freshmen and new students were asked to subscribe during registration week at the Coliseum.

Subscription rates remain the same, $2.00 per year, $1.25 each semester. The mailed prices are $3.00 per year or $1.75 per semester.

MEN SHOW INTEREST IN ADVANCED DRILL

Quiry Says Number More Than Places Open Demand.

Men students at the university are displaying a marked interest in the advanced drill courses offered this year, according to Colonel Quiry, head of the department of military science and tactics. While the number registered for these courses is smaller than last year, the decrease is in proportion to the shrinkage of the total enrollment of the university.

The colonel points out that the number of applicants for the ranking positions is far in excess of the number of these positions open and states that the staff is now busy selecting the best qualified for these places.

The total registration in all drill courses is smaller than it was last year, due both to the smaller number of students this year, and to the fact that an unusually large percent of the men have been excluded from these courses on account of physical defects.

CORN COB GROUP CHOOSES PILLING AS ITS PRESIDENT

Other Officers Are Leonard, Vice-President; Thiel And Otto Kotouc.

Robert Pilling, Omaha, junior in the college of engineering, was elected president of Corn Cobs, men's pep organization, at the first meeting of the year held last night at the Alpha Tau Omega house. Pilling is a member of Alpha Tau Omega.

Pilling succeeds Marvin Schmid, Columbus, a member of the Innocents society and Alpha Sigma Phi, as president of the organization. Lynn Leonard, Ainsworth, junior in the college of arts and sciences, was elected vice president of the organization for the coming year.

Leonard, a member of Alpha Sigma Phi fraternity, is a news editor on the Daily Nebraskan, a representative on the Interfraternity council, and a member of the Interfraternity council rushing committee. He succeeds Norman Galleher as vice president.

Bob Thiel, Lincoln, was elected secretary of the Pep club. Thiel, a member of Acacia fraternity, is a member of the Interfraternity council rushing committee, and assistant business manager of the Cornhusker annual. Thiel takes the place of Harry Foster, Alpha Tau Omega, as secretary.

Otto Kotouc, Humboldt, was chosen as the treasurer of Pi Epsilon Pi for the new year to take the place of John Zeilinger, David City, a member of the Innocents society and Acacia fraternity.

Kotouc is business manager of the Rifles, and a member of the Interfraternity council rushing committee.

Before the election of new officers, Bill Devereaux, a member of the Innocents society in charge of rallies, spoke to the organization on the subject of rallies. He urged the men to attend the rallies full strength and do everything in their power to promote the Cornhusker spirit.

"It is up to the Corn Cobs to develop the spirit for the coming games," Devereaux stated. "If everyone is willing to co-operate, and am sure that all are, Corn Cobs will be recognized as one of the outstanding organizations for service on the campus."

Jack Thompson, president of the Innocents society, told the members of the plans for the freshman convocation to be held in the coliseum this morning at 11 o'clock. All members are to appear for the ceremony and help in seating the freshmen, he said.

In response to an appeal from the A. W. S. board, Pi Epsilon Pi went on record as favoring the support and continuation of "Hello Week," a custom established many years ago to make the freshmen feel more at home on the campus. Other organizations on the campus are supporting the idea to make it a lasting tradition.

CORNHUSKER OATH

As a student entering the University of Nebraska, I subscribe to the following:

1. Recognition of an obligation to parents, friends, schools, and state for the sacrifice made and encouragement offered which enabled me to enter the University of Nebraska.

2. Desire to remain in the university with the firm intention to advance in scholarship and to cultivate those social activities which make for good citizenship.

3. Purpose to enter classes and other work fully prepared and to give such attention as will insure satisfactory results, not failure.

STUDENT COUNCIL ELECTS ERICKSON REPRESENTATIVE

Member Innocents Society Selected for Athletic Board at Meeting.

'N' CLUB CHOOSES OTHER

Control of Student Rallies Given to Innocents After Petition.

Jack Erickson, Newman Grove, senior in the school of journalism and a member of the Innocents society, was elected as the student council representative on the athletic board of control at the first meeting of the student council held last night.

The election of student members to the athletic board represents the culmination of several years of effort to secure such representation. The plan was presented to the board of regents and athletic board last year for approval and accepted with slight changes.

"N" Club to Elect Representative. The other student representative on the athletic board of control will be elected by the "N" club from its membership. The plan of representation calls for two student members, both seniors, one to be a member of the student council, and the other to be a member of the "N" club.

SYMPHONY DRIVE IS SUCCESS ON CAMPUS

House Canvass and Selling Tables Are Arranged By Committee.

GUEST ARTISTS APPEAR

The campus Lincoln Symphony orchestra season ticket drive is progressing very satisfactorily according to Miss Josephine McDermott, head of the campus ticket drive.

"Many students have obtained their tickets from the sales tables located in Morrill hall and the School of Music building," she continued, "and in the remaining two days of the campus sale many more tickets are expected to be sold."

Miss McDermott pointed out that on account of the unfavorable weather Wednesday, the house to house ticket canvass will be postponed until Thursday. This evening members of Mu Phi Epsilon, honorary musical sorority, will start their visits to the fraternity, sorority and rooming houses.

"The exceptionally low price of $2.50 for student tickets makes the purchase of admission to these five concerts very reasonable," Miss McDermott pointed out. "These tickets will admit the purchaser to the season's five concerts and bring the best in music at a very low cost."

"I believe every student in the university should avail himself of the opportunity to attend the Lincoln Symphony orchestra concerts this season," declared Ernest Herminghaus, chairman of the Lincoln Symphony board of directors. "The (Continued on Page 3.)

Innocents, Mortar Board, Corn Cobs, Tassels and Band Figure in Rally Followed by Faculty Members And Students Before Annual Affair.

Annual ceremonies for the initiation of freshmen into the body of university traditions will be held in the coliseum at 11 o'clock this morning. Administrative officers, ranking faculty members, Mortar Boards, and Innocents will be on hand to formally welcome the newcomers into the university's fold.

Following the close of 10 o'clock classes, all freshmen will immediately assemble in front of the Social Science building, from where they will march to the coliseum to attend the initiation in the form of a convocation held especially for them. Freshmen will be excused from 11 o'clock classes to attend the initiation where, for the first time, they will sing Nebraska songs, and hear Nebraska cheers. Administrative officials, prominent faculty members, and student leaders will talk to them, and then they will take the Cornhusker oath.

Starts With Rally. The freshman march to the coliseum will be introduced with a rally, in which the R. O. T. C. band, Corn Cobs, Tassels, students and faculty members will figure.

SWIMMING POOL TO OPEN FOR STUDENT USE COMING WEEK

Physical Examinations Are Required at School Health Office.

Nebraska's new swimming pool in the coliseum will open next week for all university students who have passed the required physical examination for swimmers in the student health office at Pharmacy hall. Men may take the examination any morning from 8 to 12 o'clock and women any afternoon from 1 to 3 o'clock.

During the scheduled free hours a life guard will answer questions and give limited instruction for beginners. Should enough students be interested in improving their swimming, a special instruction class will be added to the pool schedule. A local chapter of the American Red Cross may also be installed for those wishing to learn life saving methods.

Rudy Vogeler, swimming coach, believes that every student should take advantage of his swimming privileges since the pool has been paid for by the student body. "We have a fine, clean pool and are planning to give men and women of the university all the swimming advantages possible," Mr. Vogeler said.

Life guards for this year will be Bernard Masterson and Howard Church. The schedule is as follows: Free hours for men: Monday, 12 to 3 and 5 to 7. Tuesday, 1 to 2 and 5 to 7. Wednesday, 12 to 2 and 5 to 7. Thursday, 1 to 2 and 5 to 7. Friday, 12 to 3 and 5 to 7. Saturday, 3:30 to 6. Free hours for women: Monday, 7 to 8:30. Tuesday, 12 to 1 and 4 to 5. Wednesday, 4 to 5. SEEK NEW USES FOR LARD AS AID TO AGRICULTURE

Plans for new ways to use lard will be made Thursday afternoon at a meeting at the agricultural college campus.

The lard surplus has been a major factor in holding the price of hogs at a low level according to Prof. H. J. Gramlich of the animal husbandry department, who is helping plan the conference. Anything which will stimulate the lard market will mean a direct return to most Nebraska farmers, Gramlich said.

The meeting was called by Dean W. W. Burr of the Agricultural college and will be attended by representatives of various departments in the college, Dan Hildebrand of Seward, president of the Nebraska Livestock Feeders' association, and A. E. Anderson, state and federal statistician, also will attend.

EXTRA-CURRICULAR ACTIVITIES AT THE UNIVERSITY OF NEBRASKA

Published through the co-operation of the Innocents society in the interests of students, new and old, who are not fully acquainted with activities, their organization, purposes and benefits, as they operate at the University of Nebraska, with the hope that a greater number will avail themselves of the opportunities offered, thereby putting into the whole activities organization a revitalized interest among the entire student body.

This is the first of a series of articles which will introduce and briefly describe the various organizations making up the extra-curricular activities program on this campus which will be published each day by the Daily Nebraskan during the next two weeks.

TO THE CLASS OF 1936: While you, the incoming members of the student body at Nebraska, are being instructed and advised, perhaps a little bewildered even, by a flood of parental counsel from every source as to your duties, privileges and opportunities in your career here, one important phase of the educational and cultural benefits offered should not be overlooked. This is the field of extra-curricular activities—the field of student life outside the classroom, a field created and governed by the students, that part of school life around which are woven those things which make the university something more than a lifeless pile of books and buildings, something more than an efficient machine for the wholesale distribution of knowledge, disconnected and set off from the world of reality into which at the end of four years it turns its products.

What Activities Are. Roughly, extra-curricular activities are the activities resulting from a rich student life outside the classroom. To the student body has been delegated a large measure of autonomy in dealing with those aspects of university life not directly connected with the formal instruction. Activities comprise the administration of and participation in these privileges.
