YOUNG CALLS FOR MEETING OF BARB ASSOCIATED CLUB

Unaffiliated Students' Club Will Elect Permanent Group Officers.

EMPHASIZES ATTENDANCE

Any Non-Fraternity Student Authorized by Others May Be Delegate.

A call for interested barb students to meet at Delian-Union hall, on the third floor of the Temple building, at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday was issued Monday afternoon by Willard Young, president of the unaffiliated student organization formed last spring.

The barbs, according to the announcement, plan to effect permanent organization of the group and elect permanent officers for the coming year. All students at the university not affiliated with social fraternities are eligible for membership in the organization.

Any Delegate Eligible.

Young emphasizes that any barb student who has been authorized by at least ten other barb students to act as their representative will be recognized as a bona fide delegate and, on presenting the names of the students as credentials, he will be entitled to full membership and voting power on the Inter-Club council.

The meeting is primarily for these delegates to the Inter-Club council, but all barb students interested in the organization are urged to attend, Young said. Details of the program of the organization will be discussed at the meeting.

"This meeting is not an attempt to force a preconceived or inflexible organization on the barb students," Young said. "The members of the barb clubs, thru their representatives on the Inter-Club council, may make any changes in the organization that the majority of them want."

Will Bring Barbs Together.

"The organization is an attempt to bring barb students together in a workable organization for their own benefit and for the benefit of the university. The group plans to launch a campus wide drive to get in touch with every barb student and interest him in the Inter-Club plan."

"The purpose of the council, as outlined in the working rules, is: 'First, to insure a full representation of barbs at political elections.'

"Second, to provide smaller clubs of barbs thru which intramural sports can be promoted."

"Third, to instill among the barb students an interest in all extra-curricular activities on the campus."

"If the organization is to succeed," continued Young, "it will be because barb students feel there is a need for such an organization and such a program. If it fails, it seems to me that barb students who don't affiliate with the Inter-Club council will have little or no ground for complaining about no representation on campus organizations or about having nothing to say about campus activities."

CORNHUSKER STAFF PLANS YEAR'S WORK

Spencer and Skade State Student Enthusiasm Is High for Annual.

The new staff for the 1933 Cornhusker met at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon in the Cornhusker office for the purpose of organizing the various departments of the editorial and business staffs.

Ralph Spencer, editor, pointed out that the success of the annual depends to a large degree upon the co-operation of the staff. He expressed the opinion that the 1933 book would be one of the best ever published if present indications are to be relied upon. The business manager, Charles Skade, stated since there were more applications this year than ever before in the history of the annual, he believes that the 1933 book is slated for an unusually good year.

'Road to Rome,' First Production Of University Players, Offers an Answer to Question Historians Ask

Answering the question that has predominated in the minds of historians throughout the centuries, the University Players' first dramatic production of the year, "The Road to Rome," will be shown in the Temple theatre during the week of Oct. 24.

"The Road to Rome," by Robert E. Sherwood, strips bare the secret of Hannibal's march on Rome. Why Hannibal did not enter the city, when he had it lying vanquished at his feet, is a question that has always bothered historians. Did he lose heart? Or did he lose his heart? These two questions will be answered in "The Road to Rome," coming to the Temple theatre this month.

To Reproduce Homes.

The first scene in "The Road to Rome" is laid in the atrium of a Roman villa, the home of the dictator of Rome. (The atrium is the entrance to the inner courtyard of the Roman house.) According to Dwight Kirsch, who is supervising the settings for these scenes, the ancient Roman style of furnishings will be carried out to the full-

'Learn School Songs' Is By-Word for Week

Get behind the 'Know Nebraska Song Week' and put it over as nothing has ever been put over before. The Daily Nebraskan is publishing the song 'Fight Varsity Fight' with music on an inside page of this issue, and every student should know it by Saturday. If you have been unable to get a copy of the songs that were distributed to the organized houses call at the Daily Nebraskan office for your copy. By Saturday you should know them them all.

KOTOUC DESIRES SUPPORT OF ALL IN AWGWAN SALE

Manager Says That Block of Magazines Costs Each Only 5 Cents.

"If there are forty members in a house, and the house orders a block of twenty-five Awgwans, the total cost for each member is five cents per month." Such is the calculation of Otto Kotouc, business manager of the Awgwan.

He further says, "In the face of such figures, talk of effecting house economy by elimination of the Awgwan is ridiculous. The Awgwan is not like a football ticket, it is not necessary that everyone have a personal copy, but no house should be without at least a twenty-five copy block." Below are the names of fraternity and sorority houses which have definitely promised to purchase subscription blocks:

- Alpha Xi Delta
- Alpha Omicron Pi
- Alpha Tau Omega
- Beta Theta Pi
- Delta Tau Delta
- Delta Upsilon
- Chi Omega
- Sigma Alpha Epsilon
- Pi Beta Phi
- Kappa Kappa Gamma
- Phi Kappa Psi
- Zeta Beta Tau
- Delta Gamma

All houses which have not already done so are asked to communicate with Otto Kotouc or Lawrence Hall immediately, stating the size of the block desired. An increase in the length of the honor roll is expected as a result of orders voted by fraternity meetings Monday night, says Kotouc, who is pleased with the campaign to date.

ORCHESTRIS MEMBERS HOLD DANCING CLASS

All Interested Girls Will Meet Wednesday Night In Memorial Hall.

Beginning Wednesday, Oct. 5, girls who wish to become members of Orchestris may attend a dancing class in the studio in Grant Memorial hall from 7:00 to 7:30. This class will meet each Wednesday night at the same time. At the end of the semester girls who have attended fifty percent of the meetings and are still interested in dancing will have a chance to take a rhythm and movement test. If they pass this test and the instructors feel they can co-operate with the other members of the club, they will be asked to join Orchestris.

At each of these Wednesday night meetings, members of Orchestris as well as Miss Edith Vail, will be there to help the girls improve their dancing technique. This club is one of the organized groups of W. A. A. and is sponsored by that organization. All university girls will be welcome to attend these meetings according to an announcement made by Miss Vail, who is the sponsor.

INNOCENTS SAY FRESHMEN LACK IN SCHOOL SPIRIT

Failure to Wear Traditional Caps Shows Disinterest Skade Declares.

SOCIETY ISSUES RULES

New Students Must Display Insignia Until They Win Contest.

"A most outstanding lack of school spirit has been noted on the part of the male representatives of the freshman class for their seeming disinterest in wearing their freshman caps," according to Chalmers Graham, chairman of the Innocents society in charge of freshman caps. "Although a great many were purchased, very few are being worn on the campus. This refusal by some of the members is a reflection on the class as a whole."

The Innocents society which conducts the freshman cap sale, last week established a set of rules for the observance of the freshman cap tradition which have gone unobserved by many. The same set of rules as set down by this organization are as follows, and it is asked that they be observed:

1. Every male freshman shall wear a freshman cap.
2. The cap shall be worn immediately after the freshman initiation and continuously thereafter.
3. Caps shall be worn at all university events, and on all school dates except for week end dates.
4. Caps shall be removed at such a date as the Innocents society shall designate and not until then.

Chalmers Graham, Innocent, and head of the freshman cap sale, stated that since the preserving of such a tradition rests entirely with the individual the whole-hearted co-operation of every member should be uppermost in the mind.

BIG SISTER BOARD STARTS HOBBY CLUB FOR FRESHMAN GIRLS

Music, Sports, Dramatics, Literature and Charm Claim Interest.

The Big Sister board is taking on a new project this year. It is planning an extensive program for the organization of five different hobby clubs. These clubs will be interested in music, sports, dramatics, literature and in the charm school. They will meet every two weeks, under the supervision of the girl attending university, who are specializing in each of these interests.

The idea for hobby clubs was originated by Miss Elsie Ford Piper, assistant dean of women. She suggested the plan to Alpha Lambda Delta women's freshman scholarship honorary. They began the clubs last year but because it was thought that the Big Sister board had a closer contact with freshmen women they were transferred to the supervision of the Big Sisters.

The music group is comprised of those girls who are accomplished in the line. Recitals will be given, each Sunday a meeting is held by either the girls in the group or by someone from the school of music.

The group in sports will be conducted for non-sorority girls who are interested in the intra-mural games.

In the charm school speakers will come from some of the down town stores. Some will discuss Paris and New York styles, popular shades and color harmonies. Others will explain how to plan and arrange meals—table decorations and attractive plates. New rules in etiquette will be discussed. Still others will tell of their trips abroad. Interior decoration and garden arrangements are included in the outline for the group.

Those girls who are interested in dramatics will meet and produce plays. Exceptional ability or membership in a class in dramatics is not necessary for this group. The poems and prose will be written, read and kept in scrapbooks.

PLAYERS HOLD MEETING

Religious Dramatic Society Conducts Open House For Prospects.

Active members of the group presented a program at which time was announced that tryouts for membership will be held in the near future. Miss Marian Higbee, president, who made the announcement also stated that all those interested in trying out for membership should watch for the announcement which will be given at a later date in the Daily Nebraskan.

HART JENKS PRAISES TASSELS SALEMEN

Compares Coed Sellers to Joan Crawford in Attraction.

Speaking before members of the Tassels Monday at 5 o'clock in the Temple, Hart Jenks, former Nebraskan and noted actor, soon to appear here with the University Players in their first production of the year, "The Road to Rome," urged active ticket sales.

Mr. Jenks, who is to play the part of Hannibal in "The Road to Rome," praised the Tassels for work done for the University Players last year, and said he hoped that they would do better still this year. "Joan Crawford," he explained, "who is not so good looking, is able to pack a theater house with 1,500 sales for a single performance. Many of you Tassels are better looking than Joan. Can't you each sell 1,500 tickets?"

PANHELLENIC DINNER SCHEDULE IS CHANGED

Committee Extends Banquet Date to October 25 At Coliseum.

October 25 is the new date set for the Panhellenic banquet, which is to be given at the university coliseum by the city Panhellenic organization. Previously it was planned to hold the affair on the evening of October 18. At a recent meeting of the alumnae delegates of the Greek letter groups were each given their allotment of tickets to be distributed to alumnae and active members of their sorority.

Tickets will sell for less this year than ever before, having been reduced in price to seventy-five cents. Previously $1 to $2 has been asked for tickets. Every sorority member is expected to attend the banquet, and all houses will have closed tables on that date.

Miss Muriel Jones has been added to the list of committee chairmen in charge of banquet arrangements. She will be musical director. Speakers for the evening have not yet been chosen. It was announced at this meeting. All committees reported progress in their work.

AMES GAME THE GOAL

Upperclassmen Are Asked to Teach Tunes to New Students.

All organized houses were canvassed by members of the Mortar Board and Innocents society Monday evening, in the interests of "Know Nebraska Song Week." Sixty copies of each song were distributed at each house.

Songs distributed were "The Cornhusker," "There Is No Place Like Nebraska," and "Nebraska Field Song." Copies of the "Chant," "Three Yea Team," "Locomotive Yell," and "Nebraska" were also distributed.

"Now that the copies of the songs have been given out," said William S. Devereaux, chairman of the rally committee, "we expect every house to require the members learn the songs, and with the help of the older members of the houses to know the tunes of the songs, sing them as often as possible."

"Although the week has just started, I have every reason to believe that it is sure to be a success," he added, "Our goal is that every student who is now attending the University of Nebraska know the school songs, and I believe that it will be reached before the Ames game if all of the houses co-operate with us."

"It is the spirit of the school that will alone make this week a real success. Every student owes it to his school to learn them. We hope that the every student will get behind the movement and push it ahead in such a way that our school can boast that every member of its organization knows its songs."

Innocents Urge Quick Athletic Ticket Sales

With the announcement that reservations are now being received for seats in the stadium, it will behoove students to act quickly if they have postponed purchasing athletic tickets. Those who wait until after Wednesday will be obliged to accept whatever seats are left, and in all probability will not be able to get seats in the card section, which is the nucleus of the student section. The most intensive part of the ticket sale drive will be today and tomorrow. Do not put off buying your ticket any longer.

SALESMEN PUSH TICKET DRIVE AT PEPSTER LUNCH

Bible, Schulte Urge Heavy Selling During Last Days of Drive.

The third and last of the series of ticket drive pep luncheons held Monday noon at the Grand hotel found speakers urging assembled salesmen to concentrate for the final push in the athletic ticket campaign.

Coaches D. X. Bible and Henry F. Schulte were the main speakers, and their talks were supplemented by the brief appeals of Jane Youngson, in charge of the women and Jack Thompson, Innocents society president who presided at the luncheon.

It was emphasized that block reservations will be made Wednesday until 5 o'clock, and salesmen were urged to use this point in making a final concentrated drive.

As at the two previous campaign luncheons, members of various divisions and teams of the athletic department were introduced. Jerry Lee, Walker Henrion, Ed Weir and George Sauer were the men so honored Monday noon.

Reduced Admission.

The intrinsic value of the athletic tickets this year, which allow the student to see all athletic events for an average cost of thirty-three cents was reiterated by speakers.

"To appeal to students on the basis of loyalty to their school is a fine thing," declared Coach Bible, "but in this drive, we are also offering a group of events which makes the purchase of a ticket an actual thing of worth to the student."

Coach Schulte, too, expressed a similar sentiment when he pointed out how whole-hearted participation in athletics focussed the university personality.

ROUND TABLE PLANS TOPICS FOR MEETING

Economics Organization Will Gather for First Time Of Year Thursday.

"What were the causes of the depression?" and "When will it end?" will be subjects of debate when the University of Nebraska Economics Round Table opens the current year with its first meeting Thursday night of this week.

The Round Table was organized early last fall to afford students interested in current happenings of economic importance an opportunity to meet together and discuss or hear talks by authorities on these subjects. Meetings are held twice a month, talks being given by members of the faculty, Lincoln business men, and by students. After each talk there is a discussion of all points involved.

This first meeting of the year will be held in Social Sciences hall, room 101, according to J. B. Douglas, chairman. The only requirements for membership are that a student shall have completed economics 1 and 12 and the chairman cordially invites all students who are interested and who have completed these courses.

Wolcott Believes Nebraska Can Sing Its Way to Victory Again This Year

"Once when Nebraska played Notre Dame, and nobody believed that Nebraska had a chance to win, I believe the Varsity won the game fundamentally through the school spirit behind it," said R. H. Wolcott, chairman of the zoology department, "such a high state of enthusiasm was worked up by the students during the preceding week, for the most part, by singing."

"Before every class the students sang the song of the school. The professors co-operated and by the day of the game the students and the players had worked up such a spirit that it would have been practically impossible for any opponent to beat us," he stated.

"This year we have a hard schedule before us, and the 'Know Nebraska Song Week' will put before the students the songs of our school. The week will be a great success if the students will get together at all possible moments and sing the songs."

SELLECK MAKES STUDENT TICKET DRAWING PLANS

Reservations Will Be Made Wednesday and May Be Secured Next Day.

STUDENTS GIVEN BEST

Cards Representing Ducats Will Be Selected by Uni Officials.

Plans for making the drawings for student athletic tickets, reservations for which are now being made, were announced by John K. Selleck Monday. The drawings will be made Wednesday evening and the tickets will be available in the Students' Activities office in the coliseum after 8 o'clock Thursday morning.

The method of procedure, as announced by Mr. Selleck, follows: When a student makes his reservation for a ticket, either thru one of the activities office, he is given a receipt and his name is placed in a numbered envelope. Any group or organization of two or more which has made reservations is treated as an individual and the name of the organization or group placed in one envelope.

Cards corresponding to the numbers on the envelopes are then placed in a box. At 5 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, the drawings will be made, with Howard Allaway, editor of the Daily Nebraskan, in charge. As the numbered cards are drawn from the box, the correct number of tickets are placed in the envelope corresponding to the number drawn. If more than one ticket is required for that particular reservation, the tickets will be selected so that all the members of that organization may sit together.

All in East Stadium.

The same procedure will be carried out whether the reservations have been made for the card section or outside. All student tickets are for the east stadium.

Student tickets will still be on sale Thursday and Friday. Mr. Selleck announced, and students may select their own seats from those which have not already been taken.

"We are using this method of selecting the tickets in order to prevent the rush and the waiting line which has formed in the past. Formerly, when the sale opened at a prescribed hour, a long line formed, usually the day before, and stayed there all night. The present method does away with this, and the tickets are selected in an orderly manner," Selleck declared.

Seats Best in Stand.

"We also want to stress the fact that the card section is in the heart of the stadium and the best seats available have been reserved for the students. Even the poorest seats in this section are better than those sold to the general public," he said.

The Tassels will occupy the front two rows of the card section. During the period between halves, the Corncobs will assist in filling (Continued on Page 2.)

KAPLAN DEAD FROM FEVER, NOT KILLED

Mistake Occurred Through Trans-Ocean Cable Message.

William Kaplan, graduate of the University of Nebraska last June, who, it was reported, was killed by bandits in Czechoslovakia recently, died of typhus fever, a second trans-Atlantic telephone message from Czechoslovakia revealed. The first telephone message, received last week, was indistinct.

Kaplan, who was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kaplan of Stuart, Neb., had been vice president of the university Y. M. C. A. He was given a tour of Europe as a graduation present, and was nearing his mother's birthplace in Czechoslovakia to visit her relatives when he became ill.
