Nubbins to Use Ames Plays Against Red Shirts in Today's Drill.

A long lecture indoors by Coach Bible topped off with some passing and a signal drill on the practice field constituted the pigskin diet for the Nebraska Cornhuskers Monday afternoon.

With Iowa State prying off the lid in the season's opening grid contest Saturday, Head Coach Bible is concentrating his attention in smoothing out the kinks in order to make it a long afternoon for the Ames team. The Nubbins outfit has been called into use for demonstrating the Iowa State formations as brought back by Charley Black who scouted the Ames-Morningside game last week. Bible plans to give his men a first look at Coach Veenker's plays this afternoon in a dummy scrimmage against the B squad.

Having already disposed of two opponents this season in Simpson and Morningside, the Cyclones have had a chance to test their plays in competition and therefore are likely to have an edge on the Scarlet in smoothness of attack. Bible is retreating by placing additional stress on assignments and perfecting the timing of the plays.

Squad in Good Shape.

The entire Husker squad came out of the tilt with the freshmen in amazingly good shape. Elmer Hubka, reserve guard occupying the injured list all by himself. Hubka received a minor knee injury, but he was out for Monday's drill ready to go.

Chris Mathis' fine play in the Freshman game moved him up to the first string backfield Monday where he alternated with Carlyle Staab at left halfback in running signals. The remainder of the A lineup was the same with Hofuk and Penney at ends; O'Brien and C. Hulbert at tackles; Debus and Bishop, guards; Ely, center; Masterson, quarter; Boswell at one half and Sauer at full.

The second eleven had Roby and Kilbourne at the wing positions with Joy and Copley alternating. Schleuter and Pfum were at tackles, with Drier and Bristol changing off with this pair. Hubka and Campbell took care of the guards, Mehring alternating with Hubka. Meier and Jones were at center, Overstreet and Murray at quarter, while Miller, Fahrbruch and Parsons filled the remaining backfield posts. Eldridge did duty at Parsons' position.

CYCLONES WIN ANOTHER

Husker Opponent Saturday Trims Morningside by 32-0 Score.

Coach George Veenker's Iowa State eleven experienced little trouble in overpowering Morningside college of Sioux City by a 32-0 count last Saturday to chalk up their second victory in as many games this season. The Cyclones, who open the Husker schedule here this week end, have keyed their attack around little Dick Grefe, captain and quarterback. Grefe collaborated with Harold Templeton, 200 pound end, in furnishing the bulk of the Ames' scoring.

Minnesota did not fare so easily, the Gophers being forced to call upon Jack Manders, star fullback, to contribute the spark for a 12-0 win over a hard fighting South Dakota State team. Manders was being held out for the Purdue game this week because of a leg injury, but the inspired play of the South Dakotians compelled Coach Bernie Bierman to insert his backfield ace, in Purdue the Gophers meet the co-champions of the Big Ten and an outfit that handed the Kansas Aggies a 29-13 trimming Saturday.

Kansas vs. Oklahoma.

Kansas entertains the Oklahoma Sooners Saturday in the only other Big Six tilt scheduled in addition to the Husker-Cyclone fry. The Jayhawkers, touted along with Nebraska as chief contenders for the conference title, barely nosed out Denver university 13-12 Friday night. In any case, Coach Lewis Hardage's Sooners gridsters are sure to give Kansas a strenuous afternoon. With the Panzer brothers, Bill and Art, as pacemakers, Oklahoma defeated Tulsa 7-0, but the game was far more one-sided than the score indicates.

Pittsburgh drubbed West Virginia 40-0, exhibiting a classy passing and running attack. Capt. Paul Reider and Warren Heller, halfbacks, scintillated for Pitt. Jock Sutherland's boys take on Duquesne this week.

Iowa U had an easy time with Bradley Tech, running up a 31-7 score. The Bible outfit meets the Hawkeyes Nov. 5 at Iowa City. Missouri succumbed to Northwestern 27-0, after holding the Wildcats scoreless in the first half. Coach Frank Carideo's pigskin crew plays Texas at Columbia this IMPRESSIVE describes the play of the Cornhuskers against the freshmen last Saturday. The speed which was so lacking in the first half suddenly came to life with the start of the second period, and then it became a touchdown parade for the varsity.

In the past, Nebraska teams have tended toward the ponderous, brawny type of grid warrior but who frequently were below par in speed and cleverness. This year, we have an eleven that not only uses the "powerhouse" type of play effectively, but is fast enough to be dangerous to any gridiron club. In addition, there appears to be something of a passing attack.

Chris Mathis pulled a clever play while quarterbacking for the varsity in the tilt against the frosh Saturday. The ball was in midfield and it was fourth down. Customary tactics would say a punt, so John Roby, ace punter of the squad, was called back from his end position, apparently to kick. Instead, John only went thru the motion and then wheeled to dash around right end for a gain of about twelve yards and a first down.

If you haven't noticed it, Carlyle Staab is really fast. In going through a hole in the freshman Saturday, Staab dropped the pigskin and streaked down the field for a nice gain. The performance merely emphasized the remarkable feetness of the Anselby boy.

week. Southern Methodist swallowed a 6-0 defeat by Texas Tech, but runs into an even stronger foe in Rice Institute this week.

WEIR CUTS FRESHMAN VARSITY SQUAD TO 27

Frosh Mentor Anxious That Men Respond for League Pigskin Play.

Announcement of a revamped freshman varsity squad to include twenty-seven players came Monday from Ed Weir, yearling mentor. Weir made the shakeup after watching his men perform in the Varsity-Freshman game last Saturday.

Formation of frosh teams for league play will start immediately, Weir asking all freshmen interested in football to report to Art Perry or Marvin Paul at the stadium by Wednesday afternoon. A triple round robin schedule has been arranged in addition to games against the yearling varsity and nubbin teams. At least two league outfits will be organized on the city campus besides an eleven on the Agricultural campus. Failure to appear by Wednesday will mean that the absentee gridder forfeits both suit and locker deposit.

"I am anxious that we have a big turnout for these league teams," Weir declared. "I hope that those freshmen whose names do not appear with the varsity group continue to report. They will be given every chance to excel and will be promoted just as soon as their plays merits it."

Tentative plans call for a Freshman-Nubbin scrimmage on Friday, the frosh using Minnesota plays and the nubbins demonstrating Iowa State formations.

The freshman varsity roster includes the following players:

Ends: Shurtliff, Elliott, Yelkin, Wampler, Scherer, Bauer, Offill and Abdala.

Tails: McFarland, Thompson, Reese and Gallova.

Guards: Holt, Hunt and Garnick.

Centers: Holac and Breckman.

Quarterbacks: Parlek and LaSone.

Backs: Antram, Wilson, Williams, Cockburn, Myers, Benson, Braun and Beaver.

FRATS BEGIN BATTLE FOR SOCCER TOURNEY

Alpha Thets and Phi Delt Tie for Score; Other Games Close.

The intramural soccer tournament got well under way Friday, when the second group of games were played. The tightest game was between Alpha Theta Chi and Phi Delta Theta which went two extra periods to a scoreless tie. The game was finally called because of darkness.

Alpha Gamma Rho, last year's champions, gave the Sigma Nus a 5-0 lacing. Delta Sigma Lambda defeated Phi Kappa 3-0. Phi Sigma Kappa stopped Theta Xi 4-0, while Farmhouse went down in defeat before a well organized Sigma Chi team to the tune of 10-0. Delta Chi nosed out Delta Tau Delta 1-0, while the D. U.'s edged out a victory over the Sig Eps by the same score. Tau Kappa Epsilon subdued Alpha Tau Omega 2-0.

Tuesday's games are as follows: Phi Kappa vs. Phi Psi, Alpha Gamma Rho vs. Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Phi Sigma Kappa vs. Sigma Phi Sigma, Delta Sigma Phi vs. Theta Xi, Pi Kappa Alpha vs. Sigma Chi, Farm House vs. Beta Theta Pi, Kappa Sigma vs. Delta Upsilon, and Sigma Phi Epsilon vs. Tau Kappa Epsilon.
