University Girls Attend Her Majesty the Queen of Quivera

One Hundred Nebraska Students Witness Coronation Of the Rulers of Ak-Sar-Ben at the Season's Leading Social Function, Friday.

Students and graduates of the university comprised a large part of the royalty of the Court of Quivers at the Ak-Sar-Ben coronation ball, the year's most outstanding social event in the state of Nebraska, Friday night. Three of the eighteen princesses and five of the eight countesses have been or are connected with this university while several of the escorts of the ladies of royalty are students here. With eight members of the court and a large number of students in attendance Nebraska was well represented.

OBSERVER SAYS FALL ELECTION STARTS ACTION

(Continued from Page 1.) thirty-three souls made happy. Nor is that anything to be passed by with a supercilious gesture. First the minor class offices had to go because a Blue Shirt controlled Student council had a sudden rush of heat to the head when the Yellow Jackets, by methods too well known to merit repetition, managed to have things practically entirely their way during the second semester of the year 1931-32.

Two Offices Abolished. Lately—last spring in fact—the council godfathers of practical standards in politics decided that they might as well lopp off the freshman and sophomore presidencies. It would save the council some money on their budget—due to the elimination of two sets of ballots. Indeed they went even further—they decreed that only one class election would be held during the year, thus making the elimination of the thirty-two offices as compared with four years ago.

But to get down to business of the moment—the situation which confronts us in the coming election—there are other things to talk about. The Blue Shirts are being led by Lloyd Loomis, a Pi Kappa Alpha who is glad to accept the responsibility of presidency of that faction. Second in command is Byron Goulding, of Beta Theta Pi, who heads the sincere post of vice-president while Carlyle Sorenson, Delta Upsilon, is secretary. Sorenson and Goulding have a peculiar faculty for tossing their hats in the same ring.

Blue Shirts Meet. The Blue Shirts, it is reported, met the other evening to make nominations but did not come to final conclusions. Those they are reserving for next Tuesday evening. The Yellow Jackets will also do their nominating Tuesday evening, we are told.

Barb quarters are a source of speculation. Since their organization is as yet imperfect, they will undoubtedly pool their forces with one or the other of the fraternity factions in exchange for a nomination. Their coalition with the Yellow Jackets last spring turned out successfully and it would seem logical to believe they will again look in that direction for support. The Yellow Jacket chieftain is Ralph Spencer, Sigma Phi Epsilon.

The rumor has come to your chronicler, however, that Jack Coupland, of Elgin, an ambitious Barb junior, was seen talking rather earnestly with Lloyd Loomis, the Blue Shirt president, Friday afternoon. Thus it becomes a question as to whether there are frons in the fire or simply straws in the wind. Little else is there now to be said concerning men's politics.

To Nominate Honorary Colonel. As to the honorary colonel situation we hesitate to commit ourselves. Ordinarily, about eight houses file their "favorite daughter" and the Pi Beta Phi's, Kappa Kappa Gammas, Kappa Alpha Thetas, Delta Gammas, Alpha Phi, and Tri Deltas are nearly always among that eight. Sometimes Chi Omega and Gamma Phi Beta come through with a nominee or if they don't there is always Alpha Omicron Pi or Alpha Chi Omega. Or maybe someone else.

HEDGES, COLE EDIT FARMERS' BULLETIN

Agriculture Students Make Prediction of Market Conditions.

The most important factor governing the price of any farm product during the next year will be the demand for it as affected by general price level, Harold Hedges and Ralph Cole of the agricultural college state in their 1932 fall agricultural outlook, just published at the agricultural college.

The question which farmers should consider in planning their dairy, beef cattle, and grain production during the next twelve months is whether or not they can receive a higher price for their animal products than they can for their grain crops.
