RALLY OFFICIAL PLANS FOOTBALL GAME SEND-OFF

Devereaux Declares Tassels, Corn Cobs and Band Lead Meeting.

MARCH TO HOUSES FIRST Innocent Says Main Purpose To Carry Over Team Confidence.

Plans for a huge send-off rally Friday for the football team have been formulated, according to an announcement by Bill Devereaux, who is in charge of rallies. The rally will take place immediately preceding the time for departure, and will be led by the Corn Cobs, Tassels and the band.

Beginning about 6:30 Friday afternoon the Corncoobs and Tassels will make a house to house rally and then proceed to the Temple where the rally and parade will form at 6:40. Here they will be joined by the band and university students, and the parade will be formed to accompany the team to the station; their train leaving about 7 o'clock. There will be no speeches but the cheer leaders will be there in costume to lead the yell.

The main purpose of this rally, said Mr. Devereaux, "is to carry over the confidence expressed by the students at the last rally. There is a tendency among students to think the team is not up to the usual standards, but they do not take into account the fact that last week's game was the first for Nebraska and the third for the season for Iowa. The team will greatly appreciate an expression of confidence by the student body. I believe the majority of the students have the utmost confidence in the team which may be expressed by their participation in the rally Friday afternoon. If every student would attend the rally Friday, the team would certainly receive much inspiration in knowing the student body has the utmost confidence in them."

The train carrying the team will leave about 7 p. m. and arrive in Minneapolis about 8:30 Saturday morning.

Captain Connors, University R.O.T.C. Instructor, Sees Some Difference in Battlefield and the Drill Grounds

Captain Connors of the university R. O. T. C. department, recently transferred from the 31st infantry at Manila, sees quite a difference between the battlefield at Shanghai, where he was stationed during the Chinese-Jap affair, and the peaceful drill grounds on the university campus.

In an interview, Captain Connors related that on Feb. 1 the unit received orders at 8:30 in the morning to be ready to leave for Shanghai at 8 o'clock that night. There was a big bustle of preparation as the infantry had been stationed in Manila since 1920 when it had returned from Siberia. The men had to draw woollens from the old stock as they had only cotton clothing in their kits.

That night, preceded by all the navy ships in Manila harbor, the unit embarked on the U. S. S. Chaumont and arrived in Shanghai on Feb. 4. Here they went immediately into billets and took over the sector occupied by the Royal Scottish Fusiliers, a British outfit. A few days later the 31st also took over the sector occupied by the Shanghai volunteer corps. The front line of the Americans and British was U-shaped with the Japs on their right and the Chinese on their left. Thus they had ring-side seats for the scrap. The duty

EDITORIAL WORK ON ANNUAL PROGRESSES

All Assistant Managing Editors Requested to Report.

Work on the editorial department at the Cornhusker has begun in earnest, and it is desirable that all of the assistant managing editors report at once for work. It is necessary that all of the staff members co-operate with the editors and managing editors so that work on the new book will progress smoothly. Woodrow Magee, managing editor, said yesterday afternoon.

"In view of the fact that there was so much interest shown in filing for positions it would seem that those who were given staff positions should try to conscientiously carry out the responsibilities of their offices," he declared.

DEMOCRAT CLUB LEADER REFUSES A SOCIALIST TILT

Holtzendorff Says Challenge Should Be Directed to Republicans.

Because he believes that the democratic party has nothing to gain by discussing party principles with the socialists, Howard Holtzendorff, chairman of the Young People's Democratic clubs of Nebraska, Wednesday refused a challenge to debate issued by Charles Gray, president of the Student Socialist club, addressed to the student republican club. Holtzendorff suggested in his refusal that Gray should direct his challenge to the republican club.

Robert Harmon, president of the student democratic club could not be reached Wednesday for a statement in connection with the challenge. The challenge was directed to him.

Gray's proposal is similar to the one issued by Holtzendorff to the student republican club which was accepted by John Gepson, president of the latter organization. Arrangements have already been completed by these two clubs for a public debate to be held Oct. 25, the day preceding the Daily Nebraskan straw vote on the national election.

Gray's Challenge. Gray's letter of challenge addressed to Robert Harmon follows: "In view of the apparent anxiety of members of the Democratic club to meet other political parties in open debate, the Socialist club challenges your club to debate publicly the fundamental issues of the campaign under conditions to be agreed upon by our two clubs. We believe that your program is unsound and challenge you as democrats to defend it." Signed, Charles Edward Gray, president Socialist club.

Holtzendorff's Reply. The reply to this challenge as issued by Howard Holtzendorff follows: "Thanking Mr. Gray for his challenge, and regretting very much that we cannot oblige him, I wish to state that we have no quarrel with the socialists; our quarrel lies with the party in power. Since the socialists are making no campaign in Nebraska, since they are not in power at present, nor have ever been in power, I fail to see what benefit could be possibly derived out of such a proposed debate.

"Your candidate, Norman Thomas, is a fine man, but admits he hasn't one chance in a thousand of being elected. In view of these facts we decline your offer.

"Your party is on the same footing as our therefore your quarrel should be with the republicans, as they are the ones defending their record, not the democrats." Signed, Howard L. Holtzendorff, chairman Young People's Democratic clubs of Nebraska.

STUDENTS UNITE TO FORCE FROSH WEARING CAPS

Sophomores Form Vigilance Committee and Ask Cooperation.

BILLY QUICK APPROVES Twenty Students Add Names To Lists Posted on Campus Points.

Enforcement of the frosh cap tradition was uppermost in the minds of a group of sophomores Wednesday when they constituted themselves a "Vigilance committee" and asked for co-operation of fraternity and barb organizations. The self appointed committee was active in placing typed appeals for supporters at strategic points on the campus, and late Wednesday night approximately twenty sophomores had promised to see that the tradition was enforced in their respective organizations.

Quick Approves. W. T. "Billy" Quick, R. O. T. C. band leader, gave his support to the movement by advising all band frosh to wear their caps. "The band is a Nebraska pep organization," he said, "and an upholder of Nebraska traditions. We're not going to slack in upholding this one."

Phil Brownell, student council president, and Jack Thompson, Innocents president, gave the sophomores to understand, however, that no violence would be countenanced. "It is not in the spirit of the tradition to permit enforcement of it by hazing methods," Thompson said.

Council Statement. Council President Brownell had this to say about the "vigilantes": "The idea of securing some method for securing the unanimous observance of the freshmen cap tradition is a very good one. The Innocents society has continued to sponsor the sale of freshmen caps because it believes the tradition is worthy of being upheld. But its enforcement methods have depended on the co-operation of other campus organizations and the freshmen themselves.

"The society has never used any physical methods of enforcement. The idea of the sophomore vigilance committee savors of this method.

"Such tactics are not in conformity with the practice of student organizations on this campus. The council would not countenance any organization operating on this principle. The interest of the sophomore in this tradition is commendable. A statement by them of their aims and purposes and a definite program of enforcement without relying on physical compulsion would I believe receive the support and recognition of the Student Council. In any case the vigilance committee must secure council approval before taking any action."

Beverly Finkle, one of the members of the committee indicated Wednesday afternoon that the committee would seek permission of the council for its organization, and would submit a definite program of enforcement to the council.

"Vigilance" promulgators included Edgar Apking, Lamoine Biele, Jack Copeland, Wilbur Erickson and Beverly Finkle.

Plans had been formed for the squad to go to the Iowa University football game and compete with the Iowa unit, but these plans were dropped when it was learned that the Iowa unit would not be ready for competition by that time. However, some such trip will be taken during the year.

Officers of the Pershing Rifle company this year are: William E. Gordon, captain; Ed Brockley, first lieutenant; A. Oreville, lieutenant; and Max Emmert, first sergeant.

ELECTION FILINGS REVEAL COMBINATION OF BARB AND YELLOW JACKET FACTIONS

Yellow Jackets Nominate Art Pinkerton for Senior Class President.

BARBS SELECT JUNIOR Blue Shirts Name Both Glen LeDoyt and Sorenson Representatives.

BY THE OBSERVER. To even the most disinterested observer of the campus political scene it must be obvious that the Yellow Jackets had reasons other than the scarcity of men for filing no candidate for the Junior class presidency. Likewise it should not require any unusual mental gymnastics to divine that there might have been ulterior reasons on the part of the Barbs for filing no senior candidate.

Since there are always some, however, who find the simplicity of politics a confusing thing let it here be said that the Yellow Jackets and Barbs are obviously working toward a common goal—the election of a Yellow Jacket senior president and a Barb junior president, i. e. Arthur Pinkerton, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Omaha, and Vernon Filley, Lincoln.

Pinkerton vs. LeDoyt. Pinkerton has an opponent of formidable timber in Glen LeDoyt, Farm House, North Platte. LeDoyt will bring an imposing hand-out of Ag college votes to wave in Pinkerton's face when election day rolls around. And votes, even if only a handful, are not to be sneezed at.

The chances of Carlyle Sorenson, Delta Upsilon, Omaha, are somewhat hazardous unless the Blue Shirts get their vote out in workmanlike fashion. In addition to running against a Lincoln man, Sorenson is backing a combined Blue Shirt and Barb vote without so much of a group interest behind him as LeDoyt has at Ag college. Women's politics is too scrambled a thing, from a distant vantage point upon which to comment. Something may turn up later. Yet however funny the vote-getting methods of the male collegiate element may be their antics can never come up to those of the co-ed ballet dancers. Ey that we mean that outside the Temple building they take all possible steps to secure the banking for their "favorite daughter."

Warns Voters. To men students the word of warning, "pay no attention to the promises of co-ed vote-swappers," is no more necessary, we believe, than is the warning to women students, "don't believe a thing the College Jock's tell you about the election."

One thing seems fairly certain in view of last spring's results. The Blue Shirts will have to work industriously to win this election. Perhaps they can only win with the women pretty solidly behind them for the Barb organization is in better shape than it was last spring when it worked rather effectively in a Yellow Jacket coalition.

ECONOMIC SECRETARY TALKS TO SOCIALISTS

William H. Talmage Tells Students About Party Employment Plan.

Gray Presides at Meet

William Henry Talmage, secretary of the Others Economics League of Columbus, and author of Christian Industrialism, spoke at the second meeting of the Student Socialist club, which was held Wednesday evening. He spoke on "The Commodity-Wage Plan." Charles Gray, president of the club presided over the meeting.

"This plan provides a method whereby the unemployed care for themselves without charity or dole," said Mr. Talmage. "It would provide for a federal legislation creating a special government corporation to be comprised largely of a variety of engineers with power to act and with sufficient financial provisions, a nation-wide registration of all adult unemployed and a tabulation of their dependents, occupational qualifications, the amount of material things desired for use, including refinements and luxuries, for a period of three years."

He asserted that it provided for voluntary signature to commodity wage contracts and those who sign, will be provided for by the government for all their needs. The government will also regulate production and sell or trade enough material in markets to pay all expenses of such a plan, and provide the commodity-wage workers with commodities which cannot be obtained within the bounds of the United States.

Raise Living Standard. "The commodity-wage plan does not require a change in the existing order of economics; nor any change in government or political (Continued on Page 4.)

Two Nebraska Geologists Relate Their Experiences in Searching For Radium They Failed to Find

"We knew it was a gamble, but we were willing to gamble if we could get enough people to gamble their money on us. The radium is there. Gold was found this summer in connection with the radium operations.

"The mineral wealth there is astounding. Huge chunks of silver ore, 90 percent silver lie about the mines. The silver and gold, mine officials say, will cover cost of mining the radium, which is immensely more valuable. The companies operating at Bear lake are Canadian firms. They are bringing in machinery and are building plants over the mountains. The mines in order to carry on work during the winter," according to Hewitt.

Established Sub-Station. The Canadian government has established a sub-recording station at Bear lake and is throwing its resources into developing the territory. It is going to build next summer a road around the rapids in the Bear river, which have frustrated the attempts of many a "rusher," to reach this wealth seeking country. At present it is very difficult to get provisions in thru the mountains, and other natural barriers defying anyone coming after these riches, have pre- (Continued on Page 4.)

Pinkerton, LeDoyt, Filley, Sorenson in Race for Class Leader.

FOUR GIRLS FOR COLONEL Jane Axtell, Jane Youngson, Helen Baldwin, Grace Nicklas Apply.

That the coming fall elections, which will be held Tuesday, Oct. 18, will be closely contested was revealed last night when only eight students signified their intention of seeking student favor by filing as candidates for the three positions to be filled at the polls. Four of these filed as candidates for honorary colonel, and two filed for both junior and senior class presidencies.

The candidates for the senior class presidencies, Art Pinkerton and Glenn LeDoyt, both members of the Innocents society, represent the two political factions in their class. Pinkerton is a senior in the college of business administration, a member of the student council and Kosmet Klub. LeDoyt is president of the Ag club, and business manager of the Cornhusker Courtyard. Pinkerton is affiliated with Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity, while LeDoyt is a member of Farm House.

The coalition between the Barb faction and the Yellowjackets is evidenced in the filings for junior class president, Vernon Filley, a junior in the college of agriculture, has filed as candidate on the Barb-Yellowjacket ticket, while Pinkerton was listed on the ballot as the Yellow-Jacket-Barb candidate.

The other candidate for junior class president, the Blueshirt representative, is Carlyle Sorenson, Delta Upsilon, a junior in the college of business administration.

Four senior women students have applied for the position of honorary colonel. The winner will not be announced following the elections until the time of her presentation at the Military Ball on Dec. 2.

The candidates are: Jane Axtell, Omaha, a member of Alpha Chi Omega and Mortar Board society; Jane Youngson, president of Tassels and member of Kappa Alpha Theta; Helen Baldwin, member of Alpha Phi and Mortar Board society; and Grace Nicklas, member of Delta Delta Delta and Tassels.

A year ago this fall the names were listed on the ballot. The Yellowjackets entered no candidates in the political race, while one independent filed for senior class president, and five women filed for honorary colonel.

The other difference in the race this year is that the freshman and sophomore class presidencies have been abolished, by action of the student council last spring. They were denounced as political sinecures, and the two class presidencies were given specific duties for their office.

Voting will take place in the Temple building next Tuesday, Oct. 18, from 9 o'clock in the morning until 5 o'clock that evening. Members of the student council will supervise the election and counting of the ballots. Student identification cards must be presented before ballots will be given to the students.

BIOLOGY STUDENTS TO ATTEND PICNIC SUPPER SATURDAY

A picnic supper will be held Saturday evening at 5 p. m. by Phi Sigma, honorary biological fraternity. Members must make reservations for themselves and their guests before 6 p. m. Friday, with Miss Anna May Kimmel in Bessey hall, room 113.

At present there are five radium mines being worked in the Great Bear lake region, including the discovery claim that was staked out in the fall of 1930 by LaBaine, who brought back the first word of the vast empire of riches waiting to be developed. These extensive mineral deposits are not confined to just the immediate territory around the original discovery but extend for more than a hundred miles radius in all directions. The region, said Hewitt, is a vast vault, where nature has deposited her riches in extend that it would require years to prospect it completely.

Five Mines Working. At present there are five mines being worked. The Eldorado company is employing thirty men in open pit operations on LaBaine's
