

HOMECOMING STAMPS ARE PLACED ON SALE

Students, Faculty, Business Men Are to Be Canvassed.

With their goal the sale of 25,000 stamps, the members of the A. W. S. board distributed homecoming seals Saturday to the three women from each organized home on the campus who have been designated as salesmen. One member of each trio is delegated to sell stamps to students, while the other two are assigned to selling in the business district. A special group will canvass the faculty for sale. Homecoming stamps are sold every year under the auspices of A. W. S. The seals are intended to be used on envelopes and sent out over the state to arouse interest in the homecoming game, which will be played Oct. 29. Twenty thousand stamps were sold last year. It is hoped to increase that total by the sale of 500 more stamps this season.

EXTRA-CURRICULAR ACTIVITIES AT THE UNIVERSITY OF NEBRASKA

Published through the co-operation of the Innovative Society in the interests of students, new and old, who are not fully acquainted with activities, their organization, purposes and benefits, as they operate at the University of Nebraska, with the hope that a greater number will avail themselves of the opportunities offered, thereby putting into the whole activities organization a revitalized interest among the entire student body.

SCHOLASTIC HONORARIES

Of first importance among the ways in which the university honors superior scholarship is the annual spring convocation held each spring at which time those who rank among the highest ten percent of each class in each college are cited as honor students. On that occasion numerous other scholarship honor selections and prizes are announced. There are, in addition, several organizations of purely scholastic honorary nature.

Phi Beta Kappa, oldest and best known of national scholastic honoraries, with Nebraska Alpha chapter at Nebraska, honors by selection to membership each spring the highest one-tenth to one-sixth of the members of the graduating class with arts and science graduation requirements. Selections are announced at a special convocation held immediately before spring vacation.

Sigma Xi is a similar organization for the encouragement of original investigation in science, pure and applied. A small number of seniors, graduate students and faculty members fulfilling the requirements of original research and high scholarship are admitted to membership each year.

Alpha Lambda Delta, a national scholastic honorary to which all freshmen women who make an average of 90 percent or above during their first year are invited to membership, is sponsored by Mortar Board.

Alpha Rho Tau is an honorary scholarship fraternity for fine arts students. Members are elected from the faculty and senior class on the basis of scholarship and proficiency in the fine arts.

Gamma Sigma Delta is a national agricultural society composed of faculty, alumni, graduate and senior students chosen on the basis of original research and scholarship.

Alpha Zeta is an undergraduate organization of the college of agriculture which recognizes scholarship by selecting to its membership each year those second semester sophomore men of the college with scholastic standing in the upper two-fifths of their class who have shown their worth in character, leadership and personality. The organization annually presents a gold medal to the highest ranking freshman in the college.

Omicron Nu is a national home economics society composed of faculty, alumni, graduate and senior students chosen on the basis of scholarship and promise of leadership.

Order of the Coif is an honorary law society to which not more than one-tenth of the graduating class is elected yearly, solely upon the basis of scholarship as shown by grades.

Sigma Tau is a national honorary engineering society selection to membership in which is made from junior and senior students, on the basis of scholarship and other general qualifications promising successful careers in engineering.

Beta Gamma Sigma is an honorary organization whose membership is drawn from the male students of the College of Business Administration whose grades place them in the upper one-tenth of their class.

DEPARTMENTAL AND PROFESSIONAL ORGANIZATIONS.

Each college of the university and many of the departments within the colleges have professional departmental clubs and executive bodies whose duties are to administer the student activities pertaining to that college alone, to foster social contacts among students of mutual interests, to sponsor professional interests in the line of work for which students in that college are preparing and to promote scholarship.

COLLEGE OF AGRICULTURE.
Agricultural Executive Board is a body sanctioned by the student council for the correlation of agricultural activities, securing the co-operation of the students in the activities of the Ag college and in university affairs and to act as a representative body between the faculty and student body of that college. Membership is as follows: the two representatives from the College of Agriculture on the student council, two members chosen by the student body at a general election each spring, and the presidents and secretaries of the Ag club and Home Economics association.

Home Economics Board is composed of the officers and committee chairmen of the Home Economics association and one representative from each of the following women's organizations on the College of Agriculture campus: Tussela, Freshman Auxiliary, Y. W. C. A. Cornhusker Countryman, Omicron Nu, Phi Upsilon Omicron, Big Sister board and the sponsor of the Freshman Auxiliary. The board meets bi-monthly to sponsor and correlate the activities of the various women's organizations on the agriculture campus.

Farmers' Fair Board directs the staging of the annual exposition of the work of the college of agriculture, supervising the large number of committees in charge of various aspects of the work. Its members are chosen from the seniors of the college by a vote of the student body, three men and three women being elected.

Ag Club membership is open to all male students of the college of agriculture. It sponsors an extensive program of activities, including mixers, or tag dances, the Farmers' Formal at which the formal queen is presented, and the Col-Agr Fun, annual fun night and vaudeville program of the college. All are handled thru student committees. Medals for judging Promise that Lincoln theater goes will again be afforded the very best in legitimate stage drama was given by Clyde Armstrong, director of production of the Liberty Players Incorporated who will open at the Liberty theater Monday, Oct. 17.

Several thousand dollars has been spent in entirely redecorating and renovating in order that the theater may present its best "party dress" appearance for the reopening. Mr. Armstrong said.

"Our purpose is to put on only the very best class of plays in comedies and dramas that are on the market. We do not conflict but will co-operate with the University Players and every member of our company thanks them for they are the ones who are keeping up the interest in spoken drama."

COLLEGE WORLD

An educational innovation, the basis of which will be taking motion pictures for classroom work, has been announced by Dr. Robert Maynard Hutchins, president of the University of Chicago.

Production will begin shortly at the university on a series of 20 talks on the physical sciences. Next fall they will be tried out on the members of the freshman class. Lectures by noted professors will be synchronized with the films, which can be repeated as often as necessary to bring home the lesson to the student.

Governor Richard E. Russell, jr., of Georgia this week informed a college student, who wrote from Sheboygan, Wis., that there are "no vacancies" on the Georgia chaingang.

"I am told," wrote the student, "that employment may be obtained on the Georgia chaingang during the winter months. If so, I would thank you to advise me."

The PRESS BOX

by Joe Miller

The team that rushed thru Minnesota's ill-prepared defenses in that first quarter Saturday was far removed from the eleven that exhibited such listless, lack lustre play against Iowa State the week before. Altho I was among those who stayed at home, the hard fighting and alert work of the Huskers brought home the feeling that our players really had their hearts in the ball game. The Minnesotans had a surprise dished up to them, as they had figured Nebraska as just another opponent. They were giving twenty-one points in Minneapolis and eighteen in Chicago on the Gopher!

Kansas confounded the experts with a smashing 27 to 0 victory over Iowa State, and it certainly appears as if the Cornhuskers will be spending a strenuous afternoon next Saturday at Lawrence. Ed Lindsey, new Jayhawk coach, had only five days to get ready for the Cyclones, and what a job he did! With a backfield consisting of Schaeke, Knoch, Smith and Dumm, Kansas packs both weight and speed, especially the former. Schaeke was the boy who scintillated against Ames. It makes it all the merrier, for after such a "grab exhibition against Oklahoma, the K. U. tilt hadn't been rated very highly on the Husker schedule. Now there will probably be a general exodus of Nebraska students to Lawrence next Saturday.

In answer to a questionnaire sent out to Princeton graduates of the class of 1922, fifty-six alumni stated that in their opinion the average girl can struggle thru life pretty nicely with the equivalent of a high school education and that they would not send their daughters to college. One said that he planned to do so until he had taught for a while at a co-educational college. New York Evening Sun.

Lois Loeffelme, student in the university school of music and pupil of Carl Steckelberg, will play a violin solo at the Westminster church Sunday school Oct. 16, accompanied by Josephine McDermott.
