INTERPROFESSIONAL GROUP SELECTS HEAD

American Institute Names Cochran President at Meeting.

Following the complete surprise of his unanimous election as head of the American Interprofessional institute at the annual meeting Saturday at Milwaukee, Prof. Roy E. Cochran said Monday that he had made few definite plans for the future.

Professor Cochran is acting secretary of the Lincoln chapter of the Interprofessional Institute, a member of the faculty of the University of Nebraska. He was a member of the delegation from Lincoln which also included Dr. Benjamin F. Bailey, Prof. Thomas A. Blair, and Dr. Gray Spencer, president of the Lincoln chapter.

At the University of Minnesota, a grand total of 1,521 votes were cast, of which Herbert Hoover received 769 to again sweep the field by a majority, Norman Thomas, backed by a well organized clique, turned in the surprise showing of the poll, as the two major parties were expected to sweep most of the votes into their ranks, and the democratic candidate, Franklin D. Roosevelt, again failed to gain more than a third place, by receiving practically the same portion of the total votes as in the University of California straw ballot.

The results of these two elections have revealed the surprise upset in that the Socialist party seems to have forced the Democratic party from second place in assuming the position of one of the two leading political parties in Senator Outlines Republican Causes of Depression to 7,000 People.

Senator Huey P. Long, Louisiana's colorful "kingfish," Tuesday night blamed reactionary republican policies and the failure of governmental leaders to provide for distribution of wealth as depression causes when he spoke before a crowd of about 7,000 in the University coliseum.

"I wouldn't be campaigning for Roosevelt and the democratic party if they didn't stand for the redistribution of the wealth and the profits of the land in a way to prevent all this misery and starvation," he declared.

Introduced by Clark. Senator Long was introduced by state democratic chairman C. L. Clark, who also presented to the audience various state candidates assembled on the platform. The meeting was opened by Howard Holtzendorff, first year law student and chairman of the state young people's clubs.

The first issue of the Bizad News, published twice a semester by the College of Business Administration, will be released Wednesday evening at the honors banquet to be held in the Lindell hotel, according to an announcement Monday by Melvin Adams, editor. Additional copies will be available Thursday morning in the various class rooms in that department.

tribution and relief to the thousands of American families that are sorely afflicted.

People Work Out Cure.
"The people themselves, by their and resolute effort in the readjustments of their own affairs can and will work out the cure. It is our task as a party, by leadership and a wise determination of policy to assist that recovery."

"To that task we pledge all that our party possesses in capacity, leadership, resourcefulness and ability. Republicans collectively and individually in nation and state hereby enlist in a war which will not end until the promise of American life is once more fulfilled."

Leadership.
"For nearly three years the world has endured an economic depression of unparalleled extent and severity. The patience and courage of our people have been severely tested, but their faith in themselves, in their institutions, and in their future remains unshaken. When victory comes, as it will, this generation will hand on to the next a great heritage unimpaired."

"This will be due in large measure to the quality of the leadership that this country has had during this crisis. We have had in the white house a leader, wise, courageous, patient, understanding, re-

'ROAD TO ROME' OPENS CURRENT DRAMA SEASON

Main Theme Centers Around Story of Hannibal's March to Rome.

HART JENKS TAKES LEAD
Zolley Lerner and Dorothy Zimmer Have Major Roles in Play.

By Edgar Apking.
Opening the current dramatic season, the University Players gave the initial performance of "The Road to Rome," Monday evening at the Temple theater.

The main theme of the play is the story of Hannibal's march on Rome. Why Hannibal did not enter the city when he had it dying at his feet has been a topic of discussion by historians for years. Robert Emmet Sherwood attempts to answer this question in "The Road to Rome." The author seems to have laughed, however innocently, at his historic theme, which is in the midst of a progressive, patriotic and Rotarian Rome.

Amytis, the ingenue lead, played by Dorothy Zimmer, is the wife of the Roman dictator, Quintus Fab-

Introduction.
"We, the representatives of the republican party, in convention assembled, renew our pledge to the principles and traditions of our party and dedicate it anew to the service of the nation."

"We meet in a period of widespread distress and of an economic depression that has swept the world. The emergency is second only to that of a great war. The human suffering occasioned may well exceed that of a period of actual conflict."

"The supremely important problem that challenges our citizens and governments alike is to break the back of the depression, to restore the economic life of the na-
