HOOVER SWEEPS CAMPUS VOTE

Hours For Homecoming Dance Lengthened

FACULTY ALLOWS 12 O'CLOCK LIMIT

Time Extension So Students May Enjoy Thaymon Hayes' Colored Broadcasting Orchestra for Longer Time, Declares Galleher.

BAND WILL PROVIDE SPECIAL FEATURES

Corn Cobs, Interfraternity Council Members Sell Tickets to Dance at $1; Alumni Make Heavy Reservations for Party.

The limit of dancing time, regularly set at 11:30 for all campus parties, has been moved up to 12 o'clock for the second annual homecoming party in the coliseum, Saturday evening, through special permission of the faculty subcommittee on student organizations, according to Miss Amanda Heppner, secretary of that committee.

"The subcommittee grants approval of the extension of time to 12 midnight for the closing hour of this particular affair—the homecoming party to be held in the coliseum the evening of Saturday, Oct. 29," Miss Heppner, dean of women, reported.

Reason for securing the extension of time, according to Norman Galleher, Delta Tau Delta, Bassett, member of the Innocents committee in charge of the party, is so that students may have an extra half hour in which to dance to the imported colored Columbia broadcasting orchestra—Thaymon Hayes fourteen piece aggregation from Kansas City.

Furnish Feature Numbers.

Special entertainment features throughout the evening will be provided by entertainment units of the orchestra including a colored trio, the "Hot-Cha Boys" and the inimitable Jesse Stone.

DRAMA ORGANIZATION PLANS PLAY CONTEST

Club Schedules Additional Tryouts on Thursday, November 3.

The names of prospective members in the club will be brought up for consideration by the group. The candidates for membership pledges in the organization are urged to attend.

Plans for a play contest, which is to be sponsored by the Dramatic club will be made Thursday night at a meeting of the club in the Temple at 7:30. All members, including those who are at present who were passed by the committee at the tryouts last Thursday night are also requested to be present. They are: Florence Smeerin, Barbara Bates, Sylvan Frankel, Lois Rathburn, Myra Grimes, Gwen Thompson, Veronica Villars and Paul Bogen.

The committee who heard the tryouts last week was composed of the following members: Lee Young, Calista Cooper, Reg Porter, Neil McFarland, Jane Robertson and Charles Owens. This same committee, with the addition of Gay Miller, will be in charge of the tryouts scheduled for Thursday evening, Nov. 3.

Young again stated the requirements for the tryouts. Each candidate must be able to recite from memory a reading of from three to five minutes in length. The authors of the three plays entered in the play contest sponsored last year are automatically admitted to membership in the club and are asked to attend tonight's meeting, he added.

German Ambassador Explains Great Demand for International Harmony During Period of Worldwide Stress

Frederic M. Sackett, American ambassador to Germany, may hold one of the most influential positions on the nation's foreign relations staff but his interests are still sincerely with the common people and their problems. A serious thinking yet jolly appearing statesman, Mr. Sackett proved himself to be an ambassador in the true sense of the word, commuting between the middle class people of two nations, when he took time to answer all questions directed to him by a group of eager listeners after his speech at the Lincoln hotel Wednesday afternoon.

When asked by a Daily Nebraskan reporter for any comment or statement concerning his work that would be of interest to Nebraska students he said, "My heart and my interests are with Germany. I am tremendously interested in the country and the people and believe that all Americans should be. Unless Germany is successful in shaking off its economic slump, the United States

DEVEREAUX ASKS ENTHUSIASM FOR FRIDAY PEP MEET

Identity of Speaker at Rally Kept Secret; Rain No Obstacle.

"We are going to make our Homecoming rally this year which will be held Friday evening, be the best pep-meeting ever held by the students of the University of Nebraska," asserted William S. Devereaux, chairman of the rally committee of the Innocents society. Although he will not divulge the name of the speaker of the rally he stated: "The speaker himself would make a rally a success."

"All of the members of the outlying houses should be at the Temple building at ten minutes to seven," he stated. From the Temple the band, pep clubs and followers will parade east on R st. then up 16th st. and from there to the stadium where there will be talks, cheers and songs, according to Mr. Devereaux.

"If all of the students will co-operate with the pep clubs and cheer leaders, there will be no doubt that the rally will be the best ever staged," he stated. "Rain or shine, the rally will be held. If it rains the meeting will be held in the coliseum instead of the stadium," he added.

"Saturday's game will renew old and friendly rivalry," said Jack Thompson, president of the Innocents society. "Every cheer and cream rooster must lend a whole hearted support to see Bible's protégés in a great victory."

The game will be the third conference battle for the Cornhuskers. They must stop the Wildcats in (Continued on Page 3.)

New Students May Call for Pictures On Both Campuses

New students who had their pictures taken during the registration period should call for them before Nov. 3, presenting their identification cards. Students in the College of Agriculture call at Agricultural Hall 202; all other students at Administration Building 9 (outside entrance).

Identification cards on which pictures are pasted should be kept during the students' entire attendance at the university.

VIGILANTES VOTE TO CEASE PLANS FOR FROSH CAPS

Withdraw New Organization Designed to Regulate Enforcement.

COUNCIL DISAPPROVES

Advisory Group States Fear Of Renewed Hazing by Sophomores.

The movement recently initiated by a self-formed group of sophomores on the campus to form a vigilance committee to enforce the wearing of freshmen caps was brought to an end Wednesday by the voluntary withdrawal of the committee of their plea for recognition now pending before the Student council.

After consulting with a student council committee headed by Jack Erickson, and learning the attitude of the Innocents society, responsible for the caps, the sophomore group, thru its temporary chairman, Charles Steadman, notified the Student council committee that it would cease its activities and go out of existence.

VOTERS' REGISTRATION TO CLOSE OCTOBER 29

Republican and Democratic Headquarters Furnish Notary Publics.

NAME NOV. 8 AGE LIMIT

Student voters who have not yet registered still have three days in which to register their names in order to complete their eligibility for voting. Registration of voters closes on Saturday evening October 29 at 9 o'clock, and failure to register by that time will prevent the student from voting.

Registration may be made any evening this week between the hours of seven and 9 o'clock as well as during the day, thus giving an opportunity to those students who are engaged during the day to file their voting application. The election date Nov. 8 is only fourteen days away and students must file to be able to vote.

Headquarters Co-Operate. Both the Democratic and Republican headquarters are furnishing a notary public before whom the application must be filed as prescribed, entirely free. This service may also be obtained from any other person authorized to administer the oath. A seal must then be affixed and the application filed at the county clerk's office. These rules apply to all students who are able to fulfill the voting qualifications.

Nebraska election laws provide the opportunity to vote to any student who is or will be twenty-one years old on or before Nov. 8. (Continued on Page 4.)

PLAN REGULAR MEETINGS Business Manager Awgwan To Assemble Staff Twice a Week.

The business staff of the Awgwan will meet every Wednesday at 4 o'clock and every Friday at 3 o'clock. Otto Kotone, business manager, stated yesterday. "It will be necessary that everyone who is one the business staff of the Awgwan to meet at least once a week with the business manager," he said.

"We are in need of good salesmen for ads and would be glad to have anyone who has any experience or ability in selling ads to come to the staff meetings," he added. "With the size of business staff which we now have, we are unable to cover all of the territory, so that there is plenty of opportunity for more students to work."

"The office will be open for students who wish to contribute editorial material from 3 to 5 o'clock every day except Thursday and Saturday," said H. Francis Cunningham, editor of the magazine.

AG STUDENTS TO WEAR OVERALLS TO CLASS FRIDAY

Follow Custom of Wearing Work Garb Day Before Farmers Formal.

Friday will be over all and apron day on the college of agriculture campus in preparation for the annual farmer's formal to be held in the evening in the Student Activities building. Jesse Livingston, president of Ag club, made the announcement about the traditional day Wednesday.

Every student on the college campus will be required to wear either overalls or aprons Friday in order to instill spirit in the students for the traditional barn warm.

"The no definite plans of penalizing those who do not conform with the plans of the day have been made, it is imperative that all ag college students don the overalls and aprons Friday," Livingston said in making his announcement. "In past years the ag college student body has shown a marked advantage in student spirit over former years and this should be no exception."

Plans for the formal are practically completed and those in charge promise something different than in past years. The decorations, in particular, will be novel, according to Al Ebers who is general chairman of the committee. Work of decorating the Student Activities building will be done Friday afternoon when one half of the freshmen students will be excused.

SOCIALIST SPEAKER CRITICIZES PARTIES

Says Democrats, Republican Are Wings of Capital Organization.

"The republican and democratic parties are wings of capitalism," stated Glenn Griffith, principal speaker at the socialist meeting held in Social Science building, Wednesday evening. "Capitalism inevitably brings on enormous wastes, and periodic hard times in the midst of plenty. It also brings on international conflicts and class warfare."

Mr. Griffith, who is a teacher of music and English at the high school of Grant, Neb., has been for the last two years working with the Y. M. C. A. in Kansas, Colorado and Nebraska. He said socialism by planning production for use instead of profit, would do away with the fundamental causes of the evils brought on by capitalism.

"The moral effects of this capitalizing chaos are even more serious than the material results," he added. "There is no such thing as over production but rather it is underconsumption."

"I appeal to you students not only to vote for socialism but to organize and work with the party for a new social order, in which ideals that we have been taught from the time we can remember, will be realized," he asserted in conclusion.

Pep Organizations to Assemble for Rally All Corncoops and Tassels will assemble in front of the Temple building Thursday at 5 o'clock for a house to house rally, preparing for the Nebraska-K. Aggie game Saturday.

POLITICAL CLUBS PLAN DISCUSSION OF ISSUES

Joint Meeting of Groups to Be Considered at Conference.

WANT STUDENT SPEAKER

The invitation extended by the Young Republican club to hold a three party campaign meeting at which each party will have its representative speaker to explain the main issues and the party platforms will be accepted formally just as soon as a few provisions are ironed out at a joint meeting of the leaders of the parties Thursday afternoon.

Each party will have its speaker who will be given fifteen minutes in which to explain his party's stand on the major issues of the present presidential campaign. The purpose of this joint meeting is to afford interested students an opportunity to learn what the three parties, Republicans, Democrats, and Socialists, advocate concerning the present issues which are at stake in the coming election.

Wants Student Speakers.

Howard Holtzendorf stated that the Young Democratic club would accept the invitation to put up a speaker provided that the speakers be confined to university students, that only the major issues be dealt with in the speeches, and that an orthodox open forum be conducted by a non-biased chairman, chosen by the three organized political groups on the campus. The meeting is to be a campaign gathering of the organized political groups. (Continued on Page 4.)

COMPETITION HEAVY IN STAMP CAMPAIGN

Friday Marks Deadline for Sales on Campus and Downtown.

With only two days remaining in the N stamp sale, which will be brought to a close Friday, competition increases among the teams of saleswomen. For the first time this year, prizes will be awarded to the two teams which sell the greatest number of stamps. A goal of 20,000 stamp sales has been set for this year, against the 16,000 sale of last year.

The stamps are intended for use on letters sent out over the state by business concerns and individuals, and it is hoped that they will arouse interest in Homecoming. Two girls from each of the organized houses on the campus are selling N stamps under the direction of Jane Book of the A. W. S. board. Both the campus and the downtown district have responded to the campaign, she reports. The faculty is also being canvassed this year.

Proceeds from the stamp sale are used by the A. W. S. board in its many activities, chief among which this year is the sponsoring of Howard hall, a co-operative house for women.

Leading by an overwhelming majority, Hoover captured the University of Nebraska vote with a total of 467 of the 913 votes cast at the Daily Nebraskan presidential polls Wednesday, October 26. Two hundred and seventy-seven votes were cast for Roosevelt, while those for the Socialist candidate, Thomas, numbered one hundred and sixty-nine.

The returns will be wired from Princeton university, whose daily paper, The Princetonian, is sponsoring this intercollegiate straw vote. In return The Daily Nebraskan is wiring the Nebraskans returns to the national student election headquarters.

It is hoped by the originators of this project that it might indicate the trend of political sentiment for the future. It invoked the interest (Continued on Page 3.)

BURNETT DESIRES WIDE SUPPORT OF HOMECOMING DAY

Announces Three Parades to Celebrate Nebraska and Grad Days.

Chancellor E. A. Burnett issued a proclamation Wednesday asking support for the homecoming game which will be held Saturday in connection with the Nebraska Day celebration which will be staged for all of the citizens of Nebraska.

The proclamation is as follows: "Every former University of Nebraska student and all those who are interested in football as a sport should see the Nebraska-Kansas State football homecoming game on Nebraska Day, Oct. 29. We anticipate this will be one of the most interesting games played in the stadium this year."

"Homecoming is the time when all the alumni and former students of the university should come back to see what the university has done and how Lincoln has grown while they have been elsewhere absorbed with business cares."

"This is the great rally day for all student organizations. Fraternities and sororities make it a gala occasion. Student organizations should be present."

'Gangling University,' 'Middle Class' Lincoln Feel Edge of Student Satire Printed in Current Vanity Fair Issue

Satire, sophistication and "razzberries" are the rewards of the university in "Nebraska On the Make," an article written by Robert Burlingame, graduate history student, for the current issue of Vanity Fair.

While taking a healthy poke at the entire state, Burlingame doesn't forget the university.

"For let it be known that the pride of Nebraska is her gangling university on the flats of Lincoln, and the chief business of the university is the manufacture of championship football teams," he writes in beginning the article.

Burlingame, who teaches part time at Wesleyan, is studying here for his master's degree in history. He served as a graduate assistant here last year, and during summer school taught a course in medieval history.

His article on "How culture flourishes in the western plains state where Bryans are Bryans and cornhuskers are kings," characterizes Lincoln as "smug" and "middle-classed," and of the university he says in explanation for emphasizing the school and its football prowess so much: "To the outsider beyond the Missouri or west of Scott's Bluff, it may seem impious to open a Nebraska narrative in the university stadium, passing by such distinguished citizens as George Norris, the embattled liberal of the federal senate, and Willis Cather, the chronicler of prairie life. But only those can Ogallala and Wahoo and Broken Bow be made comprehensible."
