Hoover Favored in National Student Poll

REPUBLICAN LEADS BY BIG MAJORITY

Results in Daily Princetonian Campaign Give President Margin of 10,468 Votes Over Democratic Candidate; Thomas Stands Third.

VOTE FAIRLY CONSISTENT IN 34 UNIVERSITIES

Purpose of Venture to Discover Indication of Trend of Future Voters and To Promote Student Interest in Political Affairs.

Expressing their political sentiment in a nation-wide presidential poll, the students of the thirty-four colleges participating in the Daily Princetonian straw vote favored the re-election of President Hoover. The republican nominee led his democratic rival by a margin of 10,468 votes.

The total number of votes received by each candidate, as wired to the Daily Nebraskan late Wednesday night, are as follows: Hoover, 28,180; Roosevelt, 17,712; Thomas, 10,740; and Foster, 145.

Hoover's lead by an extremely large majority was consistent with the University of Nebraska straw vote. The votes received by the four candidates have been in an almost equal proportion in all of the college polls. The national results showed Hoover to lead Roosevelt with a ratio of almost two to one, while those of the local poll were in the same ratio.

The purpose of this poll, as stated by the Daily Princetonian, has been to discover an indication of the political trend of future voters. It was also hoped that the poll would promote student interest in national political affairs.

The arrangements in each school were executed by its newspaper management. The electoral returns were all wired to the Daily Princetonian immediately upon their completion, after which they were totaled and sent to the schools participating. Results of the individual elections in the various schools will be received by the Daily Nebraskan and published in a later issue.

Bugle Corps and Radio Broadcast Will Be Means of Summoning Lincoln Voters to Polls, Says Gayle Walker

Gayle C. Walker, state chairman of the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce, yesterday pointed out that students from cities where registration is necessary before votes may be cast, have only two more days in which to register their names. The nine cities in Nebraska required by state law to register their voters are Omaha, Lincoln, Hastings, Kearney, Fremont, Beatrice, Scottsbluff, Grand Island, North Platte, Norfolk and Nebraska City.

Every facility is being made available to induce all of the eligible voters to complete their voting requirements. Free rotary public service is being furnished by both of the major parties at their headquarters, extra assistants have been employed in City Clerk Berg's office and appeals are being made to the voters over the radio and thru the newspapers.

STATE TEACHERS THROUGH LINCOLN FOR CONVENTION

Three Social Functions Open Annual Assembly Wednesday.

MRS. R. B. OWEN SPEAKS

Dr. Hill Urges Delegates to Refuse to Take Life Too Seriously.

Three different functions of a social nature served Wednesday night to open the annual meeting of district No. 1, Nebraska State Teachers' association.

Also registration figures had not yet been tabulated, several hundred teachers from this section of the state were in Lincoln to take part Thursday in the round tables, instruction periods and entertainment that make up a teachers' convention.

Men and women separated for their banquets Wednesday night, the women dining at the University club, afterward hearing Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owen, and the men at the Cornhusker, where Dr. W. R. Hill spoke. They joined again at the reception in the state association's headquarters building.

Speaking before nearly 300 members of the Women's Educational club at the University club Wednesday night, Mrs. Owen declared that woman's place "always has been and forever will be in the home" but that home nowadays includes the entire community.

During her talk she showed how the home in its modern sense has grown to include the whole community in which a child lives and that it is the woman's duty to take an active part in the community life and affairs in order to exert her efforts and to improve the environment in which her children grow up.

PLAN LOCAL CHAPTER OF SCIENTIFIC SOCIETY

Tentative Arrangements for Association Branch Are Being Made.

ASK STUDENTS TO COME

Tentative plans for the organization of a local chapter of the International Scientific Association have been made by Clifton Amsbury, graduate instructor in anthropology and secretary of the association, who requests all those interested to report to his office, SS, 109B.

The association was founded in 1926 to promote the reading of scientific fiction and non-fiction. All branches of science are embraced by the organization and it is affiliated with the German society, Verein für Raumschiffahrt. The Cosmology, the quarterly publication of the association, is running a series of articles on anthropology by Mr. Amsbury. They deal principally with the definition of anthropology and a description of the phylogeny and ontogeny of the human race.

"The association offers an excellent opportunity for scientific students to meet other people interested in the various branches of science and to correspond with those of other schools. It also intends to keep its members posted on the latest developments in science," said Mr. Amsbury.

Chancellor Burnett Asks All University Voters to Register

University of Nebraska students and members of the university faculty, by the very position they hold in the eyes of the world at large as leaders in thought and action, should make every possible effort to vote at the coming general election Nov. 8.

While it is true that a considerable part of the student body are not eligible to vote because of age, yet there are a considerable number of eligible upperclass and graduate students who should not neglect this obligation. All of our faculty and employees are in a position to vote and should do so at the coming election.

To vote, however, it is necessary that your registration be in proper form. But two days, Friday and Saturday, remain for registration in Lincoln. If you have moved since the last general election or have failed to vote for the last two years, it will be necessary for you to re-register.

How you mark your ballot is of no concern to the university. But as students and faculty of an educational institution, it should be your normal obligation to vote at the coming general election.

E. A. BURNETT, Chancellor.

The nurses of the student infirmary, where Kilgore has been residing since Thursday morning, were unable to give any information as to his party preference.

CITY PREPARED FOR HUGE CELEBRATION FOR ANNUAL HOMECOMING FESTIVITIES

Biblemen Confident of Win Over K-Aggies in Engagement.

STRESS AERIAL DEFENSE

Absence of George Sauer in Backfield Will Be Felt.

Confident of repeating last year's victory over Kansas State when Lewis Brown personally accounted for the winning touchdown, the Nebraska Huskers completed final touches Thursday afternoon for the Homecoming fray Saturday with the Wildcats in a brisk signal drill and rehearsal of plays. The usual limbering up workout is on the program for Friday.

As the eyes of conference followers turn upon the crucial Kansas Aggie-Nebraska clash, the result of which will go far toward determining Big Six honors, the only new development in the Cornhusker ranks is the addition of Corwin Hulbert, Scarlet game captain, who showed up Thursday with a boil on his left arm. The infection was lanced and it is believed that the 187 pound left tackle will be ready to take his post by game time Saturday.

Not in the least underrating Coach A. N. "Bert" McMills's crew, on the contrary the Huskers have been progressing at high speed all week in getting ready for the powerful K-Aggie eleven. Great emphasis has been laid on pass defense, since the Purple gridsters are expected to vary a strong run (Continued on Page 4.)

AG GROUP REDUCES PRICES AT MIXERS

Follow General Movement For Cut in Social Expenses.

A reduction in the admission charge to Ag college mixers was announced by the Ag executive board following a meeting Wednesday evening. The usual charge of fifty cents hereafter, but coeds who have formerly been admitted free to the mixers, will be taxed ten cents.

The first mixer to be given under the new price schedule will be held Nov. 4 under the auspices of the Block and Bridge club. Satirical Article "Nebraska on the Make," Written by Wesleyan Faculty Member, Causes Much Local Comment

No action has been taken as yet concerning the satirical production "Nebraska in the Make" written by Robert Burlingame, member of the Nebraska Wesleyan faculty, at which school a few pointed remarks were aimed. This article appeared in the last issue of Vanity Fair and is causing quite a hub-bub in Lincoln circles.

The executive committee of Wesleyan planned to discuss the article at their Wednesday meeting but, since Chancellor E. Guy Cutsall is out of town, no results or decisions are as yet available. "But get this straight," he told a Star reporter earlier in the day. "Regular members of the faculty teach fifteen hours. Burlingame teaches but five hours. Three of English and two of journalism. The rest of the time he is studying at the University of Nebraska toward a degree."

No doubt the Wesleyan board is disturbed to the greatest extent by the following excerpt from the production: "Churches, mostly Protestant, have become in Lincoln with a fringe of suburbs, ranging from a Methodist community which has largely surrendered its purity, to a Seventh day Adventist colony."

Faculty Comment. Coach Bible of the University of Nebraska stated: "Probably the

INVITE NEARBY MAYORS

Affairs Given in Honor of Alumni Serve as Day's Climax.

Nebraska Day, to be held in connection with the University Homecoming Saturday, promises to be a big event on the city and school calendar. Final plans were completed by the chamber of commerce Thursday noon and announced by E. U. Guntzel, general chairman of the arrangement committee. The program of the day is centered around the Nebraska-Kaggie football game, which promises to be an outstanding game.

Invitations have been sent to 250 mayors of neighboring cities for them and their wives to be the guests of Lincoln and around 200 have indicated that they will attend. About eight high school bands have also consented to take part in the dedication of the new Lincoln flag. The flag will be escorted to the hall by the Pershing Rifles, honorary military group of the R. O. T. C. After all units are assembled the flag will be dedicated and accepted by the city through Mayor Zehring.

March to Depot. While this ceremony is taking place the high school bands will be formed at the depot by Col. W. H. Oury for the march to the depot to greet the visiting Kaggies. The visitors will come on an eleven-car special train and all students are requested by William Devereaux, chairman of the Innocents pep committee, to be at the station to take part in the reception.

As soon as the Kaggies contingent has disembarked, a parade composed of the Nebraska university band, the Kansas band, all high school bands, a group of Boy Scouts, the university pep organization, the student regiment, and student supporters of the two teams will be formed. The parade, which will march through the business district, will be headed by Chancellor and Mrs. E. A. Burnett and President and Mrs. F. D. Farwell. Following the parade the chancellors' car will be a group of Boy Scouts carrying the new Lincoln flag and the university regiment, the pep organizations and the supporters of the two schools.

Plan Large Rally. Ending on the west side of the chamber of commerce building at 11th and P, the marchers will hold a rally. A platform will be situated there from which Chancellor Burnett and President Farwell will speak. Ticket booths will be set up by the Tassels to facilitate the (Continued on Page 4.)

Pep Clubs and Band To Meet for Rally

All members of the Corn Cobs, Tassels and band will meet at the Temple promptly at 6:45 this evening for the rally.

The executive committee of Wesleyan planned to discuss the article at their Wednesday meeting but, since Chancellor E. Guy Cutsall is out of town, no results or decisions are as yet available. Faculty Comment. Coach Bible of the University of Nebraska stated: "Probably the article is more or less a general criticism."

Dean Thompson remarked: "I wouldn't care to comment without reading the article. If the author is trying to win publicity for himself his work will rise to mock him."

In general little approbation and much condemnation is following the publishing of the work on the part of Mr. Burlingame. In defense, Rev. Hunt stated: "It is quite helpful to see ourselves as others see us. A fellow has a right to make a speech and be heard."

Razzes Many. Many of those institutions, men, buildings and other things which are accepted as the pride of the state come in for a few jibes and a sound trouncing and razzing by Mr. Burlingame. Governor Bryan is dealt with in a rather subtle fashion, and his brother of national fame, William Jennings (Continued on Page 2.)
