HUSKER B GRIDSTERS PLAY COTNER TONIGHT

Red Young Plans to Start Same Backs in Game At Bethany.

Off to a flying start in its first game with Kearney Teachers, the Nebraska B eleven receives its second test of the season when it matches gridiron ability Friday night with Cotner college at Bethany field under the lights. The game will start at 8 o'clock.

Against the Bulldogs Coach Red Young plans to start the same backfield that played for the most part against Kearney. It included Ken White at quarterback, Charles Delaney, left half; Bob Chase, right half, and Jack Thomas at fullback.

The Coach Dutch Koster expects to use Armstrong and Fowler at ends; Uptegrove and Kerlakes, tackles; Don Hulbert and Glen Justice at guards, and Bill Horeham, center.

Although beaten by Hastings 19 to 6 in a game played at Hastings two weeks ago, the Cotner team showed plenty of power in dropping a close 6 to 0 decision from Midland last week. Weyand, former Lincoln high player is the chief scoring threat for the Bethany team, with the other outstanding men including Fowles and Haack.

Several former varsity gridsters may be inserted against Cotner tonight, in the persons of Ralph Eldridge, Glenn Jones and Bud Parsons.

Coach Bible sees the Kansas Aggie game tomorrow as the turning point of the 1932 season for the Huskers. A victory would be a long stride forward in the race for the conference title, and at the same time would leave the team in a good position for a successful last half season. But Nebraska must display its best football, because Kansas State is coming to Lincoln prepared to "shoot the works." Humiliation growing out of the Oklahoma defeat last Saturday has been uppermost in the mind of the Aggie coaching staff, and it would be delicious revenge for Bo McMillin's mole-skinners if they could journey homeward Saturday with a triumph over Nebraska's Cornhuskers. Only Lewis Brown and his 70-yard gallop to a touchdown in the last five minutes of play saved the Scarlet from defeat last year, and the Wildcats haven't forgotten it.

Game Captain Corwin Hulbert did not participate in Thursday's practice, as the former Havelock line man has contracted a boil on his arm. Team Physician Dr. Earl Deppen lanced the infection, however, and the ranga left tackle should be able to go at top speed by game time Saturday.

"Tame the Wildcat" is the slogan with which the Nebraska players are to greet each other Friday. Coach D. K. Bible suggested the phrase Thursday afternoon, when he told the men what they are up against in meeting the K-Aggies Saturday afternoon.

Relieving Chris Mathis of the signal calling role has transformed the Tecumseh mite into a dynamo of football energy. Now that Chris can give his entire attention to carrying the ball and blocking for other backs, he has been able to come thru at a time when he is needed because of the absence of George Sauer.

I'm going to enter dangerous waters with the prediction that Nebraska beats Kansas State. Also that both teams will score, perhaps twice. I hope that I am right about the Huskers winning.

Bruce Kibbourne, who have been bothered with injuries should be in good shape for the Saturday mix.
Starting the same lineup that took the field against Kansas last week, Coach Bible is counting on speed to make up for the Kansas' power. Bernie Masterson, back in harness after a short layoff, will open at quarter; Chris Mathis, left half; Lee Penney, right half, and Carlyle Staab, fullback. This quartet averages 164 pounds.
Kaggies Are Heavier.
John Roby and Steve Hokuf will be at the ends; Game Capt. Corwin Hulbert and Gail O'Brien at tackles; Clair Bishop and Warren Debus, guards, and Lawrence Ely, center, will compose the Nebraska forward wall.
Weight readings reveal only a slight margin in favor of the K-Aggie line. McMillin's boys averaging 185 pounds to 184 for the Cornhusker linemen. Graham, Russell, Breen and Bushby outweigh the Scarlet backs by sixteen pounds, however, this foursome weighing in at a flat 180 pound average.
Probable starting lineups:

State is the only team this season to record more than one touchdown against the Bollermakers.
George Sauer's loss will be keenly felt in the Aggie game, but the Nebraska coaching staff wishes to give the injury a complete rest in order that the ex-Lincoln high star will be in prime condition for the Pittsburgh game. Steve Hokuf and Bruce Kibbourne, who have been bothered with injuries should be in good shape for the Saturday mix.

According to reports from the city clerk's office a new high registration figure for Lincoln was set Wednesday when 1,216 new names and changes were added to the list. By Wednesday night 34,807 names were counted, breaking the previous record for this city. The goal has been set for 38,000 voters in Lincoln.
The national goal which has been set by the United States Junior chamber of commerce is 50,000,000 votes, or an increase of forty percent over the number of votes cast in the 1928 national election, Walker declared.
