VOL. XXXII—NO. 34. LINCOLN, NEBRASKA, TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 1, 1932. PRICE 5 CENTS.

REPRESENTATIVES TO SELL TICKETS FOR DAD DINNER

Innocents Society to Start Sale Wednesday of This Week.

PROGRAM NEARLY READY

Plan Luncheon in Honor of Fathers at Chamber of Commerce.

Tickets for the university's annual Dad's day luncheon, which will be held Saturday, Nov. 12, preceding the Pittsburgh game, will be placed on sale Wednesday of this week by the Innocents society, thru Interfraternity, Panhellenic and Barb council representatives. Additional tickets will be available any time in the Daily Nebraskan office.

Dad's day, sponsored annually by the Innocents society, traditionally features a luncheon and program at the chamber of commerce honoring dads. Fraternities and sororities are expected to conform to past custom this year in scheduling special dinners and smokers honoring their dads.

Students whose fathers and families come to Lincoln for Dad's day will be able to trade in their student tickets for seats in a section especially reserved for Dads and their sons and daughters, according to John K. Selleck, director of athletics.

"While the day is particularly meant to honor dads, students are urged to extend their invitations to their entire families," said Phil Brownell, chairman of the committee in charge of Dad's day.

Plan Special Edition.

A special edition of the Daily Nebraskan will be issued Thursday to be mailed out to the dads of every university student living out of Lincoln. Lincoln students are requested to see that their fathers be given these papers, and any students not subscribing to the paper may call at the Nebraskan office for a free copy, according to Brownell.

All organized houses on the campus have been asked to issue special invitations to fathers to come to Lincoln for the Pittsburgh game and the Dad's day celebration. The Dad's day committee also suggests that every student write a special invitation to his dad sometime this week, urging him to plan to come to Lincoln Nov. 12.

Desire Contacts.

The university is anxious that fathers especially have the opportunity to come intimately in contact with the university and get a definite idea of the institution to which they are sending their sons and daughters. Dad's day is sponsored by the Innocents society with this special idea of making a concerted effort to establish this medium of connection between students' fathers and the institution.

Speakers and entertainment will be included on the program of the Dad's day luncheon which will start at 11:45 Saturday and will be concluded shortly after 1 p. m., in order to allow everyone to get to the game on time. Announcement will be made later of the program, which is already nearly complete, according to Brownell.

POLITICAL CLUBS PLAN DISCUSSION OF PARTY ISSUES

Republicans, Democrats and Socialists to Meet With Speakers.

Unable to complete arrangements for the open forum discussion tentatively scheduled for today, representatives of the student Republican, Democratic and Socialist clubs have announced that in all probability the discussion will be held Thursday evening in Social Science auditorium.

Instead of having outside speakers to start the discussion, a student representative from each organization will be allowed ten minutes to present the main issues of his party campaign. The names of these student speakers have not as yet been announced with the exception of Charles Gray, president of the Socialist club, who will represent his organization. The order of the speakers will be determined by lot.

While the arrangements are yet incomplete, Gray indicated Monday evening that the three clubs were anxious to hold the discussion which is primarily for the benefit of the student body, he said. After the short opening speeches, the floor will be opened to questioners and any who desire to argue any of the issues with the speakers.

LEROSSIGNOL STATES CONFERENCE PURPOSE

College of Business Dean Says Delegates Seek Improvements.

The opinion of Dean J. E. LeRossignol, dean of the college of business administration, as to the purpose of the conference on farm problems, which is to be held Nov. 17, is expressed in his own words: "I will not say that anyone here can correct the present agricultural situation, but we are convening for the purpose of getting different points of view on the matter and ideas with reference to measures for improvement. Prices are very low, wheat having reached the lowest point that has been touched in years. However, we hope the corner has been turned."

One Day Only.

The conference is to last for one day only, during which time seven papers will be presented, and an opportunity given for discussion. Dean C. A. Phillips, of the commerce college at the University of Iowa and an expert on banking credit, will have something to offer. The morning session will be from 10 to 12, during which time Prof. T. L. Robb will be the chairman. Dean Le Rossignol will be chairman at the luncheon, and three speeches will be made then. The afternoon session will be conducted by Prof. G. O. Virtue.

Survey of University of Nebraska Graduates Indicates That College Education Helps With Job Getting

In a survey recently conducted to find the answer to "what becomes of the college graduate?" many interesting facts were revealed by the questionnaire sent out to the 1,319 men and women graduated from the university during the year 1932. Out of the 1,233 who replied 766 or 62 percent were men and the other 35 percent women.

From a cursory glance at the report one receives the impression that more graduate from the university because they are the breadwinners and a college education is supposed to make this task an easier one, while the women probably figure that their chances of getting a husband are about as good as if they stay at home.

41 Percent Had Jobs.

An important fact learned from this survey is that of the 766 men, 315 or 41 percent had jobs. The women's average was not so high with only 32.5 percent having jobs. For the class as a whole it is seen that four out of every ten who graduated last year received jobs. This average is small, but is greater than the percent of mass employed who received jobs last summer.

The Greeks seem to be borne out in their contention that their graduates are more likely to receive jobs than are the barb graduates because the survey shows

FIRST DAY SALES OF ANNUAL GOOD, MANAGER STATES

Staff Members, Tassels And Corn Cobs Push Campaign.

PLAN EXTENSIVE DRIVE

Magee's to Award Prize to Highest Salesman in Contest.

The opening sales drive for the 1933 Cornhusker which started on Monday morning and is to continue through Saturday, Nov. 5, is being handled by the Cornhusker business staff and members of the Tassels and the Corn Cobs. The first day's sales ran very good, Business Manager Charles Skade asserted when he had checked up yesterday evening.

The enthusiasm shown by the students during the first day of the campaign reveals that the price of the 1933 book, which is the lowest in the history of the Cornhusker, appeals to the prospective buyers. Skade stated that Nebraska's year book is the lowest priced annual of any like size book in the Big Six schools.

Expect New Record.

With the reduced price, the substantial discount for cash orders during the sale and the opportunity to buy on a convenient installment plan, sales are expected to reach a new record by the time the sale is terminated.

Signs have been placed at the most important points on the campus and booths are being main-

Students Hear Discussion of Vocations for Women at Ellen Smith.

Miss Towne outlined a number of points which she said women should consider before choosing their vocations. It would be well for the members of the vocational guidance group to study this outline, she said, before engaging in the personal interviews with professional people which are being arranged for them by Gertrude Clarke, leader of the group.

The speaker at the next meeting, scheduled for Nov. 8, will be Miss Catherine Dunn of the sociology department, who will discuss the field of social welfare work.

Committee to Consider Idea, Possibilities, Talent In Act.

Eighteen skits, entered by twenty-seven campus organizations, will be judged by the Kosmet Klub judging committee during the next three days for its annual Thanksgiving Morning Revue. Judging will be held Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday evenings.

No definite number of skits for the production has as yet been decided upon, Jack Thompson, chairman of the judging committee, stated yesterday. After all have been considered, the number will be decided upon and a time limit set.

Judging will be primarily upon the idea of the skit, its possibilities, and the talent used in the presentation of the act. The present condition of the act will be considered to some extent, but it is not expected that the skits will be in perfect shape.

COMMITTEE SETS TICKET PRICE OF MILITARY AFFAIR

Cadets Will Offer Ducat For Two Dollars to Annual Party.

BAND NOT YET SELECTED

Students Submit Plans for Presenting Honorary Colonel at Ball.

A price of two dollars per couple was announced for the annual military ball to be held Dec. 2 by the ticket sales committee of the military department Monday, after a completion of plans for the sales drive which will open the latter part of this week. Cadets who attend the party in uniform will be sold tickets at a special rate of $1.25, it was announced.

"In keeping with the spirit of economy which is being universally observed, the price of the annual ball has been reduced this year," Howard Mixon, chairman of the committee announced. "This has been done without affecting the quality of the affair, however, and we expect this year's party to be the equal of those given in the past."

The orchestra for the ball has not yet been selected, but announcement of the choice will be made within a few days, the committee declared. A survey conducted by the Daily Nebraskan last week in co-operation with the orchestra committee for the ball, revealed a unanimous sentiment among the few representative students interviewed in favor of hiring an out of town orchestra of national repute for this major party of the year, which inaugurates the university's formal season.

Twenty Plans Submitted.

About twenty plans for the presentation of the honorary colonel were opened by the committee in charge of the presentation ceremonies Monday afternoon. From this group the few best will be selected and passed on to Col. W. H. Oury who will select the winning idea to be used the night of the ball. The author of the accepted scheme will be announced at the ball after the presentation of the honorary colonel and will receive a cash prize of fifteen dollars.

A thoro system for the distribution of tickets has been devised by members of the committee. Juniors in the military unit, and staff officers will receive their tickets directly from headquarters. Other tickets will be given to company commanders who will be responsible for their sales and issuance. There will be three hundred tickets issued to each company. These will be sold on the campus and in the business district. Spectators will Chemical Engineers to Hold Berbecue Before Meeting.

The highway material technologist of the Skelly Oil company, George M. Mullins, is to be the guest speaker at the regular chemical engineers meeting to be held Thursday, Nov. 3, at 8 o'clock in the main lecture room at Chemistry hall.

The meeting is to be open and all the engineering students who are planning to attend the barbecue are urged to come to the meeting immediately afterward.

To Students of the University of Nebraska:

Next Sunday, November 6, is Go-to-Church Sunday at the University of Nebraska. This is a tradition of long standing at the University and I hope that many students who have not yet identified themselves with a church here, will attend the church of their choice this Sunday,—thus beginning to take an interest in the religious life of this community.

Such interest is not altogether unselfish. The greatest contribution that the college man or woman receives from religion and its accompanying service is undoubtedly an elevation of ideals. Religion has enriched the lives of thousands of young people and it will do the same thing for you.

To each one of you it may have a different meaning but I desire to pass along the suggestion that you atend church somewhere on next Sunday. The Lincoln churches welcome you.

CHANCELLOR E. A. BURNETT.
