'BEAT PITT' TO BE CORN COB MOTTO FOR RALLY WEEK

Organization Plans Series of Pep Meetings Before Panther Game.

"Beat Pitt" was the thought uppermost in the minds of the Corn Cobs when they met Wednesday night and laid plans for a whole week of pre-game rallies.

School spirit gave indications of undergoing a marked revival after the pep organization meeting. According to tentative proposals, short pep sessions will be held at various times during the day all next week.

"For the past three years, Corn Cobs have borne the brunt of campus scorn because of their failure to get behind rallies properly," President Bob Pilling stated late Wednesday night. "But now we are going to show the whole school, the city, and the state just what Corn Cobs mean to the university."

Spirited discussion from the floor pointed to the necessity for a Pitt defeat this year if the school's football prestige is to be maintained. The motion to back "Rally Week" passed without a dissenting vote.

Push Cornhusker Sale. An appeal for members of the organization to help push the Cornhusker sale better than in past years was also laid before the pepsters at their Wednesday meeting, held at the Delta Sigma Lambda house.

A motion to fine representatives missing meetings was also passed by the group. A fine of fifty cents for each meeting missed was passed, the absent members to lose their privilege of attending the annual spring rally if the absence be twice repeated.

It was also announced that the group Cornhusker picture of the organization will be taken Friday evening at 5. Members were urged to appear in uniform for the picture.

BARB COUNCIL TO DONATE PROCEEDS FOR DECORATIONS

Organization Backs Plan of Innocents for Coliseum.

CUT PRICES AT PARTIES

Dixie Ramblers to Play for Next Dad's Day.

Proceeds from All-University parties this year will go into the fund for permanently decorating the coliseum, the Barb council decided at a meeting Wednesday night.

Declaring themselves heartily in favor of the plan advanced by the Innocents society last week, council members were enthusiastic about their part in the project.

"As sponsors of the All-University parties we have long felt the necessity for such decorations," said Jack Coupland, council president, "and we will make every effort to make this year's parties successful enough to permit a large contribution to the decorations fund."

Coupland pointed out that the greater number of students attending future parties, the greater the chance for a large surplus at the end of the year. He also explained that since decorations for this year's affairs have already been arranged for, they will be continued as in the past.

Next Party on Nov. 12. The next All-University party will be held on the evening of Dad's Day, Saturday, Nov. 12. Arrangements completed at the Wednesday evening meeting of the council indicate that the party will be the biggest so far held, according to Coupland.

Red Perkins and his Dixie Ramblers will play, and the field house will be decorated in blue and white to aid the acoustic effect and harmonize with the orchestra seating.

In keeping with the trend to reduce student social expenditure, the council Tuesday announced a reduction of prices to thirty-five cents for men and twenty-five cents for women.

"We wish to stress that this party is for every student on the campus, Greek and barb alike," the council announced Wednesday.

ADVANCE TICKET SALE FOR IOWA GAME LIGHT

Ducats for Week-End Tussle Available Until Friday.

RESERVE SPECIAL TRAIN Tickets to the Nebraska-Iowa game are now on sale in the office of John K. Selleck, director of athletics and student activities, according to an announcement issued by that office Wednesday. Tickets in the reserved section for the game are selling for $2.75, including tax, and may be secured until Friday evening of this week.

Reservations on the special train being run for the Cornhusker-Hawkeye game by the Rock Island Lines are now open. The reservations may be obtained at the Rock Island ticket offices. Round trip fares for the game from Lincoln to Iowa City are selling at $8.80 in the coaches and $11.98 in the pullmans. The train leaves Lincoln at 12:35 a. m. Nov. 5, and arrives at 9:40 the same morning. The train will return to Lincoln about 9:00 Sunday morning.

Reports from the student activities office indicate that advance sales for the game are very light. The reason for the small sale is attributed to the fact that the trip offers little more than the game and to the huge representation at the Kansas-Nebraska game which undoubtedly drained the pocketbooks of Husker followers.

Columbia To Take Part In Transoceanic Debate

A transoceanic debate, with Columbia university orators on one side of the Atlantic and Cambridge speakers on the other, this week was scheduled for the night of Dec. 17. The question to be debated will be announced shortly.

OPENING DATE OF 'AS HUSBANDS GO' MOVED TO NOV. 14

New York Dramatic Critics Comment Favorably on Production.

"As Husbands Go," the next play to be given by the University Players, will start the week of November 14, instead of November 7, and run continuously to Saturday, November 19, according to Miss H. Alice Howell, director of the players.

Written by Rachel Crothers, prominent author, "As Husbands Go" is a comparatively new play. It first appeared on the New York stage in 1931, where after a long run in the John Golden theater, it was reviewed by New York critics as being an exceptionally successful play.

Contrast Minds. The play concerns the homecoming of two old ladies from Dubuque after a summer vacation in Paris, where they not only fell in love with the city itself but two Parisian gigolos as well. When they return to the United States the gigolos come with them, and the audience is treated to a view of European and American minds.

According to Mark Van Doren, who reviewed the play in The Nation, "The new comedy by Rachel Crothers, 'As Husbands Go' will undoubtedly have the success Miss Crothers usually has. It is full of clever lines, nice people, clear sentiment, and an intelligent perception."

Francis Fergusson of the Bookman says "Miss Crothers' new play is both sane and realistic. She tells the familiar tale of American women who are bored with the men they know at home and go to Europe in search of excitement and understanding."

The cast for the new play has not been announced as yet, according to Miss Howell but will probably be next week. According to Charles Hoff, business manager of the Players, a few good seats are still available for each night.

PARADE AND RALLY ARE PLANS FOR ARMISTICE

Classes Will Be Dismissed At Noon So Students May Participate.

A huge Armistice day program is scheduled for Friday, Nov. 11, the day preceding Dad's day and the Pittsburgh-Nebraska game. Col. W. C. Oury said in a statement issued Wednesday. The day's events will include a parade of the whole F. O. T. C. corps and a football rally in the stadium following the downtown parade.

All university classes will be dismissed at 12 o'clock noon in order that all students may participate in the program, Oury said. Although definite plans as to the line of march and parade formations have not as yet been set, the parade will compare favorably with the Armistice day program of last year.

"It is my prediction," Colonel Oury declared, "that this program this year will surpass any parade of previous years."

First Call at 1:15. First call for the parade will be made at 1:15 Friday afternoon and assembly at 1:30. Announcement of the order of the parade will be made later as plans have not been completed for the arrangement of the regiment.

Plans to divide the university band into three units have been temporarily devised and the entire (Continued on Page 2.)

WICKER AWARDED BROWN DERBY TO WEAR FOR WEEK

Raymond Wicker of Grand Island was voted the traditional brown derby by law freshmen for the coming week. The crack that qualified him for the award was his contention that marriage was a necessity of life.

Wicker succeeds Bud McBride as possessor of the derby and his classmates threatened punishment if he didn't wear the derby more than McBride did. McBride got away with his disregard of the tradition chiefly because he has had more experience in the college of law than most of the freshmen this year.

POLITICAL CLUBS TO HOLD JOINT MEETING

Open Forum Discussion to Follow Statement of Stands.

The open forum of the three organized political groups on the campus will be held at 7:30 in the Social Science auditorium tonight. Those who attend will be able to question the speakers and participate in a discussion of the fundamental principles of the three political parties.

All the student speakers will present the main issues and their respective party stands on those issues, in ten minute allotments of time. Charles Steadman will undertake to convert the spectators into republicans by discussing his party's platform informing the people what the republicans have done and what they will do for the country if given the chance at the polls on Nov. 6.

Howard Holtzendorf, democrat, will represent his party on the platform. He will present the democratic stand on the main issues, being prepared to present a comprehensive statement of his party's reason for a desire of a change in administration this November.

SOCIETY TO SEND DAILY NEBRASKAN TO STUDENT DADS

Innocents Sponsor Invitation of All Fathers For Celebration.

PLAN SPECIAL SECTION Luncheon Program Features Two Speeches by Fathers.

Today's edition of the Daily Nebraskan is printed in co-operation with the Innocents society to be sent to the fathers of every Nebraska student in this state and surrounding states for the purpose of telling every dad that he is especially invited to Lincoln to visit his son or daughter on Saturday, Nov. 12, and participate in the varied program of activities scheduled for that day.

Foremost in the line of attractions will be the Nebraska-Pittsburgh game to be played in Memorial stadium on Saturday. When Nebraska meets Pittsburgh the Cornhuskers will not only be playing the hardest game of their entire schedule, but they will be fighting to avenge the severe 40 to 0 whitewash which they suffered last year at Pittsburgh.

Students Enthusiastic. Student enthusiasm is already beginning to be in evidence in anticipation for the game, and no better entertainment could be offered to the visiting dads than the Panther-Cornhusker tilt, in the opinion of student sport followers.

Preceding the game, which starts promptly at 2 o'clock, the Innocents society will sponsor its annual Dad's Day luncheon at the chamber of commerce. Every student whose dad is visiting that weekend is expected to bring his dad to the luncheon, which will start at 11:45 and will let out about 1 o'clock to allow everyone plenty of time to get to the stadium for the kickoff. From the chamber of commerce it is planned to have the students and their dads march to (Continued on Page 3.)

STUDENTS ARE INVITED TO ATTEND CHURCHES

Sunday Designated as All University Church Day By Chancellor.

Special invitations to attend church next Sunday, Nov. 6, will be issued to all University of Nebraska students this week in order that each may have an opportunity to be present at one of the many student programs to be given in the Lincoln churches observing annual All University Church Day.

The following statement was issued by Rev. Ray E. Hunt, president of the Lincoln Ministerial association: To all Students of the University of Nebraska: In the name of the churches of the city of Lincoln, I desire to extend a hearty and sincere welcome to our services of public worship on All University Church Sunday.

In these churches you will find the clarifying and motivating experience of worship and keen visioned interpreters of the spiritual life. They also offer the opportunity of making worthwhile friendships with the residents of the city. Believing that the greatest good comes from a definite relationship with a local church, we urge you to seek a church, preferably among the several of the communion with which you (Continued on Page 3.)

Activities Lucrative to Students At Many Schools But No Longer at Nebraska, Feature Author Declares

College students came in for another round of panning in the feature section of the Sunday Journal and Star, it being alleged by a Mary M. Zoretzkie the writer of the feature article that those young people attending universities go in for various and sundry methods of obtaining funds, or rather saving those spondulix which they haven't got. Those roughened to the hard old world call these means to ends, o-rackets, and when we think of rackets we think of Al Capone.

According to the critic the primary racket is that of campus politics, by means of participation in which offices of ease and full coffers are derived. No doubt it is implied that money is waiting in barrels for the fellow who shakes the right hands or finds a good drag. It looks like attending college is good practice for the big struggle after graduation. A snappy new word was coined by Miss Zoretzkie to take care of the political phase and the election to offices. She says there is a gift in the jobs in a large number of cases, referring to the proceeds which "just escape being graft but are far from being gifts."

According to the article there are some universities on the continent where collegians find it possible to fork over $10 for a dance. Our Military hall last year set one back $2.50 so it seems that this campus doesn't qualify for criti-

As a matter of fact there was a time on the University of Nebraska campus when student activities were almost as lucrative for those who held down the commanding positions as the spectacular feature article asserts they still are at other institutions. Tales of the large "bonuses" which business managers of the Daily Nebraskan and Cornhusker pocketed at the end of the year are not entirely imaginative. And not so long ago the senior president was able to make a handsome profit from senior invitations. But this is no longer the case, for the student finances are under the control and watchful eye of the Student Activities office, and what with the close checking of accounts, grafting is impossible if anything is. In the past there (Continued on Page 4.)

Dear Dads: The university as a whole, the Innocents society, and the various organizations on the campus are issuing special invitations to every student's father to come to Lincoln for Dads Day, Nov. 12. A number of attractive inducements are being advertised for the weekend of Nov. 12, in an effort to arouse your interest and make it really worth your while to be here. But we know that the invitation that will really get you here is the personal invitation from your own son or daughter, and that the inducement that will really attract you is the opportunity to see the things your children are interested in and closely associated with. It is for that reason particularly that the Innocents society welcomes you and urges you to make a special effort to be here. If your own son or daughter neglects to write to you, kindly excuse them on the grounds that they are very busy and sometimes forgetful. Consider this a personal invitation to be here Nov. 12. THE INNOCENTS SOCIETY.
