Overcoats

We don't claim that the prices are unusual-you've seen overcoats and suits at this price before . . . But nowhere have you seen such fabrics-expensive fabrics, if you please, such as Broadbrook Silverdown coatings and Penn State Twist suitings-and with it all you are assured of good, substantial Magee standard of tailoring. We're now buying suits for Spring, 1933; we know that fabrics are 5% to 10% higher for next season. This is the lowest price that will be available for fabrics of this quality in hand tailored suits and overcoats.

ALL ONE PRICE

THE OVERCOATS FABRICS

Lustrous fleeces in rich greys and dressy blues; Broadbrook Silverdowns -a new fabric with all the wear of a boucle, yet smartly different in appearance; genuine Broadbrock Boucles, the accepted standard of quality curl fabrics. Two numbers in the California weight for the man who Ikes a medium heavy coat.

STYLES

This season has awakened a great interest in Polo type coats-great, full belted ulsters that please the young fellows-they're here in this showing. Double breasted half belted coats that have their place on every varsity campus.

THE SUITS FABRICS

Penn State worsted twists are durable, shape retaining fabrics that make ideal suits for business menthey're here in blue and brown colors, Dark unfinished worsteds are popular for young fellows who want a dressy suit for all kinds of wear. We know that you'll quickly recognize good values when you see this assortment.

STYLES

This season has been characterized by the wide spread acceptance of the double breasted style of suit-so wa have included this popular style, How-ever, trim, single breasted easy fitting styles for business men can't be beat and this prevailing style is here in quantities-also a few drape suits for the knowing young fellow.
