SCHOOL TO OBSERVE ARMISTICE SIGNING WITH PARADE TODAY

Classes Dismissed at Noon For R. O. T. C. Ceremony Through Town.

Co-operating with city officials and numerous civic organizations in the observance of the fourteenth anniversary of the signing of the Armistice, the university will take part in the afternoon ceremonies, Chancellor E. A. Burnett has announced.

Classes will be dismissed at noon. The R. O. T. C. unit will take part in the parade through the downtown streets starting about 1:30. The R. O. T. C. band, divided into four units, will also participate in the procession.

The unit will assemble on the campus at 1:20 and join the other units of the parade at 15th and N streets. The parade will march from 15th west on O to 9th, north on 9th to P, east on P to 14th. At that point the university unit will leave the parade to march to the stadium.

A football rally and review will be held on the football field after the parade. The program will consist of cheering led by varsity cheer leaders, and a review honoring the coaches and football squad.

LAWRENCE MAY CARRY VOTE

Editor of Star Considered Probable Member of College.

James E. Lawrence, associate professor of journalism, and editor of the Lincoln Star is the most likely member of the Nebraska electoral college, to transport the seven electoral votes to Washington, according to an Omaha press dispatch.

The seven electoral members for Nebraska include: Harvey Newbranch, Omaha; J. E. Lawrence, Lincoln; Mrs. Effie M. Byers, Hastings; James Quigley, Valentine; William P. Cowan, Stanton; Frank M. Calfer, McCook; and Frank F. Farrell, Colfax county. These electors will meet next month to choose one member messenger to carry Nebraska votes to Washington. Nebraskans did not vote for either Roosevelt or Hoover but for the seven members of the electoral college.

"Sosh," Rally Ground Today, Once Quartered 800 Troops in Training

How many of the collegians who rally in front of "Sosh" today know that the building before which they're standing once furnished barracks for some of the 1,500 students who in the war days of 1918 were members of the S. A. T. C. (Student Army Training Corps) and as such were preparing for active service overseas? Yet Social Sciences hall, just erected and still with the scaffolding about it, served that very purpose. Students will rally in the building today, but the number is negligible when compared with those who slept there in the fall of 1918, for there were over 800 quartered there.

Sleeping in Sosh or in the Armory, which was also transformed into barracks, eating in a mess hall in the Temple, and drilling on the old athletic field, now the site of the stadium) was the order of the day for these student-soldiers. Theoretically their time was to be evenly divided between "educational" and "military" work. War aims and tactics were allotted twenty-four hours each week, and an equal number of hours were to be spent on those academic subjects which the student elected from the

For Peace

The years of the War and the years since the War are probably as eventful as any you will ever see. In your student lifetimes you have been witnesses of a world struggle unequalled in purpose or intensity. You have seen the Armistice, you have lived through a panic, you have witnessed the unexampled rise of a great prosperity, and then another depression. Many nations have fallen and risen again. You have been living in times that will be history indeed.

The older among you will remember vividly those closing days of the war, those hours of earnest scanning of the newspapers, the anxiety, the rumors, and finally the Armistice and victory, with its bonfires, its whistles, and the relief in every heart.

To many of you the years of the war are remembered as only a misty haze. But those with a little more of life's experience recall that they were years of idealism of purpose and willingness of purpose and willingness to sacrifice in order that justice might encompass the earth. On this Armistice Day, fourteen years after the close of the war, let us dedicate ourselves to the same ideal.

YEARBOOK CAMPAIGN CLOSING TODAY AT 5

Discontinue Special Rates After Friday Says Manager Skade.

Emphasizing that with the close of the sale, books will no longer be obtainable at the special campaign price, Charles Skade, business manager of the Cornhusker, yesterday urged all students who have not yet purchased an annual to take advantage of the offer.

The sale will close today at 5 o'clock, according to Skade. After that time the sale prices will be discontinued, and the profit-sharing plan, in the event that one thousand copies are sold, will be put into application, the business manager stated.

Members of the business and editorial staffs of the publication, in addition to members of other campus organizations, are handling the sale. A prize of twenty-five dollars worth of merchandise will be awarded by Magee's to the student selling the greatest number of books.

INNOCENTS EXPECT LARGE ATTENDANCE AT DADS DAY FETE

Varied Program Is Planned For Annual Luncheon Saturday Noon.

With an unusually large number of dads expected in Lincoln Saturday for the Pittsburgh game, the Innocents society is preparing for one of the largest Dads Day luncheons Saturday noon at the chamber of commerce that has ever been held, the committee in charge announced Friday.

The completed program, includes several short introductory talks by Chancellor E. A. Burnett, and several members of the board of regents, a speech by W. C. Rindin of Wahoo, entertainment by Joyce Ayres and his eleven piece orchestra, an initiation ceremony for dads into Delta Alpha Delta, and a pre-game rally led by Jack Minor, cheerleader.

The luncheon and program are timed to let out shortly after 1 o'clock, the committee announced, so that all who attend will have time to get to the stadium before the kickoff at 2 p. m. Dads and sons and daughters can sit together in the stadium in a special section reserved for them, according to John K. Selleck, students being permitted to trade in their own tickets for seats in this section.

Tickets are on sale by members of Panhellenic, Interfraternity, and Barb councils and at The Daily Nebraskan office. A limited number will be on sale at the chamber of commerce Saturday.

GROUPS TO HONOR SERVICE FLAG AT SALUTE SATURDAY

Parade Will Form on Field For Ceremony Before Start of Game.

Pershing Rifles, Tassels, the R. O. T. C. band and the cadet colonel and his staff will participate in the annual salute to the Nebraska Service flag which will be held in front of the stadium immediately before the beginning of the Nebraska-Pittsburgh game Saturday. The Rifles will fire a volley of three rounds in honor of the flag following which taps will be played by the buglers, of the band.

A parade led by the band will march from the south end of the field to the north end where the salute will be made. The Pershing Rifles and the Tassels carrying the flag will follow the band.

"While taps is being played, the students should take off their hats and hold them over their left breast as a courtesy," stated Captain Scott of the military department.

AG TEAMS ENTRAIN FRIDAY

Judging Squads Compete at Kansas City Saturday In Exposition.

The senior livestock judging team and the meats judging team will leave Friday to participate in the American Royal Livestock show being held Saturday at Kansas City. Prof. M. A. Alexander, coach of the senior livestock team will take with him Vernon Miller, Farm House; John Martin, Alpha Gamma Rho; Wayne Bishop; Reuben Hecht, Alpha Gamma Rho; Floyd Hedlund, Farm House; La Verne Sengrid, Farm House; and George Harrison. Six will compete. The meat judging team, under the direction of Prof. W. J. Loeffel, is composed of Hedlund, Bishop, and Miller.

The crops judging team, coached by Prof. A. Frolik, has already left for the exposition and includes Murray Brawner, Elver Hodges, Roy Blazer, and Gerald Mott, alternates.

CAMPUS KEYED UP FOR EASTERNERS

Rallies Thruout Day Come To Climax at Coliseum Eve Pep Fest.

Hanging from a gallows beam in front of Social Science hall, the body of the Pitt Panther swayed Thursday awaiting the application of the torch Friday morning at 11 o'clock when students will gather to watch flames consume the effigy.

Climaxing a week of rally spirit in preparation for the game with Pitt, who inflicted the worst defeat on the Cornhuskers last year in the history of Nebraska football, the largest all-student rally of the year will be conducted in the coliseum at 7:30 Friday evening. Coaches Bible and Schulte, and Dr. G. E. Condra are the scheduled speakers, and the entire football team will be present.

At 6:50 a parade, forming in front of the Temple, will march behind the band and the massed pep organizations to the Coliseum by way of R street to fraternity-sorority row, thence to Vine and to the field house.

Immediately following the Armistice Day parade early Friday afternoon, for which classes will be dismissed, the R. O. T. C. regiment and band will march to the stadium where a uniform military rally will be conducted.

Coach Bible indicated Thursday that the team appreciated the large amount of student enthusiasm displayed thruout the week. "Such encouragement," he said, "adds a large measure of resolution to the team members, but it is far more effective in attaining its end if this spirit is confined to organized displays such as are planned for Friday afternoon and evening."

AXLING SPEAKS TONIGHT

Noted Graduate Will Address Friendship Banquet at Christian Church.

In honor of all foreign students on the campus, the fifth annual international friendship banquet will be held Friday night at the First Christian church.

Need More Girls to Sell for Pitt Game

More girls are needed to sell concessions at the games, according to Jean Alden, in charge of sales. Girls interested may still sign up on the list in the Armory. All present salesmen are requested to report promptly at 1:30 Saturday. Hot dogs will be sold at the game as well as candy, apples and hot popcorn.

Omaha Band, Rooters Coming for Pitt Game

Accompanied by a thirty-two piece band, 200 members of the South Omaha Livestock Commission will renew their annual pilgrimage to a Cornhusker football game Saturday, coming here in a body to witness the Pittsburgh game. The tradition was inaugurated in 1906 and for twenty-six years the visitors have watched the Scarlet emerge victorious.

HUSKERS FULL OF FIGHT

Team in Fine Condition for Panther Tilt Saturday At the Stadium.

Brimming over with fight and enthusiasm, two Husker teams concluded practice for the week Thursday with a sparkling signal drill as the final step in preparation for their inter-sectional game

Lawrence Ely, at razor edge.

Courtesy, Journal. both physically and mentally for Dr. John B. Sutherland's undefeated outfit from Pittsburgh. Bruce Kilbourne's knee is still giving trouble, but the injury is not so severe that it will prevent him from getting into the fray.

Altho pre-game forecast naturally favors the Golden Panthers because of their great record this season, the Cornhuskers have gone at their workouts this week with such unusual vigor that it has brought smiles of satisfaction to Coach Bible and his aides. New plays, pass defense and tackling have come in for considerable emphasis, and with Sauer and Mathis back in the lineup it should be a much stronger Nebraska eleven.

Must Stop Pitt Stars.

Linemen have been studying the play of the Panther forward wall and also the deceptive running of Heller and Sebastian, star Pitt backs. Fast, alert play characterizes the Pittsburgh team which has victories over Army, Notre Dame and Pennsylvania this fall.

Game Captain Lawrence Ely will lead the Huskers into the game Saturday, in which Nebraska hopes to reverse last year's 40 to 0 trimming at Pittsburgh. It was the worst defeat in Scarlet grid history.

Revised weight statistics show that Coach Bible's team holds a slight advantage. The Cornhusker line averages 185 pounds to 184 for Pitt, while the Nebraska backfield tips the scales at 181 to 179 for the Panthers.

Jack Miller, 177 pound ball lugger will start at right halfback Saturday, Coach Bible indicated yesterday. Bernie Masterson, Chris Mathis and George Sauer will complete the backfield, with Tater Fahrbruch and Hub Boswell certain to see plenty of action.

Probable starting lineups:
Nebraska— (170) Fenney (170) (162) Dailey Hulbert (187) (185) Caha Bishop (162) (179) Hartwig Ely (AC) (197) (181) Torney Dobus (171) (190) Under O'Brien (206) (197) Walton Hokuf (195) (185) Skladany Masterson (190) (189) Hogan Mathis (147) (169) Heller Miller (177) (165) Sebastian Sauer (197) (194) Weinstock
