TEXAS LONGHORNS TO OPEN 1933 SCHEDULE

Austin School Plays Game
At Lincoln; Boasts
Classy Team.

University of Texas Longhorns will open the Nebraska grid schedule next fall at Lincoln, it was announced Thursday morning at the athletic department office.

With the signing of the Texas game which occurred Wednesday night at Austin, the Husker schedule makers have concluded the state of home games. Four state universities will play at Memorial stadium in 1933, the list including Texas, Kansas, Iowa and Oklahoma.

Head Coach Dana X. Bible declared Thursday that a fifth tilt away from home may be secured, which would fill out the nine game schedule undertaken in the last few years. Negotiations are underway with several schools on the Pacific coast and in the south, but Bible asserted that "only a representative team" would be signed.

The contract with Texas U. will be a one-year pact. University of Nebraska officials have not as yet received formal notification of the contract from the Austin school.

It was the Longhorns who administered a 65 to 0 drubbing to Missouri this fall, and took Oklahoma into camp by a 17 to 10 score, so the Cornhuskers will undoubtedly be playing a first class team next fall.
