

Nebraska Cagers Commence Their Practice

HUSKER BASKETBALL DRILLS SWNG INTO STRIDE THIS WEEK

Coach Browne Will Reduce Squad to 15 Early Next Week.

With Saturday's game against Southern Methodist at Dallas writing finis to Cornhusker football competition this year, eyes of sport enthusiasts are turning to Coach W. Harold Browne and basketball prospects at Nebraska for the 1932-33 season.

Browne, former mentor of championship Lincoln high cage teams was appointed last summer to succeed Charles T. Black as head of the Husker courtmen. Fans will be watching with keen interest "Brownie's" work with the Nebraska cagers this winter.

To aid him in fashioning a quintet that is facing one of the best schedules in years, Browne has six major lettermen and a single minor award winner returning for the campaign. In addition there are half a dozen sophomores in suit that compose one of the classiest freshman groups the school has seen in some years.

Daily Drills Now.

Basket workouts swung into full stride this week when Browne ordered daily drills, and beginning next week he will be able to give undivided attention to the squad. Harold Petz will be in charge of the frosh.

Twenty men have been reporting for the twice a week practices that have been in progress for three weeks, while Sauer, Hokuf, Boswell, Copple, Fahrnbuch and Eldridge will swell this group still more. The first cut will be made early next week, when the squad will be reduced to about fifteen.

From last year's five, Walt Henrion, forward and center; Ken Lunney, scrappy forward, Paul Mason, who played a fine game at guard; Hubert Boswell, forward and Lee Copple, center, will be back. Add to this group Steve Hokuf, an all Big Six guard from the 1930 team and George Sauer, a minor letterman from the 1931 outfit.

Among the outstanding sophomores who have been showing good form in early workouts are Charles "Chuck" Williams, a forward from Warsaw, Ind., George Wahluquist, forward and a former Hastings high star; Robert Belka, guard from Crete; Bud Parsons, Jackson, who has been exhibiting plenty of talent at a forward position and Keith Eno, former College View player. The latter is a center.

The Huskers start off the schedule with the University of Arkansas Dec. 16 at the coliseum.

UNIVERSITY SWIMMING MEET STARTS TODAY

Vogeler Hopes Large Group Will Be On Hand for Opening Events.

Swimmers will get their first taste of competition in the all-university swimming meet this afternoon when the 100-yard free style, 100-yard breaststroke and fancy diving events will be run off at the coliseum pool starting at 5 o'clock.

Friday afternoon will see the completion of the annual tourney, with the staging of the 50 and 220-yard freestyles and the 100-yard backstroke races. Gold and silver intramural medals go to the winner and runnerup in each event.

Varsity lettermen are not eligible to compete, which leaves the field entirely open. Swimming Coach Rudy Vogeler is anxious that a large group be on hand for the opening round this afternoon.

Lawrence Ely, Grand Island, for three years a regular at the center position on Nebraska football teams, leads his Husker teammates in the naming of All-American elevens showered on the country by famous and some not so famous sports writers and press associations during the past week.

Selected on every Big Six conference team that has come to this writer's attention, Ely is receiving national recognition by a post on the New York Sun first eleven. It is the first time a Cornhusker football man has been named on an All-American first team by the Sun since Ed Weir won a place at tackle in 1925. The United Press association placed Ely at center on their second team, Clarence Gracey, Vanderbilt star, winning out over Ely by a narrow margin. Bill Corum, an International News Service sports columnist also chose the Cornhusker on his first string.

Steve Hokuf, veteran wingman, has come in for considerable mention, the Crete blonde getting first team nominations to an all-western eleven chosen by Francis Powers and a mid-western team selected by Dr. Clarence Spears, University of Wisconsin coach. Lawrence Ely received the center designation on both lineups.

It will be interesting to note the Associated Press selections which will be announced soon. Bernard of Michigan and Gracey of Vanderbilt have been Ely's most serious competitors for the pivot position some lists leaving one of the trio completely off their three teams while the same player wins the first team post on another all star team.

Any Big Six mythical eleven that does not include Chris Mathis of Nebraska doesn't do justice to the slipperiest halfback in the conference this year. Unlike most small ball carriers, Mathis is a terror on defense. He is a fine blocker and a deadly tackler. His play was consistently good in every game with the exception of the Oklahoma battle. With all this to recommend him, Chris certainly deserves a rating with the best backs in the Big Six fold.

Corwin Hulbert is the fourth senior on the Cornhusker squad who has been the recipient of all-conference honors. He was named at one of the tackle positions on most of the selections. Nebraska can't help but miss Ely, Hokuf, Mathis and Hulbert next season. They are a fine foursome that would be a great help to any school's football team.

SPEER PLANS RIFLE TEAM COMPETITION

Forty Men Are Eligible for Tryouts in Andrews Hall Next Week.

Competition for places on the varsity rifle team will take place next week at the rifle range in the basement of Andrews hall according to Major Charles A. Speer, who is coach of the rifle team. Forty men are eligible for these tryouts.

At the beginning of the year 127 men turned out for the team and all but forty of these have been eliminated by competition. These forty have been divided into eight teams which will compete in team matches next week to determine the varsity team. Sergeant McGimsey who is in charge of the rifle range has worked out a schedule of matches for these teams.

Each member of the four teams with the highest team scores will receive medals. A medal will be awarded to the individual high man of both the new and the old men and to the individual with highest score standing and another for the highest score sitting in each of these groups.

Three varsity letter men are returning this year for competition for the team. The men are: Howard Mixson, Don Pirie and Richard Nicholson.

Plan Postal Matches.

Major Speer, the new coach of the rifle team was transferred this year from Fort Warren, Wyo. Major Speer has planned thirty-eight dual postal matches for the varsity rifle team this year. In addition the team will participate in the National Rifle association match, Missouri valley conference match, Hearst trophy match, and the corps area R. O. T. C. match. Last year the varsity won thirty-five of the forty-five scheduled dual meets and the Missouri valley conference match. This year over 120 men have tried out for the rifle varsity.

There will be several freshman N. R. A. postal matches and a Missouri valley conference shoulder-to-shoulder meet.

CHURCHES ORGANIZE TEAMS

Intramural League Sponsors Eleven Student Quintets For Basketball.

Athletic managers of the Lincoln church intramural league have organized a basketball league consisting of eleven teams. Four more are expected to be organized.

All teams are composed of university students, and the league is attempting to give more men an opportunity to participate in athletics, especially those who do not have a chance to play with fraternnity or school teams. Games will not start until after the Christmas holidays, giving the team managers plenty of time to practice and get their teams organized.

BARBS TO ORGANIZE TEAMS

Athletic Managers Will Meet To Form a League for Unaffiliated Men.

Barb athletic managers will meet Thursday at Rudolph Vogeler's office to organize a basketball league for unaffiliated students. This attempt to permit men who do not have the opportunity to participate in intramural sports thru fraternities or other organizations to do so anyway is being introduced for the first time at Nebraska to promote unity among them.
