J. T. COFFEE WRITES FEATURE ARTICLE OF NEW AWGWAN ISSUE

Former Student Contributes 'Wyoming Retrospect' In January Comic.

"Wyoming Retrospect," a story by J. T. Coffee, writer for the Awgwan last year, will feature the interfraternity ball issue of the Awgwan which will be published Jan. 30. Mr. Coffee has been spending this year in the oil fields of Wyoming. His story is about Wyoming characters and is written in their dialect.

The cover of the January issue which is drawn by Marjorie Quivey, portrays an entrance scene of the interfraternity ball. Two pages of cartoons showing typical scenes of the month by the combined art staff will also appear in the magazine.

A girl of the month as well as a page of sophomores 'that everyone should know' will be one of the many features in the interfraternity ball number. A fashion page by Katharine Howard, a cartoon by Morris Gordon, and a story by Art Wolf will also appear in this number.

"When the Cat's Away, the Maestro a Party," a story by Homer Roland will also be one of the features of the January Awgwan.

Rait Outlines Construction Of Building in January Magazine Issue.

An outline of the features and plans of the Rockefeller Center enterprise, which is now in the process of construction in New York city, is one of the feature articles of the January number of the Blueprint, engineering college publication, which went on sale yesterday. The article is written by Robert A. Rait, a senior in civil engineering. It contains a summary of the outstanding facts concerning the projects, the construction plan, and details of the construction of the various buildings in the center.

Other feature articles include a discussion on the use of electricity in stimulating the growth of plants, written by John M. Clema, who graduated from the college of electrical engineering in 1930 and is (Continued on Page 2.)

MEMORIAL SERVICE HELD FOR FOSSLER

Faculty Members Eulogize Late Professor at Ceremonies.

The memorial service for the late Prof. Lawrence Fossler, head of the German department of the University of Nebraska, held at All Souls Unitarian church Sunday morning, was attended by many of his students, associates and faculty members who gathered to honor his memory. Dr. A. L. Weatherly, pastor of the church, read letters from Walter Locke and Charles Allen, both of whom belonged to the same Walking club of which Professor Fossler was a member.

Several faculty members and the chancellor of the university were on the program. Among those who eulogized Professor Fossler and related their associations with him were Chancellor Burnett, Dr. H. J. Lehnhoff, Mrs. J. S. Hyatt, Prof. L. E. Aylsworth, Dr. Laura B. Pfeiffer, Miss Louise Merz and Dr. Wilhelm Pfeiler.

ECONOMY IS KEYNOTE OF FRATERNITY BALL

Decoration Expense Cut to Minimum for Annual Formal Party.

Decorations for the annual Interfraternity Ball, scheduled for Saturday, Feb. 4, in the coliseum, will be an inexpensive as is feasible for the occasion, John Gepson, member of the committee in charge of decorations, declared yesterday.

The general theme will be representative of the organization sponsoring the event, the Interfraternity Council, and of the Greek letter fraternities on the campus. Original plans for decorating the coliseum were abandoned because of excessive expense, according to members of the committee.

Present plans call for reproductions of fraternity emblems to be placed around the entire floor of the coliseum, as the whole floor will be used for dancing. Details of the plan will be released at a later date, Gepson announced.

Donate All Proceeds.

COED FOLLIES WILL BE STAGED FEB. 17

Pick Best Dressed Girl At Annual Style Festival.

Announcement was made Monday afternoon by Lucille Reilly that the annual Coed Follies sponsored by the A. W. S. board would be held Friday night, Feb. 17, in the Temple theater. At this affair the best dressed girl is selected from among those selected for their respective sororities. Margaret Graham, Kappa Alpha Theta, won the contest last year.

Interspersed between the various parts of the style show will be a number of acts put on by various groups of girls on the campus. Following a fashion parade, the winner of the style show will be announced.

Eleanor Dixon is in charge of arrangements for the affair.

Y. W. PLANS FIVE VESPER SERVICES ON LOVE, MARRIAGE

A series of five vespers on love and marriage beginning the second semester and running for five weeks from Jan. 31 to Feb. 28, have been arranged as the program during that period, according to Gertrude Clarke, of the Y. W. C. A., in charge.

The Reverend Hunt, pastor of the First Christian church, will be the speaker at the five vespers. The five meetings include the topics: Jan. 31, "We Go A-wooing;" Feb. 7, "The Marriage Vow—What Does It Mean?"; Feb. 14, "Making Rough Places Smooth;" and Feb. 21, "The Family Pocket-book and Domestic Tranquility."

SCHOLASTIC PRESS GIVES CORNHUSKER 'EXCELLENT' RATING

1932 Yearbook Maintains Standard for Third Straight Year.

Again the University of Nebraska annual, the Cornhusker, received a high rating, when the National Scholastic Press association classified the 1932 Cornhusker as excellent. The publication has maintained that standard for three years.

Ralph Spencer, editor, says that this record will challenge that of any year book published in any Big Six school, since higher ratings are seldom awarded to a college annual.

Junior and senior pictures are still coming in and anyone contemplating securing pictures in either of the two sections should have a sitting at either Townsends or Hauck's not later than during exam week, warned Spencer. "As yet the deadline is indefinite but will be set soon, and when it is, absolutely no more pictures will be accepted."

He further stated that the cover contract is being considered and a total of four nationally known cover companies are bidding for the contract.

SCHOONER RECOGNIZED BY NATIONAL CRITICS

Four Articles Are Reprinted In Collection of Best Short Stories.

Four stories from the Prairie Schooner have been reprinted or will be published in the near future in national anthologies of short story literature.

Two stories are printed in the Best Short Stories of 1932, an anthology edited by P. E. Anderson, who is the editor of a magazine entitled Short Stories. The stories are "Lucky Boy" by John P. McPhaul, and "The Swamper" by Mary K. Rhodes. Peter B. Kyne, Rube Goldberg and Lord Dunsany are other authors that are represented in this book.

"The Fence," a story by Garcia Villa, will be used by Edward J. O'Brien in his volume of Best Short Stories of 1933 to be printed in the near future. The story appeared in the Summer 1932 issues of the Prairie Schooner.

"Twentieth Century Troubadours," by F. M. Kercheville will be introduced in America in the Southwest, a book of articles on the Southwest that will be soon forthcoming.

"Recognition of this kind is of great value to the Prairie Schooner," says Prof. Lowery C. Wimberly, editor of the publication, "because the rating of the magazine is raised by having some of its articles reprinted in national anthologies that contain material from commercial publications."

BIG SISTER BOARD PLANS PARTY FOR FIRST-YEAR WOMEN

A party is being planned for the Big Sisters of the university by the Big Sister board members. This is an annual affair at which the board members and Big Sisters have an opportunity to become better acquainted and discuss the results of the work of the year with non-sorority women who entered the university for the first time this fall.

The second of a series of religious talks on "What my Religion Has Done for me" will be made by Mrs. Rosenquist at Ag. vespers Tuesday. The meeting will be in the home economics parlors at 12:20.

COOPER GETS NEW POST

University Graduate Given Consular Position in Canton, China.

Charles Cooper, graduate of the University of Nebraska, class of 1930, has received notice of his assignment to a post in the United States consular service at Canton, China. At present he is at his home at Humboldt, Neb., on leave after serving a year in the same capacity at Havre, France.

He will sail from Portland, Ore., on the S. S. General Lee, Feb. 8, for Hongkong, and thence to Canton.

Following his graduation from the university, Cooper spent a year in the foreign service school at Washington, D. C. He is a member of Chi Phi and of Phi Beta Kappa.

TWENTY-FOUR JUNIORS BID FOR PROM POSTS

Student Council Convenes Wednesday to Select Party Committee.

Nine women and fifteen men had filed for positions on the junior senior prom committee when the deadline went into effect at 5 o'clock Monday afternoon. The Student council will meet Wednesday afternoon to select six women and five men to serve on the committee under the chairmanship of Vernon Filley, junior class president.

The eligibility of the applicants will be checked Tuesday by the registrar's office. Since only nine women had applied for places on the committee, Phil Brownell, president of the Student council announced that any junior who would secure a signed statement from the registrar's office indicating that eligibility requirements were approved might be considered with the other applicants. Such statements, the council president said, should be given to him not later than Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

A conflict of events scheduled for the night of March 4 has forced the Student council to attempt to secure another date than the one listed in the university calendar for the prom. The council will reschedule the date for the prom at its meeting Wednesday and announce it at that time, according to the president.

PLANS FORMULATED FOR ICE CARNIVAL

Skating Party Will Be Held After Exams at Oak Creek.

Plans for the all-university ice carnival to be held as soon as a convenient date can be set after exams are over, are being completed by the three organizations in charge, the W. A. A., men's intramural organization and the city recreation group.

The carnival will be held at Oak Creek, and the committees have arranged for amplifiers so that the music can be heard. There will be fancy skating exhibitions and refreshments and favors will be given.

Marian Smith is in general charge of the party. Maxine Packwood is assisting her as are all the members of the W. A. A. executive council, and some members of the men's group.

Miss Mabel Lee, of the women's physical education department and Miss Clarice McDonald, sponsor of W. A. A. are in favor of the plan, which is also endorsed by Rudy Vogeler of the men's physical education department.

Students are asked to send home for their skates so that they may attend the party.

Dr. Beaven recently was elected president of the federal council of churches of Christ in America, a position formerly held by Bishop McConnell. He is also recognized as an author of several well known books which have been published lately.

This is the third time he has been brought to Lincoln for the annual Nebraska ministers' convocation, an interdenominational meeting of ministers throughout the state, being held Jan. 17 to 19.

Dr. J. O. Hertzler, chairman of the sociology department heads the faculty committee on convocations and Dr. B. C. Hendricks, associate professor of chemistry, is president of the religious welfare council, which groups are sponsoring the convocation.

BURNETT REPLIES TO CHARGES OF JENSEN

Chancellor Tells Pawnee Taxpayers 'School Is Not Wasteful.'

Chancellor E. A. Burnett addressed the Pawnee county taxpayers league Saturday night at Pawnee City on the administration of state university affairs and campus development. The speech was a reply to Anton H. Jensen, former instructor in the university, and his condemnation of what he alleged as wastefulness at the school and its land transactions with fraternities and sororities.

"The school wants to be and is in sympathy with the present depressed situation, and I feel that the purposes of the school ought to be carried on without useless expenditures," the chancellor declared.

"How much can be devoted to the purposes of higher education is for you people to determine," said Burnett. "How much is appropriated for the university must be voiced by the people of the state, and their combined judgment is represented by the judgment of the legislature."

Chancellor Burnett referred to staff salary reductions, and the pay reduction he took voluntarily was pointed out by L. E. Gundersen, financial secretary, who accompanied him to Pawnee City.

Speaking of the campus development plans and zoning of the areas nearby, the chancellor said, "We believe that the permanent set up for the campus development is the best and cheapest program for the university." He then gave a background for some of the real estate transactions mentioned by Jensen and detailed them as recorded in university reports.
