Games This Week.
Wednesday: Kansas State vs. Oklahoma at Norman.
Thursday: Missouri vs. Kansas at Lawrence.

Missouri occupies undisputed possession of first place in the Big Six conference cage scramble this week, as a result of subduing Iowa State by a 29-22 score while Kansas received its initial setback from Oklahoma, 25-23.

The Huskers worked themselves out of the cellar position last Saturday when the Nebraska quintet displayed an accurate passing and shooting attack to trim Kansas State by a 31-25 count. The Wildcat game featured some fine basket work by Hubert Boswell, who was aided by steady defensive and offensive support from Henrion, Hokuf and Parsons. Kansas State is alone in last place, Coach Corsaut's men losing to both Kansas and Nebraska last week.

Oklahoma and Kansas are tied for second place in the standings with two wins and a single defeat, but this slate is certain to see a further shakeup Thursday when Missouri plays Kansas at Lawrence. Oklahoma meets Kansas State Wednesday night in the only other game of the week. Iowa State and Nebraska fives are inactive because of semester examinations.

Hub Boswell climbed into second place among the league scorers with 25 points, with Bill Johnson of Kansas out in front with 44 counters, mostly the result of 22 tallies made against Kansas State last week. Henrion, Nebraska; Bross, Oklahoma, and Wagner, Missouri, rank among the leaders.

Fourteen leading scorers:

It was a grand exhibition the Huskers gave Saturday night in plastering a 31-25 defeat on Kansas State. They pleased their most ardent supporters and many who weren't so ardent. In all around team play, ball handling, shooting and passing, the Nebraska team gave an A-1 display. They were hard to recognize as the same team that played indifferent, mediocre basketball a few weeks ago.

There is no getting around it. Hub Boswell thus far has shown most improvement of any man on Browne's squad. His basket eye has been working overtime, while his passing and general floor play have been above par. And there is a sophomore who revealed that he will be heard from as he gets more experience. Bud Parsons received a fine hand when he left the game Saturday, his fight and fast floor work breaking up many a Wildcat rally.

Steve Hokuf, that brilliant the dependable guard, has exerted a steadying influence on the squad that has already brought results. Steve always seems to be able to drop in at least three field goals, in addition to patrolling his guard sector with hawk-like care.

Freshmen who have stood out prominently in play against the varsity during the past few weeks are Virgil Yelkin, six foot guard and a former Lincoln high star; Bernard Scherer, Dallas, S. D., a fine center prospect; Johnny Parilek, the little Crete forward; Don North, guard from Lincoln; Max Zentz, former Omaha North star and leading scorer in Omaha last year and Dwight Loder, Waverly, a center and a member of last year's fine Waverly quintet.

There are of course other capable frosh players, the majority of whom have not been able to report regularly because of work. Henry Whitaker, St. Joseph, Mo., guard; Jim Dunn, Hastings, also a guard; Everett Martin, Waverly, forward and Morris Ranger, of Buffalo, Wyo., a rangy forward, have flashed good form, which augurs well for next year.

Dr. Walton Is Recent Visitor at University

Dr. W. E. Walton, instructor in psychology, who is on leave of absence while acting as research associate at the University of Iowa, was a recent campus visitor. Dr. Walton is engaged in two projects on the psychology of artistic talent. One of them is a study of the development of appreciation of color harmony on children. The other is a comparison of the artistic efforts of both artistic and inartistic children with the artistic products of several recognized adult artists.

EXAMINATIONS GIVE HUSKERS REST FROM GAMES UNTIL JAN. 30

Monday's Drill Finds Varsity Drubbing Frosh by 45 To 20 Score.

With the semester examinations at hand, there will be no more basketball games for the Husker five until Jan. 30 when the Iowa State cagers invade the Coliseum. Having hit a winning stride Saturday evening against the Kansas Aggies the Scarlet squad is scheduled to scrimmage regularly with the freshman team in order that the plays may be further polished in preparation for the arduous Big Six conference schedule during February.

Walt Henrion and Leland Coppel are the only members on the squad who were unable to appear for the Monday afternoon workout, Henrion having received a foot injury in the Wildcat game and Coppel being down with the flu in the infirmary. These two centers will no doubt be back in prime condition by the time the Cyclones come here week after next.

In a thirty minute scrimmage Monday afternoon the varsity played at a fast clip in the final fifteen minutes of play and trounced the frosh after leading only 17 to 14 at the half. The final score was varsity 45, freshmen 20. Parsons and Boswell were the forwards, Sauer was located at center, Hokuf and Mason were playing at guards.

Mason High Scorer.

Paul Mason was high scorer in the shortened game, tallying thirteen points, six field goals and a free throw, his gift point being the only one counted by the first team. Hub Boswell continued the hot pace he set against the Corsaut men Saturday and scored six field goals. George Sauer accounted for ten points to rank third.

Bob Belka and Keith Eno also saw action, Belka scoring twice from the floor and Eno once. Vir-

Dr. Anderson Returns From Washington Meet

Dr. Esther M. Anderson, instructor in geography, returned recently from Washington, D. C., where she presented a paper at the meeting of the Association of American Geographers. On the return trip Miss Anderson stopped at Charleston, S. C., where she was the guest of Mrs. C. C. Engberg and Mrs. Charlotte Engberg Prout.

gil Yelkin showed another outstanding performance as freshman center and guard, with Martin, former Waverly player sinking a number of nifty shots and playing a stellar floor game.

ELY RETURNS FROM EAST-WEST BATTLE

All America Center Declines Bid From Studios to Finish School.

Lawrence Ely, Nebraska's All America center returned to Lincoln Saturday from San Francisco where he captained the West team in the East-West charity football game Jan. 2. While in California, Ely was asked to take screen tests at several studios and was offered an extra part in Joe E. Brown's forthcoming baseball picture.

The Husker star, although the results of the tests were encouraging, decided to come back to school and finish his law training which he started last fall. Studio officials told Ely to come back Feb. 1, and if not then to spend next summer in California.

Concerning the East-West game itself, the Cornhusker player was very enthusiastic.

"It was really a great game," declared Ely. "This boy Schaldach of California who scored all three of the West's touchdowns is a fine quarterback and a fast, elusive runner." The Husker also praised Harry Stafford of Texas U., a blocking back, who Ely asserted was one of the main reasons for the West 21-13 victory.

According to the Grand Island gridster, Steve Hokuf played a fine game, both offensively and defensively. Hokuf nabbed several passes in the tilt.

MARTIN DESCRIBES FAR EAST SITUATION

China Forced to Rely on Boycott and Guerilla Warfare Soon.

Economic boycott and guerilla warfare are China's only means of withstanding invasion by Japan, believes Frank G. Martin, associate dean of the school of journalism, University of Missouri, and a Nebraska graduate, class of 1902. Dean Martin returned last week from a thirteen month's tour around the world and visited in Lincoln over the week end.

Martin explained that Japan had found the occupation of Manchuria more difficult than had been reckoned, and that the Japanese were unable to pacify and develop the country as they had intended.

China, he said, sensed a feeling of unrest and revolt in Japan because of the large cost of maintaining an army, and trading on this began to aid bandit soldiers in their guerilla warfare upon Japanese forces.
