ATHLETIC OFFICIALS ANNOUNCE LINEUPS OF INDOOR SPORTS

Number of Meets Are Cut To Minimum This Season.

Schedules for the wrestling, swimming and indoor track seasons were announced by the athletic department Wednesday morning. The number of meets were cut to the minimum in accordance with the general trend in collegiate athletic circles in curtailing or dropping minor sports from the athletic programs.

The swimming team is being coached by Rudy Vogeler, the wrestling by Coach Ecklund and the indoor track by Coach Schulte. Ecklund is taking over the head coaching reins for the first time this winter, since Captain Lehman, the former coach, was shifted by the war department to another post this year.

Meet Iowa State.

On Feb. 11, Iowa State is coming here for a double engagement with Husker squads, the Ames grapplers facing Coach Ecklund's proteges and the Cyclones' Big Six champion swimmers meeting the Nebraska tanksters. The next week, Saturday, Feb. 11, sees

ORIGINAL SELECTIONS FEATURE CONVOCATION

Compositions by Kinscella And Kirkpatrick Are Presented.

A program consisting of original compositions by Hazel Gertrude Kinscella and Howard Kirkpatrick featured the thirteenth musical convocation presented by the University of Nebraska Wednesday, Feb. 1, at 4:00 in the Temple theater.

A quartette composed of Altinus Tullis, soprano, Mary Shockey, contralto, Reuben Walt, tenor, and Ed Boelner, bass, presented the first number on the program, "I Will Lift My Eye." Mary Shockey, soloist, followed with two numbers, "A Note of Golden Song," and "I Made a Song."

A string quartette composed of Emanuel Wishnow, first violin, Hemingway, viola, Conway Beaver, second violin, and Marjorie Baty, cello, continued with "Eventide" and "Rustic Dance" from Black Hills Suite for String Quartette. "Magic of Moonlight" and "If Love Were What the Rose Is" were sung by Autinus Tullis. "Home from the Convent" from "The Students Tale" sung by the Quartette concluded the compositions written by Howard Kirkpatrick.

Present Second Half.

Katherine Kimball assisted by Francis Morley presented the second half of the program which consisted of numbers written by Miss Kinscella. "Daisies," "Longing," "Pipes of Pan," and "Marita" were her numbers.

The instrumental ensemble conducted by Rudolph Seidl, conductor of the Lincoln Symphony orchestra concluded the program by playing four numbers from Indian Sketches: "Love Song (Dakota)," "At the Pow-Wow (Omaha Dance Song)," "Lament of the Warrior's Wife (Pawnee)," and "Scalp Dance (Cheyenne)." The instrumental ensemble was made up of the following members: Luther Andrews, Arthur J. Babich, Louise Babst, Marjorie Baty, Vernon Baty, Conway Beaver, Dorothy Diamond Bergen, Don Gordon Berry, Paul Bieberstein, Delbert Donner, Valerita Callen, Paul Collins, P. W. Davis, Charles E. Mrs. Troll is a graduate of the University of Nebraska.

Nebraska Weather Rivals Winter Resort Comfort and Mild Climate

Nebraskans need not tie off to California or Florida for the sake of winter comfort, especially when all-time weather records are being established in their home state. January, 1933, was entered in the books of Thomas A. Blair, assistant professor of meteorology at the University of Nebraska, as the warmest January in the history of Lincoln, since weather records were kept, starting in 1886.

The mean temperature for the month was reported by Professor Blair as 36, degrees being two degrees above the previous record of 34, set in 1923, and tied in 1931. The highest reading of the month was 60 degrees Jan. 6, and the lowest was 8 above zero, Jan. 17.

Average Above Normal.

While no record making "highs" were recorded, a general run of warm days kept the average above the expected normal, and only on one day was the mean temperature below "par." That was Jan. 17 when the low was 8 degrees, and 28 the high reading. Jan. 11 was the only day that the readings

ELIGIBLE MEMBERS SELECT OFFICIALS FOR COMING YEAR

Jean Alden and Jane Boos Are Nominees to Head Y.W.C.A. Club.

Members of the Y. W. C. A. will elect their officers for the following year today. All members who completed payment of their dues by Wednesday, Feb. 1, are eligible to vote. Jean Alden and Jane Boos are nominees for president. Vice-presidential candidates are Martha Hershey and Ruth Cherney. Candidates for secretary are Elaine Fontein and Dorothy Cathers. Helen Lutz and Marjorie Smith were nominated for treasurer. Nominees for the chairman of the Ag staff are Muriel Moffit and Genevieve Jeffers.

Election will be held at Ellen Smith Hall from 9 to 5 o'clock. Girls on the Ag campus may vote at the Home Ec building from 11:45 to 5 o'clock. This election will be held in accordance with the newly revised constitution. Miss Bernice Miller, secretary of the Y. W. C. A., urges all eligible members to vote for candidates that they personally believe to be the most deserving of the position.

FINAL PLANS MADE FOR ALL UNI PARTY

Committee Signs Leo Beck To Furnish Music for Affair.

Final plans for preparation for the next all-university party scheduled for Saturday, Feb. 11, were made at the Barb council meeting Wednesday evening. Burton Marvin, chairman of the orchestra committee, announced that Leo Beck and his orchestra had been signed to play for the affair.

Plans were drafted for an advance ticket sale and publicity campaign and Wilbur Erickson was chosen as the head of the committee in charge of tickets. The other members of the group chosen by Jack Coupland, chairman of the council, were Marjorie Filley and Marlo Smith. Harry West is to be in charge of poster advertisements, and the committee in charge of publicity is made up of Graham Howe, chairman; Burton Marvin, and Beulah Persell.

The group selected to be in charge of obtaining chaperones is made up of Hughina Legge, chairman; Marjorie Filley, and Marjorie Dean. Vernon Filley is chairman of the decorations committee and his subordinates are Frank Simmons and Beulah Persell.

HOLLAND SUBJECT OF VAN ROYEN'S TALK

Geography Instructor Tells Many Unique Customs Of That Nation.

"Agriculture in Holland" was the subject of an illustrated lecture given to the Ag club at the meeting Tuesday night, Jan. 31, by Dr. Van Royen of the geography department. Mr. Van Royen was concerned with dispelling the commonly held idea that the Dutch are nothing else but farmers, and that Holland as a country is primarily engaged in agriculture. He stated that the percent of the population engaged in farming is no greater than the number that is occupied with that industry in our country. The country's population is concerned a great deal with industry and commerce as well, activities which include textile manufacturing and coal mines.

Because the population exceeds eight million in this comparatively small country, agriculture is necessarily intensive. Specialization is applied to the industry to such a degree that is not found outside of Holland. Dr. Van Royen illustrated this fact by citing the dairy industry which would be completely dissolved if the farmers depended on the pastures alone to provide sufficient feed for the cattle. Imported feed stuffs supplement the quantity obtained from the small pastures.

"The most spectacular type of intensive horticulture is displayed in the raising of flower bulbs, but it is not the most important, the culture of small fruits and vegetables taking first place. Hot houses are used extensively in the raising of these products," he declared.

Mills Are Displaced.

Electric and steam pumps have practically supplanted the windmills in pumping water in order to raise and lower the water table. Dr. Van Royen explained that this is accomplished by raising or lowering the level of the water in the ditches and that such processes are necessary for the culture of different kinds of crops.

"Most of the agricultural crops are exported out of this country which is ideally situated for such trade as it is surrounded by densely populated industrial districts in France, Belgium, Germany and England," Van Royen noted. The cooperation which is found among Dutch farmers was also emphasized by the lecturer. Each farmer belongs to a cooperation and he must sell to that association or he is immediately deprived membership.

Dutch Auction Unique.

"A central point is located in a district for the selling of vegetables, for instance, and headquarters are situated in a large building with the canal passing directly through it. An unique system of

RIFLE CLUB IS ORGANIZED

Anyone Who Has Tried Out For Varsity Team Is Eligible.

A rifle club has been organized on the campus and will submit a constitution to the Student Council at its next meeting. The purpose of the organization is to promote interest in rifle marksmanship.

Anyone who has competed in tryouts for any of the university rifle teams is eligible for the club. Major C. E. Speer is the sponsor of the group. The club has chosen crossed rifles with Nebraska over them as its emblem. Jackets with the club emblem on the back are being made for the members.

BILLS CONCERNING UNIVERSITY BEFORE STATE LEGISLATURE

Representative Cone Files Two Proposals in House.

By Clarke C. Bradley.

Among the 1,070 bills filed for introduction in both houses of the state legislature are six measures directly concerning the University of Nebraska. In line with the general legislative program, these bills aim at reduction of the cost of maintaining the institution.

Representative Tremmore Cone of Valley is chiefly concerned with university affairs in the house, having introduced two bills regarding it. In H. R. 517 he proposes to abolish the schools of architecture and fine arts and to limit the chancellor's salary to $6,000, the deans' to $4,000, professors' to $3,000 and to effect a 20 percent reduction in all others. This bill carries an emergency clause.

Cone Introduces Bill.

The other bill introduced by Cone, H. R. 424, requires the state auditor to examine accounts of funds pertaining to student activities, athletic associations, field houses and stadiums connected with the University of Nebraska and state normal schools. Representative Cone set the pace in the

MANAGER ANNOUNCES ANNUALS AVAILABLE

Students May Still Obtain Cornhuskers at Regular Prices Says Skade.

"Cornhuskers are still available at the regular price of $4.50," according to Charles Skade, business manager of the yearbook. "During the last few days an onrush of students has been buying their 1933 Cornhuskers."

"The reduced price under last year's figure has attracted a great number of students," continued Skade, "as is proven by the number of copies that have been sold at the office during the past week."

After the printing contract is let it will be impossible for anyone to order any copies of the book. Installments on books sold during the November sale that are due must be paid before copies of the book will be ordered for the purchaser. Books may be ordered at the Cornhusker office any afternoon during the week.
