

KANSAS JAYHAWKERS DOWN CORNHUSKERS BY 34 TO 20 SCORE

Johnson and Harrington Lead Allenmen to Victory.

The University of Kansas basketballers led by Capt. Bill Johnson and Paul Harrington, leading scorers in the Big Six, put on an exceptional exhibition of floor play and shooting ability in downing the Husker five 34 to 20 Friday evening on the Coliseum court. Flashing fine play on both defense and offense the Jayhawkers left no doubt as to their superior skill in clearing another hurdle in their path to another possible conference championship. The halftime score was 22 to 7, Kansas.

Apparently out to give all they had in the Nebraska tilt the Allenmen didn't hesitate in starting proceedings altho the initial score of the game was chalked up by Steve Hokuf on a free shot during the first two minutes of play. Soon after that this one point advantage didn't mean much for during three minutes of play Harrington scored twice, so did Johnson, and Schaaque counted once; five field goals in eight attempts, which is good evidence that the visitors were dead on the ring. Ten minutes gone—score, 10 to 1, all Kansas.

Harrington Scores.

Similar events took place in the remainder of the first period, Harrington sifting in a free throw and a field shot, Johnson scoring twice from the floor and once from the gift line, Schaaque and Wells ringing up a basket each. It was during this time that Harrington first missed the goal, or rather hit the rim, for his shots in the initial ten minutes swished thru the netting without so much as ticking the ring. Boswell, Parsons, and Hokuf each counted goals for the Brownmen in the meantime and the score then stood at 22 to 7.

During the last half the play more nearly approached being on even terms, the Huskers coming out on the floor in this period full of fight, and at one time bringing the count to 25 to 15. As a matter of fact the home five outsourced Coach Allen's aces 13 to 12 in this second ten minutes but 13 to 12 doesn't even up 7 to 22. Sauer collected a couple of underbasket goals, Mason sank a side shot and Parsons slipped a long archer thru the meshes to make the field goal total for Nebraska four in the last twenty minutes, and the Kansans evened up the count in this department Harrington, Wells, Schaaque and Johnson making one each.

Steve Hokuf proved to be dangerous from the foul line for he tallied a total of four charity tosses in the final half added to his one in the first period.

Johnson Goes Out.

Captain Johnson went out on fouls midway of the second half after playing a stellar game at his center post. Harrington and Schaaque also were outstanding for the visitors, the forward exhibiting great proficiency in hitting the hoop to gain high point honors with twelve points, and Schaaque playing a fine floor game. Henrion and Hokuf put on a great show in both defensive and offensive play and George Sauer played one of his best games this season.

FAIR CANDIDATES CAN GET OBJECTS REPORTS INDICATE

Even the leap year is past and the cry of "Get Your Man," made famous by the Northwest Mounties, rings but faintly in the ears of the ever-wary fairer sex, several candidates for the University of Nebraska girls' rifle team should experience little difficulty in achieving their objectives if their scores on the rifle range are indications.

Out of a group of more than fifty girls who have been firing practice rounds on the range in the basement of Andrews hall, ten girls have been firing perfect or near perfect scores, according to the targets turned in Sergeant Earl DeVaughn, coach of girls team.

Ten Form Team.

These ten girls, who will probably constitute the selection of the first team to fire in competition which begins next week, are Adela Tombrink, Omaha, manager, Elizabeth Gilley, Cheyenne, Wyoming, Margaret Hill, Council Bluffs, Ia., Irene Nabity, David City, Rosemary Needham, Ord, Carolyn Van Anda, Fremont, Margaret Morgant, St. Joseph, Mo., Helen Crow, Omaha, Paula Davis, Bayard, and Betty Taylor, Lincoln. Team selection is made by the women's athletic association on the basis of the marksmanship record to date. The personnel of the team will probably vary from week to week depending on the scores turned in, according to Sergeant DeVaughn.

Postal matches have been made with several other schools in which each team fires for a week and targets are then mailed in to a central office at the end of the week and the winner named. Competitive firing will continue for five weeks.

CONFERENCE CATCHES

BY BURT MARVIN.

Of course we were all rather disappointed at the outcome of the game the other night, but its one sure thing that anybody who saw that exhibition on the part of the Kansas goal-hawks should feel satisfied that he saw a masterful show of basketball. If my guess means anything Nebraska didn't go down to defeat because it wasn't capable of playing a fine game of basketball, but simply because the Jays played a better variety of a fine game. It was certainly the best hall-handling and goal-shooting which has been shown on the coliseum court this season. As a matter of fact the Kansans attempted twenty-three shots in the first half and capitalized on ten of these tries. Schaaque, the big guard, who plays fullback when the gridiron season is in progress, looked like the goods he has been talked up to be at that guard post, but Steve Hokuf certainly deserves as much or more credit as is given to the black-haired southerner. Whenever I think of Hokuf on the cage court I picture a big fellow nabbing the ball off the bankboard before anybody else has a look-in and that is just what Steve does all evening.

People looking at the summary of the game will be inclined to decide that Henrion wasn't up to his regular form, but those who attended the game in a condition of sobriety are well able to testify to the fact that his game was what might be called a rip-snorter. Walts man was Dick Wells, lanky raven-locked sophomore forward, and this Wells didn't manage to slip in a point all during Henrion's tenure at guard Friday night. Wells ranks as fourth high scorer of the Big Six and with that knowledge in mind one might justly assume that Nebraska's acting captain of the evening guarded his man like a leech.

And incidentally, one wonders just what Coach "Phog" Allen has his aces feed on, preceeding such games as they put on Friday. He probably considers them naughty boys when they even hit the rim in sinking a basket. He has a habit of taking a drag on the water bottle each time one of his men sinks a shot meaning that he probably suffers from a tummy ache which he doesn't mind in the least following each game.

Bill Johnson, the lanky All Big Six center on the Jay lineup, seems to have acquired the habit of going out on fouls when he is playing on the coliseum rectangle. Last season he was called from the floor after four personals about the middle of the second half, and he again had to leave the scrap this week at about the same time. Maybe some reason for this is that opposing fives make it a point to concentrate on him for his goal-shooting ability has gained wide repute.

It seems, too, that a star of his caliber deserved a different kind of ovation from the crowd than he received when he left the game, his last against the Huskers. The bystanders may doubt the quality of referees' decisions, but Johnson or anybody else on the floor was hardly the man to take out a gripe on.

A man who Coach Edwards of Missouri considers the smallest player in intercollegiate cage circles today is a man on his squad, Bernard Passer, forward, who is a fine performer. Passer is quite a name for a basketball player, isn't it, Mr. Reader?

Temple Cafeteria To Close.

The regents also announced Saturday that the cafeteria in the Temple building on the city campus would be closed after the present school year. Loss of patronage due to erection of the new women's residence hall was given as the reason for closing.

Plan Has Qualities.

University officials recognize in the plan many desirable features. It enables the institution to protect the health of its students by serving them wholesome food at a minimum cost, thus enabling them to do better school work as well as making it possible for them to work part time.

Several boarding clubs are now in operation near the college of agriculture. One such boarding club that now serves two meals a

Others in the cast are J. R. Lilliard who portrays the dapper Sportin' Life; a dope and liquor peddler, Clifton Conaway; playing Jake, a fisherman, Al Tiffany; Nora Osborne playing Maria, a shop-keeper; June Nash, Peter's wife; Virginia Jonas, wife of the murdered Robbins, and Armand Hunter, playing Mingo, a fisherman.

Performance Is Popular.

The play has been well received in advance performances, although some objections were filed by negro organizations within the city. From the very real crap game in the first scene to the exit of Porgy in his goatcart, searching for his runaway woman in the last, the play lives. Humorous incidents break up the monotony of tragic ones, love is played against hate, and passion against fear.

It will open Monday night at 7 o'clock in the Temple. Performances will be continuous throughout the week with no matinees.

Personality Counts More For Success Than Brains

WICHITA, Kas. (CNS). Maybe the beautiful but dumb girls have something after all.

According to observations made by Professor H. W. Mikesell, head of the psychology department at the University of Wichita, girls with personality, rather than brains, are most likely to succeed.

"Psychology has determined by actual experiment that success depends 85 percent upon personality and only 15 percent on brains," he said.

He criticized the tendency of colleges to "place high emphasis upon intelligence and little stress upon personality."
