Although all the teams in the conference still have a mathematical chance of copping the Big Six basketball championship, the race seems to have simmered down to a two-way scrap on the final stretch. The two teams which are doped to fight it out for the bunting are Oklahoma and Kansas, for the Jayhawkers now stand in first place with five wins and one setback and the Sooners follow closely with four victories and one defeat to their credit.

Not since its first conference game early in January has the Oklahoma five experienced a reverse at the hands of a conference opponent. Iowa State won that first contest from the Sooners and the Ames five has not experienced the sweet taste of victory since that date. Included on the list of quintets which have fallen before the Norman teams attack is Kansas opportunity to pull out of the cellar position when they play host to the Kansas State five on the Ames which journeyed to the Sooner camp in mid-January and was set back 25 to 23.

Jays Add to List of Wins.

Kansas continued to add to its list of wins as it entered the last half of its conference schedule against Nebraska on the Coliseum court, setting back the Brownmen, 34 to 20. The tilt was marked by the skill of the Kansas men in hitting the basket from long range, and sets the Jays up as probable champions of the circuit if they keep up at their present pace.

The big surprise of the week was the loss of two games on the part of Missouri, a pre-season favorite to grab the title away from the Kansans. Journeying to Manhattan, Kansas, Friday night the Tigers met defeat at the hands of the Kansas State five, and at Norman the next night Coach Edwards men came within an ace of trimming the Sooners but again lost 31 to 25. Oklahoma has not lost a home game since two seasons ago and Nebraska is invading the Sooner citadel this Saturday night hoping to put a crimp in this record.

Iowa State Gets Chance.

Iowa State is being given the court, but as things stand now the Aggies are favored to set back the Amesmen, since they trimmed the Missouri five last Friday.

Two Kansans still lead the league in so far as point making is concerned, Bill Johnson tallying 11 points against the Huskers to boost his total to 69 and Paul Harrington scoring 12 to stand now at 51.

HUSKER TRACKSTERS PREP FOR MINNESOTA

Good Performances Turned In at First Tryout Of Season.

Saturday afternoon on the indoor track under the east stadium Coach Schulte ran his track and field aspirants thru their first tryouts of the season. The first indoor meet of the season is to be run off against Minnesota university at Minneapolis Feb. 18.

A number of good performances in the various events were turned in by Don Gray in the broad jump, Jim Storey in the half mile, Heye Lambertus in the 50-yard high and low hurdles, Toman in the high jump, and Chris Mathis in the 440-yard dash.

Gray stretched out for a 24 foot, 2 inch leap and turned in another leap of 23 feet, 9 inches. Such an early season performance as this is deemed by Coach Schulte to bid fair for some record-breaking performances on the part of the veteran jumper during the indoor and outdoor seasons. Storey clicked off the half mile in unusually good time for this early in the season, being clocked in 2 minutes, 7 2-10 seconds.

Heye Lambertus, Big Six champion in the low hurdles last spring, lopped the 50-yard low sticks in 5 51-0 seconds and came back later with another fine performance in the high hurdles turning in the time of 6 61-0 seconds. Toman, a sophomore, cleared the bar in the high jump at 5 feet 11 1-2 inches. Chris Mathis was best in the 440-yard dash, sprinting around the oval in 54 5-10 seconds.

FACTIONS MEET IN FIRST ICE CARNIVAL

Annual Games to Be Held At Oak Creek Park Thursday.

The first annual all-university ice carnival is to be held at the Oak Creek park rink Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock providing weather conditions are right for good ice.

A hockey game between the Blue Shirt and Yellow Jacket factions represented by ten men each is to be the feature event of the evening. This game is not to be a regulation hockey match, as the competitors are to use broom sticks instead of hockey sticks and a soccer ball is to be used instead of a puck.

Rudy Vogeler announced that there are to be two open events for men, the 220 yard dash and the 440 yard relay, four men competing in the latter race for each team.

As a novelty event there is to be an innovation the thread and needle race. On each team there are to be four men from a fraternity and four sorority women. The women will thread the needles and the men will carry them.

CONFERENCE CATCHES

BY BURT MARVIN.

At the present writing it seems that a crystal gazer isn't necessary in forecasting that at least a couple of Big Six conference records are destined to be replaced in the books after the conference track season has passed. Needless to say the two events most likely to possess new marks are the broad jump and the mile. Glenn Cunningham, the great middle distance runner who attends Kansas, went back east and showed the audience of 17,000 at the Millrose games how the mile should be run. The stocky Kansan sped around the board track in 4:13 and beat Gene Venzke, the highly touted easterner, in doing it. This was the first of a series of races in which Cunningham plans to compete during the next few weeks in New York.

His next race is scheduled for the night of Feb. 18 at the New York A. C. games, where Venzke will be out for revenge (He holds the indoor record at 4:10.) Last season Cunningham hung up a new conference record here at Nebraska stadium when he sped over the distance in 4:14.2. Daniel J. Ferris, Secretary-Treasurer of the Amateur Athletic Union stated on Sunday he expected to see the Big Six champ set up a new record in the race sometime in the near future, and considers the time in which Cunningham ran the race on Saturday evening all the more remarkable because the Kansas man hadn't had on track shoes for ten days preceding the event.

Another week of Big Six competition has gone by in the cage sport and although Nebraska came out of the week's scramble with one win and one loss its standing was improved. Ranking in fourth place before Monday night when Iowa State was set back and retaining that position throughout the remainder of the week, the Huskers came up against Kansas and dropped a tilt. However, Missouri was dropping a couple of games during this time, Kansas State and Oklahoma setting them back. That means that the Tigers and Nebraska are tied for third place with two wins and three losses apiece. Kansas and Oklahoma appear certain to fight it out for the pennant, the Jayhawkers having dropped only one game (that was to Oklahoma) and won five, and the Sooners standing in second position with four and one. And we might say that if Oklahoma is as good as Kansas at present it has the goods. The way those Kansans hit the hoop in the Nebraska game Friday night is something that isn't to be forgotten.

Then there's the broad jump. The potential record breaker here is Nebraska's Don Gray who is back for competition after laying off school for a semester last spring. Saturday afternoon he gave warning to competitors when he leaped 24 feet 2 inches in the indoor tryouts of the Husker field and track aspirants. That performance rates only a fraction of an inch under the Big Six record he set up in the conference meet two years ago. Gray qualified for the Olympic games in the tryouts at Chicago last summer when he skimmed over 24 feet 5 3-4 inches of ground.
