UNIVERSITY PLAYERS WILL PRESENT FIFTH DRAMA ON MARCH 6

Dramatic Organization Plans To Give 'Camille' by Younger Dumas.

Following closely on the final curtain of "Porgy," which closed the most sensational run of the year Monday, will be "Camille," by the younger Dumas. This is the fifth play of the season to be given by the University Players, campus dramatic organization.

"Camille" is the story of a Paris courtesan. Although leads have not been selected for the play, and the play itself is still in the process of trial, the Players are expected to announce the members of the cast within a short time.

The story between the lines of "Camille" has almost a tragic background. When Dumas wrote the play he had in mind a cool, sweet, fragile, phthistic courtesan, which spirit the Players will probably emphasize. According to history, the woman in Dumas' life was Alphonsine Pleiss, who did business under the name of Marie Duplessis, and who was, at one time, the talk of Paris. Dumas had

CLASS SECTIONS OF YEARBOOK ARE OPEN

Juniors and Seniors May Till Have Photos Taken.

The junior and senior sections of the 1933 Cornhusker are still open for pictures according to Ralph Spencer, editor. He stated that no additional pictures, however, will be accepted for the Greek letter sections. This announcement followed the failure of students to have their pictures taken for the other sections of the yearbook after the deadline had been passed on the fraternity and sorority sections of the book.

"Juniors and seniors who have not yet had their pictures taken are asked to do so while the sections are still open," Spencer said. "The deadline will be announced in the near future."

Seven hundred and fifty-eight fraternity pictures have been taken this year in comparison with 797 last year. Six hundred and twenty-two sorority photographs have been turned as to 670 last year. "This is a very good record, considering the fact that several organizations have disbanded," Spencer stated.

Justice Day and Dean Foster to Speak at Meeting.

Law college students will hold their annual smoker Friday evening at 7:30 p. m. at the Grand hotel. The entire law college faculty and about one hundred and fifty students are expected to attend.

Supreme Court Justice Day will address the gathering as will Dean Foster of the law college.

For the first time in the history of the smoker, junior and senior law students will be host to the law freshmen. It is hoped thus to establish a new tradition, since in the past, freshmen have shared the expense of the smoker with upperclassmen.

SENATE COMMITTEE HEARS DEBATE ON UNIVERSITY BILLS

Reed Speaks in Opposition To Senator Sanden's Three Bills.

Legislation concerning the university was brought to the attention of the state senate education committee, when that group heard arguments Tuesday evening on the three bills submitted by Sen. H. E. Sanden of Douglas county.

Dr. A. A. Reed, head of the university extension department, spoke in opposition to these bills. In S. F. 379 Sanden would abolish all courses in the state normal schools, excepting those that are directly pertaining to teaching as prescribed by the university.

S. F. 381 by Sanden would provide for the withdrawal of the state university and normal schools from the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, and prohibit their ever belonging to any such organization. In S. F. 382 Sanden would provide for the abolishing of the teachers college at the university.

Request for the committee to defer action on these bills was made by Dan Garber of Red Cloud, representative of several taxpayers' leagues. He insisted that the committee delay until the taxpayers could be heard.

The house of representatives education committee will hold an open meeting Thursday evening at which similar legislation will be considered and those interested in bills given an opportunity to appear.

The annual Coed Follies sponsored by the A. W. S. board and scheduled for Friday, Feb. 17, has been postponed until the following Thursday evening according to an announcement made by Lucille Reilly, publicity chairman, Wednesday afternoon. The Children's theater had previously arranged to use the Temple auditorium Friday evening.

Request that the organization be allowed to have the event on a week night was submitted by the board to a committee of Faculty members who decide such student matters.

In addition to giving its permission to the board it recommended that all freshmen be allowed to attend the follies despite the university ruling that no first year girl leave her home after 8 o'clock. In qualifying its statement the committee wished to make it clear that consent must be obtained from respective house mothers before freshmen girls were free to go.

Groups presenting skits will be announced Thursday the publicity chairman said. The committees choosing the winning acts has not made final selections. Reports indicate that plans are nearing completion with models chosen and the date set definitely.

COMMITTEE PLANS TO PRESENT PROM GIRL IN A DIFFERENT WAY

Takes Up Suggestion That Two Upper Classes Take Part in Ceremony.

Plans for presenting the Prom girl in an entirely different way than that used in previous years are being made by the Junior-Senior Prom committee. The committee has taken up plans suggested by John Gepson and Ruth Cherney who are in charge of presentation, that the junior and senior classes take part in the ceremony.

The committee is recommending that meetings of the two classes be held in the near future to discuss the part that they will take. The present plans provide that only members of these two classes be on the floor at the time of the presentation. Definite plans for the presentation itself have not yet been made.

These suggestions follow rather closely the ceremony used at other schools. However, there will be no grand march. It is thought that by using this plan, the prom will seem to be more of a junior-senior affair.

SENATOR ARRDASSES ALUMNI AT BANQUET

George Norris Speaks to Nebraska Charter Day Observers.

Senator George W. Norris, speaking direct from the Charter Day banquet held in Washington, D. C., by the University of Nebraska alumni club, discussed the theories of what he considers as "a model legislature."

Heard over a nationwide hookup of the National Broadcasting company from 8 to 8:30 p. m. last night, Mr. Norris' address climaxed the University of Nebraska's national Charter Day program.

Following a short introduction by Robert R. Hill, president of the Washington, D. C., chapter of the Nebraska alumni association, Senator Norris carefully outlined what he considered as the necessary qualifications for the ideal legislature for this state, as well as many other states.

"When I speak of the ideal or model legislature," said Mr. Norris, "I mean one that will fill all the essential requirements placed upon it by our modern society . . . one that has a practical method of procedure . . . and fulfills adequately the business that is placed before it."

The old method of the two house system of representation is too clumsy and far inferior to the present level of civilization, according to the senator.

Thirty-Three Schools in United States Conduct Classes Via Radio

Thirty-three colleges and universities in the United States, including the University of Nebraska, are conducting classes and other educational programs thru the medium of radio broadcasting. The phenomenal growth of this means of dispensing learning, witnessed in the past few years, has led to the establishment of radio broadcasting stations by twenty-four land grant institutions of higher learning. The remaining universities and colleges using radio avail themselves of the facilities of commercial broadcasting stations to present their programs.

The University of Nebraska utilizes station KFAE to broadcast its programs, which may be heard every week day except Saturday at 9:30 a. m. and 2:30 p. m., and Saturdays at 12:30 p. m. These half hours consist of programs by the School of Music, and class instruction in French, German and Spanish. University credit is granted in Spanish and German only.

Station WJTL, Oglethorpe university, Georgia, operates from 8:30 a. m. to 12 midnight, and has nine full hours of class room lecture daily. WCAJ, the Nebraska Wesleyan university station located in Lincoln broadcasts daily classes. Prof. J. C. Jensen, director and manager of the station, was nominated by President Hoover last week to fill an unexpired vacancy in the fourth zone.

The Fess bill, before congress now, provides that "not less than 15 percent, reckoned with due weight to all factors determining effective service, of the radio broadcasting facilities which are or may become subject to the control and allocation of the federal radio commission, shall be reserved for educational broadcasting exclusively."

Beside these university and college programs, the National Advisory Council on Radio in Education has organized and presented over the two major broadcasting chains of the United States a series of educational programs.
