BODY VOTES TO TAKE CLOSED NIGHT POWER

Council Incorporates in By-Laws Procedure to Close Nights.

The student council's new by-laws appear in full in this issue of the Daily Nebraskan.

By a unanimous vote, the Student Council Wednesday definitely assumed the power to close nights to all university activities and incorporated in its by-laws a procedure to be followed in cases where it decrees a closed night.

Organizations must petition the council to close a night within three months before the desired date according to the regulations. If the council votes by a majority to grant the petition, all organizations included by the order, will be notified by mail and the notice will be published in the Daily Nebraskan on two successive issues.

The council reserves the right to close a night for an organization who put in a petition within three months before the date by exempting all organizations from the order who have previously scheduled an affair.

Organizations violating the rules will be subject to such penalties as the judiciary committee of the council deems necessary.

The student council voted not to join the American National Student Federation of America and to participate in a regional conference but to continue work with Kansas State, Iowa State, Missouri and Kansas universities in a student federation organized by these schools a year ago.

The second meeting will be held this fall during football season as decided in the first conference. The council will continue plans for the convention which probably will be held in Lawrence, Kas., unless the other schools join the national federation.

The regional group proposed by the national federation includes, Kansas, Missouri, Iowa, North Dakota, South Dakota, Minnesota and Nebraska.

ANNOUNCE FREE SWIM TIME

Closing of Varsity Season Opens Two More Periods For Men Students.

Since the varsity swimming season is over, from 5 to 6 on Mondays and Fridays will be added to the schedule of free hours for men, according to Dr. R. G. Clapp, director of men's gym. After 3:30 each Saturday, with the exception of March 25 when the high schools will have a water match, will also be open to men for swimming.

NEBRASKA ALUMNUS HONORS PROF. CANDY

Publication Also Contains Tribute to Late Dr. L. A. Sherman.

Prof. A. L. Candy, chairman of the department of mathematics, is honored in the March number of the Nebraska Alumnus which was issued yesterday. The magazine also contains a tribute to Dr. Lucius Adelino Sherman, dean emeritus, and reviews the activities of the various alumni clubs in celebration of Charter Day.

Dr. William Charles Brenke of the department of mathematics writes the story of Dr. Candy's life and work. He received his Doctor's degree in 1898, has been an instructor in the university since 1893, and has been head of his department since 1918.

Professor Candy has written a textbook on analytical geometry and has attracted attention with his articles in the American Mathematical Monthly. He has suggested a plan for revision of the calendar that is quite like a plan on the same subject submitted by a committee of the National Research Council.

The memorandum of Dr. Sherman, written by Chancellor E. A. Burnett and Prof. F. A. Stuff, recalls the work of the one-time chairman of the English department. Dr. Sherman has been the editor of several editions of Shakespeare's works and has translated an edition of "Frithiof's Saga." In the university he held the positions of dean of the College of Arts and Sciences, the Graduate college and senior dean of the university.

BLAIR SAYS COLD WEATHER IS OVER FOR THIS YEAR

All Campus Activities Seem to Prove That It Is Spring.

"When this time of the year comes around we are not likely to have any more cold weather," said T. A. Blair, state meteorologist. "We will probably have another snow but it will be a light one and will not last long," he continued.

Weather predictions are mild enough to encourage sport shoes and clothes and the putting down of car tops. The last killing frost should appear not later than the middle of April, according to Blair.

"The grass is beginning to grow green and farmers over the state are beginning to plow, so spring is surely on its way," offered Mr. Blair. "Of course spring is not officially recognized as such until the spring equinox, which comes on March 20," he smiled.

Remarks about how criminal it was to have to study during such weather as we are now enjoying have not escaped the ears of Mrs. Graham, head of the circulation department in the university library. Despite the inner urge not to study the circulation statistics have risen to an unusually high number within the last few days.

According to many students term papers seem to be responsible for this. Mrs. Graham said that the size of the circulation had a tendency to drop gradually as spring progressed. One is bound to observe how the student sitting in the library studying looks away from his book every now and then with that far away look in his eyes.

The operator of a near-the-campus filling station smiled when asked if business was picking up. "I've filled 'er up" on one gallon of gas every Friday and Saturday night for college men for several months, but now that it's spring they usually mean it when they say 'fill 'er up'."

While business is picking up at

Student Council Provision for Closing Nights

The student council passed the following provisions concerning the closing of nights at its meeting Wednesday afternoon:

The Student Council of the University of Nebraska, under the authority vested in it by its Constitution (Article III, Section 1, Paragraph 1), hereby enacts and orders written into its by-laws the following provisions by which its power to close nights to such student meetings and functions as it may in each instance designate shall be administered.

Section 1. Any student organization which has scheduled an event for a certain night and desires that night closed to other student events shall so petition the student council in writing not less than three months prior to the date of said night. Upon the reading of this petition in meeting the Student Council by a majority vote may grant such request.

A night may be closed by the Student Council in the manner stated in Section 1 less than three months prior to said night, if exemptions from its ruling are granted to organizations or groups which have already scheduled events for said night. In such action exemptions shall be granted by the Council on presentation of evidence by the organization seeking such exemption that the function had been scheduled prior to the date on which the council closed the night.

Section 3. After any night has been closed by the Student Council, notification shall be given to all organizations effected by that action by mail and by notice published in two successive issues of the Daily Nebraskan immediately

Such penalties shall be enforced by the officers of the Council in co-operation with the administrative officers of the University.

R. O. T. C. BAND WILL GIVE LAST CONCERT SUNDAY AFTERNOON

Theodore Diers and John Shildneck Featured As Soloists.

The University R. O. T. C. band under the direction of W. T. "Billy" Quick will present its final public concert Sunday afternoon at 3:30 in the University Coliseum.

"In addition to a program of marches, many other numbers of popular appeal will be presented," Mr. Quick stated.

"The Nebraska R. O. T. C. band is especially fortunate this year inasmuch as it is permitted to present two pieces never before played by a military band in Lincoln," the director declared.

One of them is the "Spiritual River" overture, a melodic selection of the deep south. It was published just last year, and was played at the memorial service for John Philip Sousa in New York.

The other is an unusual arrangement for a military band of the world famous "Hungarian Rhapsody, Number I" by Franz Liszt.

Mr. Theodore Diers, director of the university broadcasts, and Mr. John Shildneck, local trumpeter, will be presented as soloists. Mr. Diers, bass, will sing to the accompaniment of the band, "Trees" by Oscar Rosback and "The Bells of St. Mary's" by Emmet Davis. John Shildneck, local trumpeter, solo, "The Sounds from the Hudson" by Herbert Clarke.

Several other of the selections to be played by the band, include "Country Gardens" by Percy Grainger, "Badinage" by Victor Herbert, and "City Beautiful" by Patterson.

FINAL SALES DRIVE FOR ANNUAL CLOSES

Approximate Total of Nine Hundred and Fifty Books Sold.

With an approximate total of 950 copies sold, the final drive for sale of the 1933 Cornhusker closed Wednesday.

Opening of banks and release of students' money resulted in a last minute rush Wednesday which boosted the previous total by about 100.

Charles Skade, business manager, stated that the results of the drive were pleasing to the staff, and expressed his appreciation of student support of the yearbook. Under existing financial conditions the staff felt that sales were unusually good and stated that sales exceeded those of other Big Six school yearbooks.

The printers will be notified Friday of the exact number of copies sold, and printing will commence immediately.

Ballots cast for "Cornhusker Coeds," five girls to be portrayed in the feature section of the Cornhusker, and elected by votes of yearbook purchasers, will be counted Saturday by a faculty committee and members of the business staff. The results will be kept secret until the Cornhusker is released on the campus.
