

GRIDSTERS GO THRU DUMMY SCRIMMAGE

Spring Football Practice Is Held Underneath East Stadium.

With Wednesday's drill still finding them confined indoors underneath the east stadium, because of the soggy field, the Husker spring football candidates went thru another dummy scrimmage in the sheltered arena. Coach Bibbe hopes to get his men outdoors, and hold scrimmages which are set for the final week of practice, which is next week.

Sixty-five men have been reporting for drill and among them are some outstanding candidates for the various positions. Following the half hour talk in the lecture room in the north end of the building, the men lined up into teams and went thru the plays which have been taken up during the past three weeks.

Backfield men who have shown up the best so far are George Sauer, Jack Miller, Hub Boswell, Jerry LaNoue, Ralph Eldridge, Bailor, Bud Parsons, Mead, Ken White and Johnny Williams. In this group may be found plenty of weight and speed, which bids fair for a versatile bunch of ball-luggers next fall.

Linemen showing promise are John Roby, Bruce Kilbourne, Lee Penney, Jim Milne, Sears, Dave Fowler, Armstrong, and Reese. Ends: Gail O'Brien, John Thompson, John Kerlakedes, Ed Uptegrove, and Forrest McPherson. Tackles: Warren DeBus, Clair Bishop, Neal Mehring, Elmer Hubka, Wally DeBrown, guards: Franklin Meier, Hotchem, Dick Smith, Walter Meier, and Hulac. Centers: With a wealth of material on hand Coach Bibbe is optimistic concerning next fall's campaign, and expects to have a lineup of all-around ability on the field.

At present the lineup receiving

GOLF AND BASEBALL. Entries for the interfraternity golf and baseball tournaments on file in the athletic office by 5 o'clock Friday afternoon.

The official first eleven is made up of Lee Penney and Bruce Kilbourne, ends; John Thompson and Gail O'Brien, tackles; Warren DeBus and Clair Bishop, guards; Franklin Meier, center; Jerry LaNoue, quarterback; George Sauer and Hub Boswell, halfbacks; and Jack Miller, fullback. Two backfield men, Henry Bauer and Bernie Masterson, both first team men previously have not been able to turn out for spring drill, but expect to be on hand next autumn. Walt Plfum, who has a chance at a first team tackle berth will also be back in togs for next season. Two more full time scrimmages will probably be run off before spring drill is called to a close a week from this Saturday. It would undoubtedly be willing to attend.

CLUB PLANS MEAT JUDGING CONTEST

Block and Bridle Society Will Stage Affair March 31.

The Block and Bridle club, animal husbandry departmental organization, will stage a meat judging contest Friday afternoon, March 31, according to Glenn LeDioy, president of the club.

Prof. W. J. Loeffel is in charge representing the animal husbandry department. He will present the three awards. The club will be represented by Vernon Miller, Floyd Hedlund, and LaVerne Gingrich who will assist in the arrangements and act as assisting judges.

The regular stock judging contest sponsored by the Block and Bridle club will be an event of April 7. LeDioy's committee appointments include Reuben Hecht, Wayne Bishop and LaVerne Gingrich who will assume the duties of arrangements for the affair. Prof. M. A. Alexander is in charge of the department. The students in the animal husbandry department will be divided into two distinct classes, a junior division for freshmen and a senior division for the remaining. Members of the senior judging team are not eligible to compete. The chief judge has not yet been selected, according to LeDioy. Prizes will be awarded to the high man in each class and the high man in each division of the contest. The student body is cordially invited to attend these contests.

LeDioy also announced that the Block and Bridle Mixer will be held in the Activities Building Saturday, April 1. George Shadbolt and Willard Waldo are in charge of the event.

Classes of the Compton Junior College, which was badly wrecked in the recent earthquake, will again be in session on March 27, city school officials announced this week. Tents and small temporary buildings will be utilized.

Perry, '38; piano solos by Mrs. Maude Hammond Fling, '94; and a musical skit by the Palladian Links directed by Mary Margaret Cannel, '25, and Mrs. Walter Blore, '20, will be presented.

Miss Margaret M. Reedy, president of the active society will offer greetings to the Alumni Society.

CONFERENCE CATCHES BY BURT MARVIN.

"It's really an exciting time in which to live, what with a special edition of the Daily Nebraskan, the legislators going wild, and the state high school basketball tournament on hand to be started this afternoon. About 256 boys are coming to Lincoln to play basketball in our coliseum, and the students and town are to be the hosts, so let's put on a good appearance, while the school's got the money to do it.

Everybody is filing his guess who is going to win the tourney, and these boys from towns which are playing will be seen over there rooting for good of Alma Mater. Maybe some new geniuses will be unearthed when it comes to thinking up methods of sneaking in, because the officials seem to have caught on pretty rapidly as to the clever boys' methods of crashing the gates.

Pilger high school team seems to be the fan's favorite to go places. This is the only class B team which chose to climb into class A ranks to try its luck. Pilger being a town of a little over 500 inhabitants. This five has won twenty-five games this year without dropping a single one, but I fear it is hitting some "big time" teams here which will spoil its hopes for a title. However small towns have been known to cop the championship, the small town of Shelton copping the pennant back about 1913. St. Paul, which won first honors both in 1928 and 1929, is a town of about 1800, a comparatively small community.

In class B it seems to me Swanton must be the cream of the crop. In defeating Eagle 45 to 12 at Ag college last Saturday evening the Swanton five showed plenty of speed and accuracy, and showed signs of good coaching. Four of the men tower above six feet. There's my favorite in class B.

"Pop" Klein at Crete must be a plenty good coach. Early this season his boys were on the losing road and it looked bad for the Cardinals in their defense of the state title won last year. They have lost to a number of the teams in class A drawings, but no one would be foolish enough to doubt any of these teams to beat them. For Crete is famed as a tournament team, in fact as an all season five. A poor start this winter apparently meant nothing, for of late the saline county boys have been going great guns.

If only the Omaha schools could be herded in, the tourney would be a real all-state affair. Last year Lincoln teams were out of it, but now Lincoln high is representing the group of schools clustered around the vicinity. Oh, this meet is a glamorous affair, but not nearly as much so as back in 1926 when about 350 teams came here to fight for honors in classes clear down to Q or something of the sort.

Has basketball interest died in the hearts of fans? The season was supposed to have whiffed its last air a few weeks ago, but the bank moratorium necessitated the postponing of class A sectional meets. It was tough on some of the quints which were primed to play at the originally scheduled time, for it's hard to get at the proper pitch twice.

Every night after football practice, Coach Bibbe has his men run through a few sprints as a matter of testing the speed of the various candidates out for the sport. Some of the men are really fast, but

WOULD PROHIBIT HAZING.

The Wisconsin state legislature this week had under consideration a bill which would make the hazing of fraternity pledges a legal offense. The measure is aimed at so-called "Hell-Week" practices and eliminates an editorial campaign against hazing conducted by The Daily Cardinal, student paper at the University of Wisconsin.

ORCHESIS ANNOUNCES TENTATIVE PROGRAM

Group Plans for Spring Recital to Be Held in Coliseum. MAY 18 SET AS DATE

Tentative program for the Orchesis spring dance recital to be given at the coliseum on May 18 has been announced by Miss Edith Vail, sponsor of the group. The presentation is to be given in three parts, the first including Spectrum, a study of colors; Stylized March, using Rachmaninoff's "Prelude in G," and Revolt, which is a portrayal of one individual revolting against the group that symbolizes convention.

The first number of the second part includes two preludes, and Arensky Valse and Debussy's "La Plus que Lent." They are to be followed by a presentation of three rhythms with tom-tom accompaniment called Polyrhythmic Dance Problem.

A Slavonic dance with the characteristics of a spirited and emotional piece will follow. Within this second group of dances, a design problem will also be included.

The final part of the recital will start with a Greek chorus and then a Group of Impressions, including Fantasy, Flames, and Fireflies, Badinage and Water Study follow, the latter being unaccompanied and is a study of waves. The closing dance will be Today, a syncopated problem done by a large group.

Two of the numbers on this tentative and incomplete program were presented at the last meeting of Orchesis.

Another original dance given before the Orchesis group was an interpretation of Tchaikowsky's "Trepak" from the Nutcracker Suite. The program was concluded by a burlesque on the ballet.
