ers in turn can do what teachers have done many times before, with the singleness of purpose and high minded devotion, transmit these qualities to the millions of students, a new age of light is upon us."

In conclusion Dr. Hunter stated that he held unbounded faith in the education of today and its ability to meet the problems of the future. He said, "I am optimistic enough to hold that the world belief in education will save the cultures of the day and build a new creative period as much greater than the present time, as the seventeenth century of sciences and literature was above the dark ages."

Dr. Hunter, a Nebraska graduate of 1905, who is now the chancellor of Denver university, was followed in his talk by another famous Nebraska graduate, Gen. John J. Pershing, commander-in-chief of the armies of the United States during the World war, who presented the Pershing medal to Harold Hinds, Weening Water, symbolizing outstanding ability in military science.

The famous commander, in presenting the medal, stressed the high value of leadership that is so essential to our present order of society. General Pershing is spending a few weeks in his home in Lincoln convalescing from a recent illness.

Y.M.C.A. GROUP HOLDS TRAINING ASSEMBLY

Ten Colleges Are Present At Annual Spring Conference.

As a climax to the Religious Problem Week program at the University of Nebraska, the annual Spring Training Conference of Nebraska Student YMCA was held at York Saturday and Sunday, April 8 and 9.

With ten colleges from various parts of the state of Nebraska present, the conference was a very big success, according to C. D. Hayes, secretary of the Nebraska campus YMCA. Approximately seventy persons attended the conference.

The outstanding feature of the program was the impressive talks made by Jim Hardwick, religious problem worker. The subjects of Mr. Hardwick's talks were "Our Purpose and Campus Needs, Power for Campus Leadership, and Commitment to the Task."

A great degree of enthusiasm was shown by the representatives from the various colleges in regard to the YMCA work on their respective campus. A strong feeling of fellowship prevailed throughout the course of the conference.

The Estes delegation which is to be held this summer, was another source of great enthusiasm by the conference. As a finale to the program, a lively discussion of the program was conducted. It was decided that the conference next year would be held at Fremont, Neb., with members of the Midland college YMCA acting as hosts.

comes a more enlightened public consciousness. "Usually," he said, "a university is accused of being too conservative rather than too liberal."

"Since no progress is made without discussion, the university will not discipline students for their political or religious views so long as they do not not become propagandists of theories of government that tend to break down respect for law. However, the officials of the institution will not permit the university to become a center of radicalism for the purpose of propaganda."

also to acquire beforehand the nature of the copy which is going into the makeup.

The identities of the Sledge editor and his scandalmongers are known only to themselves and to the Engineer's week chairman. The chairman has stated that the position of editor has been very well filled this year, and assures the Engineers that the dirt will be dished in great style.

CHURCH PLANS EASTER PROGRAM FOR SUNDAY

University Students Will Take Part in Special Observance.

Easter will be observed at First Christian church, 16th and K, with an extensive program in which many university students will take part. A sunrise prayer service at 6:30 under the direction of Paul Bogvtt begins the day. An Easter breakfast will follow the early service. The usual Sunday morning services, church school at 9:45, and morning worship at 11 o'clock will be held.

In the evening the young people's department will present the Easter play, "The Questioner." Mrs. F. A. Christopherson will direct this service which will be held at 7:30.

APRIL BLUE PRINT TO APPEAR TODAY

Article by Graduate of University Featured in Magazine.

Featuring "The Photo-Tube," an article by W. B. Robinson, graduate of the University of Nebraska, and now employed by the Westinghouse Manufacturing Co., the April issue of the Nebraska Blue Print will make its appearance on the campus Tuesday, John H. Hutchings, editor, announced Monday. The Blue Print will be on sale in the A. M. Hall booth Tuesday and Wednesday.

In his article, Mr. Robinson, who received his degree from the electrical engineering college in 1930, discusses new and important uses to which the photo-tube is now being put in modern industry.

Jack Steele, mechanical engineering senior, writes on "Air Conditioning in the Home." Marlo Smith, junior civil engineering student, contributes "The Outlook for the Graduating Senior," using several excerpts from letters of alumnae engineers on present engineering opportunities.

With the April issue, Chas. DeVore presents the third and concluding article of a series of three dealing with the accomplishments of Nebraska engineering graduates.

In the Dean's Corner, Dean O. J. Ferguson discusses present legislative attempts to force the use of alcohol in gasoline, and the effect of such legislation were it passed.
