The benefits to be derived may without e aggeration be expected to be of real significance to campus life.

Pa Nebraskan talked of joint fraternity and sorority parties as an economy measure. The chief objection to this plan lay in the gate such parties except the colias to be impractical. This objection is now removed. Joint pareasily promoted.

There has been much talk of the need for some auditorium where posed plan for reorganization. the major share of the student body can be gathered together. The coliseum has been the only place where such gatherings could fraternity life and problems, have be held, and what a place! With openly endorsed the plan. No reathe permanent decorations installed, the coliseum should be utilized much more frequently for such gatherings, and there can be no doubt that it will be almost enti ely satisfactory. The only objection will be in the fact that the chairs in the coliseum are not stationary.

It is particularly noticeable that this project was put over in this year of poverty. And yet no student or group of students was obliged to sacrifice much for the realization of the plan. It is merely an example of the constructive use to which the collective profits of various student enterprises can be put.

Congratulations to all those who had a part in the realization of 7:30_ these permanent decorations and congratulations to the student body who will enjoy the benefits of what really amounts to a new building on the campus.

A Slight Taste

Of Victory.

THE tabulated results of the senior poll on the activity tax are published in today's issue of the Daily Nebraskan. Out of a total of 288 votes, 210 were cast in favor of the plan, and of these 210 affirmative votes, 120 students voted for every item listed on the

The Nebraskan feels highly elated over this favorable sentiment toward the blanket tax plan as expressed by the senior vote. We recognize, of course, that the senior opinion may be discounted on the grounds that those who voted will not have to pay the tax and hence are more willing to vote for it. But on the other hand we are inclined to feel that a feeling against the plan would manifest itself regardless of the fact that a student would not be in school next year.

The Nebraskan will have ceased publishing before the result of the Therefore the Nebraskan must take what satisfaction it can for whatever part it has played in influencing opinion on the activity tax plan from the results of the senior poll.

THE matter of the reorganiza-I tion of the Interfraternity little action, has apparently been forgotten. This is but another evidence of a lack of interest on the them by those same students. Such sation, and if any action is ever taken, very few students are involved or even interested.

Now is the logical time for fra-T the first of this past year the ternities to take a definite stand on the matter. The present school year is almost over, and if any reorganization is to take place, it should be accomplished now in orfact that there was no place in der that the new council may start town large enough to accommo- functioning with the opening of school next fall. Older fraternity men, as well as faculty men closely connected with the students and acquainted with sonable fraternity man will deny that the council at the present time is a political organization and much weaker than it should be. The merits of the plan of reorganization, which would provide for a senior man to represent his fraternity on the council, are too obvious for discussion.

But whether the fraternities favor a change or not, now is the time to act. The council will have one more meeting, and with the opinion of every fraternity expressed, the council can accomplish something.
