MONDAY ENROLLMENT FIGURE LOW SURVEY OF COLLEGES SHOWS

Deans Urge Students to Register Early to Avoid Conflict.

Early registration for the fall semester opened Monday with the usual small number of students registering the first day. A survey of the various colleges indicated that approximately 200 students filed their registration applications during the day.

Students now in attendance may register for the summer session during the week or may wait until the regular summer registration period, June 9 and 10. Altho students have until noon Saturday, May 27, to complete their registration, offices of the various colleges asked that students endeavor to register the first part of the week to eliminate the last minute rush and to avoid crowding study hours for final examinations.

To Vote on Tax.

The proposed activity tax plan sponsored by the student council comes before registrants for approval or rejection this week also, each student voting by ballot upon completion of his registration. If approved by the student body, the proposal will be submitted to the board of regents for final action.

Students failing to register this week will have to wait until next September and will incur a late registration fee. A statement of fees will be mailed all registrants about Aug. 14, and payment should be made to the finance secretary's office no later than Sept. 1.

Monday, Sept. 10, has been designated as Freshman day, and Tuesday and Wednesday of that week will be devoted to registration of new students.

SOCIETY SETS TODAY DEADLINE FOR FILING

Application Blanks May Be Obtained in Dean of Women's Office.

Deadline for applications for the Mortar Board scholarship loan for junior women has been set for five o'clock today, according to the society. Application blanks may be obtained in Miss Heppner's office between the hours of 10 and 12, and 2 and 5, Tuesday.

The award is open to second semester junior women, and is based on applicant's scholarship, financial need and service to the university. The loan is to be between $50 and $100, or may be divided into two loans of approximately $50 each, depending upon the individual cases. Members of the faculty committee together with officers of Mortar Board will select the winning candidate or candidates and determine the amount of the loan.

The loan will begin to draw interest at 4 percent from the date of the recipient's graduation and will be payable within two years of that time.

The Mortar Board loan is being inaugurated this year as the wish of last year's Mortar Board chapter which left a fund for its establishment. Members of the 1933 society have announced their intention of continuing the plan.

Several junior women have already filed application for the award it was announced Monday.

Frederick Nicklas Has Attack of Peritonitis

Frederick Nicklas, Sigma Nu, of Syracuse, is in Bryan Memorial hospital, suffering from a serious attack of peritonitis. His condition is critical, according to doctors in charge, but much improved over that of Sunday. The crisis will be reached within 24 or 36 hours, the doctors said.

Registration to Be Held From May 22-27

EARLY REGISTRATION for the fall semester will be held during the week of May 22-27 (noon). This applies only to students registered during the second semester of 1932-33, and those School of Music students registered for university credit. Any student not registered by May 27 (noon) must wait until September to register with the new students.

See "Order of Early Registration" on front of class schedule for further details.

STUDENTS TO DECIDE ACTIVITIES TAX FATE

Detailed Recommendation to Go to Regents if Fee Is Approved.

Student approval or disapproval will determine the fate of the activities tax plan upon which the student body began voting yesterday morning. The voting is being held in connection with registration for next fall.

Balloting is taking place in each student's respective dean's office as they complete their registration process this week. The referendum will continue throughout the week, closing at noon Saturday, May 27.

Will Go to Regents.

If the plan is approved by the undergraduate students and they express their desire to incorporate the proposal as a principle for financing student projects, a detailed recommendation to the board of regents, including those items which get the approval of a preponderant majority of those voting, will be formulated by the student council.

The ballot is divided into three parts. First, there is a brief explanation of the compulsory activities tax plan for financing student publications, athletics, and other projects of all-school interest. The second part puts the question to a "yes" or "no" vote as a principle. The third part of the ballot lists eight items proposed by the student council for inclusion in the plan, with squares where each student will check those he thinks should be included.

COLONEL ANNOUNCES THAT CADETS MUST TAKE PART IN DRILL

Attendance Is Mandatory As Formation Is Final Examination.

All cadets are required to take part in the annual competitive drill for the university R. O. T. C. unit which will be held Wednesday, May 24, according to a bulletin issued by the military department. Excuses for the compet or any part of it must be signed by Colonel Oury and be in before noon Wednesday. Excuse blanks may be secured in the military office.

The bulletin states that attendance is mandatory and because the formation is the final examination in military science, any cadet who is absent without excuse will be given an incomplete for his semester grade.

The companies will compete in the following order: Company I, C, H, F, K, G, L, D, E, B, A, HQ, M. Platoon order will be: M, HQ, A, I, C, H, F, K, G, L, D, E, B.

The following events will be held in order; competitive drill on the mall and drill field, presentation of awards, review and recall.

At the close of the competition the regiment will be formed for the presentation of awards. The prize for the best basic student will be presented by the American Legion auxiliary and the prize for the highest standing student in the advanced course will be presented by the D. A. R. The medals for individual compet and other activities will be presented by the honorary colonel and the bars will be pinned on the individual men of the winning companies by the sponsors.

The various activities will be assigned to blocks and the drill area will be marked off into seven blocks which will be numbered from one to seven. The drill will be judged by officers of the regular army, National Guard, and the Reserve Corps.

The Ag faculty entertained all senior Home Economics girls at a tea at Carrie Bell Raymond hall Saturday afternoon.

Students May Register For Summer School

SUMMER SCHOOL REGISTRATION may be held during the week of May 22-27 for students who are attending school now. Applications for the summer session must be signed not only by the Adviser and Dean of the College, but also by the Director of the Summer Session. Fees for the summer session registrations may be paid any time before noon, June 10. The regular registration for the summer session will be held June 9-10 (noon) and any students who do not care to avail themselves of this early period must register then.

175 STUDENTS APPLY FOR TUITION AWARDS

This Figure Indicates About 16 Percent Decrease From Last Year.

Approximately one hundred and seventy-five students have filed applications for tuition scholarships, a survey made Monday of the various colleges and schools indicated. This is about a 16 percent decrease from the number last semester when over 200 filed for awards.

Arts and Science college showed the greatest decrease in applications with some forty on file, which is about half the number received last semester. Engineering showed a total of twenty-six, Business Administration twenty-three, Agriculture, approximately thirty-five, and Teacher's college, about thirty. No figures were available on the college of law, school of journalism or fine arts. No tuition awards are made in the dental college.

According to Chancellor E. A. Burnett, some doubt still remains as to whether the scholarships will be granted this year, and definite announcement will not be made until after the Board of Regents' next meeting. The university has made the awards each semester for the last five years, eighty-nine students, mostly seniors, being granted scholarships for the current semester.

ALL STUDENTS MUST REGISTER FOR FALL

Late Registration Fees Will Be Charged After May 27.

Students who are not sure whether or not they are coming back to school next fall should register now according to an announcement coming from the dean's office. Registration may be cancelled later, but a late fee will be charged unless students enroll before Saturday noon.

The registrar's office has had several inquiries as to the advisability of waiting until next fall to register and have expressed the opinion that in order to avoid paying a late fee which will be added onto the registration charge next semester, students in doubt should register this week. No charge will be made if a student registers now and does not return next semester.
