

The Nebraskan
Is Free

Get Your Copy from Boxes in Social Sciences, Andrews or Teachers College.

The Nebraskan

Official Summer Session Newspaper.

Phone Your News
to The Nebraskan
B6891

And Ask for Nebraskan Office

VOLUME IV, NO. 2.

TUESDAY, JUNE 13, 1933.

LINCOLN, NEB.

SPECIAL LECTURERS SCHEDULED TO SPEAK IN SUMMER SESSION

Moritz Announces Courses
by Five Authorities;
Start June 19.

A series of five special lecture courses of two or three days each, the first two of them next week and the last closing July 18, have been announced as part of the summer session curriculum by Director R. D. Moritz. Speakers, all nationally known authorities in their fields, are two visiting school heads, one visiting department head, a former city manager of St. Jose, Calif., and a Nebraska dean. The special lecture courses held regularly during the last few summers, resemble somewhat the system of convocations held here during the regular school year but are more closely tied up with actual class work. Specific classes, held at the hours when the lectures will be given, will be dismissed to attend each. All lectures are also open to others wishing to attend.

Beginning next Monday, June 20, Dr. Frederick M. Hunter, Chancellor of Denver university and a Nebraska graduate, will offer a three day lecture course to classes in elementary education and school administration. Doctor Hunter, former president of

(Continued on Page 3.)

UNIVERSITY EMPLOYEE DROWNED NEAR CRETE

George Herzog Goes Down
While Swimming in Blue River.

George Herzog, 28, 4325 Touzalin ave., custodian of the biology department of the university, was drowned near Crete early Sunday evening while swimming across the Blue river about a mile north of Horky's park. He had swum across the river once and was on his way back when, according to observers, he was apparently seized with cramps.

A man in a motor boat saw Herzog go down and sped a mile down the river to the recreation park to get help. Five divers searched for the body and recovered it in the channel a half hour after Herzog went down and, with Dr. A. A. Conrad of Crete, worked unsuccessfully for two hours in an attempt to resuscitate him with the use of a pulmotor.

Herzog had gone to Crete Sunday afternoon to picnic with Lincoln friends. Part of the party had returned to Lincoln but Mrs. Ruth Stough and her small son, Arthur, both of 4325 Touzalin, remained with Herzog and were waiting for him on the bank when he was drowned.

Herzog had lived in Lincoln for about fifteen years. He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George A. Herzog, of Chambers, Neb.

Courtesy of Lincoln Journal.

Part-Time Jobs Open To Summer Students

The office of the Dean of Student Affairs has on file several employment opportunities for men students wishing to work for board or room during the summer session. Those desiring such employment are asked to communicate with Mr. Epp in that office in Administration hall.

TRACK MEN TO CHICAGO

Six Huskers Will Take Part in National Meet
There.

Leaving Lincoln by automobile early Tuesday, Coach Henry F. Schulte, Nebraska veteran track mentor, and six of his star performers will go to Chicago to take part in the national collegiate meet Friday and Saturday.

Enroute the party will stop at Clinton, Ia., Tuesday night and do some exhibitions in connection with a track meet to be held there.

Those making the trip with Schulte are: Heye Lambertus, hurdler; Don Gray, broad jumper; Jerry Lee, sprinter and broad jumper; Adolph Dohrmann, hurdler; Glenn Skewes, discus thrower; and Fred Chambers, javelin thrower.

TEACHERS HIGH HAS FEW LESS STUDENTS

About 80 Are Enrolled in
The Demonstration School.

Registration for the summer session in Teachers college high school has fallen off somewhat from last year. Principal Morton reported yesterday as about eighty entered first classes.

All high school classes this summer are being held during the morning in three "double" periods of an hour and twenty minutes each.

PUBLIC SCHOOL AND COLLEGE TEACHERS ADDED TO FACULTY

Thirty-Two Guest Members
Join Summer Staff of University.

Fourteen superintendents and teachers from Nebraska elementary and high schools, three from Kansas, two from Colorado, one each from Iowa and Ohio and thirteen professors from other universities have been added to the regular university faculty to offer courses during the summer session.

These do not include five nationally-known educators who will supplement regular class work with short special lecture courses of two or three days each throughout the session.

Added to the instructional staff in the department of elementary education are: Barbara Henderson, intermediate grade superintendent of Kansas City; O. L. Webb, superintendent of schools at David City; C. W. Lehman, superintendent of schools at Sutton; M. D. Bell, superintendent of schools at Ord; D. H. Weber, superintendent of schools at Humboldt; E. W. Wiltse, superintendent of schools at Franklin; Frances Assemacher, of the Lincoln city schools; Edith Erb, principal of schools at Denver; Alice Hanthorn, supervisor of elementary schools at Cleveland, Ohio; Maud Rousseau, of the Lincoln city schools; Margaret Shute, first grade demonstration teacher of the Denver city schools; Hildred Honan, of the Kansas City public schools; and Adeline Howland, of the Lincoln city schools.

B. E. McProud, dean of the teachers college at Nebraska Wesleyan university, Assistant Supt. O. H. Binson of the Lincoln city schools and I. O. Scott, superintendent of schools at Garden City.

(Continued on Page 2.)

Nebraskan Requests Rooming Houses to Appoint Reporters

In order to cover all news of interest to summer school students, the Nebraskan asks that a regular Nebraskan reporter be appointed in each organized rooming house.

These reporters are asked to meet at the Nebraskan office at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, June 14, when the editor will discuss with them a plan for co-operation in gathering news of their respective groups.

In making these appointments the Nebraskan suggests that each house, if possible, designate one of its group who has had previous experience in such work.

Any other summer students desiring practical newspaper experience in reporting for the Nebraskan may call at the Nebraskan office at any time.

DR. PAHLOW BEGINS TALKS AT 2 TODAY

Ohio State Man Here for Ten Days to Speak
On Methods.

Beginning today and continuing until June 23, Dr. Edwin M. Pahlow, professor of education at Ohio State university, will lecture daily at 2 o'clock in Teachers college, room 303, on methods of teaching history to Prof. E. W. Lantz' education 141, modern methods in high school teaching. The daily lectures will be preceded by a conference hour in Teachers college, room 212, where Dr. Pahlow will discuss methods of teaching social sciences with superintendents, principals or teachers who desire to consult him. No fee is charged for the conferences.

Others than those regularly en-

(Continued on Page 2.)

LANTZ ANNOUNCES RECREATION PLAN OF SUMMER TERM

Activity Opens Friday This Week With Party in Coliseum.

Opening with an all-student mixer party in the Coliseum Friday night this week, an elaborate recreation program for the summer session is being planned by Prof. E. W. Lantz, faculty member in charge of this phase of summer school life during the past three years. A student executive committee, to be named this week, will work with Professor Lantz on the program as in the past two years.

"We shall try to arrange one of the most complete 'Fun Programs' in the history of summer school for students who are on the campus this session," Professor Lantz declared in announcing his plans. "Last year's program, under the direction of a student executive committee, was highly successful and this year's plans indicate even better results."

Members of last year's student executive committee who are again in school this year will retain their positions on the committee because of their experience in the work, Professor Lantz informed.

(Continued on Page 2.)

ENROLLMENT FALLS BEHIND LAST YEAR

Slight Drop Indicated as Registrar Compiles Figures.

After falling approximately 500 behind last year on Friday and Saturday, registration for the summer session was more than holding its own yesterday as between 150 and 175 registered Monday as compared to an even 150 last year. Although final figures will not be known until sometime next week, since graduate students may register until Saturday this week without paying late fee, a drop under last year's summer enrollment of at least two or three hundred is probable.

Enrollment figures to date as compared with last year:

	1932	1933
Pre-registration	106	111
Engineers' camp	29	26
First day	1,054	705
Second day	541	368
First class day	150	175

Total enrollment last summer was 2,520 and graduate registration this week is expected to swell this year's total to a figure between 2,000 and 2,300. Practically no decrease in graduate registrations is expected by Director Moritz.

A strangling late registration of undergraduates is expected until Thursday this week. After Thursday undergraduates may not register without written permission of instructors and of Director Moritz. No registrations for credit will be accepted after June 26.

A combination of economic conditions and hot weather Friday and Saturday last week, which may have changed the minds of some who intended enrolling in the summer school, was held responsible by university authorities for the enrollment drop.

Three Receive Honorary Degrees

CHANCELLOR E. A. BURNETT

DIRECTOR A. A. REED

DR. C. H. OLDFATHER

Commencement exercises on three campuses, two in Nebraska and one in Indiana, were scenes of honor for Nebraska recently as Chancellor Burnett, Dean Oldfather and Professor Reed received honorary degrees.

Journeying to Hastings Wednesday, May 31, Director A. R. Reed of the university extension department received an honorary L.L.D. from Hastings college for his work as Nebraska educator and as president of the North Central association.

Friday, June 2, Chancellor Burnett received a similar honor at Wesleyan, Nebraska's sister school in University Place.

Dean C. H. Oldfather of the College of Arts and Sciences attended the one hundredth annual commencement at Hanover college in Indiana Tuesday, June 6, where his Alma Mater honored him and his brother, Dr. W. A. Oldfather, chairman of the classics department at Chicago university, with honorary L.L.D. degrees.