Emblematic Colors Promise to Be in Evidence as Tassels Conduct Annual University Players Ticket Campaign

The university colors scarlet and cream promise to be in vivid evidence on the campus during the next three days when the Tassels, girls' pep organization, conduct the ticket drive for the University Players. The Tassels, dressed in their scarlet sweaters and cream-colored skirts, plan to invade each fraternity and sorority house in their campaign for support of the university theatrical productions and so that they may have the price for tickets to some out of town Cornhusker game.

In 1924, the Tassels were organized under the sponsorship of the Mortar Board on a nonpolitical basis for the sole purpose of serving as yell leaders and promoting school spirit at the various athletic projects. They gradually broadened out and now back every field of activity listed on the University of Nebraska calendar that calls for support of the entire student group.

Form National Organization. National pep organizations have been investigated by the Tassels as they felt it would be beneficial to be in close connection with some national society but the groups considered did not function in such a wide capacity as the local pep club. Two years ago six schools were invited to attend a conference at this university for the purpose of organizing a national order but only two schools in addition to Nebraska responded to the call. Kansas State and Kansas Aggies sent representatives here to consider the tentative arrangements. Work was immediately begun on plans for a national which would encompass the schools within the middlewest. Last year a convention was held in Kansas at which Ann Bunting, local Tassel president, was elected to head the newly organized group. Within the coming year, the three schools had banded together into an organization for supporting all school functions plan to apply for a national charter.

fraternity costs and economic management of fraternities. The resolution should be read to your chapter and the chapter should in turn elect an alumni representative of the fraternity to serve on the proposed alumni council. This representative may or may not be your present alumni adviser, but should be a man well qualified to maintain the interests of his fraternity and who will appreciate the welfare of all fraternities. He should therefore, according to the consensus of opinion of the above mentioned mass meeting, be selected because of his particular fitness and interest in the general welfare of the fraternities as well as in his particular fraternity. Before this individual is selected, he should be consulted; and it should be made clear to him that the matters to be considered will require some time and attention. In other words, his willingness to serve should be obtained in advance. When you have selected your representative, will you please transmit your selection to this office. The selection your group makes should be on file in this office not later than Tuesday, Sept. 26. This gives you about two weeks to make a careful canvass of the situation. In conclusion, may I say that in so far as this office and the university are concerned, our interest in this matter is in creating greater confidence among the fraternities, in improving their individual and collective financial fidelity, and in encouraging them in any supplemental educational enterprises. Your co-operation is earnestly solicited and requested in this matter. Yours sincerely, T. J. THOMPSON, Dean of Student Affairs.
