NRA Consumer Drive Gains Aid

ASK APPROVAL OF STUDENT PLEDGES

Members of Lincoln Campaign Committee Sanction Student Participation in Their Effort to Aid Administration's Recovery Plan.

CHAIRMAN MRS. ELLERY DAVIS FAVORS MOVE

Nebraska Joins Nation's Universities in Scheme to Patronize Merchants Flying the Blue Eagle; Launch Campus Project Soon.

Student participation in the NRA consumers' drive met with the approval of several members of the committee in charge of the local campaign, when they were interviewed regarding the matter yesterday.

Mrs. Ellery Davis, chairman of the NRA committee, indicated that she would be very much interested in the movement, but that official action of those in charge could not be obtained until the first of the week. Other members of Lincoln NRA organization also indicated that they believed the idea a good one.

Definite Support Secured. Since the inauguration of plans for a consumers' drive on the Nebraska campus full fledged support from the faculty, administration, students and NRA officials of the city seem definitely secured. The drive will consist of securing the signature of the students on the NRA consumers' pledge.

It is thought that by the middle of the week definite plans will have been formed and a drive will be under way. The idea of the plan is not to urge students to "buy now" but to encourage them to buy from merchants who are co-operating in the president's recovery program.

Help NRA Men. The general opinion of university and NRA officials is that merchants and business men who have signed NRA agreements are making definite sacrifices in complying with the requirements of those who fly the blue eagle and that their actions merit the support of all consumers.

University of Nebraska students in signing the pledges will be in line with many student bodies of

400 COUPLES DANCE TO JUNGBLUTH'S BAND

Dancing to the music of Eddie Jungbluth's orchestra, 400 couples attended the All University party Saturday evening in the Coliseum. This was the second party of the season sponsored by the Barb Council, and the crowd attending was about 200 larger than that present at the first dance two weeks ago.

Last night's appearance was the first for Jungbluth's NBC orchestra before a university crowd since its return from a successful summer season in Estes Park at the Riverside. This Lincoln band broadcast over the chain over KOA during its engagement at the Rocky Mountain park.

Chaperones for the affair were Prof. and Mrs. Loeffel, and Prof. and Mrs. Thaiman.

This was the second of seven All University parties scheduled to be held during the school year, the next affair being set for Saturday, Oct. 28. The Dad's Day dance which is to be held that evening is to be the first closed night party of the school year, and the first actual Varsity party to be held in several years.

Five More All-University Parties Scheduled This Year.

Read Detective Stories If Nerves Need Sedative, Recommends Walton

Murder Thrillers Cause Pulse Rate to Drop Tests Show.

"Read a detective story before you go to bed—it takes your mind off your studies." Such is the advice of Prof. W. E. Walton, instructor in the psychology department.

He recommends the murder thriller as a method of relaxation, a sedative for weary or excited nerves. He himself is enthusiastically in favor of detective fiction as a means of resting his mind.

"The period between the study hour and the time when the student often determines the adequacy of his night's rest," stated Professor Walton. "I recommend not only a detective story but any interesting and not too difficult reading material before retiring."

Dr. Walton also recommends the detective story for the tired business man. In fact he thinks they are wholesome reading matter for anyone except very small children. In the case of the latter he believes, the immature mind is apt to become too engrossed in the details of the story and will be too excited for sleep.

Tests by psychologists have proved that murder mystery novels lower blood pressure, cut the pulse rate, and steady motor nerves.

The scientist, according to Dr. Walton, will always recommend to those who desire rest some light reading material as a means of relaxation. The break between the day's work and fictitious events, he says, is sufficient to cause complete withdrawal of the mind from its troubles, including complete rest.

Geography Professor Addresses Teachers

Dr. E. E. Lackey, professor of geography at the university, addressed a group from the south-central Iowa teachers association, at Shenandoah, Friday.

Anne Bunting, vice president of Mortar Boards and president of Tassels, women's pep organization, will lead the group's athletic ticket sales campaign. Members of the group have been divided into teams for the sale, which will start tomorrow morning.

MORTAR BOARDS SET OCTOBER 6 AS 'HELLO DAY'

Harry Lohr, confined at Infirmary, Improves Rapidly. Harry Lohr of Columbus, Delta Upsilon freshman, is confined in the university infirmary with diphtheria, but will be released within three or four days, according to Dr. Earl N. Deppen, who is in charge of the case.

Lohr was taken to the infirmary from the fraternity house Thursday and placed under observation. He was given an anti-toxin Saturday morning and he was reported Saturday evening as doing well with his temperature at normal.

Y.W.C.A. TO SPONSOR SERIES INFORMAL TEAS

Campus Organization Starts Finance and Membership Drive Next Thursday. Hello Day, a traditional custom re-instituted on this campus two years ago by Mortar Board, senior women's honorary society, is officially recorded for Friday, Oct. 6. At this time, all freshmen wearing the scarlet and cream caps or buttons, are being greeted lustily with a cheery "Hello" by all faculty members and upperclassmen.

The practice of having a "Hello" day was popular on this campus many years ago but died out because organizations failed to support the project. During the last three years it has been hailed as an excellent idea because it creates a united Cornhusker spirit and is an effort on the part of upperclassmen to secure and promote better feeling of cooperation among all university students," declared Jane Boos, member of Mortar Board, Innocents, members of A. W. S., Big Sister board, W. A. A., Tassels and Corn Cobs have signified their intentions of supporting the project this year to the utmost.

"The wearing of these traditional caps and buttons is a custom which every freshman should be proud to accept. Freshmen women who have not yet obtained their scarlet and cream recognition buttons may get them after next Tuesday noon at the desk of Mrs. Ada Westover in Ellen Smith Hall," stated Willis Norris, Mortar board president.

NEBRASKA DEBATE TO BE BROADCAST OCT. 27

Two Debates Same Day Scheduled with Kansas State. KFAB will broadcast the university debate with Kansas State college on Oct. 27 on the question resolved that the federal government should enact legislation providing for system of federal control of radio similar to that in Great Britain.

Nebraska will also meet Kansas State the same day before the debate section of Nebraska State Teachers association at St. Paul church on the same proposition. Nebraska will uphold the affirmative side in this debate and will argue negatively over the radio.

Tryouts for teams for these debates will be held on October 5 using the question of radio control. Tentative plans call for the selection of two teams of two men on each side of the proposition at this tryout. Men wishing to compete should have their names in the hands of Prof. H. A. White, debate coach, before Monday noon.

A second tryout will be held the second semester and if the schedule permits another one in December.

Geography Professor Addresses Teachers

Dr. E. E. Lackey, professor of geography at the university, addressed a group from the south-central Iowa teachers association, at Shenandoah, Friday.

CANDIDATES FOR RHODES AWARDS FILE BY NOV. 1

Five Nebraska Men Will Be Elected to Appear Before State.

OLDFATHER IN CHARGE

Completion of Sophomore Year Necessary for Eligibility.

Candidates for Rhodes scholarships must file applications by noon of Nov. 1 in the office of Dr. C. H. Oldfather, chairman of the university committee. It was announced Saturday. These scholarships are tenable at the University of Oxford during 1934, and are open to thirty-two men from the United States.

Blanks, to be obtained at Dr. Oldfather's office, will ask the applicant to make a statement of his activities while in the university, his chief interests, and his reason for desiring to go to Oxford. The committee will demand, also, to see his credit book, containing the list of subjects studied, and grades received. On Nov. 4, this committee will choose not more than five candidates to represent the university before the state committee early in January. The other schools in the state will also send their representatives to this committee.

Two Candidates Chosen. Nebraska will be represented before the district committee by two candidates who will be selected from these applicants. The United States is divided into eight districts of six states each. With Nebraska are grouped: Minnesota, South Dakota, Iowa, Missouri, and Kansas. From the twelve men to appear before this district

FIFTY-SIX STAFF MEMBERS OF YEAR BOOK ARE CHOSEN

Permanent Awards of Positions Set for November 1.

Fifty-six students were selected as temporary appointees for positions on the editorial and business staffs of the 1934 Cornhusker, according to an announcement made yesterday.

Appointments are temporary, November 1 being set as the date for permanent awarding of positions. Those applicants not listed were temporarily ineligible but will be given consideration when the final staff is chosen. Assignments are to be given out at three o'clock on Monday, when appointments report to the Cornhusker office.

In line with the policy of the year-book chiefs, no political favoritism has been shown in the temporary selections. Representation of the three political factions is almost evenly divided, there being nine Yellow Jackets, eight Blue Shirts and seven Barbs, selected from the 140 applicants.

"Everyone may work who is interested," states Woodrow Magee, editor of the annual. "Selection for permanent positions is entirely on a competitive basis. We need

Nebraskan Presents Rotogravure Section

Beginning with this issue, The Daily Nebraskan will present weekly to its readers a complete pictorial review of events that happen in the college world in Collegiate Digest, a rotogravure section that is included with your subscription to this newspaper.

Collegiate Digest will present each week a complete review of events that happen in the collegiate world, and will keep the readers of The Daily Nebraskan in touch with the important events that happen on every campus in the United States.

Collegiate Digest will give every student the opportunity of following educational, scientific, and student activities that happen throughout the United States, and will thereby give all students an opportunity to compare their activities with those of other students in other institutions.

Heads Drive

ALL DIRECTORY COPY READY FOR CHECKING

Lists Will Remain Posted Until Thursday for Correction.

Lists of all students have been posted in Social Science hall for final corrections on Student Directory copy, according to information received yesterday from Frank Crabill, editor of the publication. The lists will remain on the bulletin board until Thursday of this week, he said.

He urged all students to examine the information concerning themselves as soon as possible and make any necessary corrections. As soon as the lists are taken down, they will be sent to the printer, and final printing of the directory will start, the editor declared.

Lists will also be posted in Ag hall on the agricultural college campus for correction. They will be posted thru Wednesday night also.

Louise Pound Serves On Advisory Council

Dr. Louise Pound of the department of English at the University of Nebraska has accepted an invitation from the dramatic league of St. Louis to serve as a member of the advisory council to formulate plans for a national folk-festival to be held in connection with the opening of the new municipal auditorium at St. Louis in 1934.

ATHLETIC TICKETS. WILL SELL FOR $6

Intensive Three-Day Campaign Starts Monday Morning When Members of Women's Pep Organization Solicit Orders on Campus.

INNOCENTS, MORTAR BOARDS, COBS SUPPORT

Admission to All Athletic Events Included in One; Identifications Required When Purchase Is Made, Sales Leaders Indicate.

Rallying under their campaign slogan, "Tassels Have It," members of the girls' pep organization begin an intensive three-day athletic ticket sale drive Monday morning when they start soliciting orders.

Headed by their president, Anne Bunting, as campaign manager, the pepsters have been promised support by Corn Cobs, Innocents, and Mortar Boards, who will cooperate in the drive. This is the first year the ticket campaign has been under the direction of a single student organization.

COMMITTEE PICKS 5 VARSITY YELL KINGS

Fisher, Johnson, Easterday, Morava, Flansburg, Finkle Named.

TRYOUTS IN COLISEUM

Five new varsity cheerleaders were selected in the final tryouts yesterday morning by a faculty committee of three men. Ed Fisher, senior from Falls City and a member of last year's yell squad, will head the squad this season.

The new members of the squad are: Owen Johnson, Stromsburg; Dan Easterday, Lincoln; Emmett Morava, Omaha; Charles Flansburg, Lincoln; and Beverly Finkle, Lincoln. The faculty committee who picked the men was composed of Captain Walter T. Scott, Herb Yenne, and Prof. F. W. Lantz.

The tryouts yesterday morning in the coliseum climaxed two weeks of intensive training and practice under the direction of head yell king Ed Fisher. All applicants were given a chance yesterday morning in individual yells and in groups of three.

The selection committee recommended that the yell leaders be shifted from one side of the stadium to the other at different games during the season. Teams of three men will be changed and assigned to different sides before each game.

"The men we picked show excellent promise of being outstanding cheerleaders," Prof. Lantz said yesterday.

Various and Sundry Means of Earning Livings Occur to University Students

Restaurant and Cafe Jobs Are Most Popular Money Earning Methods.

"Hashers," bus boys, shoe salesmen, "hoppers," car washers, watch repairmen, in fact, almost any business or profession has at least one representative in the lists of university students working part time in Lincoln.

Unusual as the tasks done by the college boys, but conscientious is their work, employers of labor in the city relate.

One of the most unusual means of earning a living is the way followed by a junior in the college of engineering. He terms himself the "Campus Watchman" and proceeds to vouch for his ability with a record of six year's experience.

One boy earns his way thru school on the proceeds of his fine dairy project. Milk and first rate cream are sold by him as well as the cattle that produce the milk and cream. A prize winner, too, in the various competitions makes his cattle at a premium when put on the auction block. In the recent state fair, his cattle carried off the lion's share of the honors. He is a freshman in the college of agriculture.

Employers say that they can always use good experienced shoe salesman, but regret the fact that college men are usually not fitted in this line. However, there are a good many students who work part time in the various department stores selling shoes.

The list of jobs filled by the students at this university would be far too long to compile or to print, but among the most popular means of earning a living are janitorial work, all kinds of salesmen, runners from delivery trucks and "hashing."

One unusual position filled by a college boy is the job of a carpet layer in a downtown department store. In the same store, several men are employed as card writers.

Just how many students are employed this year is rather hard to tell, as yet, since the lists have not been compiled by the registrar's office. J. D. Epp, employment director in the dean of student affairs' office, estimates that approximately the same number are working this year as last. Last year, 25 percent of the women were employed and 40 percent of the men.

The employment bureau in the dean's office has been very busy this year, Mr. Epp relates. He said that over 300 boys had made application to him for work and that a good many of these had been placed. A great deal of his work this year, he said, was simply in suggesting persons upon whom
