LIST TWENTY-EIGHT FOR TRIP TO AMES

Bible Chooses Large Squad for Journey to Iowa State; Penney Doubtful Starter Saturday But Rest Of Team in Shape for Cyclone Game.

HUSKERS SHOW UP POORLY AGAINST FROSH
Veenker's Men Effectually Stop Squad Using Nebraska Plays While Cornhuskers Face Difficulties of Light Line and Need for Blocking.

Twenty-eight men have been selected by Coach Bible to make the initial trip of the season, Friday to Ames, where the Huskers will meet the Cyclones Saturday afternoon at 2:30 in what will be both teams' debut in Big Six circles.
 "On every occasion when in doubt of the men who should make the trip," Coach Bible said, "I selected those men who were the more able and speedier blockers."
 During the drills which have been taking place in the past week Bible has been stressing the necessity of effective and speedy blocking, and the players who consistently performed well in this department are those who are making the Ames trip.
Husker Line is Light.
 At the present time five of the seven regulars in the line weigh something less than the normal line average. These men are Bruce Kilbourne, end 177; Lee Penney, end 171; Clair Bishop, guard 161; Warren DeBus, guard 171; and Franklin Meier, center, 175. The tackles are the only positions on the line which have weight up to par. Therefore it is necessary to consider effective and speedy blocking in the makeup of such a light team.
 In addition to these difficulties in meeting the Cyclones Saturday will be the fact that Lee Penney, veteran end, will most probably be out of the starting lineup. Altho Penney has received the doctor's permission to participate in the Ames conflict, the coaching staff is of the opinion that it would be foolish to make him play unless his presence is imperative. Roby will therefore probably represent the Scarlet and Cream on the left wing.
Varsity Unimpressive.
 In Wednesday's scrimmage against the freshmen the Husker varsity squad made rather a poor showing, being able to put the ball across the yard line only after three futile attempts. Jack Miller finally edged out the required distance on the final attempt. Three other markers were chalked up before the first and second string called it a day.
Ames Has Veteran Team.
 On the Cyclone side of the picture things looked decidedly different. The Husker plays as scouted by an Ames man were of no avail against the Iowa State strong defense. The yearlings employed Nebraska plays with little or no success.
 Three sophomores and eight veterans will most likely represent the Ames outfit in their battle with the Scarlet and Cream tomorrow afternoon. Frank Hook, letterman, will probably be at their left end, with Amos Dana at the right wing berth. Paul Berger, sensational player in the Denver game, is scheduled for the left tackle post. Three more lettermen, George Smith, Dwight Garner and Magnus Lichter will start at the guard posts and center, respectively. The backfield veterans include fullback Don Theophilus and halfback Marlow Williams.
 The roster of men from Nebraska scheduled to make the trip is:
 Ends: Bruce Kilbourne, Lincoln; James Milne, Crawford; Lee Penney, Taylor, Ia.; John Roby, Nelso; Bernard Scherer, Lincoln; Virgil Yetkin, Lincoln.
 TACKLES: Leland Coppel, Rosalie; Gail O'Brien, Omaha; Walter Plum, Imperial; Carroll Reese, Chappell; Russell Thompson, Whiteside.
 GUARDS: Clair Bishop, Lincoln; Warren DeBus, Belleville, Kas.; Ladas Hubka, Table Rock; Glenn Justice, Grand Island; Neal Mehring, Grand Island.
 CENTERS: Franklin Meier, Lincoln; Elmer Hubka, Virginia; Glenn Jones, Omaha.
 BACKS: Hubert Boswell, Lincoln; Robert Benson, Pender; Gerald LaNoue, Winona; Jack Miller, Omaha; Bernie Masterson, Lincoln; Rollin Parsons, Lincoln; George Sauer, Lincoln; Glenn Siewes, Imperial and John Williams, Lincoln.

BIG SIX SCHEDULE OPENS WITH TWO TILTS SATURDAY
Nebraska Meets Iowa State In Feature Game of Week-End.

Saturday afternoon will open the Big Six conference season when the Nebraska Cornhuskers meet Iowa State at Ames and the Kansas State Wildcats take on Missouri in Columbia. Nebraska will be favored over the Cyclones because of a strong showing against the Texan Longhorns. Coach George Veenker of the Cyclones has been pitting his men against Nebraska plays in preparation for the contest.
 Over in Columbia, Mo., preparation is being made to welcome the Kansas Aggie aggregation with the first defeat by the Tigers in five years. The return of George Maddox to the Aggie backfield has bettered the latter's chances for coming out on top Saturday. The Wildcats defeated the Emporia Teacher's college two weeks ago in a "warmup game," while Mizou took a beating at the hands of the Kirksville Teachers. Coach McMillen also has a weight advantage and has by far the better record in past years for victories. Carideo has had some trouble the last week with student spirit, inviting the complainers "to rub shoulders with the men before kicking."

Kansas Meets Tulsa.
 In Lawrence, Kas., Ad Lindsey is taking things easy, drilling his backfield men on their weak points as shown in the Notre Dame game, primarily kicking and punting. The reserves have scrimmaged the freshmen to build up more reserve strength. Peterson and Brinkman have been added to the reserves, demoted from the regular rank. The Jayhawkers meet another outside conference foe this week in the strong Tulsa team that defeated Oklahoma the week before. The Kansans, however, will be favored to take the contest by quite a margin in view of their tie with the South Bend team.
In Sooner Circles.
 Carey Fuqua, sophomore quarterback, has been added to the backfield by Coach Hardage after experimenting with various backfield combinations, preparing for the Texas meeting in Austin. The Varsity squad drilled on signals while the Freshmen scrimmaged the reserves on a muddy field most of the week.

IT SEEMS TO ME by Irvin Ryan
 In the last two years the Nebraska squad has been unable to score a single touchdown against the Ames team in the second half. On the other hand the Iowa State gridmen never considered their cause lost until the final gun was blown and as a result they almost nosed out Nebraska in these instances. Again the Ames outfit put up such a hard fight that numerous Husker players are usually unavailable for the following game the week after.
 In the library of the University of Indiana are many valuable Japanese prints which had been used as wrapping paper many years ago and found just recently in a trash heap.
