

Camera Records Sooner-Husker Tilt

The Camera Man Says - -

1. Nebraska's goal line is crossed. With the ball on the Cornhusker 1-yard line, Dunlap, of Oklahoma, provided the necessary drive to carry it across.
2. Miller, of the Cornhuskers, sweeps his own left end. This Omaha lad, co-captain of the day, was consistent ground-gainer for Nebraska.
3. In the closing minutes of the game, Sauer carrying the ball pre- pares for sharp resistance from Coker, the Sooner end, who forces Sauer out of bounds after a 5 yard gain.
4. Nebraska's second touchdown. On a lateral pass, Miller skirted the Sooner right end for 6 of Nebraska's 10 earned points.
5. A tangled mass with no one going anywhere in particular. Note the loving embrace of DeBus of Nebraska, and Gentry, the Oklahoma tackle.
6. The crowd of 18,000 leaves the stadium after the game.
7. Miller takes a lateral pass and gains 7 yards before he is hauled down by Fleetwood, the Oklahoma center.
8. The band's drum-major for the day was the young son of Capt. G. W. Sperry, of the Military Science Department.
9. Bill Panze, the Oklahoma ace, found Nebraska's forward wall too substantial for his pleasure. Boswell (No. 23) is about to add the finishing touch to the resistance of his line.

groups, each being informed as to what his particular duties were. Two more contests loom up on the Husker horizon before the title of Big Six is to be conferred upon any member. These are tilts with Missouri, which battle takes place at Columbia this week end, and another the following week with Kansas, which is scheduled for Memorial stadium. Finishing their conference fights much earlier this year than in previous years, the Huskers will then be ready to meet some strong intersectional opponents.

In defeating Oklahoma 16 to 7 Nebraska became the only undefeated member in conference circles, Kansas university losing to the Aggies, 6 to 0. As the Nebraska outfit is given a considerable edge over Missouri this next week end they are virtually a clinch to at least tie honors with another school for the conference championship.

Jack Miller, who suffered a hip injury in Saturday's fray, will probably be out of the lineup when the Huskers meet the Tigers, Nov. 4. Miller hurt his hip when making a long end sweep.

However, "Bud" Parsons, former Jackson high star who was unable to play last Saturday because of an ankle injury, will be able to play in Miller's stead. Parsons was injured in the Kansas State game two weeks ago. Parsons was on the bench in the Oklahoma game, ready to enter if needed, but the early touchdown relieved any chance of the necessity and his help was not deemed necessary.

The winners, if they desire to receive the Daily Nebraskan, should call at the booth in Social Science hall. The name will already be on the list. The only work required will be the reading.

HUSKERS RIDING ON CREST IN BIG SIX GRID BATTLE

Scarlet Leading With Three Victories and No Losses; Aggies Second.

MISSOURI NEXT GAME

Kansas, Oklahomat Meet at Norman; Kansas State Goes to Michigan.

BIG SIX STANDINGS.

Team	W	L	T	Pct.	Pl.	Opp.
Nebraska	3	0	0	1.000	45	7
Kansas State	2	1	1	.667	39	9
Oklahoma	2	1	1	.500	28	23
Kansas	2	1	1	.500	21	46
Missouri	1	0	2	.333	21	46
Northwestern	2	0	2	.500	6	47

Another week of Big Six competition has gone by the boards and Nebraska is where she was a week ago, at the top of the standings, with three victories and no defeats marked up to credit. But the Oklahoma eleven proved to be a difficult burble to clear, and the Huskers were scored on for the first time this year, the score being made thru what was previously reputed to be an impregnable line. Luckily for the Bible team, all other conference teams have gone down in conference defeat at least once, thus making the Scarlet outlook much brighter than it has been before. The idea is that they need win only one out of the remaining two conference battles to tie for the championship. However, they stand as favorites against both Kansas and Missouri. Missouri comes this weekend, and on Armistice day, which does double duty, being homecoming day here in Lincoln, Kansas comes to town to do battle with the Nebraska outfit.

Room for Improvement.
Before these other two Big Six games Coach Bible looks for the necessity of developing much better playing ability than they showed in the Oklahoma fracas. Kansas State started Kansas on the right road to the land of the unknowns, scoring a 6 to 0 win over the Jayhawks, by virtue of a pass, Morgan to Stoner. It was the vaunted Manhattan passing attack which nearly meant the Huskers doom there a week ago.

The two cellar teams of the conference got together Saturday at Ames, Missouri and Iowa State battling each other to see which eleven could hang up its initial victory. Iowa State came out on the long end of the score with a 14 to 7 victory. Even at that they had a tough time doing it. Bill Allender, sophomore back, being responsible for both touchdowns, one of them coming in the final five minutes of play. Missouri looks like the goods to stay in the deep, dark basement, but this weekend they meet the Huskers. In this game they often show their peculiar habit of rising from their doldrums and furnishing the fans with a thriller. Two years ago the Tigers were punk in the opinion of the Husker team and fans, but they were good enough to battle the Scarlet stringently to an 0 to 0 tie.

Kansas Against Sooners.
Kansas meets Oklahoma at Norman in what is always the feature game of the home season in the Sooner university town. The Sooners will go into the tilt as favorites, because of the hard battle they furnished Nebraska, and because Kansas has shown almost no scoring power this season. They have scored one touchdown all fall. But in the Jayhawk eleven lies lots of potential power, which may come into evidence at any time. They have two fine backs in Ormand Beach and Dumm, both of these men having turned in fine performances last year.

Ames and Aggies Travel.
Iowa State and Kansas State go out of the conference for their frays, the Ames eleven meeting Iowa at Iowa City, and the Aggies traveling to East Lansing, Mich., to try their mettle against the highly touted Michigan State team. Last week the Hawkeyes went against the strong Minnesota Gophers, and sustained their first defeat of the season, 19 to 7, simply because the Minneapolis crew had too much man power. Michigan State downed the undefeated Syracuse team from New York, prancing thru to a 27 to 3 victory. Iowa should trim Iowa State, having already hung up a 7 to 0 victory against Northwestern and a 26 to 7 against Wisconsin. Iowa State has looked notably weak so far. Kansas State is carrying the banner of the western Mississippi valley to the Great Lakes region when it meets the East Lansing eleven, and will have as its task the upholding of the reputation already established by teams from this region this fall.

OKLAHOMA FARCE SHOWS NEBRASKA MUST WORK HARD

Bible Is Especially Worried About Team's Lack of Scoring Punch.

TWO MORE BIG SIX TILTS

Blocking on the Offense Also Come In for Good Deal Of Attention.

Emerging from one of the most hectic and disappointing week ends which the Bible clan has experienced yet this season, the Husker squad spent the major portion of Monday's drill in rebuilding their blocking offense, which suffered intensely in Saturday's game against the Oklahoma Sooners. Attention was also given to the formidable array of fumbles and penalties received by the home team. Inability of the Huskers to deliver at the crucial moments, when inside the 10 yard line, showed the need for further work on scoring plays. Sadly lacking the essential punch to drive across touchdowns when in this territory has made the Scarlet and Cream stock slump considerably during the past two weeks.

Unless the blocking is bettered to a point where few if any opportunities to score are allowed to slide by without being utilized, then the Scarlet is likely to find itself short, later in the season, when such opportunities are not likely to knock more than once or twice at the same door.

Another uneasy aspect of the situation is the way in which the Oklahoma Sooners achieved their lone touchdown. A weak thrust off tackle netted the required two yards which cleared away to some extent the awe surrounding the Huskers' forward wall.

In order to impress the corrections upon the players while the mistakes were still fresh in their minds, Coach Bible ran the team through a light workout before dismissing them. The scrimmage was concerned mainly with the necessity of good timing in the blocking offense. Prior to this the squad was divided into small
