Petitions Seeking Reform On Prom Committee Are Approved.

Tickets for the Interfraternity Ball, to be held in the University Coliseum Saturday, Feb. 10, go on sale today. Tickets are priced at $1.50.

Reports of Norman Prucka, chairman of the committee in charge of the annual interfraternity party, indicate that arrangements are rapidly being completed for the affair. The new permanent decorations will be used in the coliseum with additional decorations appropriate for the occasion.

Joy Plays for Event.

Jimmie Joy's orchestra, now under contract in Minneapolis, Minn., has been engaged to play for the ball. "The Interfraternity Ball, with Joy's orchestra, brings another musical high light to this campus," stated chairman Prucka.

The council voted to favor the petitions which will be presented to the Student Council this afternoon, one for equal representation of both junior and senior classes on the prom committee and the other to establish a faculty committee to supervise all student elections.

President Robert Thiel was authorized to appoint a committee to confer with the management of local hotels in regard to the matter of coat checking facilities at downtown parties. The committee will endeavor to effect an agreement with hotel managers whereby students attending parties will not be burdened with the "extra charge" for checking coats and hats.

BIRTHDAY DANCE ATTRACTS CROWD OF 950 COUPLES

Honor President Roosevelt At an Informal Affair Tuesday Night.

A crowd, estimated at about nine hundred and fifty couples attended the president's birthday dance, held at the University of Nebraska Coliseum last night. Exceeded only by the attendance at the Military Ball, this marked one of the largest gatherings at such an event this year.

One of the main events of the evening came when the American Legion drum corps, the Spanish-American war veterans, and the Pershing Rifles gave a salute to the president, escorting the national colors onto the floor. Fifty-two Boy Scouts each bearing a lighted candle symbolical of the president's birthday, stood in a line across the coliseum stage. Members of all reserve military organizations appeared in uniform.

Loud speakers installed at the coliseum for the occasion made it possible for everyone attending the ball to hear President Roosevelt's address and the radio program from 10:15 to 11:15 o'clock. Music for the dancing was furnished by the orchestras of Eddie Jungbluth and Leo Beck.

The affair in Lincoln was one of $6,000 such balls held all over the country in honor of President Roosevelt's fifty-second birthday. The proceeds from all the balls will be used to create an endowment for the Warm Springs Foundation for infantile paralysis, of which the president is the head.

The balls ranged in size from a huge one at the Waldorf-Astoria, which the president's mother attended to one at Cherry Valley, Ill., which was attended by fifteen couples.

Talks at the ball in Washington attended by the diplomatic corps and cabinet officials and their wives, were reported to have sold for as high as $1,000.

Backers of the nationwide celebration expected to realize 2 million dollars from the balls, for the care of the inmates of the foundation.

PLAYERS CHOOSE MYSTERY DRAMA AS NEXT VEHICLE

'Dangerous Corner' Opens Week's Run at Temple On February 5.

HAS CAST OF SEVEN

Ingenious Devices Are Used To Build Up Fast Moving Plot.

"Dangerous Corner," J. B. Priestley's ultra-sophisticated mystery which kept blasé New Yorkers on the edge of their seats for the more than nine months that it ran on Broadway, has been chosen as the next vehicle of the University Players and will open in the Temple theater for a week's run starting Feb. 5.

A killing, truth-telling, and some of the most ingenious devices known to theater trade are used to build up a fast moving, adventurous plot that never fails to thrill audiences.

The play is produced with a cast of seven individuals, giving the players an opportunity to select one of the best possible casts. This greater selectivity, Harold "Pete" Sumption, director, says, makes each role portrayed in the best possible manner.

Jane McLaughlin as Maude Mockridge, Veronica Vilnave as Freda Chatfield, and Sylvia Schaefer as Olwen Peel head the women portion of the cast. Virgine McBride also appears as Betty Whitehouse.

There are but three male roles in the production, these being played by Harold "Pete" Sumption, Melvin Fielder and Armand Hunter. Sumption is, of course, the best actor in the cast, having had considerable experience as an actor on Broadway. Hunter has long been a favorite of university players' audiences, having portrayed the lead roles in this year's shows. Fielder is a newcomer to the Players, but he appeared in a number of children's theater productions this year.

VESPERS ATTENDANTS HEAR REV. JOHNSTON

Speaks to Student Group in Tuesday Evening Meeting.

The poem "Open My Eyes, That I May See" was the basis of the talk given by Reverend Paul Johnston of Westminster Presbyterian church, at Vespers Tuesday evening.

Reverend Johnston explained that fog is merely an earthly circumstance as is the so called fog of misunderstanding. He offered as a solution to the fog which envelops understanding, the development of an historical sense.

Only through studying the trial and error of others does he believe people are able to enrich the perspective and establish foresight. "But all—hindsight, foresight, and insight—finally come from high sight and the teachings of Jesus," he declared.

Present Educational Problem Is to Eliminate Aristocratic Procedure And Organization, States Henzlik

"The solution of our present educational problem is to eliminate those elements of aristocratic organization and procedure, which have been brought over from Europe and which now dominate and enervate our educational system," states F. E. Henzlik, dean of Teachers college, editorially in the recently published issue of the Educational Research Record, official publication of Teachers college and the bureau of education research. "The American public schools were established as a foundation upon which to build a democracy," explains Dean Henzlik. "Through the nation's history our political and educational leadership has stressed the necessity of teaching all the boys and girls of all the people. In this philosophy American civilization is distinguished from ancient and European civilizations which have always neglected if not abused the masses."

ASK FOR CHANGE IN JUNIOR-SENIOR PROM COMMITTEE

Propose Equal Membership From Each Class; To Council Today.

SUBMIT TWO PETITIONS

Would Use Faculty Group To Supervise Campus Elections.

Two petitions asking for changes in student government and the management of student activities will be presented to the Student Council this evening.

The main provisions of the petitions are that (1) the membership of the Junior-Senior Prom committee should be altered to include representatives of the senior class, and that (2) the Constitution of the Student Council should be amended to set up a faculty standing committee to supervise all campus elections.

"The seniors should have an interest in the Junior-Senior Prom, according to Lee Young, president of the senior class and sponsor of the petition. "The idea that the juniors give the parties for the seniors is exploded when the seniors are charged the same as anybody else. It would be impossible under present conditions for the juniors and seniors to give separate parties of the caliber of the single affair given at this time."

"It seems to me," continued Young, "that the only alternative is that seniors should be included on the committee administering the party given in the interest of the two classes. Seniors should be given an interest in an affair which is supposed to be their own."

"Tradition should mean something," said Burt Marvin, president of the junior class in commenting upon the proposed changes. The whole idea of the party would be lost if the composition of the group were changed. The students know that the party is sponsored by the Junior class in honor of the Seniors and the re-alignment on the committee would lose sight of that fact."

"None of the declared purposes of the act would really be carried out, was the belief expressed by Marvin. "Six seniors, not the senior class, would have a part in the arrangements, the seniors would still be without their bids, politics would still be inherent, with six juniors included and a tradition would be spoiled."

The petition re-arranging the Junior-Senior Prom Committee as it will be submitted to the council urges that "the personnel of the Junior-Senior Prom Committee" should be changed "from six men and six women in the Junior class to three men and three women in the junior and senior classes."

An amendment to the constitution of the Student Council is called for in the petition providing "a standing committee will be appointed from the faculty to supervise the balloting and counting of the votes in EACH AND EVERY campus election, what- (Continued on Page 2.)
