WHITE CALLS FOR STUDENT SUPPORT OF DEBATE TODAY

Nebraska Arguers Vie With Iowa State Team in Social Science.

FIRST CAMPUS CONTEST Fate of Future Meets Here Depends on Interest This Afternoon.

Arguing the question of the permanent enlargement of the powers of the president Charles Steadman and Jack Pace will defend the negative for Nebraska against a team from Iowa State college in an open debate in Social Sciences auditorium this afternoon at 3 o'clock.

"This is the first debate on the campus this year," according to Prof. H. A. White, debate coach, "and the practice will not be continued unless there is adequate support of the idea. I hope students will attend today. Otherwise these discussions will be scheduled before other local groups."

Two Contests Thursday.

On Thursday the varsity will have two engagements, one with the Marysville State Teachers college before the Knife and Fork club at a noon luncheon and the other with Morningside college in a broadcast over station KFOP at 5 o'clock. Dwight Perkins and Irving (Continued on Page 2.)

LEROSSIGNOL BEGINS NIGHT CLASS SERIES

Dean of Bizad College Will Open First of Fifteen Lectures Tonight.

TO DISCUSS SOCIALISM

Dean J. E. LeRossignol of the college of business administration will speak Wednesday evening, Feb. 7, in Social Science building on the subject "Utopian Socialism." This lecture, on a currently interesting topic, introduces a series of fifteen such addresses to be given as part of the semester's night class program in economics.

Under the title "Economic Problems of the Present Day," the first two of the lectures will be given by Dean LeRossignol, while the last three will be by Karl M. Arndt, associate professor of economics and expert in the field of money and banking at the university. One will be presented each week on Wednesday evening, and each will deal with a widely discussed current problem in the field. Those desiring credit may register for two hours, and others may arrange to audit the course.

Having spent many years studying the problem of socialism, Dean LeRossignol has an able background for his opening talk. "It is an interesting series of subjects," he said, in speaking of the course. "We shall probably have to revise our notes at the last minute of the day we are to speak, because of the constant change going on in the world, and because we are discussing such fresh issues. We realize the worldwide tendencies toward socialism and fascism, and we shall treat the subjects from a world standpoint rather than as if America alone were concerned."

Besides the lectures on socialism and fascism, other topics for discussion are entitled: Service vs. profit in business, reparations and war debts, international trade, and the recovery program, how the codes are operating, financing the farmer, the new dollar, and inflation.

Daily Average Temperature This January Six Degrees Above That Of Year Ago; Pressure Is Abnormal

Contrary to the general belief that we are experiencing both extremely dry and warm weather, comes a contradiction of this popular notion from the United States weather bureau to the effect that really there has been 61 inches more precipitation the last three months than the average in former years. With hardly any rain or snow to mention in November, January, and the first of February, practically all the moisture fell in December, which month contributed 1.63 inches of rain to the total of 2.52 inches during the past three months.

TAKE CORN COB PICTURE

Men's Pep Organization Will Meet at Campus Studio Thursday Noon.

The Corn Cob picture, which was originally scheduled to be taken Tuesday noon at the campus studio, has been postponed till Thursday noon. Henry Kosman, in an announcement Tuesday afternoon, urged that all members be at the campus studio at noon Thursday in their Corn Cob uniforms.

In the near future, according to Kosman, president of the pep club, plans will be made by the organization for a spring party and dinner dance.

UNIVERSITY CWA PROJECTS REACH CLOSING STAGES

Two Shifts of 65 Laborers Working to Complete Practice Grids.

FEB. 15 IS DEADLINE

Tennis Court and Stadium Improvements Last to Be Undertaken.

With Thursday, Feb. 15, set as the deadline for CWA work completion on this campus, workmen are rapidly bringing the various university projects to a close. After the deadline date set by the federal administration no more funds will be submitted to go for wages of laborers.

Since the middle of December workmen have been grading the old south practice field in the stadium area into a larger tract which is to provide for three football practice grids. Two shifts of sixty-five laborers each have been working constantly on the project in an effort to complete the undertaking before time is up. During the two months of work straw has been used to cover the soil to prevent its freezing, although during most of the time temperatures have been so mild that straw was unnecessary. Besides the grading the track has also been revised, being shortened about 2 1/2 yards to a 400 meter distance instead of the old 440 yard length. The chute from which the dash and hurdle events started has also been sacrificed to make room for the filling in with ground which is to make the north ends of the three practice fields.

COMMERCIAL CLUB TO ELECT OFFICERS

Fifteen Men Nominated for Offices in Bizad Society.

The election of officers of the men's commercial club for this semester will take place Wednesday night at the meeting in the club room at 8 o'clock.

Fifteen candidates have been nominated to head the Bizad college club's functions. The three nominees for president are Gerald Spurlock, Max Nusbaum, and Edward Severy; for vice president, William Wimpenny, Delno Stage-man, and Ray Elliott; treasurer, Edward Gidner, Edwin Pohlman, Lumir Bock, secretary, Harold Barnes, Harold Winqest, and Leslie Wied.

Nominations for Bizad Executive committee are Lester Prokop, Howard Roberts, and Robert Eby.

FRATERNITY BALL PROVIDES THEME IN NEW AWGWA

February Issue of Humor Magazine Appears This Morning.

COVER DESIGN FEATURE Publication Displays New Column, Cartoons and Original Jokes.

"The Missing Bid," as portrayed in the four color cover design by Marvin Robinson, is the feature of the Interfraternity ball issue of the Awgwan, university humor publication, which will go on sale this morning in booths located in Andrews, Social Science, and Mechanical Arts buildings, according to Rosalie Lamme, editor of the magazine. An embarrassed lad who finds his bid missing when he is entering the party, is portrayed in the design.

Expect Large Sales.

"I expect large sales for the February issue of the Awgwan, which goes on sale this morning, to surpass those of any previous number this year," stated Carlyle Sorenson, business manager of the magazine. He declared that copies of the Awgwan would be sold in downtown news stands as well as at the booths in the various buildings.

JIMMY JOY WILL PLAY FRATERNITY SONGS AT PARTY

Patterson Announces All Housemothers to Be Guests of Honor.

Songs of fraternities represented on the Nebraska campus will be featured by Jimmy Joy and his orchestra at the annual Interfraternity ball, second major event of the formal season, Saturday night, Feb. 10, at the coliseum, according to a statement made yesterday afternoon by Leslie Rood, music chairman of the committee in charge of the affair. Rood stated that correspondence with the orchestra leader had supplied the information that the orchestra, which is now playing at the Lowry hotel in Minneapolis and broadcasting daily over radio station WCCO, was working up arrangements of these songs to play at the ball. They obtained the music for these songs from fraternities at the University of Minnesota.

The orchestra also includes as part of its regular program a number of popular fraternity songs, Rood said. As a special feature for the Interfraternity ball here, they will augment their program with several new melodies of Greek organizations. Housemothers of all fraternities on the campus will be guests of honor at the ball Saturday night, Bill Patterson, member of the committee in charge of chaperons for the event, stated yesterday. He announced that the complete list of chaperons for Saturday night would be ready tomorrow.

HARDWICK CONTINUES CAMPUS TALKS TODAY

Sigma Chi, Acacia, and Beta Theta Pi Will Hear Lecturer.

"Jim" Hardwick will speak at the Sigma Chi house today noon in a series of lectures which he is giving to fraternities and to other student groups. Tonight he will speak to the Acacia house at 6 p. m. and at the Beta Theta Pi house at the pledges at 9 p. m. Thursday he will speak to the Phi Gamma Delta members at 6 p. m. and to the Alpha Sigma Phi house at 9 p. m. Friday he will speak to the Delta Chi men at 6 p. m.

Hardwick will be in Lincoln until February 14 and he will speak three times daily if the number of student groups who demand his presence is great enough.

LAW BULLETIN IS ISSUED

Feature of Publication Is Article by Prof. Hanna Of Columbia.

One of the features of the quarterly law bulletin which was issued Tuesday is an article by Professor Hanna of the Columbia law school entitled "Aspects of Recent Bankruptcy Legislation."

The publication also contains an article by Warren A. Seavey of the Harvard law school and notes and cases by students of the law school.

HENDRICKS WILL LECTURE BEFORE RELIGIOUS GROUP

Meeting of Council to Be Held Thursday in Temple.

Dr. B. C. Hendricks, chairman of faculty committee of the Council of Religious Welfare, will give a talk to that body Thursday at 4 p. m. at the Temple building. The subject is "What Constitutes a Workable Religious Message and Program."

Dr. Hendricks attended as a delegate of the university, the Tri Annual Conference of Religious Workers upon university and college camp. The conference was held Jan. 16, 17, 18, at St. Louis. Members were present from as far distant places as Oregon, Louisiana, Michigan and New York.

The program included addresses from President Jessup of Iowa State college, Doctor Smith, pastor of the church adjacent to University of Missouri at Columbia and President Florence of Lincoln university for Negroes. The final evening was the joint banquet with the Association of American Colleges and Universities which was held at the same time.

The Council of Religious Welfare at Nebraska is composed of three groups. The faculty as A, the pastors as B, and the students as C group. The B group is composed of one rabbi, one priest, and the pastors of various protestant denominations.

Dr. Hendricks makes the statement that the work done by different educational institutions for religious welfare of their students seems to vary all the way from efforts put forth by local church pastors to a school of religion which is an integral part of the university organization. Our work at the University of Nebraska seems to occupy an intermediate place between these two extremes.

STUDIO THEATRE TO OPEN

Dramatics Department Plans Special Program of Four Plays.

A special program of the Studio Theatre, a new project in the dramatics department will be given Wednesday night, February 14, in the Temple Theatre at 7:30. The four plays will include Experiment, Symphony on Illusions, On Dartmoor, and Second Visit.

The casts will be composed of dramatic students, and University Players season ticket holders will be admitted without charge.

Y. W. Will Conduct Course in Art of Using the Kodak

Any girls who have spoiled pictures of a good scene because they moved their cameras at the wrong moment or let in too much light will now have the opportunity to improve their art of picture taking.

A kodakery group which may prove of vocational value will be conducted by Margaret Ward as one of the interest groups of the Y. W. C. A. for the spring semester. "Many girls have expressed the desire to learn how to develop films, and we hope to become quite accomplished by the end of the semester," Margaret stated.

CWA LOANS FOR STUDENTS WAIT OFFICIAL WORD

Hopkins Still Undecided on Basis for Awarding Relief Funds.

RESCIND ORDER ON FEES Present Set-Up Would Help Approximately 300 At Nebraska.

Officials of the university are awaiting instructions from Washington which will enable them to make student CWA loans effective as soon as the system of receiving the funds from the administration is set up. With Federal Civil Works Administrator Hopkins in doubt as to the basis of awarding money to needy students nothing definite has as yet been decided.

Monday the announcement came through from Washington that all fees must be waived for students receiving money from the CWA, but Tuesday Hopkins rescinded the order. The latter provision will make the application of the program at Nebraska possible, according to Chancellor Burnett.

The original order, requiring that fees be waived would have prevented the extension of benefits to many students, according to the chancellor. Since the original order has been revised Nebraska can participate fully when in-

GREEK PICTURES FOR CORNHUSKER CLOSE SATURDAY

Editors Reveal Innovations To Be Effected in Section.

All fraternity and sorority pictures for the Cornhusker must be taken by 5 o'clock Saturday of this week at the Rinehart and Marsden studios, according to an announcement made by Tom Davies, fraternity editor, and Roma De Brown, sorority editor of the yearbook.

The greek organization section of the yearbook will have several new features this year, it was announced. A cut of each organization's house will be printed in black on a silver background, and an extensive local and national history will be printed.

Unusual Bits of History.

The staff is making particular effort to get unusual and interesting bits of history that are not generally known. In addition there will be the usual panel of pictures, the officers, and the lists of members, their college, class, and home town.

The number of fraternity men and sorority women who will have their pictures in the section will run about the same as last year. About 70 to 75 percent of the men and 90 to 95 percent of the women will have their pictures in the annual.

SCHOLASTIC GROUP TO HEAR DEAN OLDFATHER

'Rediscovering Classical Civilization' to Be Speaker's Topic.

The next meeting of the Scholarship Lecture group, will be held on next Monday evening at the University club, according to an announcement made by Dr. Virtue, chairman of the Economics department. The Feb. 12 meeting of the group will be the second held this year and will be addressed by Dr. Charles H. Oldfather, member of the history faculty and Dean of the college of arts and sciences. His topic will be "Rediscovering the Classical Civilization."

Dr. Virtue stated that the membership in the organization is open to all persons interested in the topics discussed, students and faculty alike.

Greatest Bed of Fossil Remains In Realm of Natural History Lies Few Hundred Miles From Lincoln

The greatest bed of fossil remains ever discovered in the realm of natural history lies only a few hundred miles from Lincoln in the heart of a busy ranching and farming community. For years the people of this district went about their every day affairs, little dreaming that under their very feet lay the remains of the ancestors of the animals that earned them their livelihood, monsters more awesome than anything they had ever dreamed of.

From time to time, of course, gleaming plow shares turned up bits of bleached and whitened bone along with the rich, loamy soil, but the pieces were declared to be parts of the skeletons of buffalo killed by Indians in the early times.

COUNCIL TO OPEN FILING FOR PROM GIRL WEDNESDAY

Candidates Will Be Voted On By Those Attending Formal Affair.

SENIOR WOMEN ELIGIBLE Best Presentation Idea to Receive Ten Dollar Prize.

Filings for Prom girl will be opened when the student council holds a special meeting for that purpose tonight at 5 o'clock in the student council rooms.

Any senior girl is eligible to file for the honor and those attending the prom, which is to be held Friday, March 9, will select the winning girl when they vote at the door.

The committee for the prom is offering a ten dollar prize to any student who submits the best plan for presenting this year's prom girl. The contest opened Monday and will close Feb. 16 at 5 o'clock. In selecting the winning idea the judges will consider the scheme on the basis of originality and economy in presentation.

Must See Galloway.

All students wishing to enter the contest must consult either Charles Galloway or Arlene Bors, who are in charge of decorations and presentation, for information concerning details before commencing work on their project.

Bill Fisher and Marian Smith are co-chairman of the Prom committee and working with them will be the following sub-committees: Fred Nicklas and Roma De Brown, tickets; Charles Galloway and Arlene Bors, decorations and presentation; Owen Johnson and Bash (Continued on Page 4.)

CURRENT PLAY WELL RECEIVED BY CAMPUS

Cast of Mystery Drama Is Headed by Sumption And Hunter.

TICKET SALE IS GOOD

With a large audience in the house for the second performance of "Dangerous Corner" by the University Players, the campus today was seething with comment that the current show was the best of this year's series by the players.

A cast headed by Harold "Pete" Sumption and Armand Hunter makes a fine impression in what is one of the most sophisticated shows ever played to a university audience.

Advance sale for the remaining four nights and Saturday afternoon remained very good, but there are still many good tickets left. Business Manager Charles Hoff announced Tuesday.

The cast is as follows:

FRANKFORTER WILL SPEAK

Professor of Chemistry to Address Group About Motor Fuels.

Professor Frankforter, assistant professor of chemistry, will address a group of chemical engineers on Thursday evening at 7:30 on the fuels in modern auto engines. He will also speak briefly on the refining and testing of lubricants. The meeting will be held in the auditorium, first floor of Chemistry hall.

One day Dr. Barbour received a letter. It was from a woman in Frontier county whose husband, S. F. Kariger owned a farm north of Curtis, Nebraska. She told of some bones in the side of a ravine on their land. She had found them one day, she said, and had been breaking them off and grinding them up to feed to her chickens, but she wondered if he might be interested in them.

Dr. Barbour investigated, and the result was the largest elephant fossil ever found was brought back and placed in the museum. This was in September, 1932.

The inhabitants of the fossil region now scoff at those who speak of the United States as a "new land," and point with pride to the museum in Morrill Hall where the mute witnesses of antiquity majestically stand.
