

CAMPUSOCIETY

THEY SAY, ALTHOUGH NOTHING definite can be yet discovered, that when fillings for Junior-Senior Prom girl are announced, there will be only one name on the list. If this is true, it will be the first time for ages that there have not been at least two or more candidates. Last year three women aspired to the title, and the year before there were four. There is usually a large amount of interest evidenced in the election, and if these rumors contain any element of truth no little disappointment is in store for those who are in favor of surprises. The party is scheduled for the ninth of March, and filing will begin

FRIDAY evening offers one formal at the Cornhusker, a card party and dance at the Lindell, and two house parties, quite a few events considering the fact that the Interfraternity ball has occupied most of the social interest for the last three or four weeks.

THE ALPHA XI DELTS will entertain at a formal at the Cornhusker tomorrow evening to which about 500 guests have been invited. Chaperons for the affair will be Dr. Elizabeth Williamson, Mrs. Ella Marshall, and Mr. and Mrs. Dale Kaufman.

PLEDGES will entertain for the actives at the party at the Alpha Sig house Friday. Unusual decorations and entertainment have been planned. Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Fogerty and Professor C. T. Larsen will chaperon.

WITH THE approach of Valentines day, parties are tending more and more to use this motif in the decorations. It will be the theme of the Alpha Chi house party tomorrow evening, which about forty couples are expected to attend. Chaperoning are Dr. and Mrs. A. F. Jenness and Professor and Mrs. Roy B. Hockman.

AT THE Lindell hotel the Newman club is holding their bi-weekly dance and card party this Friday from 8:30 until 11:30. Clarence A. Forbes, Frank A. Kidwell, and Mrs. J. T. Kos have been chosen to chaperon the affair.

THE DELTS announce the pledging of Jerry Bergren of Scottsbluff.

CLEVEREST, prettiest, and funniest costumes will be selected this evening at the Cornhusker costume party in the armory, which will

CYCLONES ARE READY FOR OKLAHOMA SQUAD

Iowans Count on Defense To Stop Conference Leading Sooners.

AMES, Iowa, Feb. 7.—If keeping the ball away from Oklahoma's fast breaking team will mean the first conference victory for Iowa State here Saturday night, the Cyclones may win.

During the two week interim since the Missouri game the Cyclones have concentrated upon improving their ball handling ability and defense, early season defeats.

The biggest problem of the Cyclones will be to stop the flashy offense of the Sooners centered around Brass and Browning and Percy Main, their big southpaw, Coach Louis Menze believes.

Today and Friday the Cyclones will continue their drill on clever ball handling and some defensive work. Tomorrow the coach will give the squad a chalk talk.

No changes in the lineup are contemplated by Coach Menze.

Favell, director of Wesley Foundation.

Music will be furnished by the Epworth M. E. church octet and the Wesley Foundation cello quartet under the direction of Mr. Z. E. Matheny.

NO DECISION AS DEBATERS ARGUE WITH IOWA TEAM

a two-thirds vote, and that a public bill could be amended by congress only by a two-thirds majority. The affirmative claimed that a serious defect of the American government lay in its lack of fixed responsibility and that the arrangement they proposed would fix the responsibility for all government acts. Denying this, the negative said that the responsibility of governmental agencies to the electorate would be endangered because the closest tie the government has with the people is the legislative branch and the suggested idea would eliminate the power of this body to represent its constituents. Continuing further Nebraska asserted that the change would lead to dictatorship because of the transfer of legislative power to the executive.

Coincident advantages which the affirmative attributed to the workings of their measure were that it would tend toward the elimination of "log-rolling," excessive amendments, riders, legislative delay, and lack of consideration due public measures. Opposed to this the Nebraska speakers brought out what they said would be consequent disadvantages of the plan; that it would lead to an expensive bureaucracy, that it would cause hasty legislation, and that it would place in the hands of one man too much power to be used correctly except by an exceptional president.

The debate squad will continue its work today with two engagements, one before the noon luncheon of the Knife and Fork club against Marysville State Teachers college. The other, against Morningside, college will be broadcast over station KFOP at 5 o'clock. A negative team of Irving Hill and Dwight Perkins will represent Nebraska in both of these arguments.

"The attendance at the debate was satisfactory," according to Prof. H. A. White, director of debate. "and competitions before university audiences will be scheduled for later in the year if arrangements can be made. If there had not been a sufficient response at this contest we would not attempt to secure more of them at future dates."

Irving Hill presided at the meeting and conducted the short open forum discussion following the official debate, and Dwight Perkins was the timekeeper. Both are members of the Nebraska debate squad.

REHEARSAL FOR COLL AGRI-FUN TO BE TONIGHT

ter entertainment this year than ever before."

Among the organizations booked on the Coll-Agri-Fun program the committee announced Wednesday, are the following: Farm House fraternity, Alpha Gamma Rho fraternity, House of Father (a girls' organization), the nature of which the committee refused to disclose, the Ag college cafeteria boarding club, Farm Operators short course, Ag college chorus, Ag college boarding club, and the Hirsch Brothers organization.

Themes of the various skits will not be announced until after the Thursday night rehearsal, the committee said Wednesday. Waldo urged that students preparing skits be on hand Thursday night so that the acts might be whipped rapidly into order.

Beginning Friday morning, Mildred Tickler, committee member, said, students and faculty on both Ag college and city campuses will have their chance to get Coll-Agri-Fun tickets. The ticket sales staff will be at work Friday and Saturday, and through next week up until the day of the show, she said.

Members of the Coll-Agri-Fun committee assisting Chairman Waldo in sponsoring the 1934 production include Mildred Tickler, Catherine Agnew, Helen Steffensmeyer, Philip Henderson, and Elmer Heyne.

An advisory committee from the Ag college faculty includes the following home economics instructors: Miss Louise Leaton, Miss Evelyn Metzger and Miss Edith Carse. Ag faculty men of the advisory committee are A. W. Medlar, C. C. Minter and L. K. Crowe.

COUNCIL OPENS FILINGS TODAY FOR PROM GIRL

was voted down by the council as contrary to student opinion expressed in the recent activity tax poll. After further discussion, it was decided to resubmit the union building fund proposal to the student body at the spring election.

A resolution favoring the varsity party plan as introduced some time ago in the council, was adopted by the group. The plan as submitted would provide for a number of parties to be given in the coliseum at regular intervals throughout the school year at an approximate price of 50 or 75 cents. Control of the functions would be vested in a committee of eight appointed by the council, two members to be chosen from each of four organizations, the Interfraternity council, Panhellenic council, Barb council, and Barb A. W. S. League. Definite action on the plan is expected at the next meeting.

A brief discussion of plans for reorganization of the council was also held.

COLLEGES OFFER VARIOUS AWARDS OF SCHOLARSHIP

Bryn Mawr offers scholarships ranging from $400 to $1,200 to women interested in social case work, child welfare, or community organization.

Mount Holyoke college makes scholarships available to those who wish to continue work in botany, chemistry, archaeology, economics, English literature and drama, philosophy, religion and zoology. The universities of Minnesota, North Carolina, Iowa and Virginia also are offering scholarships.

MUST AVERT WAR DANGERS

Job Is for English Speaking Nations Says Columbia University Head.

NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—The English-speaking nations of the world must take the lead in averting dangers of a possible war, President Nicholas Murray Butler of Columbia university declared this week.

"I shall we sit by indefinitely and let the world drift, or shall we concern ourselves with the problem of leadership in a broken, impoverished and war-torn world?" he asked.

"The time is ripe and it has been ripe for the past four or five years for an eager, competent and aggressive assertion of the place in history of the philosophy of the English-speaking people."

TAYLOR TO EXHIBIT SKILL

Basketball Professional to Display Fancy Shots in Coliseum.

Charles "Chuck" Taylor, well known basketball professional from Chicago, will give an exhibition of skill and finesse in basket shooting at the Coliseum Friday, Feb. 9, at 4:00 p. m.

Mr. Taylor is quite well known here, having appeared at the Coliseum earlier in the year. He played on various professional quintets in Chicago, Philadelphia, and other eastern cities.

BORING ON CAMPUS TODAY

Will Interview Electrical Engineering Seniors On Employment.

M. M. Boring, General Electric representative of Schenectady, N. Y., is interviewing electrical and mechanical engineering seniors in the Electrical Engineering laboratory Thursday.

He is not employing anyone at present but is establishing lists for future selection. Last year he took three men who are now employed by his company.

VIRGINIA TEACHERS.

From the Rotunda we learn that certain individuals at Virginia State Teachers college are waiting on dating couples as they left the main building. Another example of that old adage: "An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure."

WASHINGTON STATE.

Interpretive dancing is the favorite physical education course among the coeds at Washington State college. From what we have observed at certain recent dances on our own campuses, this form of terpsichorean art has several enthusiastic devotees hereabouts.

Dr. Robert Gordon Sproul Challenges Accepted Theory of Higher Education

President of University of California Says College Not Meant for All.

BERKELEY, Calif., Feb. 7.—"There are many young people for whom a college or university training is not to be recommended; our society must be willing to grant that it is respectable for a young man or woman to refrain from a university career."

These statements, boldly challenging a widely accepted theory of higher education in the United States, were made this week by Dr. Robert Gordon Sproul, president of the University of California.

In discussing the question of who should or who should not go to college, Dr. Sproul expressed the opinion that it is a mistake to force such education on those who do not want it or those who cannot profit by it. He said: "We ask ourselves, 'Who should go to college?'"

"To say that nearly all boys and girls with sufficient intelligence to be graduated from a good high school have intelligence sufficient to do some type of university work is perhaps true, it is not an argument for universal higher education. It is an indictment of our lack of any sound method of classification."

Texas University Student Finds A New Delicacy in "Snake Snacks"; Uses Them in Place of Pretzels

AUSTIN, Tex., Feb. 2.—Pretzels are no longer the favorite Texas accompaniment to beer. A crunchy delicacy made from snake flesh, and called "snake snacks" is rapidly taking the place of pretzels, according to James Oliver, University of Texas student.

Oliver insists that snake meat, now being canned by factories in Florida is just as tasty as frog legs. Oliver collects and studies snakes as a hobby, and intends to make this his vocation. He's been interested in snakes ever since his grammar school days.

Studies Southern Species.

He is going to school in Texas now merely for the opportunity of studying species he could not find in the northern part of the country. Disappointed in the "hunting" he has done in Texas, Oliver explains that in the northern and middle-western states, his reptile friends gather in dens.

College World

Syracuse seniors have suggested that Syracuse coeds inaugurate a Leap Year policy for the senior ball. It seems that there are a large number of petrified males in the fraternity houses who have the necessary $5, but their courage is non-existent.

One of the prominent seniors, a coed, as the story goes, took the hint instantly, tried the new policy and secured a date without any trouble.

Another suggestion was a senior ball date bureau. The names of the majority of men attending the dance would be published in the college daily. Coeds may then communicate with any man whose name is not included in the list.

At the University of Oklahoma, one hour of entertainment, featuring song and dance numbers, will be presented at the beauty revue to be held at 7:30 Thursday night. The purpose of the revue is to select the eight members of the beauty section of the 1934 Redskin. After the eight beauties are selected their photographs will be sent to an artist who will select the order in which they will appear in the year-book.

Members of a sorority at the University of Missouri who signed a pledge not to eat more than 15 cents worth of food when they were out on a date are finding themselves most popular, according to reports.

In a recent production of Uncle Tom's Cabin presented by the University of Michigan, an attempt to jrag the hounds across the ice by leashes ended by having the curtain rung down and an early intermission.

Denver University has taken over the finances of several hard-hit Greek fraternities. The University will conduct the banking of the organizations and will collect a fee of $10 each month.

Two impressionable sorority girls fainting at the sight of a couple of bad coppers. The police escort had been furnished by a courteous police chief who sent them to escort the Oregon U girls to a university dance.

Missouri university has finally solved the ineligibility problem. Special classes are held for athletes only. These are purposely small and each man is given the individual attention of a professor who guarantees the man's future eligibility.

MINNESOTA.

While his proud fraternity brothers waited to greet him, Hedley Donovan, Rhodes scholar-elect at the University of Minnesota, went home and went to bed immediately following his election.

FUN KRUNS MILE IN FAST TIME AT CINDER TRYOUTS

Breaks Tape in 4 Minutes 30.8 Seconds; Squad Is Improving.

Glenn Funk stole the show in the track tryouts Wednesday afternoon under the stadium by running the mile in 4 minutes 30.8 seconds, the second fastest time ever made by an indoor mile under Coach Schulte. The record is 4:30.1 only 7-10 of a second faster than Funk's time. For early season work, Funk's record is remarkably good, and Coach Schulte hopes to have that speeded up a trifle by the time Kansas gets to Lincoln on the seventeenth.

The general condition of the squad was improved considerably Wednesday. England and Roberts showed up well in the quarter mile, and are expected to reach record time in the coming meet. Rist, shot-putter, was tossing the iron ball over 45 feet, and the sprinters were turning in fast times for their events.

Not Satisfied.

Coach Schulte is still not satisfied. "While the team is rounding into shape nicely," he said, "we are going to have to do much more work before we will be ready for the Jayhawks. There has been a general improvement, but whether it will be permanent or not remains to be seen. I think that now we are on the right trail to developing a good squad."

Just how much improvement has been made will be proved next Saturday, when the Huskers will be put through another tryout for speed and distance in competition against each other. Saturday's results will give a fairly good indication of what the Schultemen can do in actual intercollegiate competition. Until that time the squad will be put through its paces in an effort to build up speed and endurance.

Owen D. Young Resigns As Trustee Chairman

NEW YORK.—Owen D. Young, General Electric company executive, this week resigned as chairman of the board of trustees of St. Lawrence university in Canton, N. Y., having served for ten years. He will continue as honorary president of the board, however.
