Council Reorganization Discussed

MEETING IS HELD TO CONSIDER IDEA

Conclave Adjourned Thursday Evening After No Definite Decision Is Reached by Heads of Various Organizations on Campus.

MANY CHARGES DIRECTED AT GOVERNING BODY

Bruce Nicoll Declares Members Are in Group Merely For Political Reasons; Representation as It Now Stands Defended by John Gepson.

At a meeting of the heads of various campus organizations held in the student council room Thursday night, and which was called so that student council defects and reorganization could be considered, no progress was made. After an hour of arguing and proposals, John Gepson, president of the student governing body, who called the meeting in the face of charges made against the council, called the discussion to a close. At that time the only gain of the evening was made—he urged that the representatives think over the problem.

Charges Made.

Charges of inefficiency, mis-handling of powers, crooked elections, lack of representation of the student body and opinion, and general lethargy and indifference were leveled at the council during the course of the discussion. Members of the council who were present at the gathering offered rebuttal to several of the charges.

At the start of the meeting Bruce Nicoll, editor of the Daily Nebraskan, who started the drive for student council renovation at the start of the semester, outlined the charges he had made against the governing body, and offered bases for his arguments. He declared that the members of the council get membership by means of politics and are in the organization merely for political reasons.

Reason for Lethargy.
He pointed this out as the reason for the alleged lethargy. Secondly, he stated that if there is to be an efficient governing body

PFEILER SPEAKS ON ASPECTS OF HITLER REGIME

Relations Clubs Will Hold Conclave at Grinnell In April.

Professor Wilhelm K. Pfeiler, of the German department was the featured speaker at the meeting of the International Relations club last night, speaking on the topic of the Hitler regime. H. Francis Cunningham Jr., presented a French view of the situation and Vaughn Shaner spoke in behalf of the German attitude. "There is a feeling of mutual distrust between the French and the German nations," according to Prof. Pfeiler, "which prevents either of them from beginning the moves toward peaceful action. The Germans consider the French have not lived up to their promises following the war and the Germans themselves have ruined trust in them by the difference between what their leaders say and do." Vincent Broady, president of the group, announced a conference of representatives of International Relations clubs from several surrounding colleges to be held at Grinnell college on April 6, 7 and 8. He also mentioned recent additions made to the library of the organization.

TODAY'S NEWS Briefly Reviewed

Italian and Hungarian newspapers yesterday accused Czechoslovakia's government of complicity in fomenting rebellion in Austria. Italy's editorial mouthpiece of Mussolini said Czechs furnished ammunition to revolting socialists and the Budapest paper declared the Czech government purposely devaluated its currency to create unrest in Austria.

Fighting continued in several of Austria's outlying provinces, but principals in the revolutionary forces gave up and surrendered to

FIRST STUDENTS NOW AT WORK ON PART TIME JOBS

University Expects Total of 60 to Be Engaged on Projects Today.

Twenty students are already at work on part time jobs provided by the recent federal CWA grant to the university and an additional forty are expected to be at work on various projects today, according to an announcement by university authorities Thursday. Some 55 applications of persons not in school have been approved and the applicants ordered to report to the university for registration and work immediately. Of this number, approximately 30 awaited only examination by the Student Health department before being put to work.

Meanwhile, a special faculty committee is busy checking applications of more than 300 former or prospective students. The number represents less than a third of the more than a thousand forms which were sent out over the state to former students, students in CWS centers, and prospective new students. Further applications from persons not in school will not be accepted after Monday noon, Feb. 19, due to the lateness in the semester, Dean of Student Affairs T. J. Thompson declared. However it is possible that applications

Nebraska Colleges Terminate Session With Discussion

Representatives of Nebraska colleges and universities concluded their one day session with a round table discussion of two points: Admittance to institutions of higher learning, and the outlook for college and university graduates. President Erlend Nelson of Dana college suggested that students coming from accredited high schools should take an entrance examination, as they would be better prepared if it was necessary to take comprehensive examinations. Modifications in present entrance requirements for mature students was also suggested. Superintendent Burnham of Scottsbluff proposed that all academic fields have beginning courses in colleges, and thus high schools would not have to offer prerequisites to college and university courses.

Dr. Fred Kelly, of the United States office of education, said he believed that the NRA was hurting the working opportunities of 17,000,000 men and women between the ages of 18 and 25. Dr. Kelly also said the federal government, when it sees something lacking goes ahead and does it with federal funds. In the end, the state has a stake in education regardless of who controls the institution.

"Our universities and colleges must distinctly concern themselves with the larger problems of society," said Dr. G. W. Rosenlof, state director of secondary education. "Their teaching must be vitalized by relating that teaching to the present day difficulties of society. If our faith in democratic institutions is to continue, if our belief in these institutions is to be justified, it will only be because we have accepted as our responsibility building a socially minded citizenship."

Mock Trial Jury Is Chosen at Thursday Afternoon Session

The jury to act throughout the practice law suit case of the Law College students was impaneled in the first convening of the court yesterday afternoon. Professor D. L. Coffman, of the Law College, presided as judge in the mock session.

The case is a negligence suit, the plaintiff having received injuries in an accident while riding in a car that was being demonstrated to him by an automobile company. The testimony to be given in the case has been determined and several interesting complications are to be introduced. In fact complications began yesterday when the start of the case was delayed several minutes while Bailiff John Keriakades was sent in search of a missing juror.

In the impending procedure of the case yesterday, the student jurors fictitiously gave a variety of occupations ranging from baseball playing to banking, and stated ages between 25 and 60.

The sessions of the trial are expected to continue until sometime next week.

Chancellor-Emeritus Avery Calls Books of James Dales Works of Art

Former Secretary to Board Of Regents Receives Honorary Degree.

"Not just a set of business transactions, but a work of art, a classic," is the manner in which Chancellor Emeritus M. Avery, a long-time associate of the former secretary to the Board of Regents, James Stuart Dales, classifies the latter's method of recording university transactions. Mr. Dales received the honorary Doctor of Law degree at convocation Thursday.

From 1875 to 1933, Mr. Dales was secretary to the Board of Regents. During this period of fifty-eight years he has kept a complete record of all business transactions by the Board of Regents. His work is now represented by some twenty clothbound, leatherbacked volumes.

Almost Literary Style. His work a model of its kind, developed almost a literary style. He started a unique system, which he later changed and modified to conform to current usage, nevertheless, retains much of the style apparent in his first works.

REGENTS SANCTION ALUMNI COUNCIL

Wilson Declares Financial Condition of Houses Needs Cleaning.

THOMPSON FAVORS PLAN

Vance Traphagen Says That Supervision Should Aid Chapters.

"The financial condition of many Nebraska fraternities needs cleaning up, needs to be put on a sound basis and in a healthy condition, and the Interfraternity Board of Control has been created to remedy these needs," Claude Wilson, chairman of the newly-created fraternity control board, declared Thursday after the Regents' action. "The new board expects to help weakened fraternities in every possible manner and to promote a firm and stable organization in each house thru practice of sound financial policies.

Board Hails Measure. Other members of the board and of the university administration hailed the measure as one that would strengthen the position of all fraternities on the campus and bolster the cause of faltering houses. Dean of Student Affairs T. J. Thompson voiced his opinion as follows:

"The new plan will eventually put fraternities in a stronger position to handle their own problems than they were under the previous arrangement. It appears to me that every possible interest of the active chapters of fraternities in finances and in the university will be well-preserved by the Board of Control and Alumni Council.

Should Aid Groups. Mr. Vance Traphagen, member of the Board of Control, declared that supervision and control over financial policies by the board should aid fraternities. "If the fraternities cannot help themselves, the board stands ready to step in and take a hand in the proceedings," he stated. "Better than 50 per cent of the fraternities on the campus need some supervision or help if the recently submitted questionnaires are any indication, and I believe this board is well suited to the task.

TO HAVE FULL CONTROL

Board Becomes Effective at Once; Will Hold Office For Two Years.

Establishment of an Interfraternity board of control of eleven members to have full control and complete jurisdiction over all fraternities and organizations of like nature on the campus, was voted by the board of regents at its regular meeting here Thursday. The regents also created an official Interfraternity Alumni council, to be composed of one member from each fraternity of recognized standing on the campus.

Committee Report. The board's action followed presentation of the alumni council executive committee's report on fraternities as compiled from questionnaires filled out recently by the various houses. The new plan becomes effective immediately with the former alumni council executive committee becoming the first board of control.

The new board of control will have absolute authority to govern and discipline all fraternities and fraternity building corporations as it sees fit. The board will also determine what powers shall be exercised by the undergraduate, Interfraternity council and will investigate and pass on such subjects as rushing, pledging, initiating, social functions, chapter houses, and activities of fraternity members which may be brought before it for any reason. The power to rule on the establishment of additional fraternities on the campus is also vested in the board.

Membership of the board of control will consist of seven members of the alumni council who shall be chosen by the university senate committee on student organizations and social functions, and who must be at least thirty years of age. Two members of the senate committee will also serve on the board, and the student Interfraternity council will be represented by two members. With the exception of student members, who serve one year all committeemen are appointed for two years.

The Alumni Council will act only in an advisory capacity and will meet whenever the board of control so desires.

Following is the complete resolution as adopted by the regents: A Resolution by the Board of Regents of the University of Nebraska.

The board of regents hereby recognizes and creates an interfraternity board of control of all fraternities or organizations of like nature at the University of Nebraska.
