Wednesday afternoon a special meeting of the Student Council will be held in the council room in University hall. Four weeks ago student organization heads met to discuss the faults and defects of the student council with John Gepson, head of that body, and at that time several plans for reorganization were heard. Following that gathering the problem was presented to the council for consideration, this evening's session being the second one at which the council will have handled the problem.

Preceding the selection of members of the Junior-Senior prom committee in February, a petition was being circulated urging changes in the mode of selection, and suggesting changes in the personnel of the committee. Questions arising from these petitions are to be considered at the Wednesday meeting.

The two petitions relative to the committee requested that no member of the council be considered eligible to membership, and that the personnel be changed from six men and six women of the junior class to three men and three women from each the junior and senior classes.

Rose Tints to Rule Feminine Wardrobe 1916 Files Revealed

"Rose—ranging from a deep American beauty shade to a tint of palest pink will be a luscious feature of the college woman's wardrobe this spring. The color may predominate or may be used effectively in trimming gowns and liars.

The rose applique trimming now used is not like the old fashioned applique. It is far more graceful and has almost the effect of a painting. Rose girdles and garlands greatly enhance the charm of a linen or summer net frock; or it may be that the shade will be used only in the hem.

"In trimming hats the roses are used in large flat or in wreaths about the crown, from the handsome fullblown variety to the "weekest," "tiniest" buds. Even the wild rose is often pressed flat against the crown in a delightful manner.

Merle Owens, Junior, recently created a sensation at a spring party by wearing a rose taffeta tunic frock decorated with a wide band of roses around the waist and bordering the hem and train. The brim of her rose straw hat was completely covered with tiny wild rose buds, clustered together.

The final touch of exquisite simplicity was the added with a single plucky was the toes of her tiny rose pumps."—The Daily Nebraskan, March 20, 1916.
