TODAY'S NEWS Briefly Reviewed

Leaders of the proposed automobile industry's strike, scheduled for Wednesday morning, agreed to postpone their plans pending outcome of a meeting today between them and President Roosevelt. The nation's executive met with automobile manufacturers Wednesday afternoon. Desperate efforts are being made to avert the strike, which would paralyze America's leading industry.

And in another camp there has been trouble too. The railway labor unions want more pay and the carriers don't. The president took a hand Wednesday when he persuaded the unions to accept assistance from Federal Co-ordinator Eastman in their argument. They refused to discuss the matter further with representatives of the railroads.

The general strike, if and when it happens, will involve more than sixty separate strikes. More than 35,000 laborers are ready to answer the call of their unions. Unless something is done to avoid the trouble the situation will become serious indeed.

With somewhat of a shot at Mullen, Governor Bryan yesterday issued a statement of thanks to federal officials and Senator Norris for their co-operation and the generous appropriations in the Columbus and Sutherland projects. Former Attorney General Mullen, (Continued on Page 4.)

'THE CURTAIN RISES' LAST PLAYERS SHOW, COMPLETES SEASON

April Production Possible; Current Performances Draw Well.

With large crowds attending the three performances already given, the University Players will continue to stage B. M. Kayes' "The Curtain Rises," for which tickets are still available, until Saturday evening, when the performance will complete the Players' season.

The cast of seven is headed by Beth Langford and Cliff Conaway. Armand Hunter and Irving Hill, who have appeared in several other productions this year, have prominent parts. Other members of the cast are Melvin Fielder, Blanche Carr, Myrtle Marjorie Filley, and Thelma Landor.

The plot, which takes place in Vienna, centers around a stage struck girl, obsessed with the fear of becoming an old maid, sets out to win a matinee idol of the continent. The story of her instruction in dramatic art, her rise to fame, and finally her discovery that she is in love with someone other than the matinee idol, presents many humorous situations.

Although "The Curtain Rises" is the last production scheduled for the Players, there is a possibility of another play being presented the second week in April.

The members of the cast are:

Wilhelm Meisinger..... Melvin Fielder
Elsa Karling..... Beth Langford
Fran Kerron..... Cliff Conaway

Installation, which will be made by the Minnesota chapter of the club, will probably occur in about two weeks, Hill indicated.

Phalanx was founded to promote interest in military science and is open to individuals in the advanced R. O. T. C. unit courses who have high scholarship and are proficient in military drill. ## NEED FOR WORLD ORGANIZATION IS VOICED BY ALLEY

Eastern Professor Speaks Wednesday at Student Forum Luncheon.

SAYS MANY ANARCHISTS

Some Form of International Government Necessity Historian Asserts.

Emphasizing the fact that the world has become a neighborhood with sixty groups of neighbors making up international society, Prof. Alden G. Alley, well known historian and expert on international affairs, spoke at the Wednesday noon Student Forum luncheon at the Grand hotel. The title of his speech was "What Is Happening in Europe, and What It Means to America."

About 100 students and faculty members attended the luncheon. The speaker outlined world affairs as they now exist, and declared that some form of world government is a primary necessity at this time because of the fact that the nations are so bound together in an economic and political way.

"Most people now are anarchists," declared Mr. Alley. "They are not anarchists in respect to city and national government, but when it comes to international organization, the majority oppose organization and governmental institutions."

Cause of World War. Mr. Alley pointed out the fact that one of the principal causes of the World War was the disorganization of the world family of nations, that between 1920 and 1930 the nations were progressing toward the establishment of a peaceful world society, but that since 1930 the trend has been back toward international anarchy.

In substantiation of this belief Mr. Alley described conditions at present in Germany. He stated that because of economic distress and the conviction that they are being unjustly treated as a nation, the Germans are reverting to the pre-war attitude, and that is actually being glorified in the minds of the young people of that nation. With economic distress maddening them they are willing to take virtually any steps to remedy the situation. This condition coupled with the opinion that they are the slaves of European allies has spurred them into the state of mind represented by Hitlerism and nazism, according to Professor Alley.

Germany's Back to Wall. At one time in Germany, related the speaker, there was the belief that something must be wrong with Germany to cause the general dislike for the nation on the part of other countries. But now the situation has changed, and many has its back to the wall, and (Continued on Page 4.)

Among those activities he mentioned are the club's picnic, a program to be prepared for the Nebraska 4-H clubs when they visit the campus the first week in June and a picnic for the club boys and girls.

Superintendents Feel That Study Centers Throughout State Proven Successful Despite Big Handicaps

That the relief study centers in Nebraska have been successful in spite of handicaps such as lack of an adequate number of readers; the fact that additional enrollees could not be accepted, or an additional 100 study centers approved, after the stop order of Jan. 18, is being enthusiastically affirmed by the study superintendents out in the state.

"This work might well be made a project throughout the United States," comes from a superintendent in Avoca, Nebraska, "and the cost of such an undertaking would certainly amount to less in a year than the price of one battle-ship."

Constructive Work. "Personally, I feel that no more constructive piece of relief work is being done than that of the study center," is the opinion of one from Plattsmouth, Nebraska. "Millions of dollars are appropriated for canals, rivers, and sewers, while a continuation of the study center work would be an enriching experience for the hundreds of young men and women engaged in it. To my notion, it comes less near being a dole than the whole lot of it."

Many of the superintendents believe that the study centers have been a great benefit in reducing the amount of unemployed, in giving students contact with college, and influencing the community.

This venture has opened up a new field in education, and one states that there is a possibility (Continued on Page 4.)

LOEFFEL ADDRESSES FAIR RALLY TONIGHT

Ag Event Manager to Show Moving Pictures of Past Events.

COMMITTEE WORK OPENS

Prof. William Loeffel, member of the animal husbandry faculty, will speak at the Farmers' Fair rally Thursday night in Ag hall. Manager Art Peterson announced Wednesday, Mr. Loeffel, Peterson said, was once an active man on Farmers' Fairs at Missouri and is expected to give one of the season's most interesting and enthusiastic talks Thursday night.

Two other features of this second rally program, Peterson said, will be songs by the Farm House quartet and college yells led by Roland Nuckols, Ag junior.

Moving pictures, which were scheduled to be given at the first rally of the season but were not, will be presented Thursday night. Peterson said someone blundered the first time, and when it came time to show the pictures the movie machine case was locked and the key lost. Footproof arrangements have been made this time, he said, and "the show will go on."

Committees Start Work. The big job after the Thursday night rally, Farmers' Fair board members said, is the work to be done in committee meetings. All major committees are expected to meet and outline the definite work at hand.

It is high time for every committee in the fair to be at work, Peterson urged, as there is only one more full school week before spring vacation. After that it will be on grand rush to get the fair ready for presentation by May 5. What with the biggest pageant the fair has yet presented, new concessions, and other additions to the day's program, he said, Ag students have no time to lose. A record turnout is expected at the rally Thursday night.

BARBS PLAN DEBATE, SOFTBALL TOURNAYS

Winning Forensic Team Will Meet Greek House Champions.

Plans for softball and debate tournaments among Barb Inter-club groups were developed at the Inter-Club Council's meeting Monday night, according to Wilbur Erickson, council president. Debating teams composed of two men will be entered from each club in the tourney, the winners of which will meet the winners of the inter-fraternity debate tournament. Eight clubs have signified their intentions of entering teams, according to John Stover, director of the tournament.

Softball leagues, formed under the direction of Durwood Hedgecock, will report for enrollment at the next meeting. Hedgecock stated that a good turnout was indicated by the enthusiasm of the clubs.

Club leaders reported indications of good crowds for the All-Barb party to be held in Morrill Hall next Friday night.

Dancing He-Man's Occupation Says Ted Shawn; Is No More 'Sissy' Than Football, Wrestling, Other Sports

"Dancing for men is just as 'sissy' as is football, wrestling, hockey or any other sport which requires the utmost of vitality, stamina and efficiency of movement," claims Ted Shawn, who with his group of all-men dancers will appear in Lincoln on Wednesday, March 28, in the university coliseum.

Mr. Shawn, who is pioneering in "masculine dances for masculine men," believes, further, that it is impossible for an athlete to gain real prominence in his sport without that grace and poise which characterize dancing.

"Rhythm underlies all successful achievement in the athletic world," Shawn believes. "When you see a football team shifting with perfect precision, or a spectacularly executed double play on the baseball field, or a basketball team passing the ball with uncanny ability, you are seeing men dancing. The real thrill in football is not in the dogpiles in scrimmage but in seeing beautiful leaps to catch forward passes, the backfield acres dancing lightly thru broken fields eluding the would-be tacklers. A basketball game is, in its entirety, really a group dance. Someday the genius composer will come who can set it to music."

Nothing "Sissy" About it. Future directors of physical education and football coaches-to-be of Springfield college were convinced by Mr. Shawn last winter that there was nothing "sissy" about dancing. To his classes of hundreds of men he gave a respect and real liking for the art of the dance—not tap dancing or folk dancing—but in using the body as an instrument of expression. "The freshman were the hardest to win over," Shawn confesses, "until one day I consented to teach them a tango. The next day some of the best athletes in the class admitted to the finest cases of muscle strain they had ever had, and I think it rather increased their respect for dancing as a he-man's occupation. The fact is that dancing requires everything that any sport requires, and besides a co-ordination which very few of the best (Continued on Page 4.)

COUNCIL PASSES REORGANIZATION PLAN WEDNESDAY

Measure Increasing Holdover Members to Eight Now Goes to Students.

REPORT ON CHAPERONS

Two Junior Women-at-Large Replace Fine Arts Delegates.

First step in reorganization of the student council was well on the way to completion Wednesday after the student governing body passed for the required time by unanimous vote at a special meeting, a motion that holdover senior members of the council each year be increased from two men and two women to four men and four women. The measure embodies the first revision in the council leveled at it in February charging inactivity.

A motion to make the change effective with this year's council was also adopted pending approval of the measure by the student body which votes on the proposal at the spring elections Tuesday, March 3. In event the proposal should be rejected, which was considered unlikely, the two highest men and women candidates will constitute the holdover members. Holdover members will be chosen by the council at its regular meeting next Wednesday.

BARBS CANCEL PARTY AFTER NEW AG RULING

Student Activities Building Not Available to City Campus Groups.

MAY SPONSOR ONE MORE

The All-University party which was scheduled to be held at the Ag college Student Activities building on Saturday, March 31, has been cancelled, according to Burton Marvin, chairman of the Barb council. This was to have been the seventh of the All-University parties on the campus this year and the second one on the Ag campus.

At a meeting of the Ag executive board last week a ruling was made prohibiting any but Ag campus groups from using the activities building for parties. This ruling automatically cancelled the final party. On March 10 the Barb council sponsored a party in the Ag college building.

There is still a possibility that another party might be held in the coliseum this spring, but the chances are that one will not be scheduled. According to Mr. John Selleck, finance manager for student organizations, spring parties in the Coliseum have never been successful, and it is doubtful whether another party would be feasible.

Five Varsity dances have been held in the Coliseum this year. The first one was the Welcome dance on Sept. 16; the second on Sept. 30; the third, the Dad's Day party, Oct. 28; Winter party, Dec. 9, and Feb. 17, Valentine day party.

Chairman of the Barb council this year is Burton Marvin, vice-chairman is Marjorie Filley, and secretary-treasurer is Wilbur Erickson. Margaret Medlar has served as head of the chaperons committee, Alvin Kleeb of publicity, and Vernon Filley of decorations.
