KOSMET SPRING SHOW FEATURES TEN NEW SONGS

Original Tunes of Students Accepted by Klub for 'Campus Cop.'

ARRANGED BY JUNGBLUTH

Members of Organization Say Music Best in Several Years.

Ten original songs will be featured by Eddie Jungbluth and his orchestra in the Kosmet Klub's annual spring show, "The Campus Cop" this year. Dale Taylor, Klub member in charge of music for the show, said yesterday afternoon. All tunes are being arranged by the orchestra. Five students contributed the ten tunes to be used in the show. They are being used now in connection with the rehearsals of the male and pony choruses and some will be sung by the leads in the show. The lyrics as well as the tunes were written by the students.

Freshman Writes Two Tunes.

Marjorie Souders, Kappa Kappa Gamma freshman from Auburn, submitted two tunes which were accepted for the show. The names of her songs are "The Cop" and "Separation." Russell Whittaker, Sigma Chi from McCook and former member of Kosmet Klub, submitted three tunes which will be used.

Whittaker has written a number of songs which have been used in previous Kosmet Klub musical comedies. The songs to be used this year are entitled "O Fool Was I," "Rhythm," and "Take My Pin." John O'Neil and Chaucery Barney, co-authors of the play which won second place in the contest sponsored by the Klub for the manuscript for the spring show, have collaborated on two tunes to be used in the show. The names of their songs are "Watching My Life Go By" and "The Street Car Girl."

Writes Tango.

The other student to submit three songs is Portia Boynton, student in the dramatics department. Miss Boynton submitted a tango entitled "When Love is Forgotten" and two songs in fox trot tempo entitled "I'm Out For That Man" and "It's Moonlight—So What."

Members of the Klub said that the music for this year's production would probably be the best that a spring show has had in some time. Quite a number of tunes were submitted but were unsuitable for use in the show, they stated.

HOUSE TABLES MAY BE CLOSED FOR BANQUET

Council Would Ask Move to Insure Success of Annual Event.

Tables in all fraternity houses may be closed next Tuesday evening as a courtesy to the interfraternity banquet being held on the same night if the interfraternity council so decides at a special meeting in Morrill Hall tonight.

No extensive effort is being made in the way of an advance ticket sale this year but the council will meet tonight and take steps to insure a good attendance. In the words of Leslie Rood, member of the banquet committee in charge of publicity, "While fraternity men will not be compelled to attend as they have in past years, it will be necessary for them to cooperate to the highest degree if the banquet is to be a success."

Comparison Reveals Possibilities of Innocents' New Scheme Under Rules Set Up by Reorganization Committee

Comment has been offered by many, since the startling announcement that members of Innocents Society have effected a reorganization plan was made in yesterday's Daily Nebraskan. The new system involves a drastic change in the method of selecting new members to that organization, a departure expected by few, a surprise to many.

The new movement is comparatively simple, and its set-up allows all to view the machinery by which candidates for the senior honorary are named. A comparison between the old and new systems will serve to reveal the "new deal."

Under the former system the thirteen active members of Innocents were the sole electors, their names as they named or withheld names as they saw fit. But the actual devices by which balloting on candidate was done remains secret, known by none but those who have recognized in the past. Therein seems to have been the main bone of contention, and it bears out the ancient axiom that suspicion creeps with secrecy.

Faculty Has Voice. A faculty committee numbering five will supervise the general nominating election at which time all male students, juniors or above, will name twenty-five candidates

OUTSTATE COLLEGES TO ATTEND COUNTRY LIFE CONCLAVE HERE

Conference on April 14 Is Part of Nation-wide Movement.

A Country Life conference for college students will be held at the Ag college Saturday, April 14, according to Dean Burr. The conference commemorating the twenty-fifth anniversary of Theodore Roosevelt's Country Life commission will be attended by delegates from Peru Teachers College, Boone and other outstate schools. The program is part of a nation wide movement sponsored by the student section of the American Country Life Association.

The purpose and activities of the association can be summed up in the remarks made by President Theodore Roosevelt when he submitted the report to Congress. He said, "There are three main directions in which the farmers can help themselves; namely, better farming, better business and better living on the farm."

Three Phases.

Program for the conference will concern these three phases of farm life. In the morning session beginning at 9:30 o'clock Saturday morning in Ag Hall farm economics will be discussed with L. R. Snyder presiding. Dean W. N. Dezell of Peru college will give a report on the Roosevelt commission and Dean W. W. Burr, head of the Nebraska college will sum up the present agricultural situation. The action taking place in remedying the present situation will be explained by W. H. Brokaw, director of the agricultural extension division, while H. C. Filley of the Nebraska Ag college will give a long time economic program for agriculture.

Afternoon and evening sessions will center about the activities of the farm home and rural community. In years past many farmers were so busy accumulating a competence so that they might retire that they neglected to obtain the fullest enjoyment out of country (Continued on Page 3.)

DUST CLOUDS WHIP OVER LINCOLN WITH FORTY MILE WIND

Whipped by a forty mile an hour wind, thick clouds of dust have swirled over Lincoln since Tuesday night, with no sign of abatement or rain. Major Beaty, flying an army airplane, swooped low over the campus about one-thirty in the afternoon, apparently searching for a place to land. Beacons at the Lindbergh municipal field and the Union airport failed to give assistance, and the plane disappeared toward Omaha, where officials said it met the same difficulty.

Dust and grime spread in a thick layer over the campus in the afternoon, penetrating into buildings and classrooms. Extended order drill in outdoor military science classes was made possible by hand signals, as verbal commands could not be heard.

Starting in the southwest in the morning, the wind shifted to the northwest, then due north during the day, reaching a velocity of thirty-seven miles per hour early in the afternoon. After a high seasonal temperature of eighty-five degrees Tuesday afternoon, a low of forty-seven degrees was reached Wednesday morning.

WIMBERLY HONORED AS AUTHOR OF 'CENSORED'

Uzzell Acclaims Professor's Short Story One of Best in 1933.

LAUDS PRAIRIE SCHOONER

Dr. L. C. Wimberly, professor of English at the university and well-known writer of short stories, has been honored for one of his recent writings, "Censored." This story, printed first in the May, 1933, issue of the American Mercury magazine, is one of twenty stories chosen by Thomas H. Uzzell and reprinted in his current anthology, "Short Story Hits, 1933."

Chosen out of thousands of stories, the twenty included are considered by Mr. Uzzell most likely to have entertainment value to an intelligent and cultivated group of readers. "Censored," states the compiler, "is easily the most impressive objective short narrative printed during the year. It is written with high skill." Mr. Uzzell contends that the outstanding technical characteristic of the literary short story of today is its straining toward objectivity.

A brief biography of Dr. Wimberly appears in the book, and praise for "Prairie Schooner," the literary magazine edited on the Nebraska campus by Dr. Wimberly, dedicating his volume to the "little magazines," Mr. Uzzell states that the "Schooner" is one of the two little magazines containing "some of the most impressive exhibits of new writers appearing today."

APPROVAL GIVEN INNOCENTS MOVE

Few Express Dissenting Opinions Concerning Senior Honorary's Reorganization Program; Believe Plan's Success Rests on Further Effort.

COMMITTEE AT WORK FINISHING POINT SYSTEM

Student Leaders Hail Establishment of Activity Rating As Stimulus to Men's Participation in Fields Of Extra-curricular Enterprise.

While a joint committee of Innocents members and Omicron Delta Kappa backers pushed forward their work of effecting a fair and comprehensive point system for men's activities, a further survey of student and faculty opinion gleaned Wednesday concerning reorganization program of the Innocents society continued to bear out general approval of the plan announced Tuesday night.

Few dissenting voices were heard regarding the revisionary measures, although many of those interviewed declared that ultimate success and merits of the plan lay in the definite carrying out of points stressed in Tuesday's announcement, especially the activity point system phase.

Professor E. F. Schramm, faculty advisor to the Innocents, declared, "The revision is a mighty good thing for all concerned. I believe it was a necessary move and will work out to the advantage of men students and the university in general."

Improve Activities.

Byron Goulding, president of the present Innocents society, said, "Reorganization of the Innocents along the lines announced Tuesday will, I believe, attract more students into the field of activities. The step is one which has been needed for several years probably, and with further effort in the same direction, I am sure a healthy condition in men's activities will result."

"True merit of the Innocents' reorganization plans will be revealed when the point system is definitely worked out and announced," Norman Prucka, ODK backer, asserted Wednesday. "It is a step in the right direction, but it must be followed up to be of value."

Alumnus Is Skeptical.

PRINTERS COMPLETE THIRD OF YEARBOOK

Magee Expects Cornhusker Ready for Issuance Within Month.

With the majority of the remaining copy compiled, and over a third of the book finished by the printers, Editor Woodrow Magee expects the 1934 Cornhusker to be issued in about a month. Almost all of the engraving work has been completed and all sorority, fraternity, and class panels have been printed.

Now in the engraving process are photos of the six most beautiful Nebraska Coeds chosen by Bing Crosby in the Cornhusker's beauty contest. As one of the interesting features of the book, the beauty queen section will include not only the winners but Crosby's picture and a personal letter from him. The names of the winners will not be revealed until the issuance of the book.

Due to the NRA code which allows the printers but five working days the completion of the book has been delayed a short time.
