Journalism Fraternity Sponsors Convocation and Tree Planting Ceremony April 17 in Observance of Arbor Day and Group's Founding.

CHANCELLOR BURNETT ASSISTS IN FESTIVITIES

A. E. Sheldon Will Review Life of Pioneer Nebraska Newspaperman; Initiation of Pledges and Banquet Scheduled in Evening.

Honoring J. Sterling Morton, pioneer Nebraska journalist and founder of Arbor Day, Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalism fraternity, is sponsoring a special convocation and tree planting ceremony Tuesday morning, April 17, which is the silver anniversary of the fraternity's founding. Other arrangements in celebration of the fraternity's twenty-fifth year include a banquet and initiation of new members in the evening.

A. E. Sheldon, of the State Historical society has been secured to address the convocation which will be held in Social Science auditorium at 10 a. m. Using as his subject, "J. Sterling Morton, Arbor Day Editor." Mr. Sheldon will review the life of Nebraska's great journalist. The convocation is open to all interested students and faculty members.

Scholarship Awards.

Announcement of Sigma Delta Chi scholarship awards as well as those for the best news and feature stories appearing in the Daily Nebraskan during the first semester will precede Mr. Sheldon's talk.

Chancellor E. A. Burnett will officiate at the tree planting exercises which immediately follow the convocation, and will turn the first shovel of earth.

"No other Arbor Day ceremonies will be held on the campus." (Continued on Page 4.)

GREEKS COMPLETE BANQUET PROGRAM

Burnett, Thompson, Speak At Traditional Event Tuesday Night.

Chancellor E. A. Burnett and Dean T. Thompson yesterday brought the interfraternity banquet program to completion by assisting to speak at the event next Tuesday evening, April 17, at the Hotel Cornhusker.

List of speakers secured for Tuesday night includes the Hon. Arthur J. Weaver, former governor of Nebraska, who will deliver the main address, Claude S. Wilson, president of the interfraternity board of control, and Ray Ramsey, who will preside as toastmaster.

Chancellor Burnett and Dean Thompson will each give short talks on subjects of their own choosing and ex-Governor Weaver, according to Lee Young, committee in charge of speakers, will also speak on a subject of his own choice. Claude S. Wilson will speak on the working of the interfraternity board of control, and Ray Ramsey as toastmaster will utilize the wit for which he is noted to introduce the speakers.

Tickets may be obtained at the Tasty Pastry Shop of the Hotel Cornhusker. They may also be purchased at the door on the night of the banquet. The banquet is scheduled to start at 6:30 p. m.

TODAY'S NEWS Briefly Reviewed

Roosevelt's signature was placed Saturday on the Norris-Hankin resolution which provides for the probing of electrical rates. The federal power commission, according to reports, will be in charge of the investigation.

With Samuel Insull at last in the custody of the United States, his journey was started for the United States where he will face trial on fraud charges. The ex-power magnate was placed in charge of Burton T. Barry, third secretary of the American embassy at Instanbul, who will accompany him to Boston.

Validity of the water projects enabling act was upheld by the state supreme court Saturday in an action test brought by Walter Loseke, land owner, to determine legality of the measure. The opinion, written by Judge Good, was concurred in by all his associates.

Over 300 thousand dollars worth of work will be called for in highway bids which Governor Bryan plans to call for May 11. Gasoline tax funds will bear the brunt of most of these expenditures, having been saved during the summer when the state was spending federal funds to prevent them from lapsing.

G. B. Golding, proprietor of a local cleaning establishment, prefers going to jail than paying his assessment in connection with the cleaning and dyeing trade code, according to a statement he made Saturday. The assessment is much too large, he claimed, to be paid out of the business when he can hardly get enough to "pay my legitimate bills."

SELECT FACULTY GROUP TO JUDGE INNOCENTS VOTE

Thompson, Schramm, Lantz, Burr, Scott Chosen As Members.

POLL SET FOR TUESDAY

Upperclassmen To Nominate Twenty-five Juniors For Consideration.

Personnel of the faculty committee which will supervise the nomination of junior men for the Innocents society and hear all appeals from the results of the election was announced yesterday afternoon by Woodrow Magee, member of the Innocents.

The five members of the committee are: Dean T. J. Thompson, Dean W. W. Burr of the agricultural college, Prof. E. F. Schramm, faculty adviser to the Innocents; Prof. E. W. Lantz, faculty adviser to the student council, and Prof. R. D. Scott of the athletic board of control.

Membership on this committee was agreed upon by the Innocents society as well as members of the insurgent group before members of the faculty were approached. All are closely in touch with student affairs and activities and have expressed their willingness to cooperate with the new deal.

The first phase of the new plan, the nomination by all men students of junior standing or above, will take place at the polls next Tuesday. Voting will be in the Temple from nine to five and a large vote is expected.

All men balloting will be asked to vote for the five members of the junior class who, in their opinion, are outstanding in the field of extra-curricular activities and general student leadership. From this vote, the Innocents will pick the (Continued on Page 4.)

FINE ARTS FRESHMAN WINS POSTER CONTEST

Marjorie Hatten Receives Honors Convocation Placard Prize.

REVEAL OTHER AWARDS

Marjorie Hatten of Lincoln was awarded first place in the honors convocation poster contest held by the university department of fine arts, it was announced Saturday. Miss Hatten is a freshman in the college of arts and sciences. Second prize went to Willard Humpal of Bridgeport, sophomore; third prize to Ruth Allen, Omaha sophomore; fourth place to John Ridgour, Lincoln freshman; fifth place to Mary Taylor, Lincoln graduate student; and sixth place to Harry Laptook of New York City, sophomore student.

This contest was sponsored by the honors convocation committee in order to arouse student interest in the event which will be held Wednesday morning, April 18, it was explained. Persons enrolled in the department of fine arts at the university were eligible to enter, and the contest was judged by fine arts faculty members. Posters were rated as to composition and craftsmanship and dignity of design.

Miss Hatten's winning poster illustrated formally the presentation of a laurel wreath. This was placed in the university library, the other posters were distributed over the campus. First place brought ten dollars to the winner, while the five other prizes were two dollars each.

WOMEN'S RIFLE TEAM WINS FROM CREIGHTON

Huskars Led To 963-861 Victory By Elizabeth Gilley.

MISS TOMBRINK SECOND

Led by Elizabeth Gilley, shooting a 196 out of a possible 200 score, the Nebraska women's rifle team won over Creighton university women's rifle team yesterday afternoon on the Nebraska range by a 963 to 861 score.

Captain Aede Tombrink, shooting a score of 194, claimed second position for the Nebraska squad while Ruth Armstrong, Mildred Putney, and Emma Steele shot a score of 191 to vie for third place in a three way tie. Mancuso shooting a 188 made the highest score for the Omaha team.

For Omaha, Goldware followed Mancuso with a 180 score to obtain second place. Perry, Hansen, and Lynch placed third, fourth, and fifth respectively. Low score for Omaha was 121 while Nebraska's lowest was considerably better at 184.

The match Saturday officially ended the 1933-34 season for the Nebraska team. During the season the team has participated in several intercollegiate telegraphic meetings showing the advancing skill in each contest that reached its climax in the excellent showing of the Creighton match.

Nebraska team composed of twenty-five girls is coached by Staff Sgt. Earl DeVaughn. From this number are picked the ten girls to make the regulation team for competition. Members of the Nebraska team participating in the Creighton match are as follows: Capt. Tombrink, Redder, Armstrong, Hill, Watson, Putney, Mordant, Steele, Branson, and Gilley.

REPRESENTATIVE RED CROSS SPEAKS HERE

Eaton Talks To Advanced Swimming Classes Friday.

Robert Eaton, Red Cross field representative in first aid and life saving instruction, spoke before a group of advanced swimming and technique classes Friday afternoon in the women's gymnasium. In discussing the various phases to be considered in the instruction of beginning swimming Eaton said, "Fear of the water is inherent and confidence can only be acquired by various experimental steps previous to the learning of a stroke."

In summing up the phases of the subject Eaton contended that "swimming is an intangible subject—infused greatly by mental complexes, and furthered chiefly by the appropriate individual adaptation."

Eaton is on the campus at this time in connection with the Examiner's Training course, having for its purpose the training of individuals in passing requirements for Red Cross examiners and renewals of previously issued certificates.

HONORS CONCLAVE WEEK'S HIGHLIGHT

University Recognizes Outstanding Scholastic Work of 166 Undergraduates at Convocation Wednesday; Classes Dismissed From 10 to 12.

FOERSTER TALKS ON 'HUMANITARIAN ILLUSION'

Announce Special Awards, Elections to Departmental and Honorary Societies; Chamber of Commerce Host to Students at Noon Luncheon.

Honoring students for achievement in the field of scholarship, the University of Nebraska will hold its sixth annual honors convocation Wednesday, April 18, at 10:15 a. m. in the coliseum. All classes will be dismissed from 10 to 12 o'clock to enable students to attend the honors convocation. Some 466 students will be named to honor rolls at this time for outstanding scholastic endeavors in their classes and colleges.

Senior students who during the two preceding semesters have been in the upper 3 percent of their respective colleges will be recognized at the convocation for superior scholarship. The honor of high scholarship will go to students in the upper 10 percent of each class of each college or school.

Dr. Norman Foerster, director of the school of letters at the University of Iowa, is the convocation speaker. His subject for the occasion will be, "The Humanitarian Illusion." Recognized in the field of English, and a well known author and editor, Dr. Foerster is at the head of what is probably the first school of letters in any educational institution.

Announce Other Honors. Other university honors bestowed during the year will be announced (Continued on Page 4.)

OMAHA WINS DEBATE MEET FROM TRENTON

White Says Attendance Is Good With Exception Of Finals.

Omaha Tech emerged victorious from the final round of the state high school debate tournament held in Morrill hall Saturday morning, defeating Trenton for the championship. The judges' decision was announced by Chancellor E. A. Burnett.

Omaha Tech got into the finals with a three to nothing decision over Holdrege in the semifinals. Trenton also eliminated DeWitt with another three to nothing decision. Both winners had the negative.

The speakers in the contest discussed the question resolved, that the United States should adopt the essential features of the British system of radio control and operation.

"Proposition One Sided." "The proposition was very one sided," stated Prof. H. A. White, varsity debate coach and president of the Nebraska High School Debate League, sponsor of the tournament, "as is shown by the result of the debates where twelve negative teams won as compared with three on the affirmative."

Attendance at all of the contests was very good with the exception of the finals," continued Prof. White, commenting on the conduct of the competition. "The tournament was run off very smoothly and there seemed to be no dissatisfaction with the judges' decisions."

"An unusual circumstance occurred in this tournament," according to Prof. White, "where the small schools not only eliminated larger institutions in the district contests but put up good competition in the state tournament. DeWitt and Trenton had never been district champions before this year but they not only defeated all district opposition but lasted in the (Continued on Page 4.)
