J. S. MORTON TO BE HONORED TUESDAY

Sigma Delta Chi Sponsors Convocation as Tribute to Pioneer Nebraska Journalist; Occasion Is Group's Founder's Day.

BURNETT WILL OFFICIATE AT TREE PLANTING

Scholarship, Daily Nebraskan Awards to Be Announced By Director Walker; Initiation Ceremonies and Banquet Scheduled in Evening.

Tribute will be paid to J. Sterling Morton, pioneer Nebraska journalist and founder of Arbor Day, at a special convocation and tree planting ceremony sponsored by Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalism fraternity, at 11 o'clock this morning as part of today's program in celebration of the fraternity's silver anniversary.

Evening arrangements include initiation of new student and associate members at 5 o'clock, and the annual Founder's Day banquet at 6:45.

A. E. Sheldon, of the state historical society, will address the convocation in the morning. Speaking on "J. Sterling Morton, Arbor Day Editor," Mr. Sheldon will discuss the life of Nebraska's great journalist.

Excuses from Class. School of journalism students may, on application to Director Walker of the school, be excused from their 11 o'clock classes in order to attend the event. The convocation is also open to all other interested students and faculty members.

Announcement of Sigma Delta Chi scholarship awards together with those for the best news and feature stories appearing in the Daily Nebraskan during the first semester, will precede Mr. Sheldon's talk. A national Sigma Delta Chi committee, of which Dr. Frank L. Mott, director of the school of journalism at Iowa university, is chairman, is in charge of the fraternity's awards for which the high ten of the graduating class in journalism are considered.

DELEGATES REPORT ON GRINNELL CONFERENCE

Relations Group Discusses Problems Reviewed at Iowa Meet.

Club Meets Wednesday

Meeting to discuss the Valley conference held at Grinnell, Iowa last week, five members of the local International Relations Club, sponsored by the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A., will give their reports of the conference at a special meeting next Wednesday night at 7:30, in the Temple building.

Elaine Fontein will discuss the roundtable led by Dr. Otto Nathan on "The Crisis in International Organization." Dan Williams will talk on the discussion led by Sherwood Eddy, and Thelma Goldstein will review "The United States and Latin America."

Burton Marvin will report the discussion led by Clark Eichelberger, former editor of the local National Chronicle, in which he urged American leadership in international affairs. The present status of the World Court and the activity of the United States in it will be discussed by Joe Nuquist.

Six Nebraska students attending the meeting, which was held April 6, 7 and 8, were Selma Goldstein, Elaine Fontein, Burton Marvin, Dan Williams, Joe Nuquist, and Irwin Ryan.

TODAY'S NEWS Briefly Reviewed

While Omaha commuters walked to work the city council planned to introduce penalties for the Omaha and Council Bluffs street railway, whose car wheels were quiet as the result of a strike Monday. A majority of the 535 employees were on strike, according to labor union figures. Strikers charged that wages were 10 percent below the average for 400 American cities. There was no violence.

Flag Waver Wirt, who charged new dealers with red activities, was offered an apology yesterday on the floor of the house for charges that his World War veterans were pro-German. Representative Buiwinkle, democratic, North Carolina, was a apologist. Wirt is a school teacher of Gary, Ind.

Early adjournment of congress was seen by Speaker of the House Rainey in a Monday statement. The president's legislative requests to congress are completed, Rainey indicated, with the possible exception of $2,200,000,000 for continuation of the re-employment campaign. Pending legislation that remains can be shelved, the speaker said.

SEMI-FINAL ROUND FOR LAW CLUBS IS SCHEDULED TUESDAY

Dean Foster States Trial Cases Open to All Interested.

Trial cases in the semi-final competition between the four freshman law clubs newly organized in law college will be held Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock, it was announced by Dean H. H. Foster, chairman of the committee on club courts.

The freshman club plan has been tried before but the clubs this semester have been functioning better than previously with law students co-operating under the direction of Dean Foster. Trial cases between clubs will be based on lists of facts and judges for each trial will include a prominent judge, a practicing attorney, and a law school professor.

Blackstone club will oppose Webster club in the trial to be held in the trial practice room with Nolte and Foster representing the Blackstone club and Hamilton and Wolf arguing for the Webster group. The results of this inter-club contest will be given by Judge E. B. Perry, Bernard Gradwohl, and Prof. M. Merrill.

Cardozo club represented by John C. Landis and Peterson will argue a case Tuesday evening in assembly room 101 with Jeffries club representatives, Meridith Nelson and Harry West. Judge Polk, Attorney Devoe, and Prof. Charles E. Nutting will give their opinions on the presentation of the two sides and will decide which of the clubs will take part in the finals to be held soon. Supreme court judges will take part in the final cases according to Dean Foster.

Judges in selecting the clubs to enter the finals will base their decisions primarily on the presentation.

ELLIOT TO APPEAR AT AG Y.W. VESPERS

Tuesday Noon Lecture Takes Place of General Convocation.

A special program featuring A. J. "Dad" Elliot has been announced for the Y. W. C. A. vespers meeting at Ag college Tuesday. The meeting will be at 12:30 p. m. in the home economics parlors.

When Elliot was scheduled to come to Ag campus, it was intended to have a general, all-student convocation, said Ruth Carsten, who has charge of the vespers program, but the honors convocation coming on the same date has made the general convocation impossible.

Y. W. C. A. members, the report stated, have secured Elliot for a special address at the home economics parlors to take the place, so far as possible, of the general convocation. Elliot has addressed the men on the campus at several special meetings this week.

The committee for the Tuesday's vespers program say that home economics students were highly pleased with Elliot's discussion on his previous visit to the campus, and they hope to see a record attendance at the meeting Tuesday noon.

DR. IRWIN TO ADDRESS PSYCHOLOGY MEETING

Speaker Will Illustrate Talk With Motion Pictures.

Loeffel, meats coach, will make the awards.

Marsmen Come To Earth for Fine Arts Ball

Men from Mars will swoop down to earth for a night's frolic when Fine Arts students hold their annual ball in Morrill hall, May 18.

The party, which is to begin at 8:00, will center around the fanciful customs and dress which the inhabitants of the planet Mars might wear on similar occasions. Each would-be Marsman must appear in appropriate apparel, and even his makeup must conform with the style of the well-groomed man on Mars.

Two tickets are to be awarded the person submitting the cleverest design to be used on the tickets. The only requirements are that the ticket must be four by six inches large, and that it must state the admission price.

Miss Virginia Faulkner and Willard Humpal have charge of the ticket contest and they will announce the winner of free tickets as soon as the designs have been judged.

PHI LAMBDA Upsilon SCHEDULES INITIATION

George Coleman to Speak at Banquet Following Ceremonies.

Phi Lambda Upsilon, honorary chemical fraternity, will follow the initiation of five new members with a banquet to be held in the Cornhusker hotel this evening at 8 o'clock.

Professor George H. Coleman of the University of Iowa, national vice president of the organization, will be the principal speaker. He will address the group on "Research in Two European Chemical Laboratories."

Professor C. W. Ackerson of the agricultural chemistry department will preside as toastmaster, and G. William Berry, local president, will give the welcome to initiates. Responding for the new members will be William Noyce. Allen Olsen is in charge of arrangements for the affair.

Those to be initiated are Darrel J. Butterbaugh, William K. Noyce, Harry Rosenstien, Albert J. Schwaderer, and Alfred W. Weikamp.

Innocents Ask Vote Free From Politics

Appeal for a truly representative vote, untainted by partisan politics, in the selection today of innocent candidates was voiced by members of the Innocent-insurgent fusion committee Monday evening at a joint meeting of Green Toga and Progressive faction representatives.

Laurence Hall opened the meeting and outlined the method of the election, ending with a direct entreaty to faction representatives to abandon their individual political interests in behalf of the success of the new reform.

The belief was expressed by Dick Moran, Innocent, that faction politics would be futile and that it would be a waste of time to attempt to run them through.

Byron Goulding, Innocent, stated that the culmination of the reform depended upon the vote of the student body. The honesty of the vote was up to the attitude of the factions.

FRATERNITY MEN PLAN FOR ANNUAL DINNER TUESDAY

Fifteen Highest Houses to Receive Scholarship Placques.

'See a Tassel' Characterizes Girls' Pep Club as Members Observe Tenth Anniversary of Husker Spirit Raising

"See a Tassel" has become a slogan around the university campus when organizations want 50 young ladies who will work hard on a tedious job. Through a season of investigations and organization outings by the student council the fifty Tassels have passed without a single black mark.

"See a Tassel" is the cry when the athletic department wants season tickets sold, when the University Players want tickets sold, when Cornhusker yearbook editors want more books sold. When officials want pleasant looking ushers for concerts, when no one can think of entertainment during the halves of basketball or football games—it's always "See a Tassel." Starting out 10 years ago to inject pep into the student body, the group has become one of the most active on the campus. Saturday night at their annual banquet the young ladies celebrated their tenth birthday as a pep organization. Their activities around the university include spirit-raising and publicity before events, as well as participation and work. Donning

Mortar Board Opens Ivy Day Poem Contest

Opening of the Ivy Day poem contest was announced Monday by Jane Boos, publicity chairman of Mortar Board, senior women's honorary society. An annual event, the reading of the Ivy day poem takes place just before the coronation of the May Queen on Ivy Day, May 3.

Any undergraduate is eligible to enter the contest. Theme of the poem must concern itself with Ivy Day and its traditions. Entries will be received until 5 o'clock, Wednesday, April 25, at Mrs. Westover's desk in Ellen Smith hall.

A faculty committee to be chosen later will be in charge of selecting the winning poem. Honorable mention will be given the poem judged second best in the contest.

W.A.A. HEADS TAKE OFFICE THURSDAY

New Sports Board to Be Introduced at Last Meeting.

New officers of the W. A. A. board will be installed at the last meeting of the year Thursday night at 7 o'clock in the Armory, according to an announcement from Alice Geddes, retiring president of the group.

Jean Brownlee is the incoming president and Hallene Haxthausen will serve as vice president. Doris Riisness is to be the new secretary and Elizabeth Bushie will fill the post as treasurer.

A second feature of the evening will be the introduction of the new sports board.

NAME INNOCENTS CANDIDATES TODAY

All Male Students of Third Year or Above to Ballot On Men of Junior Class for Membership In Senior Honorary Society.

LIST OF ELIGIBLES TO BE POSTED AT POLLS

Announce Faculty Committee in Charge of Election And Appeals Composed of Thompson, Burr, Lantz, Schramm, and Scott.

Twenty-five candidates for membership in the Innocents society, men's senior honorary, for the coming year will be chosen by popular vote at the polls today.

All male students of junior standing or above will ballot on the members of the junior class for membership in the society. Each student must vote for five outstanding juniors, and the twenty-five with the highest number of votes will automatically become candidates, and the new members will be chosen from that list.

This popular election of the eligible candidates, from which this year's society must pick its members for the coming year, is a part of the recently announced plan of reorganization of the Innocents society along lines of more democratic selection of members.

WOMEN'S HONORARY IS UNDER WAY WITH PLANS FOR IVY DAY

Committees Named to Have Charge of Various Events.

Plans for the traditional Ivy Day program, sponsored by Mortar Board, senior women's honorary organization, have been started and are under way with the announcement today of the Ivy Day poem contest and the selection of committees. The date of the affair this year will be May 3.

Anne Bunting is head of the ivy and daisy chains; Margaret Buol and Martha Hershey are in charge of the masking of new Mortar Boards; Jane Boos is head of the committee in charge of the poem contest and the sorority sing, and Lucille Reilly is in charge of the luncheon held by the Mortar Boards on Ivy day.

The interfraternity sing, annual Ivy Day feature, sponsored by the A. W. S. board, precedes the masking of the Mortar Boards and tapping of Innocents. A cup is awarded the winning group, and the group winning for three consecutive years keeps the cup permanently. Alpha Chi Omega won the cup last year.

Any sorority may enter the sing, according to Jane Boos, in charge. Entries must be in at Mrs. Westover's desk in Ellen Smith hall by 5 o'clock this afternoon. Two songs must be sung by each group entering. These may be accompanied or not as the group chooses, and the manner of dress is also left up to the individual group.

Sororities are called upon alphabetically and must appear in turn or be out of the sing.

Survey Shows 22 Nebraska Graduates To Harvard School

Where do students of the university go after completing their courses at Nebraska? Many of them secure jobs, while others continue their education. Of this latter group a recent check up shows that twenty-two Nebraska graduates have journeyed to Boston, Mass., to attend the Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration.

Of the Nebraska men who have taken courses at the Harvard Graduate School, nine received Master's degrees in Business Administration, ten were at the school for a year only, and three are in attendance today. The school, which is well known for its specialized instruction in business training, reorganized the second year program for the Master's degree in 1925, and since that time a much higher percentage of first year students have returned for the second year, than came before the improved organization.

Edgar W. Holyoke, who graduated from the university in 1923 with a degree in business administration, was the first Nebraska graduate to receive a Master's degree from the business school at Boston. At the present time Mr. Holyoke is affiliated with the Guardian Manufacturing and Supply Corporation in New York City.

Milo E. Beck, who is now associated with the Transfer Department of the Bankers Trust Company of New York, received his (Continued on Page 2.)
