FEDERAL HELP IS AGAIN PROVIDED FOR COLLEGE STUDENTS

Cushing Announces Further
Aid for Over 450 at University.

University students attending the fall term will again receive federal aid to enable them to continue their scholastic careers. Word received by H. L. Cushing, deputy state superintendent of schools, from Harry L. Hopkins, federal relief administrator, indicated that the federal aid for students would be increased over the program inaugurated last year by the federal government.

It was estimated that nearly 1,400 Nebraska college students would receive aid under the new program. Last year slightly over 1,000 students in Nebraska were aided with part time jobs bringing them a total of as much as $20 a month. Nearly 400 university students received aid under this program on the university campus.

Twelve instead of 10 percent of the students of the school will be eligible for employment, which must not be more than thirty hours a week, nor at a rate less than thirty cents an hour. The maximum allowance per month has been raised from $15 to $20 per month.

Under the new program the type of employment will be broadened to include adult education, extension, recreational and other activities. The employment figures are based upon the enrollment at all state institutions as of October 1933. According to the University of Nebraska's enrollment, 454 students will receive aid.

University officials expressed great satisfaction with the program as it was in effect last year, enabling many students that would otherwise have been forced out, to stay in school.

LECTURES SCHEDULED FOR SUMMER SEMINAR

All Superintendents and Teachers Invited to Attend.

The summer seminar for superintendents is continuing with a series of scheduled lectures, being held in Social Sciences 101, from 7:30 until 9:00 every morning.

"Art is the Smaller Schools" is the topic chosen by Miss Ella R. Wittie, for this morning's session. On July 13, Dr. P. G. Johnson will lecture on "A Science Program for the Elementary and Junior High School." He will talk at 1:30 p. m. Dr. Johnson will again appear on the program July 16, when he will discuss "A Science Program for the Senior High School."

"Music in Smaller Schools" will be discussed by Mrs. Harriet T. Platt, July 17. July 18, Miss Lavicy M. Hill, will talk on "A Non-Vocational Commercial Curriculum."

All teachers and superintendents who are interested are invited to attend, a statement issued by the sponsors stated.

Former Colorado Governor to Talk Here on July 20

Ex-Governor William E. Sweet, of Colorado, will address university summer session students at a special convocation to be held at 11 o'clock in Morrill hall auditorium, Friday, July 20, according to an announcement made by Director R. D. Moritz.

Mr. Sweet will appear on the university campus in behalf of the NRA. His general theme will be the president's recovery program with special emphasis on the NRA and more particularly its latest developments.

"University summer session students should be interested in getting first hand information as to the president's policies," stated Mr. Moritz. "Mr. Sweet speaks with official authority, and we trust that many students will avail themselves of the opportunity to hear him."

PROF. G. D. SWEZEY.

Who died Tuesday according to news received here yesterday. Professor Swezey was professor emeritus of astronomy of the university since 1932.

ALL STATE MUSIC COURSE PROVES ITSELF WORTHY —KIRKPATRICK

"In spite of drouth and depression, the All State Music Course has proved itself worthy of continuance," stated Howard Kirkpatrick of the University School of Music. Indeed, the attendance was practically double that of last year. Students representing 100 schools from four states, Iowa, Kansas, Missouri and Nebraska, participated.

The studies of the high school pupils present, whose ages ranged from 13 to 16, included two private lessons a week from university music instructors, and group work in band orchestra and chorus.

Supervised social activities were also a part of the four weeks training. In charge of the boys and girls dormitories, respectively were Lowell Devoe, superintendent of the Plattsmouth schools, and Mrs. Francis Stowell, of Lincoln. Swimming, dancing, tennis and the movies were only a small part of the diversions enjoyed by the young musicians.

"The ability shown by the students in the course was unusual," stated Mr. Kirkpatrick. "We had national contest winners from Des Moines as well as outstanding talent from our neighboring states. In spite of the heat, the effort shown by the youthful aspirants was great, and with the cooperation of the university instructors, we feel sure that we made the second All State Music Course something worthy of esteem."

L. B. SMITH IS NEW ARCHITECTURE HEAD

Kansas State Instructor
To Replace Professor Cunningham.

Linus Burr Smith was appointed as professor and chairman of the department of architecture at the university, according to an announcement made by the chancellor following a meeting of the board of regents Saturday. Professor Smith comes from Kansas State college at Manhattan to take the place of H. F. Cunningham, who is now engaged as a consulting architect in Washington, D. C.

Professor Smith has been instructor and assistant professor of architecture at Kansas State college since 1927. He received his degree of bachelor of science from that institution, and did his work for a master degree in the same subject at Harvard. While at Harvard he was awarded the Eugene Dodd medal for excellence in drawing and water color.

Professor Smith is a well known designer, his last and one of the most important being the new Topeka high school building, at Topeka, Kas. Professor Smith is also well known as a speaker and writer in the field of architecture and fine arts. Dean A. J. Ferguson expressed the belief that Professor Smith's experience makes him well fitted for the job.

PROF. SWEZEY, ONE OF PIONEER INSTRUCTORS AT UNIVERSITY, DIES

Outstanding Teacher Came
Here in 1894; Retired
In 1932.

Prof. G. D. Swezey, 83, professor of astronomy at the university for thirty-eight years, died Tuesday at Beverly Hills, Calif., according to information received here yesterday.

Professor Swezey came to the university in 1894 and retired from active teaching on Sept. 1, 1932, with the status of professor emeritus. He had been in failing health for several years, and left Lincoln in July of 1932. He died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Minnie F. Elmendorf, of Beverly Hills.

Professor Swezey was one of the pioneer instructors of the university who grew up with the institution. Forsaking the ministry for astronomy, Professor Swezey, in 1880, went to Doane college. In 1894 he came to the university as a meteorologist. Later he became an instructor in the department of astronomy, and until his retirement in 1932, conducted most of the classes in that department.

For years with the tiny telescope in the little observatory on the west edge of the university campus Professor Swezey conducted evening classes for those who were interested in the elements of astronomy. Through some effort Professor Swezey obtained a better telescope. But he spent most of his life hoping to use it. But when he retired it was still crated in the basement of one of the university buildings. Funds were once appropriated for an astronomy building but they were found to be insufficient to house the loans, which

HILL IS NAMED WINNER JEWISH SPEAKING MEET

Irving Hill, junior in the University of Nebraska, was declared winner of the International Aleph Zadik Aleph oratorical contest, at Washington, D. C., Sunday night.

Seven district champion orators of the Jewish young men's organization from the United States and Canada competed against him for the championship honors. Immediately after the contest was judged, Irving was taken before a microphone and delivered his oration, "What it Means to be a Jew," over a national net work.

Hill receives a gold medal for first prize. He has twice won the oratorical championship of this district. The international contests were not held in 1933 and the contest Sunday was the first international championship in which Hill had competed.

Hill is prominent in activities at the university. He is president of Corn Cobs, men's pep club; member of the varsity debate squad; and is a member of the University Players. He is a Sigma Alpha Mu.

BERNIE MASTERSON SIGNS WITH BEARS

Nebraska Backfield Ace
Signs Contract at Des Moines.

Bernie Masterson, backfield ace with the Nebraska Cornhuskers the past three seasons and who played at quarter back position during last season, will play football with members of the National Professional league as a full fledged member of the Chicago Bears, national professional champions last fall.

Following the 1933 season, Bernie was elected head swimming coach at the university. In this sport he had won high honors during his undergraduate career, but the urge to stay in football was too much. When the Bears made him a lucrative offer recently he decided to play pro football. Masterson was in Des Moines last Sunday, in conference with a representative of the Chicago Bears, and signed a contract.

Efforts of the same club to engage George Sauer, Nebraska's great all American fullback, went to naught. Sauer will continue at the University of Nebraska as one of Coach D. X. Bible's assistant coaches.

STEAK FRY BOOKED FOR MEN THURSDAY AT PIONEERS PARK

Event High Point of Summer
Recreational Program
Says Lantz.

A steak fry for all summer session men will be held at 5 p. m. today at Pioneers park, according to an announcement released by the recreation committee.

Tickets will be sold until noon today and can be secured in Teachers College.

"This event is one of the high points of the summer recreational program," stated Professor Lantz. "Reports from last year indicate that all had a good time. Those who do not attend this year will actually miss something worthwhile."

The program for this year is expected to be larger than in the past, and a full evening of fun and eats is promised by the committee.

University women students will also enjoy a steak fry next Thursday, July 19, according to the committee. The idea is being tried out for the first time this year. Tickets for the affair will be placed on sale in the near future, with only a limited number being available. The time, place, and admission will be announced later.

With most of the qualifying scores turned in, others are expected by the deadline which is set for today, the annual summer session golf tournament is expected to get under way Monday, July 16. Pairings for the flights will be posted on the bulletin board in teachers college Monday morning.

An urgent request was voiced by Art Jones, director of men's baseball, for more men to turn out for the sport. "Any man who is in summer school should not miss the wonderful opportunity for exercise" he stated.

SCIENCE TEACHERS FORM ORGANIZATION

Move Is Made to Unify
Instructors in Nebraska.

In order to unify science teachers in the state, and to promote science education in the schools, the Nebraska State Science Teachers' association is being organized, and a tentative constitution drawn up, it was announced recently.

The proposed association, which has been adopted by the high school section of the Nebraska Academy of Science, is to be presented to the science section of the Nebraska State Teachers' association. If it is adopted by three sections of the N. S. T. A. in the fall of 1934 the Nebraska State Science Teachers' association will begin to operate as an active organization. It is planned that this association will be affiliated with the Nebraska State Teachers' association and the Nebraska Academy of Science.

The basis of the plan for the proposed organization are: The New

Another Summer Session Mixer Is Scheduled Friday

University summer session weekly student mixer will again be held this Friday evening at the university coliseum, starting at 8:30 p. m. Dave Haun and his orchestra have been secured to play for the affair. Entertainment during intermission was not completely arranged yesterday.

In spite of the temperature, summer session students continue to break all attendance marks at the Friday mixers. Last Friday another large throng attended, with over 600 in attendance. During intermission little Bonnie Parson entertained the crowd with several popular songs and tap dancing numbers. Art Jones was in charge of the entertainment. Prof. and Mrs. E. W. Lantz chaperoned the affair. Dave Haun and his ten piece band played for the event.
